Killer Flood Again Hits South; Snow In Sierra

Three Of Eight Stabbed Guards Die In Illinois Prison Rioting

CHESTER, Ill. (AP) — Extra guards patrolled Menard State Penitentiary today as authorities investigated a brief but savage riot yesterday in which eight guards were stabbed, three of them fatally.

Officials said excuses given by inmates do not justify the outbreak, and that the conspirators apparently were more interested in publicity.

Five guards who were stabbed, and a sixth who was burned by a bottle of flaming fluid, were reported today in fair to satisfactory conditions.

"Things are back to normal," the prison's warden said. "We have extra guards only as a precaution. This thing was caused by four men with unstable minds and was completely unnecessary."

Illinois Public Safety Director Ross Randolph, a former Menard warden who went to the prison to talk convicts into releasing three guard hostages and surrendering, started an investigation into the cause of the riot.

He said four "madmen" convicts had instigated the uprising, making knives out of steel bars and throwing a fire bomb into a guard cage in the dining hall at dinner. They said they wanted better food, more radios and more recreation.

The four convicts were talked into submission by Randolph and Menard Warden Max Frye as 300 guards and state troopers surrounded the prison kitchen in which the rioters had barricaded themselves with three guard hostages.

The ringleaders permitted a doctor to give one guard, Tom Gross, 52, of Chester, Ill., a blood transfusion through prison bars. Then they released Gross when his condition became obviously serious. Gross had been stabbed.

Randolph said county authorities would decide what charges to file against the rioters.

The other two hostages, Guards Albert W. Rohlfing, 59, both of Sparta, Ill., were released unharmed when the four men surrendered. The convicts held a knife at Rohlfing's throat while they talked to Randolph through a barred door.

Guards fatally stabbed in the riot were Lt. Lewis M. Paul, 36, of Murphysboro, Ill.; Arthur L. Kisro, 45, of Chester; and George L. Wilson, 62, of West Frankfort.

Stabbed seriously were guards John Russell, 58, of Grand Tower, Ill., and Clinton Alsup, 59, of De Soto, Ill. Less seriously stabbed were Guards Paul W. Simpson, 50, of Chester, and Melvin K. Staton, 27, of Herrin. All were in a Chester hospital.

Guard Wilbur A. Mortiz, 56, of Jacob, Ill., was seriously burned when the fire bomb was thrown into the cage where he sat with a shotgun, watching convicts eat dinner. Then half a dozen convicts began scuffling, guards rushed to break it up, and the convicts brought out their homemade knives.

U.S. Has Costliest Week Of War In Dead, Wounded

COMBINED AP & UPI

SAIGON — Communist troops killed 240 American servicemen and wounded 470 others last week, a U.S. military spokesman announced today. This costliest week of the war brought U.S. losses since 1961 to 1,335 dead and 6,131 wounded. Another six Americans were missing.

The figures included all services — Army, Air Force and Navy—but most of the casualties were suffered by the 1st Cavalry Division which won an "unprecedented victory" in killing more than 2,260 North Vietnamese regulars in a week-long battle on the slopes of Chu Pong Mountain rising above the Ia Drang Valley.

The toll of dead was almost three times larger than any other week of the war. The Army announced last Wednesday that 86 Americans died the previous week—a record. That figure was increased today to 88 and observers believed last week's total also would rise.

Gen. William C. Westmoreland, commander of U.S. forces in South Viet Nam, warned the American people that, despite tactical successes in recent months, the conflict will be long and "we must be prepared to accept this."

Corte Madera Fill Proposal Brings Outcry

Refuse Collectors Detail Need Of New Dumping Area

Greenbrae Boardwalk residents and conservationists raised outcry at a three-hour county board of supervisors' hearing last night against filling 97 acres of Corte Madera tidelands for a county dump.

Most of the protest came from residents of the boardwalk, east of which the dump is proposed; but the State Department of Fish and Game and the Marin Conservation League questioned the filling of tidelands.

The county would use the land for a dump for about 10 years. Then the property would become a park operated by the Town of Corte Madera. The town proposes an 18-hole golf course on the filled acreage.

THREE WEEKS

Supervisors agreed at the end of the hearing to continue the matter for three weeks, with hope of getting additional information. One thing the board wanted to know was whether the site could be moved south within an area already diked.

Another issue raised was that of charges for dumping at private dumps.

Attorney E. Warren McGuire, representing operators of the San Quentin dump, testified that the private dump charges the same rates as those posted on the county dump at Larkspur, now filled to capacity and closed.

RATES DOUBLE

Refuse collectors and tree trimmers, however, testified to the contrary, saying rates at the San Quentin dump doubled since the Larkspur dump was closed.

McGuire argued that a rate dispute did not justify the county's entry into the dump business. Supervisor Byron W. Levdecker agreed, saying he could not see government entering a competitive field and cutting prices.

Publicist Price Hall, representing 64 refuse collectors, tree trimmers and other frequent dump users, urged the dump at Corte Madera, saying it was a logical location. His clients would agree to a 25 per cent increase in rates.

There were five letters opposed to the dump, plus a petition signed by 26 persons. There were eight letters favoring the project, including letters from the Town of Corte Madera and the Corte Madera Chamber of Commerce.

Mrs. Emma Gilman of Larkspur urged that supervisors postpone action to allow the Ma-

Ruler Of Kuwait Dies At Age 70

DAMASCUS, Syria (AP) — Kuwait's ruler, Sheikh Abdullah As-Salim As Sabah, 70, died today, Kuwait radio announced.

Death followed a heart attack suffered late last month, the announcement said.

Crown Prince Sheikh Sabah El Salem El-Sabah, a younger brother, was proclaimed ruler of the oil sheikhdom by the Council of Ministers, it said.

The crown prince has been premier of Kuwait, whose oil wealth makes it the richest country per capita in the world.

Miss Conway, a junior majoring in elementary education, had suffered second and third degree burns on the upper part of her body. (See also story, page 2)

Lightning, Hail Seen In Marin

You name it: thunder, lightning, rain, hail and sunshine. Marin County had it today all in a single package.

A freak five-minute hailstorm sent shoppers scurrying for shelter in Tiburon and Mill Valley about 9:30 a.m. Some hail bounced off San Rafael streets, too.

At Novato, there was lightning, thunder, rain and sunshine all at the same time. Overnight storm damage was reported from other parts.

"It just can't last," said forecaster L. B. Rasey of the U.S. Weather Bureau in San Francisco. "The weather will begin to improve tomorrow."

GRAY HOLIDAY

Gray skies are the outlook for Thanksgiving Day but an easing off of the rain is expected.

Skiers were warned to be prepared for blowing snow and bad visibility in the Siskiyous and Sierra.

Small craft warnings are expected to remain in operation along the coast as far south as Santa Barbara.

Heavy overnight rain and blustery winds gave Marin County a soggy, unkept look by dawn today.

A total of a little over .12 of an inch of rain fell on San Rafael in the 24 hours to noon today.

HEAVY IN LARKSPUR

The Chevy Chase area of Larkspur reported 1.25 inches. Other rainfall figures included: Ross 1.21; Manor Hill (Fairfax) 1.1; San Anselmo, one inch; Mill Valley .88; Tamalpais Valley .80; Novato .80; Sausalito .72; and Terra Linda .70.

Trees across power lines cut off electricity to about 180 county residents for a few hours during the night, and a rock slide blocked the westbound lane of the Point Reyes-Petaluma road at Nicasio Dam for a time.

Granton Park in Kentfield was flooded briefly this morning.

Ross J. Benson, Milly Valley public works director, reported an old poplar tree fell across Cascade Avenue near Monte Vista Avenue at 2 a.m. today, blocking the street until crews could clear it away. The tree broke two power lines and put 35 customers in the area out of electricity from 2 a.m. to 6:59 a.m., according to Leonard O. Robertson, Pacific Gas and Electric Co. electrical superintendent.

PASSAGE OPEN

Another tree fell in Mill Valley at King Street and Eldridge Avenue during the night but auto passage was open.

Robertson reported that a tree fell through a power line in the canyon near Palo Marin Ranch above the Radio Corp. of America site at Bolinas at 11:55 p.m. yesterday, knocking out about 150 customers until 1:31 a.m. today. These customers were in the area west of Woodacre including Forest Knolls, San Geronimo and Lagunitas.

Marin Commuter To Have 'Ferry'

A new ferry will go into operation between Marin and San Francisco early next year—but it won't look much like those commuters used to ride in the years before the Golden Gate Bridge put them all in cars and buses. (See photo on page 4).

A San Francisco company headed by John Fell Stevenson, son of the late ambassador to the United Nations, today announced it will put a hydrofoil in ferry service between Marin and San Francisco soon after Jan. 1.

Details of the route were to be announced at an evening press conference in San Francisco.

Meanwhile, the drive to "bring back the ferries" picked up knots on both sides of the Golden Gate.

The Sausalito City Council last night told City Atty. Leland H. Jordan to draw up a resolution to be sent to a San Francisco Board of Supervisors Committee, urging re-establishment of Sausalito-San Francisco ferry service.

Councilman Mel Wax said the San Francisco committee would study high-speed ferries such as those which shuttle between Hong Kong and Kowloon and between Staten and Manhattan Islands. He said there might be a federal subsidy for such a service. And he suggested the Sausalito terminal be in Marinship.

The San Francisco Board of Supervisors ordered a committee study after Supervisor Peter Tamaras introduced a resolution urging study of ferries by the state, the Bay Area Transportation Study Commission, and the Golden Gate Bridge and Highway District.

Bridge district directors yesterday agreed to such a study, which was urged also by the Marin County Board of Supervisors.

A permit for hydrofoil service on the bay has been issued to Henry E. Carter of Management Capital Marketing Corp. When asking the permit, he said it is planned eventually to run hydrofoils to many points around the bay, from Vallejo to Palo Alto, on a regular basis.

Today's announcement was the first disclosure that the Marin-San Francisco service would be instituted first.

TOMORROW IS HOLIDAY FOR MARIN

Virtually all governmental and commerical activities in Marin County will pause for Thanksgiving Day tomorrow. Only essential services, such as police, firemen and nurses, will be on duty.

Banks, stores, and city and county government agencies will be back in business on Friday, although schools will remain closed. The county schools office will operate with a skeleton crew, since county employees there worked Columbus Day, when other county workers had a day off.

Parking meters will not be enforced in San Rafael and Mill Valley tomorrow, but will be in Sausalito, where they are used every day of the year.

The Independent-Journal will publish as usual, with a special Christmas gift section.

Mrs. Johnson Capital On TV

WASHINGTON (UPI) —Mrs. Lyndon B. Johnson, following in the footsteps of her predecessor, Mrs. John F. Kennedy, makes her debut as a television star tomorrow on a special hour-long color program.

Mrs. Kennedy's program was a guided tour of the redecorated White House; Mrs. Johnson's will be a tour of the nation's capital "on behalf of a more beautiful America."

The First Lady's Thanksgiving Day program, filmed this summer, will be shown by the American Broadcasting Co. tomorrow, night

Cars Lost In Desert Gulches

LOS ANGELES (AP)— The third storm in 12 days swept into soggy Southern California today, bringing new flash floods to areas where at least 13 are feared dead.

Heavy rain hit mountain and foothill areas north of Los Angeles during the night, causing fresh gushes through canyons, then sloshed across the Los Angeles basin during the morning.

A third of an inch of rain fell in downtown Los Angeles in an hour, pushing the season total to 11 inches. Normal for the season since July 1 to date is 1.45 inches.

Rain was forecast to continue at least through Monday.

SIERRA SNOW

In northern California, a storm approaching blizzard proportions whipped into the Sierra. Wind and snow reduced visibility to 100 yards on 7,135-foot Donner Summit.

Snow fell in Reno and other parts of western Nevada.

Heavy precipitation for several weeks brought the level of Lake Tahoe to 6,228.30 feet, highest since a record 6,228.44 in 1907.

DESERT DEATHS

The desert resort of Palm Springs, a winter mecca for smog-tired Los Angeles residents, was virtually isolated and cut in half by a flood that rushed down from the San Jacinto Mountains.

Witnesses said three persons were carried away in their cars and a man wading out to help was swept away in the torrent. Only one body was found; the others presumably drowned, authorities said.

Floods hit other areas in San Bernardino County between Los Angeles and San Bernardino, 60 miles east.

At rocky Cucamonga Wash, a roaring flash flood caught a dozen cars and swept them half a block, tumbling over and over, some with their lights still burning.

South of the Mexican border five persons were killed—four of them children—by floods and mudslides. Authorities said about 150 families were evacu-

Controversial Class Topics Rule Argued

The San Rafael Board of Education found itself involved in 45 minutes of heated debate over academic freedom last night after board member Anita C. Strom proposed that "certain guidelines" be added to the school's policy on teaching controversial subjects.

Present were about 70 teachers, many of whom hotly objected to any policy which might tend to limit their freedom in dealing with such topics.

The matter was on the agenda "for review," and board members were given copies of the present policy as well as sections of the state Education Code on which it is based.

Board policy now is briefly stated. Under the heading "Teaching Controversial Subjects," it reads:

"Teachers of the district shall feel free to teach controversial topics related to their subjects of instruction. They shall establish a classroom atmosphere whereby students may search for ideas and judge their implications."

Related sections of the policy and administrative regulations spell out how outside materials or members of the community may be brought into the classroom to aid in teaching about controversial issues.

Looking over the basic policy, Mrs. Strom commented: "I feel the need here for certain guidelines. We have guidelines spelled out here in the section on resource personnel, and I think it would be helpful to have them in the other policy too."

Other board members express-

San Anselmo Tops 13,000

San Anselmo has passed the 13,000 population mark.

City Administrator Douglas J. Flautt told city councilmen last night that a special census estimate by the State Department of Finance shows a population of 13,150, an increase of 850 since the last such estimate two years ago.

Flautt told the council the increase will net the city about $10,000 more per year in state subventions and in-lieu taxes.

Told that the city paid $250 to have the census taken, Councilman Arthur W. Smith commented, "that's a pretty good profit!"

TOMORROW IS HOLIDAY FOR MARIN

Virtually all governmental and commerical activities in Marin County will pause for Thanksgiving Day tomorrow. Only essential services, such as police, firemen and nurses, will be on duty.

Banks, stores, and city and county government agencies will be back in business on Friday, although schools will remain closed. The county schools office will operate with a skeleton crew, since county employees there worked Columbus Day, when other county workers had a day off.

Parking meters will not be enforced in San Rafael and Mill Valley tomorrow, but will be in Sausalito, where they are used every day of the year.

The Independent-Journal will publish as usual, with a special Christmas gift section.

Mrs. Johnson Capital On TV

WASHINGTON (UPI) —Mrs. Lyndon B. Johnson, following in the footsteps of her predecessor, Mrs. John F. Kennedy, makes her debut as a television star tomorrow on a special hour-long color program.

Mrs. Kennedy's program was a guided tour of the redecorated White House; Mrs. Johnson's will be a tour of the nation's capital "on behalf of a more beautiful America."

The First Lady's Thanksgiving Day program, filmed this summer, will be shown by the American Broadcasting Co. tomorrow, night

Controversial Class Topics Rule Argued

The San Rafael Board of Education found itself involved in 45 minutes of heated debate over academic freedom last night after board member Anita C. Strom proposed that "certain guidelines" be added to the school's policy on teaching controversial subjects.

Present were about 70 teachers, many of whom hotly objected to any policy which might tend to limit their freedom in dealing with such topics.

The matter was on the agenda "for review," and board members were given copies of the present policy as well as sections of the state Education Code on which it is based.

Board policy now is briefly stated. Under the heading "Teaching Controversial Subjects," it reads:

"Teachers of the district shall feel free to teach controversial topics related to their subjects of instruction. They shall establish a classroom atmosphere whereby students may search for ideas and judge their implications."

Related sections of the policy and administrative regulations spell out how outside materials or members of the community may be brought into the classroom to aid in teaching about controversial issues.

Looking over the basic policy, Mrs. Strom commented: "I feel the need here for certain guidelines. We have guidelines spelled out here in the section on resource personnel, and I think it would be helpful to have them in the other policy too."

San Anselmo Tops 13,000

San Anselmo has passed the 13,000 population mark.

City Administrator Douglas J. Flautt told city councilmen last night that a special census estimate by the State Department of Finance shows a population of 13,150, an increase of 850 since the last such estimate two years ago.

Flautt told the council the increase will net the city about $10,000 more per year in state subventions and in-lieu taxes.

Told that the city paid $250 to have the census taken, Councilman Arthur W. Smith commented, "that's a pretty good profit!"

Washington Eyes Two Chinas In U. N.

By MAX HARRELSON

UNITED NATIONS, N.Y. (AP) — U.S. officials are reliably reported to be taking a careful look at the possibility of switching to a "two-Chinas' policy because of the growing movement to seat Red China in the United Nations.

One authoritative U. S. source has suggested that an alternative will have to be found by next fall to the 16-year-old policy of trying to keep the door shut to Peking. This source added that the seating of both Red China and the Nationalists might be the only practical course for the United States.

It is generally conceded at the United Nations that the Chinese Communists have been barred for the last time. The General Assembly voted 47-47 on the question last week and the pro-Peking trend is expected to continue. It is also doubtful if the United States will be able to win enough support next year to require that Red China's supporters muster a two-thirds majority to get Peking admitted.

The question now is no longer how to keep the Peking government out, diplomats say, but what to do about the Nationalist government which rules 12 million people on Formosa. Some delegates have been trying to launch a two-Chinas movement for several years but without success.

The idea is that the Peking government, representing the huge mainland population, would be given the seat now held by the Nationalists and that Formosa would be admitted as a new member.

The main obstacles so far have been the substantial opposition to seating Peking and the rejection of the two-Chinas concept by both Peking and Taipei.

Since Red China says it won't join the United Nations unless the Nationalists are expelled, the United States and other backers of Chiang Kai-shek's regime may be faced next year with the problem of preventing the expulsion of the Taipei government. This apparently is causing a number of countries to re-examine their policies.

U. S. Ambassador Arthur J. Goldberg recently pointed out that Formosa has a larger population than 85 of the world organization's 117 members. He said it would be a violation of the idea of universality to expel such a government.

Many diplomats believe that the United States could persuade Chiang to apply for Formosa's admission as a new member, but no one has found a formula to avert a Communist veto. The admission of new members must first be recommended by the Security Council, where the big-power veto applies.

The successful implementation to a two-Chinas policy probably would have to be part of a deal agreed to in advance so that Peking would get in and the Nationalists would get a new seat without facing a veto.

One question being asked is whether it is not too late for such a deal now that Peking virtually has a foot in the door.

GROCERY BOY THERE

Margaret, Snowdon Have Farewell Fete

NEW YORK (UPI) —Princess Margaret and Lord Snowdon danced away last night on a transparent floor over a bubbling pool at a lavish farewell party attended by socialites, celebrities and Tommy Cole.

Although the royal British couple were the guests of honor, a good deal of attention was diverted to Tommy who was cheered as he arrived in his borrowed tux and slightly crooked bow tie.

Tommy, a shy grocery boy, looked somewhat bewildered by it all as many of the guests called him by name. His invitation was a reward for his honesty in returning a stray invitation to actress Elaine Stritch.

Miss Stritch inadvertently used the back of her invitation to prepare a grocery list last week. When Tommy returned it, she mentioned the incident to party hostess Sharman Douglas, who in turn invited the youth.

Tommy arrived with Miss Stritch and her escort, spent about 40 minutes inside at the bar and left. He apparently was not introduced to the royal couple.

The princess wore a floor length turquoise evening gown at the "informal" party in the chic Four Seasons restaurant. She declined the frug and the jerk for "sedate fox trots" and a "graceful Charleston" and danced frequently "with anyone who asked her," a spokesman said.

The princess and her husband, Lord Snowdon, arrived at 11:12 p.m. in a racing green Rolls Royce. More than 300 persons, many of them British, braved the night chill to cheer and ooh and aah as the royal couple entered.

Nearly 200 of the door-watchers remained until 3:19 a.m., when the royal couple grinning broadly, left for the Long Island estate of John Hay Whitney, former U.S. ambassador to Britain.

A spokesman said the princess "felt at ease because she was with threatrical people." Averaging three partners per number she danced with numerous show business luminaries, including Sammy Davis Jr., Leonard Bernstein and Harry Belafonte.

New York Mayor-Elect John V. Lindsay had a "serious" 15-minute talk with the princess, spokesman said. Both he and Lindsay declined to disclose what was said.

Mott has been held by Soviet authorities since Sept. 4 when he crossed the border without visa.

Grand Jury Agrees On Con Man Label

So-Called Friend Of Chiang Linked To Big Swindle

NEW YORK (AP) — A "great con man—at least $85,000 worth"—was indicted by a federal grand jury yesterday on charges of swindling a California philanthropist and a New York syndicate out of that much money, the U. S. attorney said.

The con man label was pinned by U. S. Atty. Robert Morgenthau on a man who the prosecutor said represented himself as a Chinese Nationalist Army general and a confidant of Generalissimo Chiang Kai-shek.

TWO APARTMENTS

Indicted on six counts of interstate and international wire fraud was Thomas Kee Ming Hsu, also known as Tommy Zee, 47, who sported two apartments in Riverdale, the Bronx—one for himself, the other for his wife and four children. He was released in $4,000 bail.

The indictment gave this account:

Hsu convinced Max Ruderian, a Santa Monica, Calif. philanthropist and realtor (of 613 Wilshire Boulevard, that the Generalissimo had entrusted to him more than $100 million in a Taiwan bank vault. Hsu was to take this fortune in securities and jewelry to this country and "invest, sell and otherwise administer" it.

But, Hsu told Ruderian, the chief of the Taiwan secret police was blocking Hsu's efforts to remove the fortune and demanding a huge payoff. Would Ruderian help?

MORE MONEY

Ruderian did—$25,000 worth. But later he received cables from Hsu telling of more payoff money needed in Hong Kong, Taipei and Tokyo. Ruderian sent along another $45,000 between December 1963 and May 1964.

Hsu lived it up in the Far East on Ruderian's $70,000, Morgenthau said. Hsu also told the same story of the Taiwan bank vault fortune to the New York syndicate consisting of a lawyer, two businessmen and a brokerage firm representative and got them to pledge $30,000.

After advancing Hsu $15,000 one of the syndicate members mentioned the matter to a former assistant to Morgenthau. The syndicate man repeated the story to Morgenthau and no more cash was advanced.

As to how Hsu was able to convince Ruderian and the syndicate of his "sincerity," it turned out he had photographs showing himself and the Generalissimo sitting together on a settee and reviewing troops together.

The prosecutor's office said the photos had been doctored.

Rhodesian Strike Try Collapses

BULAWAYO, Rhodesia (UPI) —Attempts to promote a general strike by black African workers in this nationalist stronghold collapsed today when employers issued "work or be fired" edicts.

African nationalist underground leaders has experienced limited success in strike calls Monday and yesterday, when as much as 40 per cent of the work force was absent in protest against the government of rebel Premier Ian Smith.

Chamber of Commerce leaders distributed notices that absentees would be "sacked" today and workers streamed to their jobs in almost normal numbers.

Police riot squads last night fired tear gas to break up a demonstration by thousands of Africans in Mpopoma Township on the outskirts of Bulawayo, second largest city in Rhodesia. The protest rally was noticeably less tense and disorderly than the previous night, however.

An African demonstrator was shot and killed by police yesterday while stoning a bus. It was the first fatality connected with anti-government rallies since Smith declared Rhodesia independent of Britain Nov. 11.

It appeared the death of the demonstrator and the work-or-else warning gave the workers cause for reflection about further protests.

Ex-Star Released Pending Sentence

INDIO (AP) — Ex-actor Tom Neal—convicted last week of involuntary manslaughter in the fatal shooting of his wife, Gail —has been released on $27,500 bond.

Neal, 51, was accused of murder in the death of his 29-year-old wife, but contended in his trial that she was shot in the head accidentally when they struggled for a pistol last April 1 in their Palm Springs home.

Ike Is Allowed To Sit Up, Plans Holiday With Family

WASHINGTON (UPI) —Former President Dwight D. Eisenhower is being allowed to sit up in a chair periodically and plans to have Thanksgiving dinner with his family at Walter Reed Army Medical Center, his doctors reported today.

A hospital spokesman said the 75-year-old general was in good spirits this morning as he continued his recovery from a heart attack.

Eisenhower was reported cheered by the prospect of spending Christmas at his Gettysburg, Pa., home and by visit this morning from Mrs. Eisenhower.

A medical statement from the hospital emphasized again that the former chief executive showed no ill effects from his trip to Walter Reed from Ft. Gordon, Ga., Tuesday by train and helicopter.

It said that Eisenhower was now on a regular diet, and added: "A progressive increase in his activities, now limited to sitting up in a chair periodically, is planned over the next week."

BERKELEY (AP)—The Viet Nam Day Committee (VDC) says it will carry an anti-draft campaign to San Francisco East Bay high schools and military induction centers.

In a news conference yesterday, VDC leaders also said the organization still plans to stage an anti Viet Nam war demonstration at the Oakland Army Terminal, probably after Jan. 1.

Some 10,000 VDC demonstrators marched last Saturday from the University of California in Berkeley to DeFremery Park in Oakland, about a mile from the terminal.

The princess wore a floor length turquoise evening gown at the "informal" party in the chic Four Seasons restaurant. She declined the frug and the jerk for "sedate fox trots" and a "graceful Charleston" and danced frequently "with anyone who asked her," a spokesman said.

The princess and her husband, Lord Snowdon, arrived at 11:12 p.m. in a racing green Rolls Royce. More than 300 persons, many of them British, braved the night chill to cheer and ooh and aah as the royal couple entered.

Nearly 200 of the doorwatchers remained until 3:19 a.m., when the royal couple grinning broadly, left for the Long Island estate of John Hay Whitney, former U.S. ambassador to Britain.

A spokesman said the princess "felt at ease because she was with threatrical people." Averaging three partners per number she danced with numerous show business luminaries, including Sammy Davis Jr., Leonard Bernstein and Harry Belafonte.

New York Mayor-Elect John V. Lindsay had a "serious" 15-minute talk with the princess, spokesman said. Both he and Lindsay declined to disclose what was said.

Grand Jury Agrees On Con Man Label

So-Called Friend Of Chiang Linked To Big Swindle

NEW YORK (AP) — A "great con man—at least $85,000 worth"—was indicted by a federal grand jury yesterday on charges of swindling a California philanthropist and a New York syndicate out of that much money, the U. S. attorney said.

The con man label was pinned by U. S. Atty. Robert Morgenthau on a man who the prosecutor said represented himself as a Chinese Nationalist Army general and a confidant of Generalissimo Chiang Kai-shek.

TWO APARTMENTS

Indicted on six counts of interstate and international wire fraud was Thomas Kee Ming Hsu, also known as Tommy Zee, 47, who sported two apartments in Riverdale, the Bronx—one for himself, the other for his wife and four children. He was released in $4,000 bail.

The indictment gave this account:

Hsu convinced Max Ruderian, a Santa Monica, Calif. philanthropist and realtor (of 613 Wilshire Boulevard, that the Generalissimo had entrusted to him more than $100 million in a Taiwan bank vault. Hsu was to take this fortune in securities and jewelry to this country and "invest, sell and otherwise administer" it.

But, Hsu told Ruderian, the chief of the Taiwan secret police was blocking Hsu's efforts to remove the fortune and demanding a huge payoff. Would Ruderian help?

MORE MONEY

Ruderian did—$25,000 worth. But later he received cables from Hsu telling of more payoff money needed in Hong Kong, Taipei and Tokyo. Ruderian sent along another $45,000 between December 1963 and May 1964.

Hsu lived it up in the Far East on Ruderian's $70,000, Morgenthau said. Hsu also told the same story of the Taiwan bank vault fortune to the New York syndicate consisting of a lawyer, two businessmen and a brokerage firm representative and got them to pledge $30,000.

After advancing Hsu $15,000 one of the syndicate members mentioned the matter to a former assistant to Morgenthau. The syndicate man repeated the story to Morgenthau and no more cash was advanced.

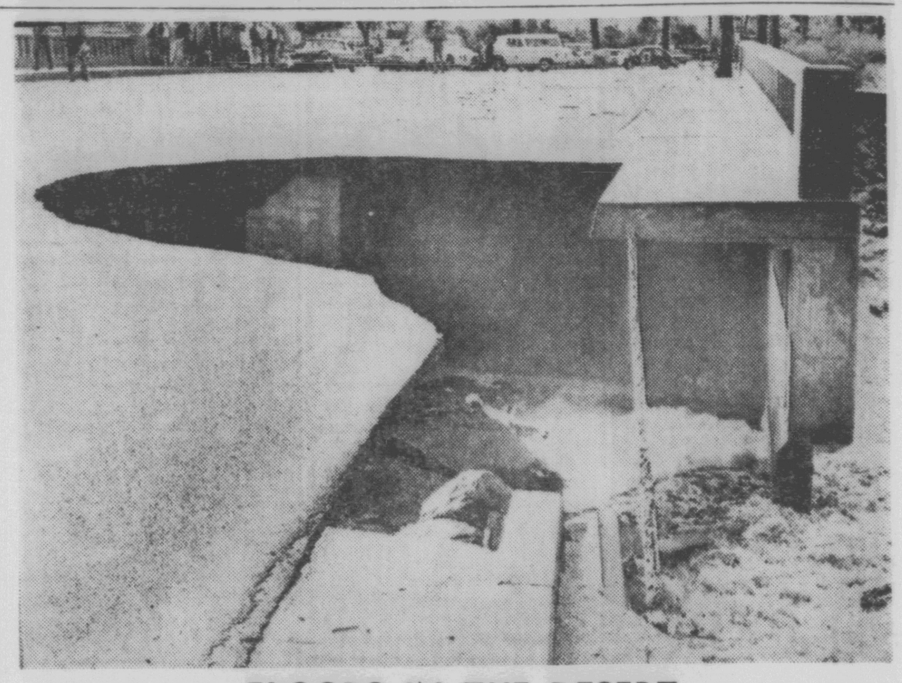
As to how Hsu was able to convince Ruderian and the syndicate of his "sincerity," it turned out he had photographs showing himself and the Generalissimo sitting together on a settee and reviewing troops together.

The prosecutor's office said the photos had been doctored.

Jail Breaker Caught In Student Center

BERKELEY (UPI)—The last of four escapees who fled from Contra Costa County Jail Sunday was captured at gunpoint yesterday as he lounged in the Student Union at the University of California chatting with two co-eds.

The suspect was Marcellus Warren, 28, a convicted burglar. His three companions in the Martinez escape were arrested earlier this week.



FLOODS IN THE DESERT

Traffic is detoured from the Tahquitz Bridge in Palm Springs yesterday after part of span washed away in runoff from downpours that have plagued southern California for the last week. Eight persons were reported missing in the Palm Springs area as roads washed out. (See story on page 1.)

Rhodesian Strike Try Collapses

BULAWAYO, Rhodesia (UPI) —Attempts to promote a general strike by black African workers in this nationalist stronghold collapsed today when employers issued "work or be fired" edicts.

African nationalist underground leaders has experienced limited success in strike calls Monday and yesterday, when as much as 40 per cent of the work force was absent in protest against the government of rebel Premier Ian Smith.

Chamber of Commerce leaders distributed notices that absentees would be "sacked" today and workers streamed to their jobs in almost normal numbers.

Police riot squads last night fired tear gas to break up a demonstration by thousands of Africans in Mpopoma Township on the outskirts of Bulawayo, second largest city in Rhodesia. The protest rally was noticeably less tense and disorderly than the previous night, however.

An African demonstrator was shot and killed by police yesterday while stoning a bus. It was the first fatality connected with anti-government rallies since Smith declared Rhodesia independent of Britain Nov. 11.

It appeared the death of the demonstrator and the work-or-else warning gave the workers cause for reflection about further protests.

Ex-Star Released Pending Sentence

INDIO (AP) — Ex-actor Tom Neal—convicted last week of involuntary manslaughter in the fatal shooting of his wife, Gail —has been released on $27,500 bond.

The bond figures was set yesterday by Superior Court Judge Hilton McCabe on a motion by Neal's attorney, pending probation hearing and sentencing Dec. 7.

Neal, 51, was accused of murder in the death of his 29-year-old wife, but contended in his trial that she was shot in the head accidentally when they struggled for a pistol last April 1 in their Palm Springs home.

Ike Is Allowed To Sit Up, Plans Holiday With Family

WASHINGTON (UPI) —Former President Dwight D. Eisenhower is being allowed to sit up in a chair periodically and plans to have Thanksgiving dinner with his family at Walter Reed Army Medical Center, his doctors reported today.

A hospital spokesman said the 75-year-old general was in good spirits this morning as he continued his recovery from a heart attack.

Eisenhower was reported cheered by the prospect of spending Christmas at his Gettysburg, Pa., home and by visit this morning from Mrs. Eisenhower.

A medical statement from the hospital emphasized again that the former chief executive showed no ill effects from his trip to Walter Reed from Ft. Gordon, Ga., Tuesday by train and helicopter.

It said that Eisenhower was now on a regular diet, and added: "A progressive increase in his activities, now limited to sitting up in a chair periodically, is planned over the next week."

Committee Plans Anti-Draft Drive

BERKELEY (AP)—The Viet Nam Day Committee (VDC) says it will carry an anti-draft campaign to San Francisco East Bay high schools and military induction centers.

In a news conference yesterday, VDC leaders also said the organization still plans to stage an anti Viet Nam war demonstration at the Oakland Army Terminal, probably after Jan. 1.

Some 10,000 VDC demonstrators marched last Saturday from the University of California in Berkeley to DeFremery Park in Oakland, about a mile from the terminal.

300 Teens Use Marijuana In Unincorporated Areas

About 300 teen-agers smoke marijuana in Marin County's unincorporated areas, Inspector Harvey Teague of the sheriff's office said in Kentfield last night.

Among the most popular areas are those of Terra Linda and Tamalpais High schools, he said.

Teague was among a group of law officers on a panel discussing narcotic education at the College of Marin, sponsored by Marin County Educators Committee, Marin County Citizens Committee, and county superintendent of schools.

Other speakers were Sausalito Police Chief Kenneth Huck, Frederick T. Dick, district supervisor for the Federal Bureau of Narcotics, and Mathew M. O'Connor, supervising agent for the state Bureau of Narcotics.

"For the past year and a half," said Teague, "information has been coming in on young people using marijuana. We have been watching particular areas and particular people.

"In one case, information I received from one girl indicated an area where 70 youths were using marijuana."

He emphasized the 300 figure was an assumption based on information he had in his possession.

Pressed to clarify the number of cases known and being processed, Teague said he could not give that information.

"The state people are working with us right now," he said, and added, "Our informant is in a queer position because of the information given."

Asked what is to be done about young people taking marijuana, Teague said, "A lot has to be left to the parent, for the parent knows what is going on."

Sheriff's Inspector Bowen A. Bridges, commenting from the audience, said he was investibating the use of marijuana by adults. "We have had some worries, particularly regarding the importing of it by certain persons in San Francisco," he said.

A major problem, said Bridges, was the size and type of the area under the jurisdiction of the sheriff's office, which could only sparsely cover it at times.

He said the help of residents was being sought in taking automobile license numbers and reporting suspicious activity.

He said he was not in a position to say how many cases were being handled at present but "let's just say it's worse than it should be."

O'Connor commented briefly on the situation in Sausalito earlier this year when police carried out raids against known marijuana users.

"In Marin County, we had the situation where the drug users were friendly and associating with the youth who considered them colorful and quaint," he said.

"The adult citizens were able to treat the beatniks with a certain aloofness, but the youth did not discriminate so well."

Marijuana use, like that of any other drug, is like a contageous disease, said O'Connor. It spreads quickly from husband to wife, sister to brother, friend to friend.

Dick said that in his experience as undercover agent and administrator, he knew of few known users of marijuana who continued to play a useful part in society.

He said he could not imagine any group seriously advocating marijuana as an alternative to alcohol. Although it is like alcohol in several ways, he said, the effect of marijuana is far less predictable and far more likely to lead to degeneration.

Meter Gadget Voted Down In Sausalito

"Anti-meter-cheater" attachments will not be purchased for Sausalito's "golden goose," the parking meter, city councilmen agreed last night.

Traffic Controls Inc. of Oakland had proposed to stall attachments on five meters whereby, when a car ran over a pad in the street, the time on the meter would be automatically erased. The company said this would guarantee a 35 per cent increase in meter revenues.

Sausalito Chamber of Commerce officials, by letter, said the attachments would be an expense to the city, a burden to maintain, that the City of San Rafael had turned them down, and that they would cause ill will among inhabitants and tourists. The council agreed.

Harold J. Lavick, speaking for Traffic Controls, denied there would be expense to the city and said the reason San Rafael took no action following an experiment with similar meters was that their meters were 18 years old and they were planning to buy new ones.

City Mgr. Charles A. Brown said that, since the changeover of the Vina del Mar parking lot to attendant parking, revenues have increased from $588 in April to $2,509 in October. The changeover, said Mayor Jan Paul Dyk, has created more parking, well-deserved employment for older citizens, and increased revenue.

In a financial status report of the city on Oct. 31, Brown said revenue has increased in parking lots by $9,000 and in parking fines by $4,000 over last year at the same time.

The Sausalito City Council also:

1. Agreed to meet with the Sausalito Library Board Tuesday at 8 p.m. in city hall to discuss a new library site and talk to library consultant Helen Ridgway.
2. Took no action to create red zones on Cloud View Road and Glen Drive, pending a field trip to the sites, mentioned other sites in the city to be zoned by painting, and asked Brown to get the county traffic plan for the Bridgeway-Harbor Drive intersection near Big G market so the council can try to get action from the County Board of Supervisors to improve the hazardous area.
3. Adopted an amendment to the zoning ordinance providing for planned unit development, Mayor Dyk and Councilman Earl F. Dunphy voting "no."

Marincello Zone Change To Be Asked

Sausalito City Council will ask the Marin County Board of Supervisors to reconsider its Nov. 12 vote which zoned Marincello for planned community development.

The resolution, yet to be drawn up, will stress that new information has been obtained, including the supervisors having asked the county planning commission to create an ordinance to set density in developments to be in accord with master plans for the surrounding area.

Councilman Melvin S. Wax said the supervisor's proposal for linking density of the Dias Ranch development to the Tennessee Valley master plan should apply to Marincello. "The city of Marincello is not in accord with Sausalito density nor with that of Tennessee Valley," he said.

"If the county comes up with such an ordinance and it becomes county policy, it is certainly not too late to apply it to Marincello," the councilman declared.

Mayor Jan Paul Dyk, who introduced the proposed resolution, said "the smoke has settled on Marincello but obviously the majority of the people in Marin are most disturbed about the board of supervisors' vote."

Dyk said Frouge Corp., developers of Marincello, has no vested interest yet and that supervisors can still rescind their zoning action. He urged a southern Marin plan such as the west Marin master plan.

"I'm perturbed by opinions of the board saying master plans are only for guidance. Some of the light is beginning to shine. Now that the Dias ranch is before the supervisors I hear cheerful noises such as 'we must consider the neighboring zoning.' That was never mentioned for Marincello," said Dyk.

"The cows are still there," commented Councilman Alexander R. Imlay.

Peacock School Site Is Revived

San Rafael Schools Supt. Bert C. Corona last night made an effort to revive the San Rafael Board of Education's interest in an elementary school site at Peacock Gap which the board turned down a year ago.

There are three new members on the board since the previous decision.

In a memorandum to the board, Corona said efforts to buy a site agreed on last year have proved futile because the Draper Companies have balked at various aspects of the proposed sale agreement.

As a result, he said, things have reached the point where the county counsel's office has urged the board to start condemnation proceedings.

Before doing that, however, Corona urged that the board take a new look at the site turned down before: five acres at Riviera and Biscayne drives. The site previously selected by the board includes the old McNear barn on the west side of the valley, now being used by the Draper Companies for offices.

State Landscape Plan Doesn't Please Mayor

Plans for the first stage of landscaping of Highway 37 interchange were presented last night to the Novato City Council.

The state will plant 590 shrubs and 290 trees at a cost of $10,000, according to James Gordon, district landscape architect with the division of highways.

Mayor Robert D. Carrow did not think either the plan or the money was adequate.

"We here in Marin County are very conscious of our roadside planning," he said.

The plan calls for planting eucalyptus and oak trees and various kinds of shrubs, Gordon said. Ground cover and irrigation systems will come later.

The highway commission had not allocated any money for landscaping of Highway 37 interchange this fiscal year, but Carrow has repeatedly asked for it, getting this $10,000 allotment.

Women Injured In Collisions

Two persons suffered minor injuries in two automobile accidents on the San Rafael viaduct of Highway 101 shortly after 11 a.m. yesterday, the California Highway Patrol reported.

Carol C. Johnson, 17, of 2713 Heartherstone Drive, Marinwood, was driving north at 11:15 a.m. when her car skidded and crashed into the cement curb. She was treated at San Rafael General Hospital for a cut forehead and right ear.

Five minutes later, as traffic slowed for the first accident, Maria W. Bala, 42, of 2000 Centro West, Tiburon, skidded as she braked her car and crashed into the center divider barrier. She complained of rib and knee injuries and was to see her own doctor.

Probation Added On Theft Charge

John Clifford King, 40, was sentenced to 60 days in Marin County Jail yesterday in Marin Superior Court for grand theft and violation of probation.

He also was placed on three additional years of probation.

King, a transient, had pleaded guilty to taking credit cards and other items from his Corte Madera roommate, Joe Hasking of 12 Buena Vista Avenue, on Sept. 29.

LATEST IN FERRIES FOR MARIN

This hydrofoil, plying between Staten and Manhattan Islands, is the same type a company headed by John Fell Stevenson plans to put in operation to carry passengers between San Francisco and Marin County early next year. Details of the plan were to be announced at a San Francisco press conference this evening. (See story on Page 1.)

Teachers Granted Retroactive Raises

San Rafael teachers last night were granted a retroactive pay hike which restored the gap in the 5 per cent raise they sought but did not get at the start of fiscal 1966.

In contrast to the lengthy salary discussions in past meetings, the San Rafael Board of Education disposed of the matter in two minutes. There was no discussion and the vote was unanimous.

Board members last spring talked about a 5 per cent hike, but pared it down to 3.2 per cent when their resources proved to be slim at budget time. Last night's action restored the other 1.8 per cent, retroactive to July 1.

Supt. Bert C. Corona has estimated the increase will cost the elementary and high school districts $27,000 apiece.

Board members also heard Corona make a plea for the district to sell $1 million worth of bonds in a single issue next year, which would be the largest issue by far than San Rafael schools have ever sold at one time.

Corona broached the subject after County Treasurer Stanley J. Fontez explained why he felt the districts would be better off to sell bonds in larger amounts than they have in the past.

Sales have usually been held to about $250,000, schools business mgr. Charles L. Condrotte explained. Fontez, however, said the best size for bond sales in today's market is from $750,000 to $1.25 million.

Corona agreed to bring in more information on the proposed bond sales before pressing for a decision.

The San Rafael Board Of Education Also:

1. Hired Mrs. Dorothy Greenberg to teach art part-time at San Rafael High School at $1,708.74 annually, and Arthur D. Piaggio to teach science at Davidson School at $4,752.54 annually.
2. Received, but took no action on, a detailed set of recommendations from insurance consultant James Wieder, calling for increases in liability, burglary and boiler coverage. Wieder also urged a $1,000 deductible clause in fire coverage, which would reduce the total premium.
3. Approved final plans for the gymnasium and library, substituting tile for plywood on the gymnasium walls, and sent them to the state Division of Architecture for final approval.
4. Postponed the date for opening bids on renovating the main building at San Rafael High School from Dec. 9 to Dec. 22.
5. Accepted the resignation of E. T. Armstrong as building inspector for the San Rafael High School project and hired Floyd Newgen to take his place.
6. Called for bids to be opened at 3 p.m. Jan. 6 on a gymnasium addition to Davidson School.
7. Accepted kifts of a tape recorder and three pedestrian crosswalk signs from the Hartzell School Parent-Teacher Assn. The recorder will be used in the Prime-O-Tec reading program.
8. Endorsed a suggestion by board member Walter R. Castro Jr. that they tour the schools before next budget time to get a first-hand look at each school's needs.

Novato Starts Annexation Toward Black Point Area

The Novato City Council last night gave the go-ahead to annexation of 1,280 acres east of Highway 101 and north of Highway 37, extending almost to Black Point.

If successful, this would be the third largest annexation to the city of Novato since it was incorporated. Only San Marin with 2,200 acres and Bahia with 1,500 acres were larger.

The uninhabited area to be annexed lies north of Novato Creek and Simmonds Slough on the south side of Highway 37, then on the north of that highway. It extends east of Highway 101, south of the present city limits east to Olive and Atherton avenues.

This proposed annexation will go before the Marin County Local Agency Commission in December, Robert Lagle, city planner, told the council.

Traffic Law Changes Due For Novato

Several minor traffic regulation changes were adopted by the Novato City Council last night on recommendation of its traffic safety committee.

These were to install a left turn lane of traffic on San Marin Drive at Novato Boulevard; place a 25-mile per hour speed limit on Fairway Drive and County Club Drive; ban parking on the west side of Jade Court except the cul de sac circle and on the south side of Novato Boulevard for 48 feet west of Raposa Vista.

The council denied requests for crosswalks across Birdie Drive and Capilano Drive in mid-blocks at the golf course, and at South Novato Boulevard and Midway Drive, and denied stop signs on Novato Boulevard at Raposa Vista and on Sunset Parkway at all intersections.

District Adds To Proposed Annexation

Directors of North Marin Water District, mapping its expansion into Northwest Marin, last night added 1,633 acres to a proposed 37-square mile annexation.

Added to the area into which the district proposes to expand were the Ralph F. McMurray property of 667 acres to the east of the previous annexation boundary, and the Degottardi, Borello and Furlong properties of 966 acres on the south.

Residents of Northwest Marin are seeking annexation to assure a water supply, largely because development in the area is increasing water needs while eliminating some water sources.

The North Marin District directors discussed a county proposal for a county park at the west end of Stafford Lake, the district's reservoir, but took no action on it.

They approved a proposal by the Novato Civic Foundation for fencing an area below Stafford Dam where the foundation wants to grow trees for replanting in city parks and along streets.

Also approved was a revision of the policy on extension of water mains to make it identical with that of Marin Municipal Water District.

The search for more victims continued. Chief Deputy Sheriff John McCoy at Indio said about 50 cars were washed off roads bewteen Garnet and Indio.

"There may be cars completely buried which we don't know about yet," he said.

The Weather Bureau said a blizzard warning to travelers would likely be in effect through the Thanksgiving holiday, for the Sierra.

The California Highway Patrol at Truckee described visibility as poor on Interstate 80. A dispatcher said the storm at Truckee had not reached blizzard proportions because of gusty winds.

Further south in the Sierra, the Nevada Highway Patrol closed most of Nevada 27 over Mt. Rose southwest of Reno. Except for a short stretch to ski areas, the highway was closed at 5 a.m. when visibility reached zero.

rin Conservation League to study the importance of the ecology of the area.

William Thompson of the State Department of Fish and Game read a letter from department regional director Willard Greenwalk saying the marshland was the habitant of many shore birds, including the rare clapper rail.

Thompson said the department was making a study for the Bay Conservation and Development Commission on shoreline ecology. This will be finished in about four months, he said. He asked supervisors to delay action until the report is in.

Boardwalk residents speaking against the proposal included Howard Gold, Mrs. Mable Keck, Mrs. Dorothy Jane Flynn, Ray Smith and Ann McCorry.

Objections included odor from the dump, trash along streets, unsightliness, possible rat infestation, danger of settlement of land, and destruction of wildlife.

Miss McCorry urged that the county purchase the land and preserve it in its natural state.

Asst. County Administrator John F. Barrows estimated the property would cost about $400,000, of which half might be covered by a federal open space grant. The other half could be borrowed from the county retirement fund, to be repaid from dump revenue, he said.

The board agreed that the matter will come up again in three weeks if the information requested is available.

The American death toll surpassed the weekly average of 209 Americans killed during the Korean war. Most of the losses were suffered by the 1st Air Cavalry Division, the unit involved in the Ia Drang fighting.

In another combat zone, Communist forces today withdrew their siege from the district capital of Tuy An on the coast of the South China Sea and moved into the hills to the north.

"The Viet Cong really missed a big opportunity for a propaganda victory," said Maj. James R. Henry of Pittsburgh, Pa., an American adviser with the Vietnamese troops at Tuy An. "They haven't taken a district town in a long time."

Henry said the Viet Cong could have overrun Tuy An "anytime they wanted."

GUIDE

ed doubts about whether such guidelines could be added on without the danger of limiting the freedom of classroom discussion.

They agreed, however, to ask the San Rafael Teachers Assn.'s professional relations committee to study Mrs. Strom's proposal.

Meanwhile, teachers and parents in the audience protested that guidelines could do more harm than good.

"These have been controversial times for 40 years," said Mrs. Leon Morgenstern of 599 Loganberry Drive, Marinwood. "If you try to establish guidelines for reading with controversy, you are going to do nothing but create an atmosphere of fear.

"You can set up guidelines that will work for this year, maybe, but after that you will find yourselves reviewing this policy every single month."

Whsn Mrs. Morgenstern insisted the board must trust that teachers will use good judgment in the classroom, Mrs. Strom replied, "Unfortunately, this has not always been the case."

Several teachers later demanded to know specific examples where teachers had failed to use good judgment. Mrs. Strom cited none.

Board member Lawrence I. Kramer Jr. received applause when he urged that the policy be changed to "reflect confidence that teachers will handle these matters responsibly," and said he hoped they would have the courage to discuss unpopular causes.

Later in the session, Mrs. Strom aroused the ire of Terra Linda High School Principal George A. Yertson when she complained about handling of a mother's complaint that a novel about a psychopathic killer should not be in the school library.

The complaint came to light when board members read Mrs. Nora Nelson's letter to Carl Pharis, president of the school's Parent-Teacher Assn.

"I find this book offensive," Mrs. Nelson wrote of the book "Killer," by Richard Parker. "Someone should supervise the purchase of books . . . "Where is our money going?"

Yertson said he had written Mrs. Nelson explaining why the book was there, urging her to come in and talk it over, and enclosing a standard complaint form to fill out.

Mrs. Strom said she had made a similar complaint in the past and knew from experience that sending forms put parents on the defensive.

"The district should puts its arms around a parent and welcome her, not send forms," she declared.

Helicopters Turn Cement Carriers

SAN FRANCISCO (AP) — Coast Guardsmen used helicopters for hod carriers today in rebuilding seagirt Mile Rock lighthouse at the Golden Gate entrance.

The lighthouse, which rises straight up from a very small and rocky island, is being turned into a Coast Guard heliport. It will have a revolving light and fog signal in the platform base.

Because hauling concrete by boat would be so difficult, helicopters were used. Each carried 800 pounds of concrete in rebuilt oil drums slung underneath from 12-foot cables.

The American death toll surpassed the weekly average of 209 Americans killed during the Korean war. Most of the losses were suffered by the 1st Air Cavalry Division, the unit involved in the Ia Drang fighting.

In another combat zone, Communist forces today withdrew their siege from the district capital of Tuy An on the coast of the South China Sea and moved into the hills to the north.

"The Viet Cong really missed a big opportunity for a propaganda victory," said Maj. James R. Henry of Pittsburgh, Pa., an American adviser with the Vietnamese troops at Tuy An. "They haven't taken a district town in a long time."

Henry said the Viet Cong could have overrun Tuy An "anytime they wanted."

GUIDE

ed doubts about whether such guidelines could be added on without the danger of limiting the freedom of classroom discussion.

They agreed, however, to ask the San Rafael Teachers Assn.'s professional relations committee to study Mrs. Strom's proposal.

Meanwhile, teachers and parents in the audience protested that guidelines could do more harm than good.

"These have been controversial times for 40 years," said Mrs. Leon Morgenstern of 599 Loganberry Drive, Marinwood. "If you try to establish guidelines for reading with controversy, you are going to do nothing but create an atmosphere of fear.

"You can set up guidelines that will work for this year, maybe, but after that you will find yourselves reviewing this policy every single month."

Whsn Mrs. Morgenstern insisted the board must trust that teachers will use good judgment in the classroom, Mrs. Strom replied, "Unfortunately, this has not always been the case."

Several teachers later demanded to know specific examples where teachers had failed to use good judgment. Mrs. Strom cited none.

Board member Lawrence I. Kramer Jr. received applause when he urged that the policy be changed to "reflect confidence that teachers will handle these matters responsibly," and said he hoped they would have the courage to discuss unpopular causes.

Later in the session, Mrs. Strom aroused the ire of Terra Linda High School Principal George A. Yertson when she complained about handling of a mother's complaint that a novel about a psychopathic killer should not be in the school library.

The complaint came to light when board members read Mrs. Nora Nelson's letter to Carl Pharis, president of the school's Parent-Teacher Assn.

"I find this book offensive," Mrs. Nelson wrote of the book "Killer," by Richard Parker. "Someone should supervise the purchase of books . . . "Where is our money going?"

Yertson said he had written Mrs. Nelson explaining why the book was there, urging her to come in and talk it over, and enclosing a standard complaint form to fill out.

Mrs. Strom said she had made a similar complaint in the past and knew from experience that sending forms put parents on the defensive.

"The district should puts its arms around a parent and welcome her, not send forms," she declared.

Helicopters Turn Cement Carriers

SAN FRANCISCO (AP) — Coast Guardsmen used helicopters for hod carriers today in rebuilding seagirt Mile Rock lighthouse at the Golden Gate entrance.

The lighthouse, which rises straight up from a very small and rocky island, is being turned into a Coast Guard heliport. It will have a revolving light and fog signal in the platform base.

Because hauling concrete by boat would be so difficult, helicopters were used. Each carried 800 pounds of concrete in rebuilt oil drums slung underneath from 12-foot cables.

San Rafael Rushes Plans For Dropouts

With little hope of postponing the state deadline on setting up a "continuation school" program, the San Rafael Board of Education last night authorized classes for high school dropouts and suspended students.

One hurdle still faces the program, however: no one has been hired to teach it.

Board members reacted with shock two weeks ago when they were told that the state legislature had decreed such programs must be established by Oct. 31.

At their direction, Supt. Bert C. Corona asked the help of the Marin County superintendent's office in trying to delay the deadline. Last night Corona said the county office had offered little encouragement.

Corona produced a letter from Asst. County Supt. Robert Stannard in which he said, "It is very apparent that these regulations are to be effective this school year, 1965-66." He said the attorney general's office had declined to declare this a "transitional year," saying "it was obviously the intent of the legislature to make immediate application of these regulations."

Convinced that they could do little else, board members approved a job description for the teacher and a broad outline of the program. It calls for one class at each of the district's two high schools, with an off-campus site as a future possibility.

Contractor Gets City Approval For Digging

As soon as the rain stops, Paul Phillips, Novato excavating contractor, can remove dirt legally from a hill east of Terra Linda interchange.

Phillips's excavation project was stopped by the city last week because no use permit had been issued.

Last night the San Rafael Planning Commission granted the developers of the site, Eugene P. Aureguy and Harold G. MacKenzie, a use permit to remove 13,000 cubic yards of dirt.

Phillips said he has a contract with Marin County to provide 30,000 cubic yards of dirt at the site of the Veterans Memorial Building at the Civic Center.

He estimated that he has removed 17,000 cubic yards before he was shut down. The commission agreed to permit excavation until he reached the 30,000-cubic yard mark.

Mackenzie said the proposed development at the excavation site, including an indoor movie theater, a furniture store and other shops, would require total excavation of 260,000 cubic yards. He said that the development plan would be submitted to the planning staff within the next few weeks.

MacKenzie said that he was unaware that a use permit was needed for the excavating. Phillips was issued an excavation permit by the city public works department, but it was revoked after City Atty. David Menary Jr. informed Public Works Director Norris M. Rawles that a use permit from the planning commission is also required.

The permit was granted by 5-0 vote, with commissioners Thomas R. O'Toole and Pat Hetherton absent. Hetherton had attended the meeting up until this item, last on the agenda, but left before the vote was taken.

Storm Victims Find Hospitality

PALM SPRINGS (UPI) — Charles Mills of Indio and Frank McGarry of San Bernardino were driving through a blinding rainstorm last Monday night near the Thunderbird Country Club here when their car overturned in a washout.

The pair was swept into a storm drain. Wet, cold and miserable, they made their way to the back door of a nearby home and knocked.

Mills and McGarry were put up for the night by actress Lucille Ball and her husband, Gary Morton.

Tulare School Bonds Defeated

TULARE (UPI)—Voters in the Tulare Union High School District yesterday rejected a proposed $2.84 million bond issue.

The measure failed by 235 votes to attain the necessary two-thirds majority when the voters gave it 1,748 "yes" votes to 991 "no" votes.

If approved, the funds would have been used for building additional classrooms and modernizing facilities at the school district's two campuses, Union and Western.

San Quentin Prepares For Escapee

San Quentin Prison officers last night made ready to welcome self-styled escape artist and three-time-loser Donald Dacey back into the fold after his latest escapade in the East Bay.

Dacey, 28, was one of the four men who broke out of the Martinez jail Sunday. He was surrounded and captured on a pig farm a few hours later.

They know all about Dacey at San Quentin. He walked away from one of the prison's camps last year and shot at an Oakland policeman during his flight.

After his capture, he was returned to the Contra Costa County Jail, only to escape in August by squirming through a window.

So they're taking no chances at San Quentin. "We shall see to it he has no chances to escape again," said Associate Warden James W. L. Park.

Dacey was originally sentenced to a term at San Quentin for a shooting at a rodeo and was in jail in Martinez waiting to face charges arising from his escape.

To San Quentin also goes Robert Burnett, 30, another of the Martinez escapees, who will serve out a term for parole violation in a place where escape is not easy.

Disease List Short

Waldo Assessment Work Is Progressing

Susalito-Marin City Sanitary District directors Monday night passed a resolution to proceed with the proposed Waldo Point assessment district between the north border of Sausalito and Richardson Bay Bridge.

Engineering work is under way and, when completed, public hearings will be held, reported director Frank I. Lawson. The district has been approved by the county board of supervisors.

Fort Baker Sergeant Receives Commission

S/Sgt. William D. Cote, former administration supervisor of the safety division for the headquarters, Sixth Region, Army Air Defense Command, Fort Baker, has been promoted to second lieutenant.

He will leave soon to attend the Adjutant General Corps basic training course at Fort Benjamin Harrison, Ind.

Increase In Lot Size Loses Before San Rafael Planners

San Rafael Planning Commission voted against increasing the minimum site area requirements in apartment zones last night, after protesting property owners said the change would result in economic hardship.

Acting Planner Charles J. Linthicum recommended the increase be abandoned, saying the commission could achieve its objectives more effectively through other measures.

The proposal to increase the minimum requirement from 1,000 to 1,250 square feet of land per dwelling unit was rejected by 5-1 vote. Commissioner V. Judson Klein, who dissented, said he favored postponing a decision pending study of the entire zoning ordinance. Commissioner Thomas R. O'Toole was absent.

Chairman Fred C. Robbins Jr. said the commission initiated the proposal "not to cut down the value of land, but to try to correct the tendency to overbuild on a piece of property."

Architect Robert W. F. Severin said the change would not improve the environment, but would result in cheaper buildings on more land.

The effect would be the opposite of cluster housing and the developer "would need one and a quarter parcels to handle the same number of people now on one parcel," Severin said.

Sol A. Abrams of Ross said that he, as an investor, would incur a loss if the mimimum were raised. "A large segment of taxpayers would get hurt and hurt badly," he said.

The proposed change would have affected 1,038 parcels in the multiple residential zones, transient residential zones and special multiple zones.

Several other speakers said the change would be unfair, would slow down building and thereby cause unemployment and a loss of taxes. The commission also received seven letters of protest.

Commissioners unanimously approved, however, an amendment to the zoning ordinance on density in apartment areas, spelling out the lot coverage to be permitted.

Linthicum said the amendment will provide flexibility in multiple dwelling density.

San Rafael Planning Commission Also:

1. Recommended rezoning of Kerner-Bellam properties, 20 lots, on the east side of Kerner Boulevard, from planned commercial and light industrial to multiple residential and special residential. This was by 5-1 vote with Commissioner Jorgen V. Lunding dissenting. There was no protest at a public hearing.

2. Recommended rezoning four parcels in Northgate Shopping Center unit one, on the north side of Las Gallinas Avenue, from general commercial to planned community, and granted D. M. Christensen a use permit for administrative-professional buildings on the site.

3. Recommended general commercial zoning for two lots, now unclassified, between Los Ranchitos Road and Highway 101, opposite the Emporium's east parking lot. This was requested by Draper Companies. There was no protest at a public hearing.

4. Granted Marin Ventures a variance to permit a seven-unit apartment on Ross Street, between D and Marin streets, on a lot 50-feet wide where a width of 60 feet is required. The vote was 5-1 with Lunding dissenting. Commissioners then granted architectural approval for the proposed apartment building.

5. Granted Neil Shooter a permit to construct a 50-foot radio transmitting tower on the roof of a commercial building at 77 Larkspur Street, which will be used in a two-way mobile radio communication with construction trucks.

6. Denied an application by United Ambulance service to operate its service at 18 and 20 G Street in an existing residential structure. Linthicum said the company had asked to withdraw the application.

Susalito-Marin City Sanitary District directors Monday night passed a resolution to proceed with the proposed Waldo Point assessment district between the north border of Sausalito and Richardson Bay Bridge.

Engineering work is under way and, when completed, public hearings will be held, reported director Frank I. Lawson. The district has been approved by the county board of supervisors.

Storm Victims Find Hospitality

PALM SPRINGS (UPI) — Charles Mills of Indio and Frank McGarry of San Bernardino were driving through a blinding rainstorm last Monday night near the Thunderbird Country Club here when their car overturned in a washout.

The pair was swept into a storm drain. Wet, cold and miserable, they made their way to the back door of a nearby home and knocked.

Mills and McGarry were put up for the night by actress Lucille Ball and her husband, Gary Morton.

Tulare School Bonds Defeated

TULARE (UPI)—Voters in the Tulare Union High School District yesterday rejected a proposed $2.84 million bond issue.

The measure failed by 235 votes to attain the necessary two-thirds majority when the voters gave it 1,748 "yes" votes to 991 "no" votes.

If approved, the funds would have been used for building additional classrooms and modernizing facilities at the school district's two campuses, Union and Western.

San Quentin Prepares For Escapee

San Quentin Prison officers last night made ready to welcome self-styled escape artist and three-time-loser Donald Dacey back into the fold after his latest escapade in the East Bay.

Dacey, 28, was one of the four men who broke out of the Martinez jail Sunday. He was surrounded and captured on a pig farm a few hours later.

They know all about Dacey at San Quentin. He walked away from one of the prison's camps last year and shot at an Oakland policeman during his flight.

After his capture, he was returned to the Contra Costa County Jail, only to escape in August by squirming through a window.

So they're taking no chances at San Quentin. "We shall see to it he has no chances to escape again," said Associate Warden James W. L. Park.

Dacey was originally sentenced to a term at San Quentin for a shooting at a rodeo and was in jail in Martinez waiting to face charges arising from his escape.

To San Quentin also goes Robert Burnett, 30, another of the Martinez escapees, who will serve out a term for parole violation in a place where escape is not easy.

Increase In Lot Size Loses Before San Rafael Planners

San Rafael Planning Commission voted against increasing the minimum site area requirements in apartment zones last night, after protesting property owners said the change would result in economic hardship.

Acting Planner Charles J. Linthicum recommended the increase be abandoned, saying the commission could achieve its objectives more effectively through other measures.

The proposal to increase the minimum requirement from 1,000 to 1,250 square feet of land per dwelling unit was rejected by 5-1 vote. Commissioner V. Judson Klein, who dissented, said he favored postponing a decision pending study of the entire zoning ordinance. Commissioner Thomas R. O'Toole was absent.

Chairman Fred C. Robbins Jr. said the commission initiated the proposal "not to cut down the value of land, but to try to correct the tendency to overbuild on a piece of property."

Architect Robert W. F. Severin said the change would not improve the environment, but would result in cheaper buildings on more land.

The effect would be the opposite of cluster housing and the developer "would need one and a quarter parcels to handle the same number of people now on one parcel," Severin said.

Sol A. Abrams of Ross said that he, as an investor, would incur a loss if the mimimum were raised. "A large segment of taxpayers would get hurt and hurt badly," he said.

The proposed change would have affected 1,038 parcels in the multiple residential zones, transient residential zones and special multiple zones.

Several other speakers said the change would be unfair, would slow down building and thereby cause unemployment and a loss of taxes. The commission also received seven letters of protest.

Commissioners unanimously approved, however, an amendment to the zoning ordinance on density in apartment areas, spelling out the lot coverage to be permitted.

Linthicum said the amendment will provide flexibility in multiple dwelling density.

San Rafael Planning Commission Also:

1. Recommended rezoning of Kerner-Bellam properties, 20 lots, on the east side of Kerner Boulevard, from planned commercial and light industrial to multiple residential and special residential. This was by 5-1 vote with Commissioner Jorgen V. Lunding dissenting. There was no protest at a public hearing.

2. Recommended rezoning four parcels in Northgate Shopping Center unit one, on the north side of Las Gallinas Avenue, from general commercial to planned community, and granted D. M. Christensen a use permit for administrative-professional buildings on the site.

3. Recommended general commercial zoning for two lots, now unclassified, between Los Ranchitos Road and Highway 101, opposite the Emporium's east parking lot. This was requested by Draper Companies. There was no protest at a public hearing.

4. Granted Marin Ventures a variance to permit a seven-unit apartment on Ross Street, between D and Marin streets, on a lot 50-feet wide where a width of 60 feet is required. The vote was 5-1 with Lunding dissenting. Commissioners then granted architectural approval for the proposed apartment building.

5. Granted Neil Shooter a permit to construct a 50-foot radio transmitting tower on the roof of a commercial building at 77 Larkspur Street, which will be used in a two-way mobile radio communication with construction trucks.

6. Denied an application by United Ambulance service to operate its service at 18 and 20 G Street in an existing residential structure. Linthicum said the company had asked to withdraw the application.

The patrol said she was northbound just south of the Forbes overhead when her car crashed into the east bank of the highway. She was in fair condition at San Rafael General Hospital today.

MARIN EMPLOYEES TO HIRE MANAGER

Association Votes 89-9 To Increase Dues, Select Full-Time Aide; Session Is Stormy

The Marin County Employees Assn. last night, in a stormy session, voted 89-9 in favor of increasing membership dues six-fold and hiring a full time manager to represent the employees' case before the Board of Supervisors.

The 98-member turn-out represented about a fifth of the total membership.

Joseph Heneberry, senior legal clerk in the county clerks office, argued long and loud for polling the membership by mail on the proposal. Association President Mrs. La Verne Robinson repeatedly called Heneberry out of order.

The debate in the planning commission chamber at the Civic Center grew so loud at one point that it disrupted a board of supervisors hearing next door on the proposed Corte Madera dump. Asst. County Administrator John F. Barrows had to ask employees to quiet down.

Among those backing the manager proposal were Treasurer-Tax Collector Stanley J. Fontez and Auditor-Controller Michael Mitchell, both elected officials.

The manager will start at a salary of $9,948. With part time secretary and office equipment and rental, the total budget will come to $18,500. This will require an increase in dues from $6 to $36 a year.

Mrs. Robinson said recruitment will begin at once with the hope of hiring a man in January.

County Sanitarian William Desmond was elected president for 1966. Other officers named were Paul Breauseau of the sealer of weights and measures department, vice president; Frances Bahl of the coroner's office, secretary, and Paul G. Eliopoulos of the auditor-controller's office, treasurer.

Board Drafts Zone Change In Larkspur

The Larkspur Planning Commission last night reworked a draft of an amendment to the city zoning ordinance which would add a planned unit development zone.

The commissioners asked that a draft of the amendment be sent to the city attorney for his opinion, City Clerk Isabelle Moore said today.

The commissioners approved plans for a garage at Wilson and Polhemus ways. The lot is in steep terrain, so the city required owner Lawrence Olin to get planning commission approval.

Commissioners also approved a tentative map of Unit Three of the Meadow, a 33-lot subdivision near Heather Gardens, off William Avenue.

Slope Policy Waiver Again Is Rejected In San Anselmo

San Anselmo city councilmen last night refused to reconsider their denial last month of a city slope policy waiver for the proposed 10-lot Ronald Court subdivision off The Alameda near Caletta Avenue.

The council voted 3-to-1 on Oct. 26 to overrule the city planning commission and deny the waiver. Applicant Harry Johnson complained he was not warned that the council would be considering the matter and asked for a rehearing.

After an hour of debate last night, Councilman Cedric E. Clute, saying, "I am not in favor of a slope policy at all," moved to rescind the waiver denial. His motion failed for lack of a second.

Johnson warned the council that if it did not grant his subdivision, "sure as God made green apples, you're going to destroy the side of that hill up there."

Johnson and his engineer, Arthur J. Lang, argued that pads for the 10 lots were graded 15 years ago and that regrading into fewer and larger lots would be a hardship and would destroy some of the natural vegetation.

"If the subdivision is not approved," Johnson said, "it will lay there for a while and then change hands. Someone will bring in a bulldozer and regrade and destroy all the oak trees there in the process."

The subdivision was approved two years ago, but Johnson did not begin work on it, the time limit ran out and it had to be resubmitted. In the meantime, the city had adopted a slope policy requiring larger lots on steep terrain.

Councilman John M. Reichmuth said: "We established the policy to deal with this sort of thing, therefore I think we should enforce it. Not to do so would be defeating whatever purpose we had."

The San Anselmo City Council also:

1. Awarded a contract for a fire engine which pumps 1,250 gallons per minute to P. E. Van Pelt Co. of Oakdale. The only other bid was over $35,000.
2. Accepted a report from William R. Zion of Berkeley on the feasibility of annexing the Short Ranch area and authorized payment of $350 for the report. Councilmen said they wished to study the 15-page report before discussing it.
3. Authorized stop signs at the southeast and northwest corners of the intersection of Broadmoor and Berkeley avenues. The other two corners already have stop signs.
4. Granted residents of Florence Avenue permission to erect banners reading "Merry Xmas" and "Happy New Year" across the entrance to that street.
5. Approved Robert B. Hubbard's final map for a three-lot subdivision between Hampton and Alderney Avenues.

Councilman William Franchini was absent.

Atascadero Hospital Ruled For Westmore

Hardy Westmore, 46, was committed to Atascadero State Hospital late yesterday following a Marin Superior Court ruling that he is mentally incapable of standing trial for the murder of College of Marin student Mike Lazar.

Judge Samuel W. Gardiner yesterday morning ordered Westmore committed to a state mental hospital, but asked Dist. Atty. Bruce B. Bales and defense attorney Richard Werthimer of San Francisco to agree on whether it should be Napa or Atascadero State Hospital. They agreed on the latter.

Westmore was taken from the county jail about 5:30 p.m. and carried by ambulance to Atascadero.

Westmore, a custodian at the college, allegedly murdered Lazar, 22, of Kentfield, last Nov. 5 at Westmore's Kentfield apartment. Wounded was Lazar's girl companion, Janine Lieberman of Sleepy Hollow.

No motive for the shootings has been established. Westmore may be returned to stand trial if officials at the state hospital later consider him able to do so.

Acreage Is Rezoned For Commercial Use

The Novato City Council, by 3-to-2 vote with Mayor Robert D. Carrow and Lucile Cannon opposing, last night rezoned from single family to planned commercial 11 acres east of Highway 101 and north of Novato Creek.

Alfred Bellucci and John Novak had requested the zoning change, which was approved Monday night by the Novato Planning Commission for the second time.

Residents of the Clausing Avenue and Clausing Court area objected to the use of Clausing Avenue as a street to the commercial area, which was planned for warehousing.

Thomas J. Mitchell of 50 Clausing Court asked for a buffer zone between the single family units and the warehouse development, making a cul-de-sac at the end of Clausing Avenue, and asked a ban on cutting the hill at the east end of the property.

Edward H. Hood of 95 Clausing Court, had a map showing a proposed buffer zone with additional single family units at the end of Clausing Avenue. This would have taken approximately half the area.

He was told by the council that a buffer zone along single family units would be considered by the council when it approves the plans for the planned commercial areas.

The Novato City Council Also:

1. Approved the master plan for Novato Square (the former Grant School property) for D. M. Christensen Construction Co. It requires that Christensen construct a section of the realigned portion of De Long Avenue.
2. Approved plans for the realignment of the De Long-Diablo Avenue intersection with Highway 101. This will move that traffic light 220 feet to the south, widen both Diablo and De Long avenues, and take out a jog in the Diablo Avenue approach to the highway.
3. Postponed until Dec. 14 hearing on abandonment of the portion of De Long Avenue between Novato Square and the planned realignment.
4. Introduced an ordinance rezoning from limited agricultural to single family dwelling the area between Shady Lane, Simmons Lane, Novato Creek and Feliz Road.
5. Postponed until Dec. 14 a request by residents of Pleasant Valley for crosswalks on Center Road.
6. Authorized spending $650 for a wooden footbridge over Novato Creek at Grant Avenue, similar to that recently constructed by the city over Warner Creek at South Novato Boulevard.
7. Postponed until Dec. 14, consideration of abandonment of an undeveloped alley between Cain and Blodget lanes.
8. Approved the final maps of San Marin units 8 and 9.
9. Received a letter from the division of highways relinquishing rights of way on frontage roads to the freeway from the Hamilton overpass north to the Highway 37 interchange.
10. Set Dec. 7 as student government day, in which Novato High School students take over honorary city positions.
11. Held a closed session to consider the possibility of a suit over the city's liability for bonds of the Scottsdale assessment district.

Parents Hit Combination Dixie Classes

Parents of pupils at Dixie School last night protested combination classes in an appearance before trustees of the Dixie School District.

There are 30 classes in the district combining two grade levels. Ten of them are at Dixie School, Supt. Dennie B. Willis said.

Mr. and Mrs. Jack Berman of 40 Mount Foraker Drive, Lucas Valley, who led the protest last night, argued that opportunities for pupils were limited in combination classes.

Berman said he was not making a plea for action this year but was requesting a policy that would reduce the combinations hereafter.

Trustees and Willis emphasized that the combinations were made because of budget limitations. Trustees reaffirmed the policy for an average of 30 pupils per class, with maximums of 30 for the first three grades and of 35 for fourth through sixth grades. When class loads exceed these maximums, combination classes will be established to handle the overload.

The Dixie School District board last night also:

1. Asked Willis to confer with the county schools office on its request for two classrooms for trainable mentally retarded at the proposed Oakview School in San Rafael Park.
2. Agreed to claim $8,100 from Maggiora, Ghilotti and Madsen of Corte Madera for delay in completion of grading at the Dixie School site. The contract on the $43,990 job called for completion in January, but the job was not finished until July.
3. Accepted the resignation of Mrs. Helen Parr, accounts clerk in the district office.
4. Approved appearance of 24 recorder students and 38 choral students from Vallecito School on television KGO's "The Young Sound of Christmas." The program is to be recorded Dec. 8.

County Expected To Write New Adult Center Contract

Peter H. Behr, chairman of the Marin County Board of Supervisors, was requested by fellow board members yesterday to work up some agreement on an activity center for older adults on Civic Center land.

The request came at the end of a long discussion of the Marin Senior Coordinating Council's request that the deadline in a lease held by the council be extended.

The lease, approved by supervisors July 17, 1961, contains a provision for cancellation if no building is started by July 17, 1966.

Vera L. Schultz, council president, said construction has been delayed, not through unwillingness of the council, but through lack of direction from the county as to what should be built.

County Administrator Alan Bruce told supervisors that county counsel Douglas J. Maloney has recently questioned the legality of the lease, saying the county must declare land surplus before it can lease it.

Mrs. Schultz, however, said the lease was deemed sound by then-counsel Leland H. Jordan, and Bruce himself wrote at the time that the lease was valid under a provision of the government code.

Supervisor Byron W. Leydecker said the argument about how the activity center is to be assured was only a side issue, and that the real crux of the matter is how it would be financed.

Mrs. Schultz and Richard Phenix, coordinator of the Citizens Advisory Committee for Older Adults, said legislation for federal financing up to one-half the cost is pending.

Mrs. Schultz suggested the balance might be raised through contributions. Supervisors thought some state fair funds may be available.

Leydecker said another issue was what group would handle the project.

Court Martial Set On Protest

EL PASO, Tex. (AP) — A general court-martial has been ordered for an Army lieutenant arrested after an anti-Viet Nam war demonstration in El Paso Nov. 6.

Lt. Henry Howe Jr., stationed at Ft. Bliss here, was charged with violating three sections of the Uniform Code of Military Justice. The court-martial has been tentatively scheduled for Dec. 13.

Howe, from Boulder, Colo., allegedly was one of a group of demonstrators protesting U. S. involvement in Viet Nam.

7. Postponed until Dec. 14, consideration of abandonment of an undeveloped alley between Cain and Blodget lanes.
8. Approved the final maps of San Marin units 8 and 9.
9. Received a letter from the division of highways relinquishing rights of way on frontage roads to the freeway from the Hamilton overpass north to the Highway 37 interchange.
10. Set Dec. 7 as student government day, in which Novato High School students take over honorary city positions.
11. Held a closed session to consider the possibility of a suit over the city's liability for bonds of the Scottsdale assessment district.

Parents Hit Combination Dixie Classes

Parents of pupils at Dixie School last night protested combination classes in an appearance before trustees of the Dixie School District.

There are 30 classes in the district combining two grade levels. Ten of them are at Dixie School, Supt. Dennie B. Willis said.

Mr. and Mrs. Jack Berman of 40 Mount Foraker Drive, Lucas Valley, who led the protest last night, argued that opportunities for pupils were limited in combination classes.

Berman said he was not making a plea for action this year but was requesting a policy that would reduce the combinations hereafter.

Trustees and Willis emphasized that the combinations were made because of budget limitations. Trustees reaffirmed the policy for an average of 30 pupils per class, with maximums of 30 for the first three grades and of 35 for fourth through sixth grades. When class loads exceed these maximums, combination classes will be established to handle the overload.

The Dixie School District board last night also:

1. Asked Willis to confer with the county schools office on its request for two classrooms for trainable mentally retarded at the proposed Oakview School in San Rafael Park.
2. Agreed to claim $8,100 from Maggiora, Ghilotti and Madsen of Corte Madera for delay in completion of grading at the Dixie School site. The contract on the $43,990 job called for completion in January, but the job was not finished until July.
3. Accepted the resignation of Mrs. Helen Parr, accounts clerk in the district office.
4. Approved appearance of 24 recorder students and 38 choral students from Vallecito School on television KGO's "The Young Sound of Christmas." The program is to be recorded Dec. 8.

County Expected To Write New Adult Center Contract

Peter H. Behr, chairman of the Marin County Board of Supervisors, was requested by fellow board members yesterday to work up some agreement on an activity center for older adults on Civic Center land.

The request came at the end of a long discussion of the Marin Senior Coordinating Council's request that the deadline in a lease held by the council be extended.

The lease, approved by supervisors July 17, 1961, contains a provision for cancellation if no building is started by July 17, 1966.

Vera L. Schultz, council president, said construction has been delayed, not through unwillingness of the council, but through lack of direction from the county as to what should be built.

County Administrator Alan Bruce told supervisors that county counsel Douglas J. Maloney has recently questioned the legality of the lease, saying the county must declare land surplus before it can lease it.

Mrs. Schultz, however, said the lease was deemed sound by then-counsel Leland H. Jordan, and Bruce himself wrote at the time that the lease was valid under a provision of the government code.

Supervisor Byron W. Leydecker said the argument about how the activity center is to be assured was only a side issue, and that the real crux of the matter is how it would be financed.

Mrs. Schultz and Richard Phenix, coordinator of the Citizens Advisory Committee for Older Adults, said legislation for federal financing up to one-half the cost is pending.

Mrs. Schultz suggested the balance might be raised through contributions. Supervisors thought some state fair funds may be available.

Leydecker said another issue was what group would handle the project.

Court Martial Set On Protest

EL PASO, Tex. (AP) — A general court-martial has been ordered for an Army lieutenant arrested after an anti-Viet Nam war demonstration in El Paso Nov. 6.

Lt. Henry Howe Jr., stationed at Ft. Bliss here, was charged with violating three sections of the Uniform Code of Military Justice. The court-martial has been tentatively scheduled for Dec. 13.

Howe, from Boulder, Colo., allegedly was one of a group of demonstrators protesting U. S. involvement in Viet Nam.

Kentfield Youth Denies Charges

George Garvin May, 22, pleaded innocent in Marin Superior Court yesterday to charges of felony assault with intent to rape, lewd and lascivious behavior, and burglary.

Jury trial was scheduled for Feb. 14.

May, of 1117 Sir Francis Drake Boulevard, Kentfield, allegedly committed the acts Oct. 10 in Larkspur, involving a 32-year-old Atherton woman.

Marine Pfc. Kellan M. Kyllo, son of Mr. and Mrs. Hiram Kyllo of 55 Ranch Road, San Rafael, has completed individual combat training with the Second Infantry Training Regiment at the Marine Corps Base at Camp Pendleton.

Aesthetics Of Engineers Is Challenged

The Marin County Board of Supervisors threw down the gauntlet to the Army Corps of Engineers yesterday on a matter of aesthetics.

Supervisors decided to make a test case of a Corps of Engineers' flood control project in Mill Valley.

And in hope of recruiting powerful allies, the supervisors directed that Mrs. Lyndon B. Johnson, Defense Secy. Robert McNamara and congressmen involved in flood control allocations be informed of the issue.

COUNTY AIM

If the county wins, the way might be cleared for a second phase of the Corte Madera Creek flood control project through Ross Valley, to which cities there have objected on the basis they do not want a wide concrete ditch running through what is now a wooded dell.

Several weeks ago, the supervisors approved an agreement with the Corps of Engineers for straightening and widening of Arroyo Corte Madera del Presidio Creek through Mill Valley. But they added a provision that the project be constructed to be "compatible with the natural environment" and insure preservation of the "aesthetic qualities of the area."

DISLIKES WORDING

Yesterday, back came a letter from Lt. Col. Robert H. Allan, district engineer for the corps, saying this wording is not acceptable. Nobody knows what the cost of preserving natural beauty would be, he contended; therefore, the cost of the project could not be tied down and it could not be recommended to Congress. He asked the supervisors to approve the agreement without the addition.

This the supervisors refused unanimously to do.

"We are trying to change an attitude imbedded in the federal government," Supervisor Byron W. Leydecker declared.

It was Supervisor Thomas T. Storer who suggested that the board seek support from the first lady.

"She's talking about beauty and we're talking about beauty. I think it's appropriate," said Storer.

Heroin Raiders Arrest Three

SAN JOSE (UPI)— Nartocics agents have arrested three persons and seized heroin valued at $85,000 in the largest haul of narcotics in the San Jose area.

Arrested Tuesday were Charles V. Rocha, 44, Frank Ram, 29, and Lavina Medina, 30, San Jose.

Arresting officers described Rocha, a Santa Clara service station manager, as the most important source of heroin in the area. He was picked up at his service station where authorities found 10 ounces of heroin.

Ram, a San Jose auto painter, and Mrs. Medina, a mother of five, have been under surveillance for several months.

Redwood Park Prices Branded Unrealistic

EUREKA (AP)—The National Park Service proposals for a redwood national park in Northern California grossly underestimate the land acquisition costs, the Redwood Region Conservation Council declared today.

The service was "speaking from the heart rather than the mind" when it said 93,000 acres could be purchased for $120 million to create a park in Humboldt and Del Norte counties, said Eldon V. Shafer, the council's executive vice president.

The council represents lumber producers — the region's major industry — as well as farming, ranching and business interests.

The park service advanced three alternative proposals Monday at a Washington conference with Interior Secretary Stewart L. Udall.

Shafer said the timber lands in the proposed park area were worth at least $200 million before the other cost factors were considered.

Among these Shafer cited lumber plant facilities as well as in lieu taxes, litigation costs, and normal inflation factors.

"The cost of developing such a vast acreage once acquired is staggering," Shafer argued.

"Instead of $120 million, the actual cost will range between $250 million and $500 million."

In addition to its 93,000 - acre plan A, the park service proposed plan B taking 76,131 acres and plan C taking 50,000 acres.

Shafer said park service officials had to admit that both plan A and plan B would result in putting three lumber companies out of business. He said these were the Arcata Redwood Company, the Miller Redwood Company, and the Rellim Redwood Company.

Sausalito To Buy Boat Fire Pump

The Sausalito City Council last night authorized purchase of a $700 portable fire pump to be used especially for boat fires in the city's three yacht harbors.

City Mgr. Charles A. Brown stressed urgent need for the gasoline-operated pump, citing two boat fires last weekend.

The pump has a draft suction hose, can be carried by one man, dropped into the bay for water. Councilmen asked Brown to meet with harbor owners to see about contributions to buying this pump or other pumps for the harbors.

Finnish Workers Cut 'Hot Line'

HELSINKI (UPI) — Finnish officials said the "hot line" between Moscow and Washington probably was disrupted for a short time this morning because of construction work west of Helsinki.

Most cable connections between Finland and the Soviet Union were cut by the work, but were reported back in service in a half-hour.

A Finnish spokesman said the hot line, designed to provide instant communications between Moscow and Washington, was switched to a reserve cable but that it was believed a short break occurred.

Open House Set At Marin Monastery

A monastery for cloistered Carmelite nuns whose main purpose will be to pray for Russia and for increased understanding and love between the eastern and western rites of the Catholic Church was founded today in Marinwood.

The nine nuns who will inhabit the newly constructed monastery at 530 Blackstone Drive came from the mother cloister at Carmel-by-the-Sea. The Marinwood monastery has been named "Carmel of the Mother of God."

The monastery will have an "open house" from 10 a.m. to noon and 2-5 p.m. tomorrow, Friday and Saturday when the cloistered section and other sections of the monastery will be open to the public.

The entranceway to the monastery has a Byzantine style cupola above it, emphasizing the nuns' interest in the Eastern rites, church officials explained.

The monastery's temporary chapel has icons painted by the nuns. The simple monastic furnishings were constructed by them.

The monastery was formally founded today because it is the feast day of St. John of the Cross, a Carmelite, and the birthday anniversary of Junipero Serra.

Collides With Pole

Robert D. Cole, 44, of 70 Woodside Lane, Mill Valley, was treated at Marin General Hospital Monday for cuts on his forehead, suffered when his eastbound auto struck a light pole at 855 San Anselmo Avenue, San Anselmo, at 1 p.m. yesterday. Police Chief Raymond R. Buchignani said Cole was not able to tell officers how the accident happened.

Park Meeting Off

The San Anselmo Parks and Recreation Commission, scheduled to meet Monday night in the Ross Valley Savings and Loan Building meeting room, failed to meet as the room was reserved for another meeting, reported parks and recreation director A. J. Snyder Jr. The meeting was postponed to the commission's regular meeting date, Dec. 20, Snyder said.

TURKEY'S KING

Restaurants Slate Traditional Fare

By HARRY CRAFT

Tomorrow's restaurant menus will share something in common —whether their usual listings are French, German, Italian, Spanish or Cantonese.

Thanksgiving is the one day of the year when the spotlight shifts away from coq au vin, wiener chnitzel, scallopini, tamales and chow mein to give first billing to that grand old American entree—roast turkey.

And no matter where you go out for dinner, the odds are about 15 to one against your cluttering up the rest of your fare with anything like escargots, red cabbage, polenta, refried beans or fortune cookies. The fact is, if you're a turkey eater at all, you'll take your meat white or dark, straight off the breast or drumstick—but almost certainly with the traditional dressing, mashed potatoes and gravy, cranberry sauce and pumpkin pie.

Today's cultivated turkey may be larger and in some ways a different bird from the one the Pilgrims flushed from cover, but it still has the same built-in gobble, holiday flavor and wishbone—and Americans eat about seven pounds of it apiece every year.

Marin restauranteurs will either remain open tomorrow and adjust their menus accordingly —or close the doors and give their employees a holiday. In the latter event, the odds are still good their own dinners at home or elsewhere will contain the regular Thanksgiving ingredients.

This year the number of restaurants open and closed remains about equally divided. And this means that with more than 50 establishments open around the county you should have no trouble locating one near home to host you.

Should you care to make it a full family affair with Uncle Ned, Aunt Margaret and the twins, you will even find some dineries perfectly willing to seat your group in front of its individual turkey, and either turn you loose with the carving knife or save you the trouble and perform the slicing with a professional flair.

But in spite of the featured entree, nonconformists will still be able either to order from the regular menu, or have such alternate choices as baked ham, chicken, prime rib, steaks and lobster — or perhaps duck or goose.

Complete dinners will be priced in whatever bracket each restaurant is accustomed to charge for its usual fare. At some places this may mean under $3, and at others as high as $7.50. The median range is $3.25 to about $4.50.

The hour for dinner service to begin will also vary from noon to 3, 4, 5 and in some cases 6 p.m. Phone your favorite restaurant to check whether it's open or closed and make a reservation for a time to suit your own convenience.

A countywide symposium to discuss and evaluate basic human rights will be sponsored by the Marin County Human Rights Commission on Dec. 11.

Walter Bremond, director of the Human Rights Commission and general director of the symposium, said the all-day conference, beginning at 8:30 a.m., will be held at the Marin City Community Building.

Guest speakers will include Oakland attorney Donald Worden, head of the Afro-American Society; Will Ussery, first vice chairman of the National Congress Of Racial Equality and Frank Quinn, director of the San Francisco Human Rights Commission.

Mrs. William Garoutte of Mill Valley, who is in charge of planning the symposium, named the following committee chairmen: Joseph Stewart of Mill Valley and Mrs. Leonard Sperry of Tiburon, fund-raising; Rev. John O'Connor of San Rafael and Brian Beard of Marin City, participation; Mrs. Harry Bailey of Mill Valley, luncheon; Arthur Brown of Marin City, site arrangement; Dr. Alfred Azevedo of Tiburon, consultant, and Mrs. Joseph Forest of Novato, publicity.

Redwood Park Prices Branded Unrealistic

EUREKA (AP)—The National Park Service proposals for a redwood national park in Northern California grossly underestimate the land acquisition costs, the Redwood Region Conservation Council declared today.

The service was "speaking from the heart rather than the mind" when it said 93,000 acres could be purchased for $120 million to create a park in Humboldt and Del Norte counties, said Eldon V. Shafer, the council's executive vice president.

The council represents lumber producers — the region's major industry — as well as farming, ranching and business interests.

The park service advanced three alternative proposals Monday at a Washington conference with Interior Secretary Stewart L. Udall.

Shafer said the timber lands in the proposed park area were worth at least $200 million before the other cost factors were considered.

Among these Shafer cited lumber plant facilities as well as in lieu taxes, litigation costs, and normal inflation factors.

"The cost of developing such a vast acreage once acquired is staggering," Shafer argued.

"Instead of $120 million, the actual cost will range between $250 million and $500 million."

In addition to its 93,000 - acre plan A, the park service proposed plan B taking 76,131 acres and plan C taking 50,000 acres.

Shafer said park service officials had to admit that both plan A and plan B would result in putting three lumber companies out of business. He said these were the Arcata Redwood Company, the Miller Redwood Company, and the Rellim Redwood Company.

Sausalito To Buy Boat Fire Pump

The Sausalito City Council last night authorized purchase of a $700 portable fire pump to be used especially for boat fires in the city's three yacht harbors.

City Mgr. Charles A. Brown stressed urgent need for the gasoline-operated pump, citing two boat fires last weekend.

The pump has a draft suction hose, can be carried by one man, dropped into the bay for water. Councilmen asked Brown to meet with harbor owners to see about contributions to buying this pump or other pumps for the harbors.

Finnish Workers Cut 'Hot Line'

HELSINKI (UPI) — Finnish officials said the "hot line" between Moscow and Washington probably was disrupted for a short time this morning because of construction work west of Helsinki.

Most cable connections between Finland and the Soviet Union were cut by the work, but were reported back in service in a half-hour.

A Finnish spokesman said the hot line, designed to provide instant communications between Moscow and Washington, was switched to a reserve cable but that it was believed a short break occurred.

Open House Set At Marin Monastery

A monastery for cloistered Carmelite nuns whose main purpose will be to pray for Russia and for increased understanding and love between the eastern and western rites of the Catholic Church was founded today in Marinwood.

The nine nuns who will inhabit the newly constructed monastery at 530 Blackstone Drive came from the mother cloister at Carmel-by-the-Sea. The Marinwood monastery has been named "Carmel of the Mother of God."

The monastery will have an "open house" from 10 a.m. to noon and 2-5 p.m. tomorrow, Friday and Saturday when the cloistered section and other sections of the monastery will be open to the public.

The entranceway to the monastery has a Byzantine style cupola above it, emphasizing the nuns' interest in the Eastern rites, church officials explained.

The monastery's temporary chapel has icons painted by the nuns. The simple monastic furnishings were constructed by them.

The monastery was formally founded today because it is the feast day of St. John of the Cross, a Carmelite, and the birthday anniversary of Junipero Serra.

Collides With Pole

Robert D. Cole, 44, of 70 Woodside Lane, Mill Valley, was treated at Marin General Hospital Monday for cuts on his forehead, suffered when his eastbound auto struck a light pole at 855 San Anselmo Avenue, San Anselmo, at 1 p.m. yesterday. Police Chief Raymond R. Buchignani said Cole was not able to tell officers how the accident happened.

Park Meeting Off

The San Anselmo Parks and Recreation Commission, scheduled to meet Monday night in the Ross Valley Savings and Loan Building meeting room, failed to meet as the room was reserved for another meeting, reported parks and recreation director A. J. Snyder Jr. The meeting was postponed to the commission's regular meeting date, Dec. 20, Snyder said.

TURKEY'S KING

Restaurants Slate Traditional Fare

By HARRY CRAFT

Tomorrow's restaurant menus will share something in common —whether their usual listings are French, German, Italian, Spanish or Cantonese.

Thanksgiving is the one day of the year when the spotlight shifts away from coq au vin, wiener chnitzel, scallopini, tamales and chow mein to give first billing to that grand old American entree—roast turkey.

And no matter where you go out for dinner, the odds are about 15 to one against your cluttering up the rest of your fare with anything like escargots, red cabbage, polenta, refried beans or fortune cookies. The fact is, if you're a turkey eater at all, you'll take your meat white or dark, straight off the breast or drumstick—but almost certainly with the traditional dressing, mashed potatoes and gravy, cranberry sauce and pumpkin pie.

Today's cultivated turkey may be larger and in some ways a different bird from the one the Pilgrims flushed from cover, but it still has the same built-in gobble, holiday flavor and wishbone—and Americans eat about seven pounds of it apiece every year.

Marin restauranteurs will either remain open tomorrow and adjust their menus accordingly —or close the doors and give their employees a holiday. In the latter event, the odds are still good their own dinners at home or elsewhere will contain the regular Thanksgiving ingredients.

This year the number of restaurants open and closed remains about equally divided. And this means that with more than 50 establishments open around the county you should have no trouble locating one near home to host you.

Should you care to make it a full family affair with Uncle Ned, Aunt Margaret and the twins, you will even find some dineries perfectly willing to seat your group in front of its individual turkey, and either turn you loose with the carving knife or save you the trouble and perform the slicing with a professional flair.

But in spite of the featured entree, nonconformists will still be able either to order from the regular menu, or have such alternate choices as baked ham, chicken, prime rib, steaks and lobster — or perhaps duck or goose.

Complete dinners will be priced in whatever bracket each restaurant is accustomed to charge for its usual fare. At some places this may mean under $3, and at others as high as $7.50. The median range is $3.25 to about $4.50.

The hour for dinner service to begin will also vary from noon to 3, 4, 5 and in some cases 6 p.m. Phone your favorite restaurant to check whether it's open or closed and make a reservation for a time to suit your own convenience.

Highway Safety Depends On Roads, Drivers, Cars

The California Highway Patrol will double its manpower in the next three and one-half years, and the bulk of this increase will be channeled toward saving motorists from death and injury.

First, more patrol officers will prowl the highways to serve as accident deterrent. Second, roadside inspections will increase the mechanical reliability of cars on the road.

The inspection program will involve spot checks of brakes, lights, tires, horns, wipers and other safety devices.

This is a commendable program as far as California is concerned.

But the nation as a whole may still be missing the boat by failing to get at what some safety engineers consider one of the basic causes of injury and death—the "second collision" between occupants of a car and the car's interior.

California is taking steps to cut down on the "first collision"—between car and car or car and tree. Better illumination of highways, more freeways with center barriers, and now the increase in patrol personnel all help to reduce accidents.

Some safety engineers are convinced that if similar efforts are made to "soften" the impact of the "second collision," many lives could be saved, and injuries reduced in number and gravity.

Car manufacturers, instead of concentrating on more horsepower, fancier upholstery, and more electronic gadgets, should be induced to pay greater attention to safety features.

Some of the safety suggestions include collapsible steering columns, recessed knobs and door handles, breakoff rear view mirrors, additional interior padding, and head supports to prevent whiplash.

The most effective way to tackle this problem of "second collision" is on the national level, in cooperation with Detroit manufacturers.

Each state can pass laws controlling safety features in automobiles, but this would only add to confusion in Detroit. The possibility of a different set of standards in 50 different states would pose a frightening problem for auto manufacturers.

Drunken drivers, inadequate patroling, defective design of the highways, and driver neglect have traditionally shared the blame for the increasing highway toll.

To these should be added the responsibility of manufacturers to see that the ultimate in safety features are installed in vehicles when they roll off the assembly lines in Detroit.

AFFAIRS OF STATE

State Employee Contributions To Campaigns All Part Of Game

By HENRY C. MacARTHUR

SACRAMENTO — Politics continues to be an amusing game to watch, for the observer with a sense of humor, but at times it's difficult to know the names of the players or the ground rules without a program.

Take the recent major new policy which State Controller Alan Cranston said he had "formulated over the past year." This is that he will accept no "direct or indirect financial contributions" to his political campaigns from the 151 state inheritance tax appraisers whom he appoints.

"If any contribution from an appraiser comes into my hands or the hands of any of my campaign groups or staff, it will be returned to the individual who sent it," Cranston said in a stern memo to all state ITA's.

THIS NEW POSITION of Cranston, an elected Democratic official, puts him about 180 degrees from another elected Democratic official, Gov. Edmund G. Brown. Recently, it was learned that appointees of the governor were tapped for contributions to his 1966 campaign (if he chooses to run).

To make it easier for the appointees to know how much was expected of them, the governor's bagmen had a schedule all prepared—from $1,250 to $1,500 for those in the top brackets and earning $25,000 or more a year, down to $100 to $250 for those in the lower brackets and earning $12,000 a year, or less.

Gov. Brown said he had no knowledge of the collection activity until it was brought to light in the press but thought it was just fine that his appointees should contribute. Brown said he knew of no other place where he could accept campaign contributions where there would be less attempt to put the pressure on him.

APPARENTLY, Cranston held similar ideas in the spring of 1964, when he was seeking the Democratic nomination for U.S. senator. At the time, his opponent, short-time Sen. Pierre Salinger, charged that Cranston required substantial political contributions from all appraisers.

Whether or not the charges were true, some feel this was the major issue in the primary campaign which Salinger won. Salinger went down to defeat in the general election, at the hands of Sen. George Murphy, the Republican. Many felt Salinger's carpetbagger image cost him the election, but, in the primary, the image of collecting contributions from appointees apparently outweighed carpetbagging.

THE INHERITANCE tax appraisers have been considered by most politicians as one of the most politically potent forces in California, under mostly Republican controllers. Nowadays, appraisers collect fees of up to $50,000 a year for their part-time work.

In Cranston's behalf, it must be said he has made some reforms. He now requires the appraisers to report the amount of their take each year, as well as a breakdown on expenses and net income (the latter figures only for the past year or so).

But the system has been under attack by both Democrats and Republicans. One of the leaders has been Assemblyman William T. Bagley, R-San Rafael, who has been unsuccessful in several tries to put the ITA's under civil service, with the state treasury receiving the fat commissions, rather than the ITA's.

Bagley is not too impressed with Cranston's recent white paper on ITA political contributions. Bagley claims "a much deeper and much more devious defect" in the system involves "employee expense" of his appraisers. Bagley said this sometimes doubles during election years.

The assemblyman's inference is that, while the politically appointed appraisers may not contribute directly to the campaign, they can use part of their generous fees to hire campaign workers.

Meters Should Be Observed By All

Editor, Independent-Journal:

In answer to Cliff Lund.

I have looked around long and hard. I have spent 20 years of my life in business in San Rafael. Who is kidding whom—just what was this grace period for? On each parking meter is printed "one hour parking limit." In case you don't know what that means, it means everybody, including you.

As you know by now, it created a multitude of sins when it (was) left . . . up to our meter maids . . . who should get tickets. That is no way to get justice for all, even for one, in your frame of mind.

Now as for (joining) the Chamber of Commerce, I have news for you. The Chamber of Commerce cannot get any more done as a group (than) I have done as a single citizen in this town. . . . Any pressure can spend other people's money to get things done, but I, as an individual have accomplished the same thing without a pressure group and spending other people's money.

Next time, think before you jump into the fire. Find out what it is all about. It is the right of every free citizen to speak out, even you.

Clergy, Civil Rights Coverage Noted

Editor, Independent-Journal:

In the Nov. 16 paper appeared a letter from Mr. Mac Hull, president, Catholic Interracial Council of Marin, thanking you for your generous coverage of the first of a series of community awareness panel programs sponsored by the Council.

I would like to further comment that the reporter covering that assignment, Mr. Jeff Greer, seems to possess a keen perception and understanding of the points trying to be put across. In the past I have submitted releases to Mr. Greer in connection with the Friendship House program, person-to-person contact via interracial home visits, and again, Mr. Greer very ably captured the essense of what it was all about.

No doubt you will agree that this is not always the case in newspaper writing and, therefore, Mr. Greer is to be congratulated.

Rhodesia Reality Refutes Vargas Idea

Editor, Independent-Journal:

Chester G. Vargas lauds the white Rhodesian government for its moral virtue (Nov. 15) and says they "have provided a rational means for their colored neighbors to aspire to and achieve democracy." The African need only acquire a high school education and $1,000 worth of property.

Facts about Rhodesia dispel illusions:

1. Public funds expended per year for education per white child: 100 pounds; per African child: 8 pounds, less than one-tenth as much.

2. Schools for 90 per cent of African children are provided not by public funds, but by various churches. These are mostly five to eight grades. Last year only 93 Africans reached junior college level.

3. Churches are now being pressed to dismiss the very few Africans who have been admitted to their (white) prep schools.

4. For the same job there are three pay scales: The highest, for whites; mid-range, for "colored" (mixed race); lowest, for Africans. Average African wage is 9 per cent of average European wage.

5. Africans were systematically resettled on the "reserves" — mainly marginal lands where the average income per family is the equivalent of $200 per year. Areas open to "Native Purchase" are meager and generally poor.

If education and property are to be prerequisites to voting rights, to adopt a settled policy of denying the opportunity to acquire either is plainly immoral.

U. S. Troops Have Reason For Killing

Editor, Independent-Journal:

I have read the article in the Nov. 17 copy submitted by John Cherry, who seems to have different views on the Viet Nam war than I, which is his right, and I ask a favor of him. The favor is, never place my name among those of Steve Cherkoss or Mario Savio again!

Also, I'd like to say that I do believe that most of the Viet Nam war protesters are Communist, and the rest are cowards.

One more thing I'd like to say is—in Cherry's letter he says, "I myself have a brother who is 1-A, and who at any time may be forced by the government to move thousands of miles from home, to kill in cold blood innocent men against whom he has nothing whatsoever." Well, let me give something for his brother to have against the "innocent" men he'd be fighting.

If he goes to Viet Nam, while he's shooting some of the Viet Cong in "cold blood," let him think of all the other young, brave men who have been murdered by the V.C., and that alone should be enough to make him able to keep on killing until this war is over.

Citizens Damage Schools By Vote

GEORGE JESSEL, who has a keen appreciation of feminine pulchritude, swore to Shirley Eder on a Detroit TV program, that he had once been engaged to Rita Hayworth for two months. On their way to Las Vegas to have the knot tied, declared Jessel, Rita put her head on his shoulder and took a nap. When she woke up, she looked soulfully into his eyes and said, "Phil, I never loved anyone as much as I love you." 'That did it," concluded Jessel. While he watched, the dog pointed twice, and twice the farmer peered into the brush, wheeled and fired into the empty air. The journalist, intrigued, ran over for an explanation. "Shucks," said the farmer, "I know there ain't no birds in that grass—but my poor old dog's nose ain't what it used to be. But we two has had some mighty wonderful times together, and he's still doing the best he can. It would be mighty mean of me to call him a liar."

Automation Can Help Business, Labor Or Cause Social Disaster

By ROSCOE DRUMMOND and SAM ZAGORIA

(Zagoria is a member of the National Labor Relations Board and former assistant to Sen. Clifford Case of New Jersey.)
(Last of a series)

WASHINGTON — Computer-automation can help labor and management reach their fondest objectives — or it can produce social disaster.

If it is to be allowed to work its wonders, management must accept human responsibilities, labor must free itself from any blind resistance, and government must help cushion its application.

You can't featherbed a computer, but no humane society can permit workers to be made jobless on a large scale through no fault of their own.

Nothing that is now being done is equal to the size of the problem.

Much labor opposition is hobbling computer-automation from accomplishing its vast potential.

Industry willingness to assure that the computer will not cost any present employee his job does not remove labor's understandable fear that massive automation will mean massive unemployment unless far-reaching advance preparations are made.

INDIVIDUAL COMPANIES and individual unions have made some beginnings. Kaiser Steel and the United Steel Workers of America have agreed that displaced workers would be guaranteed salaries for up to three years and placed in an employment reserve. The Armour meat packing firm and its unions have set up a fund to study the effects of automation on employees and to retrain affected workers.

But the vision of the good the computers can do and the dangers to be averted in order to enable it to be humanely applied needs to be lifted higher.

Take, for example, the book publishing field, which sparkles with enlightened businessmen.

A COMPUTER can arrange a book on a line-for-line basis, making all corrections and alterations in copy and format before the final output tape is produced for activating an electronic typesetting device. The computer can process a 300-page book, 50 lines per page, in approximately three hours — a job which would tie up a single printer working manually for nearly a month, 12 hours a day, six days a week. The potential for upheaval in the composing room is readily visible.

What is management's responsibility to the worker being displaced?

Suppose the book publishing industry launched a study of the skills involved in their composing room operations, worked with unions and government to determine how such skills could best be utilized in a worker-short industry (the office machine repair field, for example) and what type of training was necessary to make the transition. This is the suggestion of Herbert Striner, director of program development at the W. E. Upjohn Institute for Employment Research. Such an initiative might lead to a joint labor-management - government retraining program.

ANOTHER SUGGESTION: develop a plan whereby workers can carry accumulated benefits such as pension rights, welfare and health benefits, sick leave, and vacation credits from job to job. It is grim enough for a worker to find an electronic widget has taken his job, requiring him to find another, perhaps move to a far distant community to do so, without also having to give up the work benefits he had accumulated in his years of service.

None of these suggestions are offered as solutions. They simply point where more creative thinking is urgently and crucially needed. What must come next is energetic action at the highest level of management, labor, and government.

Ambassador Bohlen Is Leaving France

By ROBERT S. ALLEN and PAUL SCOTT

WASHINGTON — President Lyndon B. Johnson is going to have to get a new ambassador to France.

Ambassador Charles (Chip) Bohlen has reached the end of the road there.

The veteran career diplomat has incurred the imperious displeasure of President de Gaulle. Bohlen's firmly realistic views and plain talk about de Gaulle's anti-U.S. machinations and policies have outraged the French president.

De Gaulle has also let it be known he thinks Bohlen has "campaigned" against his re-election.

While Bohlen is not formally pronounced persona non grata, it has been made clearly evident to him and Washington that his usefulness is ended and he is no longer wanted in Paris. Graphically illustrative is the following:

On several occasions when Bohlen, on State Department instructions, asked to see De Gaulle personally, he was told he was "busy" — an obvious brush-off and rebuke. For the president of France to refuse to meet the personal envoy of the president of the United States with that kind of spurious excuse was a deliberate snub — to Bohlen and the government he represents.

In each instance, Bohlen made a full report to Secretary of State Dean Rusk.

SHORTLY BEFORE De Gaulle finally let his compatriots know he was willing to accept a second term, provided he is re-elected by a "massive" majority, Bohlen quietly went to Nice and took a slow boat to the U.S. Inquirers at the State Department are now told he is on "home leave."

The inside word is that Bohlen "probably" will return to Paris to advise secretaries Rusk and Robert McNamara when they attend the annual NATO foreign and defense ministers conference in mid-December.

The state and defense department heads rate him highly as an astute and long-experienced authority on both France and the Soviet bloc. He speaks French and Russian fluently, and has had extensive service in both countries. Bohlen was President Dwight D. Eisenhower's ambassador to Moscow from 1953 to 1957.

WITH 36 YEARS in the foreign service, Bohlen, 61, has been eligible to retire since 1959. He was seriously considering doing that in 1962, following several years as ambassador to the Philippines.

But when Gen. James Gavin decided he had had enough of De Gaulle's haughty contretemps and quit as ambassador, President John F. Kennedy persuaded Bohlen to postpone retiring and undertake the thorny job of trying to get along with "le grande Charlie."

Bohlen gamely stuck it out for more than three years — but he has had enough, and apparently so has De Gaulle. The next move is up to President Johnson.

BOHLEN, spending his "home leave" sunning himself in the Caribbean, can be grateful for one thing: In being away from overcast and dank Paris, he is missing a horde of congressional junketeers.

This woodsy smell is here all year round, but it seems particularly apparent after a good rain. Rain seems to release the latent fragrance of the bay, the eucalyptus, all the leaves, as well as the good earth itself.

Turn on the rain; bring on the perfume.

State Employee Contributions To Campaigns All Part Of Game

By HENRY C. MacARTHUR

SACRAMENTO — Politics continues to be an amusing game to watch, for the observer with a sense of humor, but at times it's difficult to know the names of the players or the ground rules without a program.

Take the recent major new policy which State Controller Alan Cranston said he had "formulated over the past year." This is that he will accept no "direct or indirect financial contributions" to his political campaigns from the 151 state inheritance tax appraisers whom he appoints.

"If any contribution from an appraiser comes into my hands or the hands of any of my campaign groups or staff, it will be returned to the individual who sent it," Cranston said in a stern memo to all state ITA's.

THIS NEW POSITION of Cranston, an elected Democratic official, puts him about 180 degrees from another elected Democratic official, Gov. Edmund G. Brown. Recently, it was learned that appointees of the governor were tapped for contributions to his 1966 campaign (if he chooses to run).

To make it easier for the appointees to know how much was expected of them, the governor's bagmen had a schedule all prepared—from $1,250 to $1,500 for those in the top brackets and earning $25,000 or more a year, down to $100 to $250 for those in the lower brackets and earning $12,000 a year, or less.

Gov. Brown said he had no knowledge of the collection activity until it was brought to light in the press but thought it was just fine that his appointees should contribute. Brown said he knew of no other place where he could accept campaign contributions where there would be less attempt to put the pressure on him.

APPARENTLY, Cranston held similar ideas in the spring of 1964, when he was seeking the Democratic nomination for U.S. senator. At the time, his opponent, short-time Sen. Pierre Salinger, charged that Cranston required substantial political contributions from all appraisers.

Whether or not the charges were true, some feel this was the major issue in the primary campaign which Salinger won. Salinger went down to defeat in the general election, at the hands of Sen. George Murphy, the Republican. Many felt Salinger's carpetbagger image cost him the election, but, in the primary, the image of collecting contributions from appointees apparently outweighed carpetbagging.

THE INHERITANCE tax appraisers have been considered by most politicians as one of the most politically potent forces in California, under mostly Republican controllers. Nowadays, appraisers collect fees of up to $50,000 a year for their part-time work.

In Cranston's behalf, it must be said he has made some reforms. He now requires the appraisers to report the amount of their take each year, as well as a breakdown on expenses and net income (the latter figures only for the past year or so).

But the system has been under attack by both Democrats and Republicans. One of the leaders has been Assemblyman William T. Bagley, R-San Rafael, who has been unsuccessful in several tries to put the ITA's under civil service, with the state treasury receiving the fat commissions, rather than the ITA's.

Bagley is not too impressed with Cranston's recent white paper on ITA political contributions. Bagley claims "a much deeper and much more devious defect" in the system involves "employee expense" of his appraisers. Bagley said this sometimes doubles during election years.

The assemblyman's inference is that, while the politically appointed appraisers may not contribute directly to the campaign, they can use part of their generous fees to hire campaign workers.

Meters Should Be Observed By All

Editor, Independent-Journal:

In answer to Cliff Lund.

I have looked around long and hard. I have spent 20 years of my life in business in San Rafael. Who is kidding whom—just what was this grace period for? On each parking meter is printed "one hour parking limit." In case you don't know what that means, it means everybody, including you.

As you know by now, it created a multitude of sins when it (was) left . . . up to our meter maids . . . who should get tickets. That is no way to get justice for all, even for one, in your frame of mind.

Now as for (joining) the Chamber of Commerce, I have news for you. The Chamber of Commerce cannot get any more done as a group (than) I have done as a single citizen in this town. . . . Any pressure can spend other people's money to get things done, but I, as an individual have accomplished the same thing without a pressure group and spending other people's money.

Next time, think before you jump into the fire. Find out what it is all about. It is the right of every free citizen to speak out, even you.

Clergy, Civil Rights Coverage Noted

Editor, Independent-Journal:

In the Nov. 16 paper appeared a letter from Mr. Mac Hull, president, Catholic Interracial Council of Marin, thanking you for your generous coverage of the first of a series of community awareness panel programs sponsored by the Council.

I would like to further comment that the reporter covering that assignment, Mr. Jeff Greer, seems to possess a keen perception and understanding of the points trying to be put across. In the past I have submitted releases to Mr. Greer in connection with the Friendship House program, person-to-person contact via interracial home visits, and again, Mr. Greer very ably captured the essense of what it was all about.

No doubt you will agree that this is not always the case in newspaper writing and, therefore, Mr. Greer is to be congratulated.

Rhodesia Reality Refutes Vargas Idea

Editor, Independent-Journal:

Chester G. Vargas lauds the white Rhodesian government for its moral virtue (Nov. 15) and says they "have provided a rational means for their colored neighbors to aspire to and achieve democracy." The African need only acquire a high school education and $1,000 worth of property.

Facts about Rhodesia dispel illusions:

1. Public funds expended per year for education per white child: 100 pounds; per African child: 8 pounds, less than one-tenth as much.

2. Schools for 90 per cent of African children are provided not by public funds, but by various churches. These are mostly five to eight grades. Last year only 93 Africans reached junior college level.

3. Churches are now being pressed to dismiss the very few Africans who have been admitted to their (white) prep schools.

4. For the same job there are three pay scales: The highest, for whites; mid-range, for "colored" (mixed race); lowest, for Africans. Average African wage is 9 per cent of average European wage.

5. Africans were systematically resettled on the "reserves" — mainly marginal lands where the average income per family is the equivalent of $200 per year. Areas open to "Native Purchase" are meager and generally poor.

If education and property are to be prerequisites to voting rights, to adopt a settled policy of denying the opportunity to acquire either is plainly immoral.

U. S. Troops Have Reason For Killing

Editor, Independent-Journal:

I have read the article in the Nov. 17 copy submitted by John Cherry, who seems to have different views on the Viet Nam war than I, which is his right, and I ask a favor of him. The favor is, never place my name among those of Steve Cherkoss or Mario Savio again!

Also, I'd like to say that I do believe that most of the Viet Nam war protesters are Communist, and the rest are cowards.

One more thing I'd like to say is—in Cherry's letter he says, "I myself have a brother who is 1-A, and who at any time may be forced by the government to move thousands of miles from home, to kill in cold blood innocent men against whom he has nothing whatsoever." Well, let me give something for his brother to have against the "innocent" men he'd be fighting.

If he goes to Viet Nam, while he's shooting some of the Viet Cong in "cold blood," let him think of all the other young, brave men who have been murdered by the V.C., and that alone should be enough to make him able to keep on killing until this war is over.

Citizens Damage Schools By Vote

Editor, Independent-Journal:

The recent defeat of the Tam school bonds raises a question. Should citizens, by local option, be allowed to irreparably damage the educations of their children? Perhaps the current successes of Soviet Russia are tied to their profound understanding of the value of education.

TRY AND STOP ME

BENNETT CERF

GEORGE JESSEL, who has a keen appreciation of feminine pulchritude, swore to Shirley Eder on a Detroit TV program, that he had once been engaged to Rita Hayworth for two months. On their way to Las Vegas to have the knot tied, declared Jessel, Rita put her head on his shoulder and took a nap. When she woke up, she looked soulfully into his eyes and said, "Phil, I never loved anyone as much as I love you." 'That did it," concluded Jessel. "I instructed the driver, 'Turn around and head for home.' "

DURING THE quail season in Georgia, an Atlanta journalist spotted a farmer out hunting with his very old pointer. While he watched, the dog pointed twice, and twice the farmer peered into the brush, wheeled and fired into the empty air. The journalist, intrigued, ran over for an explanation. "Shucks," said the farmer, "I know there ain't no birds in that grass—but my poor old dog's nose ain't what it used to be. But we two has had some mighty wonderful times together, and he's still doing the best he can. It would be mighty mean of me to call him a liar."

Automation Can Help Business, Labor Or Cause Social Disaster

By ROSCOE DRUMMOND and SAM ZAGORIA

(Zagoria is a member of the National Labor Relations Board and former assistant to Sen. Clifford Case of New Jersey.)
(Last of a series)

WASHINGTON — Computer-automation can help labor and management reach their fondest objectives — or it can produce social disaster.

If it is to be allowed to work its wonders, management must accept human responsibilities, labor must free itself from any blind resistance, and government must help cushion its application.

You can't featherbed a computer, but no humane society can permit workers to be made jobless on a large scale through no fault of their own.

Nothing that is now being done is equal to the size of the problem.

Much labor opposition is hobbling computer-automation from accomplishing its vast potential.

Industry willingness to assure that the computer will not cost any present employee his job does not remove labor's understandable fear that massive automation will mean massive unemployment unless far-reaching advance preparations are made.

INDIVIDUAL COMPANIES and individual unions have made some beginnings. Kaiser Steel and the United Steel Workers of America have agreed that displaced workers would be guaranteed salaries for up to three years and placed in an employment reserve. The Armour meat packing firm and its unions have set up a fund to study the effects of automation on employees and to retrain affected workers.

But the vision of the good the computers can do and the dangers to be averted in order to enable it to be humanely applied needs to be lifted higher.

Take, for example, the book publishing field, which sparkles with enlightened businessmen.

A COMPUTER can arrange a book on a line-for-line basis, making all corrections and alterations in copy and format before the final output tape is produced for activating an electronic typesetting device. The computer can process a 300-page book, 50 lines per page, in approximately three hours — a job which would tie up a single printer working manually for nearly a month, 12 hours a day, six days a week. The potential for upheaval in the composing room is readily visible.

What is management's responsibility to the worker being displaced?

Suppose the book publishing industry launched a study of the skills involved in their composing room operations, worked with unions and government to determine how such skills could best be utilized in a worker-short industry (the office machine repair field, for example) and what type of training was necessary to make the transition. This is the suggestion of Herbert Striner, director of program development at the W. E. Upjohn Institute for Employment Research. Such an initiative might lead to a joint labor-management - government retraining program.

ANOTHER SUGGESTION: develop a plan whereby workers can carry accumulated benefits such as pension rights, welfare and health benefits, sick leave, and vacation credits from job to job. It is grim enough for a worker to find an electronic widget has taken his job, requiring him to find another, perhaps move to a far distant community to do so, without also having to give up the work benefits he had accumulated in his years of service.

None of these suggestions are offered as solutions. They simply point where more creative thinking is urgently and crucially needed. What must come next is energetic action at the highest level of management, labor, and government.

Ambassador Bohlen Is Leaving France

By ROBERT S. ALLEN and PAUL SCOTT

WASHINGTON — President Lyndon B. Johnson is going to have to get a new ambassador to France.

Ambassador Charles (Chip) Bohlen has reached the end of the road there.

The veteran career diplomat has incurred the imperious disdispleasure of President de Gaulle. Bohlen's firmly realistic views and plain talk about de Gaulle's anti-U.S. machinations and policies have outraged the French president.

De Gaulle has also let it be known he thinks Bohlen has "campaigned" against his re-election.

While Bohlen is not formally pronounced persona non grata, it has been made clearly evident to him and Washington that his usefulness is ended and he is no longer wanted in Paris. Graphically illustrative is the following:

On several occasions when Bohlen, on State Department instructions, asked to see De Gaulle personally, he was told he was "busy" — an obvious brush-off and rebuke. For the president of France to refuse to meet the personal envoy of the president of the United States with that kind of spurious excuse was a deliberate snub — to Bohlen and the government he represents.

In each instance, Bohlen made a full report to Secretary of State Dean Rusk.

SHORTLY BEFORE De Gaulle finally let his compatriots know he was willing to accept a second term, provided he is re-elected by a "massive" majority, Bohlen quietly went to Nice and took a slow boat to the U.S. Inquirers at the State Department are now told he is on "home leave."

The inside word is that Bohlen "probably" will return to Paris to advise secretaries Rusk and Robert McNamara when they attend the annual NATO foreign and defense ministers conference in mid-December.

The state and defense department heads rate him highly as an astute and long-experienced authority on both France and the Soviet bloc. He speaks French and Russian fluently, and has had extensive service in both countries. Bohlen was President Dwight D. Eisenhower's ambassador to Moscow from 1953 to 1957.

WITH 36 YEARS in the foreign service, Bohlen, 61, has been eligible to retire since 1959. He was seriously considering doing that in 1962, following several years as ambassador to the Philippines.

But when Gen. James Gavin decided he had had enough of De Gaulle's haughty contretemps and quit as ambassador, President John F. Kennedy persuaded Bohlen to postpone retiring and undertake the thorny job of trying to get along with "le grande Charlie."

Bohlen gamely stuck it out for more than three years — but he has had enough, and apparently so has De Gaulle. The next move is up to President Johnson.

BOHLEN, spending his "home leave" sunning himself in the Caribbean, can be grateful for one thing: In being away from overcast and dank Paris, he is missing a horde of congressional junketeers.

CINDY WHO?

How Did Cindy Adams Write Sukarno Book?

By DICK WEST

WASHINGTON (UPI) — An American book publisher has just brought forth a volume titled "Sukarno: An Autobiography As Told To Cindy Adams." Cindy Adams?

Sukarno, as everyone knows, is the president of Indonesia and one of the most controversial figuers on the world scene. Some of his comments in the book already have been well publicized.

But what interested me was how he happened to pour out his life story to someone named Cindy Adams. I was even more intrigued when I learned that she is the wife of comedian Joey Adams.

MY CURIOSITY as to how the Sukarno-Adams literary team was born prompted me to drop in on a party given by the Indonesian ambassador to celebrate publication of the book.

I picked up a copy and found the answer right in the first chapter. Sukarno likes pretty girls and Cindy Adams is a pretty girl.

That seemed to call for a fuller explanation. So I sought out Joey and Cindy, who were attending the party, and urged them to elucidate.

They first met Sukarno in 1961 when Joey was touring Southeast Asia under the Cultural Exchange Program. Cindy went along on the trip to write some pieces for a U.S. newspaper syndicate.

When they arrived in Indonesia, she arranged to interview Sukarno, who immedately took a shine to her. After they got back home, he asked her to return and help him with his autobiography.

"SUKARNO asured me he would look after Cindy very carefully," Joey said. "He said, 'Don't worry about a thing. I'll treat her like one of my own.'

'So I wrote back and said, 'That's what I'm afraid of.' "

When Cindy returned to Indonesia, Joey went with her. He said he and Sukarno became good friends. It turned out that Sukarno admired his jokes as well as his wife.

Joey said that Sukarno, despite recent appearances to the contrary, is fond of America and American things.

"What is he fond of besides American women?" I asked.

"Stretch sox," Joey replied.

Emissaries Need Drip-Dry Suits For Latin American Travels

WASHINGTON — It had to come sooner or later. First there was the sit-in, then the lie-in, and then the teach-in. Now word reaches us from Latin America that the students down there are engaged in spit-ins.

The two latest victims of the spit-ins were Sen. Robert Kennedy and Sec. of State Dean Rusk. Both men were on "goodwill" misisons to Latin America and, although they are not in agreement with each other on our policy in South America, each one was spat upon by left wing students.

The spit-ins have caused grave concern at the State Department, as there doesn't seem to be any diplomatic response to it. It is known that the CIA had warned both Rusk and Kennedy that Communist students were salivating in anticipation of their visits, but neither man decided to take any precautions. The CIA had urged Rusk and Kennedy to wear astronaut helmets with specially built-in windshield wipers when addressing the South American students. But they pooh-poohed the idea.

SECURITY OFFICERS then urged them to keep a distance of 15 feet from the students, which was considered safe and allowed for windage as well. But Kennedy and Rusk would have none of it.

Kennedy argued, "You will never understand the Latin American position if you keep your distance from the students."

Rusk said, "There are some students who are the spitting image of Castro, but there are many other students who are on our side."

Before leaving for South America, Kennedy was briefed by former vice president Richard Nixon who had been the first one exposed to this form of heckling.

Nixon told Kennedy, "The ones to watch out for are the students who chew gum."

He told Kennedy to wear a raincoat, rubbers, and to always carry a clean handkerchief.

HE ALSO ADVISED Kennedy, "Weave and bob a lot, so you won't be a stationary target."

Either Kennedy ignored Nixon's advice or the students had been practicing for just such a defense.

Kennedy admitted later: "I should have bobbed when I weaved."

It hadn't been on the OAS agenda, but the United States did bring up the subject of spit-ins at the Rio de Janeiro conference.

The U.S. hoped to add an amendment to the OAS charter that anyone who spat on an American diplomat or senator would be subject to a $50 fine or the overthrow of his government or both. But the Latin American diplomats rejected it.

One opponent of the amendment said, "It's hard enough to keep our people from spitting on the busses and on the sidewalk. To ask them to stop spitting on politicians and diplomats is out of the question."

"Then," Rusk asked, "what do you suggest we do?"

"What politicians in Latin America have been doing for years. We spit back."

Youths Face Charge After Citizen Chase

Two Santa Venetia 18-year-olds were chased down Monday night by an irate resident of Bel Marin Keys, and lodged in Marin County Jail for investigation of breaking about 15 windows of unoccupied homes in that subdivision.

The two are Gerald Philip Boyce, 405 Adrain Way, and Alfred Robert Cordeiro, 83 Smith Ranch Road.

A sheriff's deputy got in on the end of the chase. About 10 p.m., he saw one car pursuing another along Bel Marin Keys Boulevard.

The lead car ran off the road and got stuck in the mud. Its two occupants took flight on foot.

The pursuing car was that of Robert H. Harris of 120 Caribe Isle, Bel Marin Keys. He told officers he pursued the boys as they sped away after the windows were broken by throwing rocks.

Boyce returned to the scene shortly afterward and surrendered. Cordeiro was arrested later at his home.

GOP Told Negro Needs Race Pride

The Negro should instill pride in his own race in order to get ahead, a Negro speaker declared Monday night at a meeting of the Novato unit of the United Republicans of California.

Donald Warden, chairman and founder of the Afro-American Assn., spoke to a group of about 40 at the Civic Center.

Eric Lane of Corte Madera reported on the statewide UROC convention held in Fresno last weekend.

Former Employee Files Injury Suit

A personal injury suit for $50,000 damages has been filed in Marin Superior Court against Indian Valley Lumber Co., 5725 Paradise Drive, Corte Madera.

Postmaster To Retire

SAN FRANCISCO (UPI) — Postmaster John F. Fixa, 67, of San Francisco announced today that he will retire Dec. 30 after 17 years of service.

Tomales Evening Classes Expense Told Committee

It would cost the Tomales High School District approximately two cents in additional taxes to start an adult evening school for 50 students, Supt. Anthony Matulich Monday reported to a citizen committee studying the possibility of an adult education program.

State reimbursement would be $125 per student, but cost would probably be $350 to $400 per student, he said. This would mean a cost of $3,375 for the district for 50 students, representing two cents on the tax rate.

The Marin Junior College District and Santa Rosa Junior College, and the Petaluma, Santa Rosa, Novato and Tamalpais high school districts all have good adult programs which are available to the residents of the Tomales district, Matulich said.

Matulich was authorized by the committee to report these findings to the district board of trustees at its Dec. 9 meeting.

Marijuana Charge Jury Trial Slated

Jury trial of Dean Howard Engle, 20, of Monterey on a charge of possessing marijuana was scheduled for Jan. 24 in Marin Superior Court yesterday following his plea of innocent.

He and Gary John Gilbert, 23, of San Francisco, allegedly had about $200 worth of marijuana in their car on Beach Road near Tiburon on Sept. 20. Gilbert pleaded guilty to possession of a device to smoke a narcotic, and is to be sentenced Dec. 7.

Marin City Teen-Ager Denies Stealing Auto

Fred Richard Jones, 18, of 251 Drake Avenue, Marin City, pleaded innocent in Marin Superior Court yesterday to car theft. Jury trial was scheduled for Jan. 31.

Jones allegedly took a vehicle owned by John Friend from Corte Madera on Sept. 1.

J. Edgar Hoover is 69.

Motorist Injured

Thomas F. Stommel, 16, of 48 San Marino Drive, San Rafael, was treated at Marin General Hospital Monday for cuts on mouth and chest and a bruised right arm after his eastbound car went off South San Pedro Road, 300 feet east of Manderly Road, San Rafael, and struck a tree, the California Highway Patrol reported.

Telephone Attack Leads To Charge

John Allen Acree, 18, was jailed today under $1,100 bail on a complaint charging felony assault.

Jack J. Green, 16, of 449 Marin Drive, Tamalpais Valley, said Acree entered his bedroom on Nov. 15 and beat him about the head with a telephone receiver.

Green, who was hospitalized, told sheriff's officers Acree berated him for allegedly telephoning a 17-year-old girl Acree had been dating.

Acree was arrested late Monday. He resides at 109 Cardinal Road, Tamalpais Valley.

Dr. Grace G. Cox is president of Marin School Psychologists.

Tomales Evening Classes Expense Told Committee

It would cost the Tomales High School District approximately two cents in additional taxes to start an adult evening school for 50 students, Supt. Anthony Matulich Monday reported to a citizen committee studying the possibility of an adult education program.

State reimbursement would be $125 per student, but cost would probably be $350 to $400 per student, he said. This would mean a cost of $3,375 for the district for 50 students, representing two cents on the tax rate.

The Marin Junior College District and Santa Rosa Junior College, and the Petaluma, Santa Rosa, Novato and Tamalpais high school districts all have good adult programs which are available to the residents of the Tomales district, Matulich said.

Matulich was authorized by the committee to report these findings to the district board of trustees at its Dec. 9 meeting.

Finland Uses Unusual Bidding In European Championships

WEDnesday BRIDGE— — — — K218-2—Finland Uses — — — —

Finland finished in sixth place in the recent European championships, giving most of the other countries a great deal of trouble.

One reason was the unusual bidding method used by the Finns, as shown in today's hand.

Opening lead — ♡ 10

North's opening bid of one no-trump on 8 high-card points is recommended only to Finns and millionaires.

In this case the final contract was a bit ambitious but not really unreasonable.

HOW IT WENT

West opened the ten of hearts, and South saw that the problem was to limit the loss in diamonds to one trick.

If he had held A-10-9 of diamonds he would have tried two finesses. If he had held A-3-2 of diamonds he would have played for K-x or Q-x in an opponent's hand.

South went astray because he had the nine of diamonds but not the ten.

South took both top hearts, ruffed a heart, led a trump to the ace and ruffed another heart.

Then he led a trump to the jack and returned a club.

ACCURATE RETURN

Jack Kelly, of the Irish team, won wth the queen of clubs and made the very accurate return of the ten of diamonds.

South could have made the contract by playing low from the dummy and leading his other club.

East would have to take the next diamond with the king and then any return would allow dummy to ruff while South discarded a diamond.

HOPES RAN OUT

The nine of diamonds made South hope that Kelly had led his top diamond and that East had both the king and queen. He therefore played the jack of diamonds from dummy. East covered with the king, and South won.

East won the next club and returned a diamond. This gave West two tricks with the queen and eight of diamonds, defeating the contract.

South would have made the contract if Kelly had led any diamond but the ten. For example, if West led a low diamond, South would play low from the dummy and capture the king with the ace. He could then lead a diamond toward dummy to get a trick with the jack of diamonds.

Profit Taking Cuts Stock Market Gains

NEW YORK (AP) — Pre-Thanksgiving Day profit taking sliced gains and the stock market closed with a jumbled price pattern today. Selected aerospace issues, electronics, airlines and rails were very strong but there was many a soft spot in the list of blue chips.

Volume for the day was estimated at 7.8 million shares compared with 7.15 million yesterday.

Wallace-Murray and Simonds Saw & Steel each advanced nearly 9 points following news of an offer by Wallace-Murray to buy Simonds stock held by Simonds family at $43.50 a share.

Martin-Marietta was bidding for the rank of most active stock as it rose about a point.

Boeing was ahead about 1½ in the generally higher aerospace group. Douglas Aircraft added 1. United Aircraft was off a large fraction.

Zenith rose well over 2 while Hazeltine was a 2-point loser on news Hazeltine was ordered to pay $15 million in sales damages to Zenith.

Polaroid gained nearly 3 while gains of about 2 were made by Magnavox and Beckman Instruments. Chicago & North Western gained 4 and its preferred nearly 14.

Ahead about 2 were New York Central and Chicago Greatwestern.

OTHER PEOPLE'S BUSINESS

Two San Anselmo Firms Growing Into New Locations Elsewhere

Two San Anselmo businesses, crowded almost to the walls, are planning to expand to other locations.

After 20 years at 120 Tunstead Avenue, Maurice Bertauche will move his manufacturing plant, La Ville Food Products, to Northgate Industrial Park.

Bertauche, now marketing his gourmet foods all over the world, will have an 8,000-square-foot, one-story plant and warehouse on Carlos Drive designed by John Marshall and David Gibbs, and built by Ronald Antonioli, who has been doing much of the construction in the park. The new building will give Bertauche about three times his present space.

At this point "the crystal ball is not clear," says Bertauche, but he looks for a removal to the industrial park about the middle of February.

CAIN'S TIRE at 20 Greenfield Avenue has insufficient room there to take care of its wholesale business and now has under construction a 9,000-square-foot building on Industrial Way, Greenbrae. This is on the east side of 101 Highway and behind the Flying A station. There is also 3,000 square feet of outside area.

The location will be turned over to wholesale and tire capping operations, enabling Pat McAlonan and Robert Lyons to put out about 200 tires a day. It should be ready by the middle of this month.

The San Anselmo location will not be abandoned. After the tire capping equipment is out, it will be completely remodeled for drive-in retail service.

The Greenbrae plant will be Cain's fourth location. There is also one in Salinas, and of course Cain's Goodyear Service in San Rafael.

NEW NAME for Edward Hageman and Associates, San Rafael, is now Hageman-Thomas-Eklund, Inc. It's a case of two young Novato men who started their careers as building designers working for Hageman becoming members of the firm —C. Jay Thomas, who has been with the company since 1952, and Robert E. Eklund Jr., there since 1955.

Hageman first opened his own building design firm in San Anselmo in 1951. For about three years prior to that he was associated with Ray Nolan. Incidentally, he and San Anselmo designer Ray S. Hall have been appointed co-chairmen for the annual convention of the American Institute of Building Design to be held at the Jack Tar Hotel, San Francisco, in July, 1966.

NEW STRAWBERRY STORE of Stan's for Sports started off better than the San Rafael store, says owner Stan Goldsmith, who now has his hopes set on opening still another outlet in Novato next year.

Meanwhile George Tsegeletos of San Anselmo has been promoted to general manager of both stores, and Aubrey Lackey of Novato is store manager in San Rafael.

GLENN A. WILFERT of Novato has been promoted from operations officer to assistant cashier at the Novato branch office of Central Valley Bank. He joined the firm in 1961.

ACCORDING to Fred Temps, district manager of Farmers Insurance Group, San Rafael, Farmers New World Life Insurance Co. policy owners can now draw up to 50 per cent of their death benefits (but not over $10,000 in any one year) to finance artificial kidney machine treatments. It is believed to be the first time life insurance benefits have been made available to sustain productive life.

Water Bonds Go To Banker Group

SACRAMENTO (UPI) — A syndicate headed by the Bank of America today was the owner of a $100 million block of California water bonds.

State Treasurer Bert A. Betts said the syndicate yesterday submitted the lower of two bids at a net interest cost of 3.717 per cent. The other bid of 3.7397 per cent came from a syndicate headed by Bankers Trust Co., New York.

Betts said the interest rate (cost to the state) was "significantly" higher than the 3.4987 per cent rate on the last sale of water bonds, Feb. 16. He said that because of the need to finance many state programs with bonds, he has less flexibility to schedule sales advantageously.

The interest cost totaled $130,023,450 over the life of the bonds, which mature from 1975 to 2015.

Dividends Voted In Stocks, Cash

Directors of Western Business Funds voted a 25 per cent stock dividend plus a 16 cent cash dividend on its common stock to stockholders of record on November 16, together with its regular quarterly dividend of 15 cents per share on preferred stock. An extra dividend of 20 cents per share was voted payable at the end of December to common stockholders of record at that date.

Harold L. Moose Jr. of Kentfield, executive vice president, said these dividends mark the fourth consecutive year there has been a significant distribution from accumulated surplus.

PIE Truck Line Absorbs Firm

OAKLAND (AP) — Pacific Intermountain Express Co. and All States Freight, Inc., are merging their truck lines. PIE will be the survivor. PIE has headquarters in Oakland and All States at Akron, Ohio.

Each of All States 382,294 shares will be converted into one PIE share.

The merged firm will have a direct transcontinental line.

Stockholders approved the merger yesterday.

PIE had a net of $2.6 million and All States a net of $650,000 in 1964.

Higher Earnings

CHICAGO — Montgomery Ward has reported higher third quarter earnings amounting to $2,833,648 or 20 cents per common share. This compares with 1964 third quarter earnings of $2,597,975 or 18 cents per common share.

Oil, Property Firms Plan To Merge

LOS ANGELES—Reserve Oil and Gas Co. and Apple Valley Building and Development Co. have announced the merger of their respective companies into a single corporation to be known as Reserve Oil and Gas Co.

The transaction, which involves a $22 million tax free exchange of stock, was announced by John R. McMillan, president of Reserve, and Newton T. Bass, president of Apple Valley.

McMillan will continue as president and chief executive officer of Reserve, and Bass will become chairman of the board of the merged company.

The Apple Valley Co. owns more than 9,000 acres of land in fee which are available for development, and more than 850 developed homesites held for current sale. The merged company also will acquire 100 per cent of the capital stock of Apple Valley Water Co., the Apple Valley Broadcasting Co. and Richland Oil Co. Land sale receivables which the merged company will acquire are in excess of $10 million.

Apple Valley is a desert community of approximately 10,000 people located 100 miles from Los Angeles.

Additional holdings of the company includes Apple Valley Estates, a corporation, Town Square Realty, Inc., and the famous Roy Rogers Apple Valley Inn.

Profit Taking Cuts Stock Market Gains

NEW YORK (AP) — Pre-Thanksgiving Day profit taking sliced gains and the stock market closed with a jumbled price pattern today. Selected aerospace issues, electronics, airlines and rails were very strong but there was many a soft spot in the list of blue chips.

Volume for the day was estimated at 7.8 million shares compared with 7.15 million yesterday.

Wallace-Murray and Simonds Saw & Steel each advanced nearly 9 points following news of an offer by Wallace-Murray to buy Simonds stock held by Simonds family at $43.50 a share.

Martin-Marietta was bidding for the rank of most active stock as it rose about a point.

Boeing was ahead about 1½ in the generally higher aerospace group. Douglas Aircraft added 1. United Aircraft was off a large fraction.

Zenith rose well over 2 while Hazeltine was a 2-point loser on news Hazeltine was ordered to pay $15 million in sales damages to Zenith.

Polaroid gained nearly 3 while gains of about 2 were made by Magnavox and Beckman Instruments. Chicago & North Western gained 4 and its preferred nearly 14.

Ahead about 2 were New York Central and Chicago Greatwestern.

Johnson and Johnson dropped 3 and Pennzoil 2. Du Pont lost more than 2, General Electric 1. All big three motors lost fractions.

Ahead a point or so were Westinghouse Electric, United Air Lines, Eastern Air Lines, Motorola and Thiokol.

Steels were steady to higher.

Prices were generally higher on the American Stock Exchange.

Varian Associates Rebounds From Losses Of 1964

PALO ALTO — Varian Associates reported 1965 consolidated sales of $100.4 million and earnings of $4 million or 72 cents per share.

Sales for the company (excluding acquisitions) increased 18 per cent while earnings went from a reported loss of $1.1 million in 1964 to a profit of approximately $2.5 million in 1965.

Approximately $38 million in sales and $1.5 million in revenue for 1965 were generated from companies acquired or merged with Varian during the year. These include Eitel-McCullough, Inc., and LEL Inc., in the tube and electronic components field; Wilkens Instrument and Research, Inc., in the analytical instrument field and Mikros, Inc., in the vacuum field.

Water Bonds Go To Banker Group

SACRAMENTO (UPI) — A syndicate headed by the Bank of America today was the owner of a $100 million block of California water bonds.

State Treasurer Bert A. Betts said the syndicate yesterday submitted the lower of two bids at a net interest cost of 3.717 per cent. The other bid of 3.7397 per cent came from a syndicate headed by Bankers Trust Co., New York.

Betts said the interest rate (cost to the state) was "significantly" higher than the 3.4987 per cent rate on the last sale of water bonds, Feb. 16. He said that because of the need to finance many state programs with bonds, he has less flexibility to schedule sales advantageously.

The interest cost totaled $130,023,450 over the life of the bonds, which mature from 1975 to 2015.

Dividends Voted In Stocks, Cash

Directors of Western Business Funds voted a 25 per cent stock dividend plus a 16 cent cash dividend on its common stock to stockholders of record on November 16, together with its regular quarterly dividend of 15 cents per share on preferred stock. An extra dividend of 20 cents per share was voted payable at the end of December to common stockholders of record at that date.

Harold L. Moose Jr. of Kentfield, executive vice president, said these dividends mark the fourth consecutive year there has been a significant distribution from accumulated surplus.

OTHER PEOPLE'S BUSINESS

By HARRY CRAFT

Two San Anselmo Firms Growing Into New Locations Elsewhere

Two San Anselmo businesses, crowded almost to the walls, are planning to expand to other locations.

After 20 years at 120 Tunstead Avenue, Maurice Bertauche will move his manufacturing plant, La Ville Food Products, to Northgate Industrial Park.

Bertauche, now marketing his gourmet foods all over the world, will have an 8,000-square-foot, one-story plant and warehouse on Carlos Drive designed by John Marshall and David Gibbs, and built by Ronald Antonioli, who has been doing much of the construction in the park. The new building will give Bertauche about three times his present space.

At this point "the crystal ball is not clear," says Bertauche, but he looks for a removal to the industrial park about the middle of February.

CAIN'S TIRE at 20 Greenfield Avenue has insufficient room there to take care of its wholesale business and now has under construction a 9,000-square-foot building on Industrial Way, Greenbrae. This is on the east side of 101 Highway and behind the Flying A station. There is also 3,000 square feet of outside area.

The location will be turned over to wholesale and tire capping operations, enabling Pat McAlonan and Robert Lyons to put out about 200 tires a day. It should be ready by the middle of this month.

The San Anselmo location will not be abandoned. After the tire capping equipment is out, it will be completely remodeled for drive-in retail service.

The Greenbrae plant will be Cain's fourth location. There is also one in Salinas, and of course Cain's Goodyear Service in San Rafael.

NEW NAME for Edward Hageman and Associates, San Rafael, is now Hageman-Thomas-Eklund, Inc. It's a case of two young Novato men who started their careers as building designers working for Hageman becoming members of the firm —C. Jay Thomas, who has been with the company since 1952, and Robert E. Eklund Jr., there since 1955.

Hageman first opened his own building design firm in San Anselmo in 1951. For about three years prior to that he was associated with Ray Nolan. Incidentally, he and San Anselmo designer Ray S. Hall have been appointed co-chairmen for the annual convention of the American Institute of Building Design to be held at the Jack Tar Hotel, San Francisco, in July, 1966.

NEW STRAWBERRY STORE of Stan's for Sports started off better than the San Rafael store, says owner Stan Goldsmith, who now has his hopes set on opening still another outlet in Novato next year.

Meanwhile George Tsegeletos of San Anselmo has been promoted to general manager of both stores, and Aubrey Lackey of Novato is store manager in San Rafael.

GLENN A. WILFERT of Novato has been promoted from operations officer to assistant cashier at the Novato branch office of Central Valley Bank. He joined the firm in 1961.

ACCORDING to Fred Temps, district manager of Farmers Insurance Group, San Rafael, Farmers New World Life Insurance Co. policy owners can now draw up to 50 per cent of their death benefits (but not over $10,000 in any one year) to finance artificial kidney machine treatments. It is believed to be the first time life insurance benefits have been made available to sustain productive life.

Warrior Rodgers Newest Gun In West

By HAL BOCK

NEW YORK (AP) — The newest gun in the West — that's Guy Rodgers, whose blazing shooting has the San Francisco Warriors riding high in the National Basketball Association's Western Division.

Rodgers, an eight-year veteran who has spent most of his career like any respectable 6-footer in the NBA would — feeding bigger men for baskets — continued his sudden splurge against New York last night, scoring 46 points as the Warriors overcame the Knickerbockers 134-125.

Coach Alex Hannum, who missed the last 11 minutes of the game after drawing his second technical foul — third of the night against San Francisco — was overwhelmed with his little backcourt general.

"He's been fantastic. I never thought," the 6-foot-8 coach mused, "that a 6-foot player could do the things that he's doing in the NBA today."

Rodgers was the key to the Warriors' attack that rallied from a 10-point deficit with a 17-4 spurt after Hannum was ejected. He hit on 19 of 30 from the field, eight for 10 from the foul line and added 13 assists.

Al Attles, another veteran guard, ran the Warriors after Hannum was ejected and was so happy when San Francisco pulled it out, that he lifted Rodgers in his arms.

"You're the greatest assistant coach in the world," Rodgers teased. But Attles shot back. "We're just lucky I left you in there. I was going to sit you down when you missed one shot."

Rodgers didn't miss many though.

Hannum admitted that Rodgers' style of play had been hampered in San Francisco's scheme of things until this season.

"In this league," the Warrior coach said, "to be a star, you must have the right style, in the right place, at the right time. After eight years, that's finally happened to Guy."

Rodgers nodded agreement. "The change in our style has certainly helped."

Style isn't all that's changed for the Warriors. The club, which managed just 17 victories all last season, already has 11 this year and is in second place in the West, just 1½ games back of Los Angeles. And don't think the division-leading Lakers aren't aware of what's going on behind their backs.

"The Warriors will be the surprise of the league," says Laker Coach Fred Schaus. "Rodgers is the key."

Rodgers' show overshadowed the 29-point performance of teammate Tom Meschery and 41 by New York's Dick Barnett. Between them, Meschery and Rodgers hit on 29 of 51 from the floor as the Warriors shot a sizzling 54.9.

In the first game of the Madison Square Garden doubleheader, only action in the NBA Tuesday night, Detroit stood off a Cincinnati rally and snapped a nine-game losing streak by hanging on for a 118-115 victory over the Royals.

Jackie Miles and Player-Coach Dave DeBusschere had 25 points apiece for the Pistons and Oscar Robertson netted 38 and Jerry Lucas 35 for the Royals.

GIANTS OPEN AT HOME APRIL 12 VS. CHICAGO

The San Francisco Giants will open their 1966 National League baseball season at home April 12 against the Chicago Cubs, the Giants announced today.

The Giants, runnerup to World Champion Los Angeles, will waste little time in renewing the conflict. The rivals first play at Candlestick May 3, 4 and 5 and again June 10, 11 and 12.

The Giants finish the season at Pittsburgh Oct. 2. They complete their Candlestick Park schedule against Pittsburgh on Sept. 21.

The 1966 home schedule, similar to last season's will include 13 Sunday dates, 13 Saturdays and 22 night games, one more than last campaign.

One starting time change is listed. Candlestick night games will be moved up 15 minutes to 8 o'clock.

Clay Maps Title Plans; Floyd Calls Him 'Great'

ALONG MARIN'S SPORTS TRAIL

Marin Has 3 Gridders Worthy Of Shrine Game Consideration

Marin County football fans have a dilemma: Whom do we push for the North-South Shrine Game in Los Angeles next summer?

Ordinarily we're lucky to have one player worthy of candidacy for the North squad in the midsummer night's dream game matching the cream of California's prep grid crop.

But this year we have at least three boys most fans and the so-called experts believe are of Shrine game caliber.

I'm referring to Dick Otis, the powerful Novato tailback; Dean Lazzarini, the fleet Drake High fullback, and John Balzan, the oh-so-rugged San Rafael defensive end and offensive tackle.

ALL THREE have imposing credentials and I'm afraid they might distract from each other in the eyes of the Shrine Game selection committee. As I said, usually we're lucky to have one candidate, let alone three.

If the committee selects one, the fans of the other two will howl. And rightly so. The odds are about 20-1 against the committee picking two of our boys and about 100-1 against all three getting the nod.

SOME ONE is going to get hurt feelings.

Otis has statistics to back him up with the Marin League rushing championship two straight years and a total of more than 2,000 yards in those seasons.

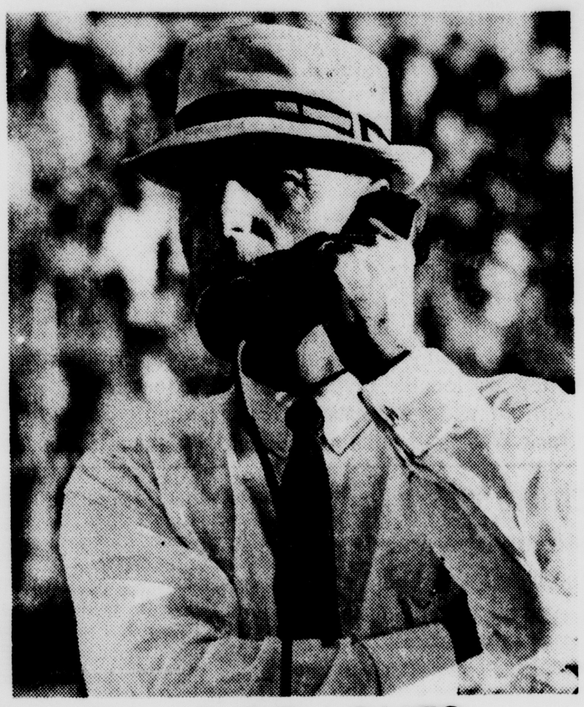
Lazz is the most explosive runner we've seen in these parts since Vallejo sent Dick Bass into our territory on a few occasions a decade or so ago. Dean has the blinding speed (9.6) which the North Shrine team has sorely lacked in the past and isn't too far behind Otis in statistics.

AND BALZAN has brute strength, size, mobility and aggressiveness that coaches look for. The North certainly could use talents against the Southern bruisers.

It's a dilly of a dilemma, Emma.

IF WE get one boy on the squad we should feel lucky, because in 13 years of Shrine history Marin has sent only nine players to the dream game. They were guard Dick Rush of Tamalpais in 1952, guard Willie Hector (now Tam coach) of Tam and end Mike Watters of San Rafael in 1957, guard Dick DeBisschop of Drake in 1958, quarterback Jack Sparrow of Novato and end Ron Snidow of San Rafael in 1959, tackle Kent Francisco of San Rafael and guard Bob Hector of Tam in 1960, quarterback Jim Troppmann of Redwood in 1963.

INTERESTING IS the fact that we sent two "family affairs" to the game: The Hector brothers, and when Jim Troppmann played in 1963, his father, Bob, was coach of the North.



MARIN'S NORTH-SOUTH GAME COACHES

Willie Hector (left) of Tamalpais and Harry Moore of Novato have been named head coaches for the second annual Marin County North-South All-Star Football Game next Aug. 25, game manager Bob Troppmann announced this week. Hector, a first year coach whose Tam Indians surprised everyone by posting a 7-2 record, will head the South team and Moore, whose Hornets won the Marin Athletic League championship with an overall 7-1-1 record, will head the North. Chuck Vaughn of Marin Catholic will assist Hector and Bob Muster of San Rafael will assist Moore. The outstanding senior players from this season will make up the teams for the game sponsored by the Ross Valley Kiwanis Club. The North will draw from Novato, Terra Linda, San Rafael, Tomales and San Rafael Military Academy and the South from Tam, Redwood, Drake and Marin Catholic. (Independent-Journal photos)

Terrell Listed As Next Victim

LAS VEGAS, Nev. (UPI)—Heavyweight Champion Cassius Clay's future plans were laid out like a roadmap today as he hardly had time to relax from his victory over Floyd Patterson before thinking of his next challenger.

But Patterson is faced with decision whether to continue fighting or to retire to a life of ease and financial security. And the two-time heavyweight champion left Las Vegas with the urgings of his conqueror to keep on boxing.

Clay devoted a part of his final day in this resort town to praising Patterson for his gameness in lasting 12 rounds Monday night. Patterson, in turn lauded the fighting ability of the champion and doubted if he would have won even if he had not suffered a back injury that kept him from putting up an effective challenge.

The champion's plans called for him to go to Chicago where he maintains his business headquarters. After a few days there, he will go to Miami Beach, Fla., which he now calls his home and relax while his advisers and manager Angelo Dundee start planning his next title defense.

From all indications, the next victim will be Ernie Terrell, listed by the World Boxing Association as Heavyweight Champion. Clay signed a $50,000 bond the day before the Patterson fight that he would meet Terrell but stipulated the champion and his retinue must be satisfied Terrell has no underworld ties.

Patterson leaves today for his Marlboro, N.Y., home where his daughter goes through her first communion rites Thursday. The challenger said he stayed over an extra day just to prove he was not "running out" early as he had been accused of doing after his bouts with Sonny Liston.

Both Fighters Richly Rewarded

Both Clay and Patterson leave Las Vegas richly rewarded for their Convention Center bout. A spokesman for Sportsvision, Inc., which owned the ancillary rights to the fight, estimated the gross receipts from all sources including the live gate would reach $3,870,000 and the net receipts would approximate $1,750,000.

Clay was guaranteed 40 per cent of all net receipts and will receive an estimated $700,000 while Patterson's 20 per cent share comes to $350,000.

The breakdown on the gross was: $2,760,000 from closed circuit telecasts; $300,111 from the live gate; and $810,000 from movies, foreign rights and other such sources.

Patterson's back was the chief topic at a post-fight press conference yesterday which the champion and challenger both attended and appeared on friendly terms as they sat side-by-side and answered questions.

Dr. Donald Romeo, chief medical examiner of the Nevada State Athletic Commission, was subjected to questioning on whether he was aware that Patterson had suffered a recurrence of his longtime back trouble last Wednesday during his final workout.

No Sign Of Floyd's Back Trouble

"The first I knew of Patterson's back trouble was in the dressing room after the fight when I gave him an injection to treat the muscle spasm he suffered in the ring," Dr. Romeo said.

The physician said Patterson showed no signs of a sacroiliac condition when he was given his pre-fight medical examination. Asked if he felt the ex-champion should continue boxing with that back condition, Dr. Romeo replied he thought Patterson should rest and then undergo checks by orthopedic specialists. But he said such back spasms frequently disappear and do not return for years.

Patterson explained he had been afflicted with the back problem for some 10 years but outside of a slight pain during his fight with Eddie Machen last year, it had never bothered him in a fight.

"I was beaten by a great fighter," Patterson said simply. "I am not going to say if my back had not bothered me that Clay would have lost. But I will say that while the results might have been the same, the fight would have been more interesting."

Patterson pointed out he had said frequently before that Clay was an excellent fighter and as he gained experience he would be a great fighter.

Clay Says 'I Could Beat Joe Louis'

"I'm the greatest fighter that ever lived," Clay responded. "I could whup any of the great fighters, even Joe Louis. I'm just too fast for any man."

But Clay continued the praise of Patterson that he started immediately after Monday night's fight and declared Patterson doesn't have to retire and would continue in the ring for another five years if he desired.

"He has no reason to hide," Clay said. "He should hold his head high. He should be given medals and honors. You owe him credit for the fight he put up. I don't think the man should be put on the spot like this. Let him rest; he's a humble man."

Clay said that if Patterson had fought Sonny Liston like he did here Monday night he would have beaten Liston. And he declared there wasn't a heavyweight on the scene, including Liston, who could beat Patterson if he fought that same, game fight.

And on that note of cordiality, the former bitterness between Patterson and Clay evaporated in an aura of mutual admiration.

Pros, Colleges Serve TV Football Menu Tomorrow

Colts Meet Lions In NFL Tilt

DETROIT (AP) — League-leading Baltimore, riding on the crest of an eight-game winning streak, can take a giant step toward another Western Conference title against the injury-riddled Detroit Lions tomorrow.

It marks the first Thanksgiving Day battle ever for the Colts, who can mathematically eliminate all teams but Green Bay and Chicago with a win or a tie against the Lions.

The game is the 26th holiday tussel for the Lions, who hold a slim 13-11-1 edge.

The game, which will be televised nationally, is scheduled to start at 9:15 a.m., PST.

The previous games have attracted 982,938 fans and the Lions will honor the one millionth fan to attend the Turkey Day classic.

Lions' Coach Harry Gilmer said Sunday his team and the Colts were on even terms regarding readiness for the game.

"We're in the same boat," Gilmer said. "We both have but two days to get ready."

Halfbacks Joe Don Looney and Tommy Watkins and defensive back Wayne Rasmussen are doubtful starters for Detroit.

Looney hasn't fully recovered from a concussion suffered two weeks ago and Watkins sustained a knee injury against the Bears last Sunday in addition to aggravating a foot injury.

Rasmussen, one of the league leaders in pass interceptions, has been sidelined by an ankle injury.

The Colts clobbered the Lions 31-7 more than six weeks ago for one of the most one-sided losses suffered by the Lions in a 5-5 season.

Milt Plum is expected to start at quarterback for the Lions. He won the job back after reserve George Izo failed to get the team moving.

SEALS BATTLE CANUCKS AT COW PALACE

The San Francisco Seals will share their ice with the Vancouver Canucks tonight, 8:15, in their first of three games this week.

The Seals took three days off after downing the Portland Buckaroos, 7-3, in a Western Hockey League game last Saturday. The San Francisco victory helped to narrow Portland's slim league lead.

The Seals will have Thanksgiving Day off before meeting the Victoria Maple Leafs on Friday. San Francisco will play Springfield, Mass., of the American League Saturday.

Before their win over Portland, the Seals had lost three straight games. Their current record is five wins, six losses and two ties.

Changes Made To Speed Up Golf Events

NEW YORK (AP) — Those playing in and watching U. S. Golf Association events after next Jan. 1 will see some changes — made with the idea of speeding up play.

The changes adopted by the USGA after being tested in the National Amateur at Tulsa, Okla., last September:

A player on the green must play until he holes out, unless he would be forced to stand in a fellow competitor's putting line. This eliminates time-consuming measurement to determine who is away.

Once on the green a player may lift and clean his ball only once.

Another new rule states there no longer will be a penalty for striking the flagstick from off the putting green.

Mighty Nebraska (9-0) Takes On Oklahomans

LINCOLN, Neb. (AP) — As many as three potential All-Americas, the nation's top rushing team and some pint-sized ball carriers will show their wares to a national television audience tomorrow when upset-minded Oklahoma challenges undefeated and third-ranked Nebraska.

Game time will be 10:45 a.m., PST, for the Thanksgiving Day feature, with full network color coverage by NBC.

Nebraska, 9-0 and already tabbed to meet Alabama in the Orange Bowl, will be seeking to wrap up its first undefeated season in 50 years and an undisputed third straight Big Eight crown.

Oklahoma, out of Big Eight contention on a 3-2 record, 3-5 over-all, needs the lift which a top spoiler performance could provide.

The number of All-America contenders on Memorial Stadium turf hinges on the availability of Oklahoma's senior linebacker, Carl McAdams. A standout, McAdams suffered a sprained ankle against Iowa State some to weeks ago and missed the ensuing Missouri game. It was the first game in seven prep and college years he had missed.

Playing without McAdams, says Sooner Coach Gomer Jones, "is like a hockey team playing without its goalie."

On a Nebraska team so deep any week can produce a new set of stars, defensive tackle Walt Barnes and offensive split end Freeman White have stood out consistently as bidders for national honors.

Barnes, a 6-3, 240-pound senior, "just never has a bad game," says Coach Bob Devaney.

White, a 6-5, 221-pound split end, leads the Big Eight receivers with 28 catches for 458 yards and six touchdowns.

Not all the Cornhuskers come giant sized.

Fullback Frank Solich probably the smallest major college fullback around, stands 5-8 and weighs only 158. But he tops all rushers on the nation's top rushing team with 598 yards in 103 carries.

Safety Larry Wachholtz, same height and just a shade heavier at 163, leads the nation's punt returners with 442 yards.

A Big Boost For Stanford Sports Arena

STANFORD (AP) — A Stanford University trustee and basketball letterman has pledged a $500,000 matching gift for an 8,000-seat sports arena and special events pavilion.

Mr. and Mrs. David Packard made the gift to spur donation of another $500,000 needed for the Roscoe W. Maples pavilion. Total estimated cost is $3.3 million.

Maples donated $1.2 million for the pavilion, which will replace the 44-year-old basketball court where Packard played in the 1930s. He is co-founder and board chairman of Hewlett-Packard Co., electronics manufacturer.

Chuck Taylor, Stanford athletic director, said he hopes construction could start by the fall of 1966. The pavilion would require about 20 months to build.

Other gifts amounting to $700,000 have been pledged in addition to Packard's and Maples' donations. Stanford's trustees have pledged $400,000 when the pavilion fund reaches the $2.9 million mark.

Warrior Rodgers Newest Gun In West

By HAL BOCK

NEW YORK (AP) — The newest gun in the West — that's Guy Rodgers, whose blazing shooting has the San Francisco Warriors riding high in the National Basketball Association's Western Division.

Rodgers, an eight-year veteran who has spent most of his career like any respectable 6-footer in the NBA would — feeding bigger men for baskets — continued his sudden splurge against New York last night, scoring 46 points as the Warriors overcame the Knickerbockers 134-125.

Coach Alex Hannum, who missed the last 11 minutes of the game after drawing his second technical foul — third of the night against San Francisco — was overwhelmed with his little backcourt general.

"He's been fantastic. I never thought," the 6-foot-8 coach mused, "that a 6-foot player could do the things that he's doing in the NBA today."

Rodgers was the key to the Warriors' attack that rallied from a 10-point deficit with a 17-4 spurt after Hannum was ejected. He hit on 19 of 30 from the field, eight for 10 from the foul line and added 13 assists.

Al Attles, another veteran guard, ran the Warriors after Hannum was ejected and was so happy when San Francisco pulled it out, that he lifted Rodgers in his arms.

"You're the greatest assistant coach in the world," Rodgers teased. But Attles shot back. "We're just lucky I left you in there. I was going to sit you down when you missed one shot."

Rodgers didn't miss many though.

Hannum admitted that Rodgers' style of play had been hampered in San Francisco's scheme of things until this season.

"In this league," the Warrior coach said, "to be a star, you must have the right style, in the right place, at the right time. After eight years, that's finally happened to Guy."

Rodgers nodded agreement. "The change in our style has certainly helped."

Style isn't all that's changed for the Warriors. The club, which managed just 17 victories all last season, already has 11 this year and is in second place in the West, just 1½ games back of Los Angeles. And don't think the division-leading Lakers aren't aware of what's going on behind their backs.

"The Warriors will be the surprise of the league," says Laker Coach Fred Schaus. "Rodgers is the key."

Rodgers' show overshadowed the 29-point performance of teammate Tom Meschery and 41 by New York's Dick Barnett. Between them, Meschery and Rodgers hit on 29 of 51 from the floor as the Warriors shot a sizzling 54.9.

In the first game of the Madison Square Garden doubleheader, only action in the NBA Tuesday night, Detroit stood off a Cincinnati rally and snapped a nine-game losing streak by hanging on for a 118-115 victory over the Royals.

Jackie Miles and Player-Coach Dave DeBusschere had 25 points apiece for the Pistons and Oscar Robertson netted 38 and Jerry Lucas 35 for the Royals.

ALONG MARIN'S SPORTS TRAIL

Marin Has 3 Gridders Worthy Of Shrine Game Consideration

Marin County football fans have a dilemma: Whom do we push for the North-South Shrine Game in Los Angeles next summer?

Ordinarily we're lucky to have one player worthy of candidacy for the North squad in the midsummer night's dream game matching the cream of California's prep grid crop.

But this year we have at least three boys most fans and the so-called experts believe are of Shrine game caliber.

I'm referring to Dick Otis, the powerful Novato tailback; Dean Lazzarini, the fleet Drake High fullback, and John Balzan, the oh-so-rugged San Rafael defensive end and offensive tackle.

ALL THREE have imposing credentials and I'm afraid they might distract from each other in the eyes of the Shrine Game selection committee. As I said, usually we're lucky to have one candidate, let alone three.

If the committee selects one, the fans of the other two will howl. And rightly so. The odds are about 20-1 against the committee picking two of our boys and about 100-1 against all three getting the nod.

SOME ONE is going to get hurt feelings.

Otis has statistics to back him up with the Marin League rushing championship two straight years and a total of more than 2,000 yards in those seasons.

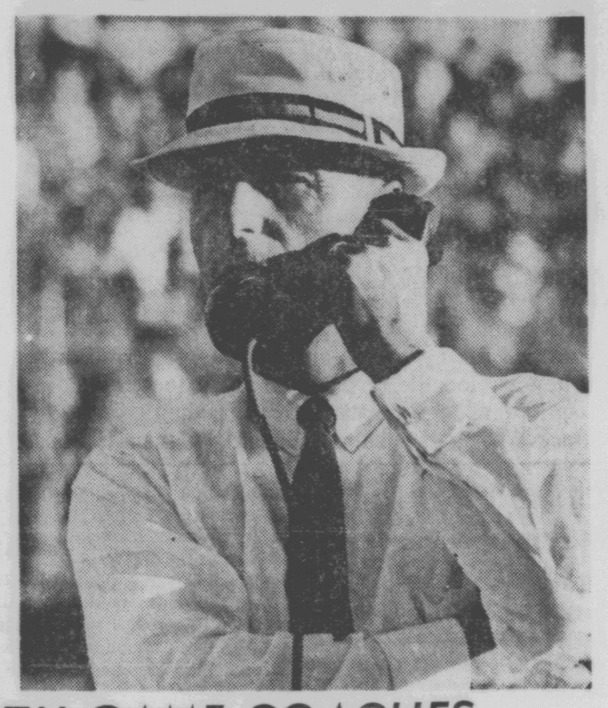
Lazz is the most explosive runner we've seen in these parts since Vallejo sent Dick Bass into our territory on a few occasions a decade or so ago. Dean has the blinding speed (9.6) which the North Shrine team has sorely lacked in the past and isn't too far behind Otis in statistics.

AND BALZAN has brute strength, size, mobility and aggressiveness that coaches look for. The North certainly could use talents against the Southern bruisers.

It's a dilly of a dilemma, Emma.

IF WE get one boy on the squad we should feel lucky, because in 13 years of Shrine history Marin has sent only nine players to the dream game. They were guard Dick Rush of Tamalpais in 1952, guard Willie Hector (now Tam coach) of Tam and end Mike Watters of San Rafael in 1957, guard Dick DeBisschop of Drake in 1958, quarterback Jack Sparrow of Novato and end Ron Snidow of San Rafael in 1959, tackle Kent Francisco of San Rafael and guard Bob Hector of Tam in 1960, quarterback Jim Troppmann of Redwood in 1963.

INTERESTING IS the fact that we sent two "family affairs" to the game: The Hector brothers, and when Jim Troppmann played in 1963, his father, Bob, was coach of the North.



MARIN'S NORTH-SOUTH GAME COACHES

Willie Hector (left) of Tamalpais and Harry Moore of Novato have been named head coaches for the second annual Marin County North-South All-Star Football Game next Aug. 25, game manager Bob Troppmann announced this week. Hector, a first year coach whose Tam Indians surprised everyone by posting a 7-2 record, will head the South team and Moore, whose Hornets won the Marin Athletic League championship with an overall 7-1-1 record, will head the North. Chuck Vaughn of Marin Catholic will assist Hector and Bob Muster of San Rafael will assist Moore. The outstanding senior players from this season will make up the teams for the game sponsored by the Ross Valley Kiwanis Club. The North will draw from Novato, Terra Linda, San Rafael, Tomales and San Rafael Military Academy and the South from Tam, Redwood, Drake and Marin Catholic. (Independent-Journal photos)

Terrell Listed As Next Victim

LAS VEGAS, Nev. (UPI)—Heavyweight Champion Cassius Clay's future plans were laid out like a roadmap today as he hardly had time to relax from his victory over Floyd Patterson before thinking of his next challenger.

But Patterson is faced with decision whether to continue fighting or to retire to a life of ease and financial security. And the two-time heavyweight champion left Las Vegas with the urgings of his conqueror to keep on boxing.

Clay devoted a part of his final day in this resort town to praising Patterson for his gameness in lasting 12 rounds Monday night. Patterson, in turn lauded the fighting ability of the champion and doubted if he would have won even if he had not suffered a back injury that kept him from putting up an effective challenge.

The champion's plans called for him to go to Chicago where he maintains his business headquarters. After a few days there, he will go to Miami Beach, Fla., which he now calls his home and relax while his advisers and manager Angelo Dundee start planning his next title defense.

From all indications, the next victim will be Ernie Terrell, listed by the World Boxing Association as Heavyweight Champion. Clay signed a $50,000 bond the day before the Patterson fight that he would meet Terrell but stipulated the champion and his retinue must be satisfied Terrell has no underworld ties.

Patterson leaves today for his Marlboro, N.Y., home where his daughter goes through her first communion rites Thursday. The challenger said he stayed over an extra day just to prove he was not "running out" early as he had been accused of doing after his bouts with Sonny Liston.

Both Fighters Richly Rewarded

Both Clay and Patterson leave Las Vegas richly rewarded for their Convention Center bout. A spokesman for Sportsvision, Inc., which owned the ancillary rights to the fight, estimated the gross receipts from all sources including the live gate would reach $3,870,000 and the net receipts would approximate $1,750,000.

Clay was guaranteed 40 per cent of all net receipts and will receive an estimated $700,000 while Patterson's 20 per cent share comes to $350,000.

The breakdown on the gross was: $2,760,000 from closed circuit telecasts; $300,111 from the live gate; and $810,000 from movies, foreign rights and other such sources.

Patterson's back was the chief topic at a post-fight press conference yesterday which the champion and challenger both attended and appeared on friendly terms as they sat side-by-side and answered questions.

Dr. Donald Romeo, chief medical examiner of the Nevada State Athletic Commission, was subjected to questioning on whether he was aware that Patterson had suffered a recurrence of his longtime back trouble last Wednesday during his final workout.

No Sign Of Floyd's Back Trouble

"The first I knew of Patterson's back trouble was in the dressing room after the fight when I gave him an injection to treat the muscle spasm he suffered in the ring," Dr. Romeo said.

The physician said Patterson showed no signs of a sacroiliac condition when he was given his pre-fight medical examination. Asked if he felt the ex-champion should continue boxing with that back condition, Dr. Romeo replied he thought Patterson should rest and then undergo checks by orthopedic specialists. But he said such back spasms frequently disappear and do not return for years.

Patterson explained he had been afflicted with the back problem for some 10 years but outside of a slight pain during his fight with Eddie Machen last year, it had never bothered him in a fight.

"I was beaten by a great fighter," Patterson said simply. "I am not going to say if my back had not bothered me that Clay would have lost. But I will say that while the results might have been the same, the fight would have been more interesting."

Patterson pointed out he had said frequently before that Clay was an excellent fighter and as he gained experience he would be a great fighter.

Clay Says 'I Could Beat Joe Louis'

"I'm the greatest fighter that ever lived," Clay responded. "I could whup any of the great fighters, even Joe Louis. I'm just too fast for any man."

But Clay continued the praise of Patterson that he started immediately after Monday night's fight and declared Patterson doesn't have to retire and would continue in the ring for another five years if he desired.

"He has no reason to hide," Clay said. "He should hold his head high. He should be given medals and honors. You owe him credit for the fight he put up. I don't think the man should be put on the spot like this. Let him rest; he's a humble man."

Clay said that if Patterson had fought Sonny Liston like he did here Monday night he would have beaten Liston. And he declared there wasn't a heavyweight on the scene, including Liston, who could beat Patterson if he fought that same, game fight.

And on that note of cordiality, the former bitterness between Patterson and Clay evaporated in an aura of mutual admiration.

Pros, Colleges Serve TV Football Menu Tomorrow

Colts Meet Lions In NFL Tilt

DETROIT (AP) — League-leading Baltimore, riding on the crest of an eight-game winning streak, can take a giant step toward another Western Conference title against the injury-riddled Detroit Lions tomorrow.

It marks the first Thanksgiving Day battle ever for the Colts, who can mathematically eliminate all teams but Green Bay and Chicago with a win or a tie against the Lions.

The game is the 26th holiday tussel for the Lions, who hold a slim 13-11-1 edge.

The game, which will be televised nationally, is scheduled to start at 9:15 a.m., PST.

The previous games have attracted 982,938 fans and the Lions will honor the one millionth fan to attend the Turkey Day classic.

Lions' Coach Harry Gilmer said Sunday his team and the Colts were on even terms regarding readiness for the game.

"We're in the same boat," Gilmer said. "We both have but two days to get ready."

Halfbacks Joe Don Looney and Tommy Watkins and defensive back Wayne Rasmussen are doubtful starters for Detroit.

Looney hasn't fully recovered from a concussion suffered two weeks ago and Watkins sustained a knee injury against the Bears last Sunday in addition to aggravating a foot injury.

Rasmussen, one of the league leaders in pass interceptions, has been sidelined by an ankle injury.

The Colts clobbered the Lions 31-7 more than six weeks ago for one of the most one-sided losses suffered by the Lions in a 5-5 season.

Milt Plum is expected to start at quarterback for the Lions. He won the job back after reserve George Izo failed to get the team moving.

SEALS BATTLE CANUCKS AT COW PALACE

The San Francisco Seals will share their ice with the Vancouver Canucks tonight, 8:15, in their first of three games this week.

The Seals took three days off after downing the Portland Buckaroos, 7-3, in a Western Hockey League game last Saturday. The San Francisco victory helped to narrow Portland's slim league lead.

The Seals will have Thanksgiving Day off before meeting the Victoria Maple Leafs on Friday. San Francisco will play Springfield, Mass., of the American League Saturday.

Before their win over Portland, the Seals had lost three straight games. Their current record is five wins, six losses and two ties.

Changes Made To Speed Up Golf Events

NEW YORK (AP) — Those playing in and watching U. S. Golf Association events after next Jan. 1 will see some changes — made with the idea of speeding up play.

The changes adopted by the USGA after being tested in the National Amateur at Tulsa, Okla., last September:

A player on the green must play until he holes out, unless he would be forced to stand in a fellow competitor's putting line. This eliminates time-consuming measurement to determine who is away.

Once on the green a player may lift and clean his ball only once.

Another new rule states there no longer will be a penalty for striking the flagstick from off the putting green.

Mighty Nebraska (9-0) Takes On Oklahomans

LINCOLN, Neb. (AP) — As many as three potential All-Americas, the nation's top rushing team and some pint-sized ball carriers will show their wares to a national television audience tomorrow when upset-minded Oklahoma challenges undefeated and third-ranked Nebraska.

Game time will be 10:45 a.m., PST, for the Thanksgiving Day feature, with full network color coverage by NBC.

Nebraska, 9-0 and already tabbed to meet Alabama in the Orange Bowl, will be seeking to wrap up its first undefeated season in 50 years and an undisputed third straight Big Eight crown.

Oklahoma, out of Big Eight contention on a 3-2 record, 3-5 over-all, needs the lift which a top spoiler performance could provide.

The number of All-America contenders on Memorial Stadium turf hinges on the availability of Oklahoma's senior linebacker, Carl McAdams. A standout, McAdams suffered a sprained ankle against Iowa State some to weeks ago and missed the ensuing Missouri game. It was the first game in seven prep and college years he had missed.

Playing without McAdams, says Sooner Coach Gomer Jones, "is like a hockey team playing without its goalie."

On a Nebraska team so deep any week can produce a new set of stars, defensive tackle Walt Barnes and offensive split end Freeman White have stood out consistently as bidders for national honors.

Barnes, a 6-3, 240-pound senior, "just never has a bad game," says Coach Bob Devaney.

White, a 6-5, 221-pound split end, leads the Big Eight receivers with 28 catches for 458 yards and six touchdowns.

Not all the Cornhuskers come giant sized.

Fullback Frank Solich probably the smallest major college fullback around, stands 5-8 and weighs only 158. But he tops all rushers on the nation's top rushing team with 598 yards in 103 carries.

Safety Larry Wachholtz, same height and just a shade heavier at 163, leads the nation's punt returners with 442 yards.

A Big Boost For Stanford Sports Arena

STANFORD (AP) — A Stanford University trustee and basketball letterman has pledged a $500,000 matching gift for an 8,000-seat sports arena and special events pavilion.

Mr. and Mrs. David Packard made the gift to spur donation of another $500,000 needed for the Roscoe W. Maples pavilion. Total estimated cost is $3.3 million.

Maples donated $1.2 million for the pavilion, which will replace the 44-year-old basketball court where Packard played in the 1930s. He is co-founder and board chairman of Hewlett-Packard Co., electronics manufacturer.

Chuck Taylor, Stanford athletic director, said he hopes construction could start by the fall of 1966. The pavilion would require about 20 months to build.

Other gifts amounting to $700,000 have been pledged in addition to Packard's and Maples' donations. Stanford's trustees have pledged $400,000 when the pavilion fund reaches the $2.9 million mark.

1965 HEISMAN TROPHY WINNER

Richly Deserved Award For Garrett

By FRANK O'REILLY

LOS ANGELES (AP) — When it was announced that Southern California halfback Mike Garrett had won the Heisman Award, USC Athletic Director Jess Hill said:

"He is one of the finest gentlemen ever to play at USC."

Garrett, named yesterday as the season's best college football player, has been a team leader since his high school days at Roosevelt in Los Angeles and has won the respect of teammates and opponents alike.

USC Coach John McKay said:

"I've said a lot about this boy, but I can't say too much. He's the best I've ever seen and the best boy I've ever been associated with. This award is richly deserved."

Garrett is a 21-year-old sociology major who has already begun to help youngsters. Last summer he ran a football clinic for the Recreation Department of Culver City, Calif.

Stocky at 5-foot-9, 190 pounds, Garrett has speed and balance, but Pitt safetyman Mickey Depp explained the USC star's success, saying:

"His determination and courage get him an awful lot of yardage."

This season Garrett's yardage —1,328 on 243 carries—is good enough to lead major college rushers, and he has one game remaining, a home contest Saturday against Wyoming.

In his career he has set five school records and three in the Pacific Athletic Conference. And 58 yards in his final game will give Garrett the all-time career record, surpassing the 3,166 gained by Ollie Matson in 1949-51 at San Francisco.

At a news conference yesterday, Garrett said:

"I can thank about 6,000 people for this award. I want to thank my teammates, the coaches and everybody."

He then expressed his disappointment that the Trojans did not make the Rose Bowl this year.

"My goal was always to play in the Rose Bowl. When I was 11 years old, I saw Hopalong Cassidy play for Ohio State in the Rose Bowl, and ever since then I've wanted to follow and play as well as he did that day."

Garrett, asked about the possibility of professional football, replied:

"I was concentrating so much on this season I haven't really thought about pro ball. I think I could make it, but I really don't know what my plans are."

An outfielder on the Trojan baseball team, Garrett was drafted 11th by the Pittsburgh Pirates. USC Coach Rod Dedeaux says the .300 hitter has major league potential.

Garrett, his parents, Coach McKay and USC President Norman Topping will go to New York next Wednesday for presentation of the award Thursday at the Downtown Athletic Club.

49er Aces Among Leaders

NEW YORK (AP) — Cleveland fullback Jim Brown with the National Football League rushing championship clinched, is driving toward a second individual crown—scoring.

Brown, who has rushed for 1,163 yards on 217 carries in 10 games, scored one touchdown Sunday against Dallas and leads the scoring race with 90 points, NFL statistics revealed yesterday.

Kicker Tommy Davis of San Francisco is second with 81 points, while Philadelphia's Timmy Brown is runnerup in rushing with 630 yards in 121 attempts.

Johnny Unitas of Baltimore ranks first in passing followed by Chicago's Rudy Bukich. Leading the receivers is Dave Parks of San Francisco. Tommy McDonald of Los Angeles is second.

Other leaders are Herb Adderley of Green Bay, interceptions; Gary Collins of Cleveland, punting; Rickie Harris of Washington, punt returns; and Tom Watkins of Detroit, kickoff returns.

U. Of Pitt Fires Its Grid Coach

PITTSBURGH, Pa. (AP) — John Michelosen was relieved today as head football coach of the University of Pittsburgh and offered the chance to stay on the faculty in another, unnamed, position.

The announcement, expected for more than a week, was made by acting Chancellor Dr. Stanton Crawford and Athletic Director Frank Carver following a meeting of the athletic committee of the Board of Trustees and the University Athletic Committee.

Carver said he reached the decision that there should be a coaching change after Pitt suffered two big defeats to Syracuse, 51-13, and Notre Dame, 69-13.

He said he discussed the matter with Michelosen and Crawford.

"I didn't think with the present set up, the present staff could bring the team back after the two defeats. It (the defeats) triggered me," said Carver.

Carver said that Michelosen was told he could stay on the faculty in an equivalent position but that the coach of the past 10 years had not given an answer.

Michelosen was unavailable for comment immediately.

Carver said he "had a few names in mind" about a successor and had been approached by at least one coach so far.

Reports of Michelosen's resignation or dismissal have been circulating for weeks following trouncings by West Virginia 63-48, Syracuse 51-13, Notre Dame 69-13 and Southern California 28-0.

Earlier this week Michelosen conferred with the university's top brass. Athletic Director Frank Carver's only comment after the meeting was that the entire football program was discussed.

The meeting Monday followed Pitt's 30-27 triumph over Penn State Saturday on a field goal in the final three seconds. The players carted Michelosen off the field on their shoulders to climax a 3-7 season, his worst at Pitt since 1961.

Before the Penn State game, the student newspaper, Pitt News, called for Michelosen's ouster. In an editorial, the newspaper said:

"If football is to continue giving the university prestige, money, and be its major sport, a coaching staff headed by John Michelosen cannot exist."

Michelosen's only comment as "the only thing I'm thinking about is getting ready for Penn State."

He took over the head coaching job at his alma mater after the 1954 season. In his first to years, he directed the Panthers to two bowls. His 10-year record is 56-49-7.

Upheaval over football at Pitt is nothing new. Three years ago, the then Chancellor Edward H. Litchfield called Michelosen on the carpet and said he would insist on daring, wide open football.

"I do say this about John," Litchfield said then, "if the time comes he wants to step down as head coach, or we deem it necessary to make a change in the future, he can wind up with a job as good if not better than the one he has now."

Litchfield did not elaborate. However, he did point out that Michelosen did not have a lifetime coaching job at Pitt.

Colts' Moore Cited; Brodie Is Praised

By JACK HAND

LAS VEGAS, Nev. (AP) — When Lenny Moore was given the game ball after Baltimore's eighth straight victory Sunday, a newsman grabbed Lenny's hand.

"It's like old times," he said to the Colts' halfback.

"Yeah," grinned Moore. "And it's about time, isn't it?"

Moore had been something less than sensational for the Colts this season after leading the National Football League in scoring with 20 touchdowns last season.

It was Moore's best day of the season when he scored twice against Philadelphia Sunday, caught seven passes for 163 yards and carried 10 times for 54 — an offensive total of 217 yards. As a result The Associated Press named Moore the Offensive Player of the Week in the NFL.

Unitas, taking over from young Gary Cuozzo, shared the headlines with Moore for picking up 305 yards with his passing. It was a Unitas 52-yard TD pass to Moore that produced the Colts' first score.

When the persistent Eagles took a 24-20 lead into thefinal period it was a Moore touchdown on a one-yard plunge that put Baltimore in front to stay. The dramatic pass from Unitas to Jimmy Orr, who had just returned from the hospital, sewed it up.

John Brodie of San Francisco also was a top candidate for the weekly honors. The 49ers' fine quarterback picked up his team when it trailed 27-13 early in the final period.

Brodie threw touchdown passes to Ken Willard and Dave Parks and then brought the 49ers down the field along the ground to set up the winning 22-yard field goal by Tommy Davis, his third of the game, with only six seconds to go.

Time was running out on the 49ers while Brodie was sending his backs slamming into the Rams' line. A 15-yard penalty for face mask grabbing cost the Rams dearly but the fans at Kezar Stadium were screaming for a time out as the clock ran into the final seconds.

The officials mistakenly stopped the clock, thinking Brodie, the captain, had called for a time out. It was started again and Brodie let it go to nine seconds before he stopped it. Then Davis came in to kick the winner after booting earlier field goals of 50 and 39 yards.

Jim Brown just missed the 100-yard rushing mark with 99 for Cleveland at Dallas but his three-yard touchdown run shouldering off would-be tacklers was a beaut.

Bart Starr, subject of criticism during Green Bay's touchdown drought, came up with three TD passes in the Packers' come-from-behind 38-13 victory over Minnesota.

Andy Livingston crashed 90 yards on 11 carries and Gale Sayers sped 20 yards on a touchdown run in another victory for the young Chicago Bears over Detroit.

Rickie Harris, Washington's fine rookie runback artist from Arizona, brought back six kicks for 146 yards, including a 57-yard TD tomp on a Frank Lambert punt.

Earl Morrall threw three TD passes, two to Joe Morrison, in the New York Giants' 28-15 upset victory over St. Louis.

Anti-Trust Suit Is Filed Against NBA

BOSTON (AP)—The National Basketball Assn. faced a U.S. District Court anti-trust suit today brought by veteran forward Woodrow (Woody) Sauldsberry.

Sauldsberry contended in his suit against NBA President J. Walter Kennedy and all NBA clubs except the Boston Celtics that the defending champion Celtics signed him to an $11,000 contract last Thursday but that Kennedy refused to accept the agreement.

The 31-year-old Sauldsberry, who was NBA Rookie-of-the-Year with Philadelphia in 1957, claimed that Kennedy and the other NBA clubs are part of a conspiracy to prevent him from earning a livelihood as a professional basketball player.

Sauldsberry sought a temporary injunction ordering the Celtics to honor his contract and barring any further conspiracy.

Sauldsberry has been out of the NBA for to years. He was released by the St. Louis Hawks in 1963. He claimed that the Los Angeles Lakers won the right to bid for his services but did not do so and he contended that Kennedy issued a notice a year ago allowing the Celtics to negotiate for his services.

Boston announced Sauldsberry's signing last Friday and planned to dress him for a game with Cincinnati that night. However, two hours before gametime the Celtics received a wire from Kennedy, notifying them the Sauldsberry contract was not acceptable.

Kennedy later said that he disapproved the contract "because of his record while he was a player in the Association."

He said that "since the matter is under continuing investigation, there is nothing more I can say at this time concerning the details of that record."

Arnold (Red) Auerbach, general manager of as well as coach of the Celtics, would make no comment because of the court action.

1965 HEISMAN TROPHY WINNER

Richly Deserved Award For Garrett

By FRANK O'REILLY

LOS ANGELES (AP) — When it was announced that Southern California halfback Mike Garrett had won the Heisman Award, USC Athletic Director Jess Hill said:

"He is one of the finest gentlemen ever to play at USC."

Garrett, named yesterday as the season's best college football player, has been a team leader since his high school days at Roosevelt in Los Angeles and has won the respect of teammates and opponents alike.

USC Coach John McKay said: "I've said a lot about this boy, but I can't say too much. He's the best I've ever seen and the best boy I've ever been associated with. This award is richly deserved."

Garrett is a 21-year-old sociology major who has already begun to help youngsters. Last summer he ran a football clinic for the Recreation Department of Culver City, Calif.

Stocky at 5-foot-9, 190 pounds, Garrett has speed and balance, but Pitt safetyman Mickey Depp explained the USC star's success, saying:

"His determination and courage get him an awful lot of yardage."

This season Garrett's yardage —1,328 on 243 carries—is good enough to lead major college rushers, and he has one game remaining, a home contest Saturday against Wyoming.

In his career he has set five school records and three in the Pacific Athletic Conference. And 58 yards in his final game will give Garrett the all-time career record, surpassing the 3,166 gained by Ollie Matson in 1949-51 at San Francisco.

At a news conference yesterday, Garrett said:

"I can thank about 6,000 people for this award. I want to thank my teammates, the coaches and everybody."

He then expressed his disappointment that the Trojans did not make the Rose Bowl this year.

"My goal was always to play in the Rose Bowl. When I was 11 years old, I saw Hopalong Cassidy play for Ohio State in the Rose Bowl, and ever since then I've wanted to follow and play as well as he did that day."

Garrett, asked about the possibility of professional football, replied:

"I was concentrating so much on this season I haven't really thought about pro ball. I think I could make it, but I really don't know what my plans are."

An outfielder on the Trojan baseball team, Garrett was drafted 11th by the Pittsburgh Pirates. USC Coach Rod Dedeaux says the .300 hitter has major league potential.

Garrett, his parents, Coach McKay and USC President Norman Topping will go to New York next Wednesday for presentation of the award Thursday at the Downtown Athletic Club.

49er Aces Among Leaders

NEW YORK (AP) — Cleveland fullback Jim Brown with the National Football League rushing championship clinched, is driving toward a second individual crown—scoring.

Brown, who has rushed for 1,163 yards on 217 carries in 10 games, scored one touchdown Sunday against Dallas and leads the scoring race with 90 points, NFL statistics revealed yesterday.

Kicker Tommy Davis of San Francisco is second with 81 points, while Philadelphia's Timmy Brown is runnerup in rushing with 630 yards in 121 attempts.

Johnny Unitas of Baltimore ranks first in passing followed by Chicago's Rudy Bukich. Leading the receivers is Dave Parks of San Francisco. Tommy McDonald of Los Angeles is second.

Other leaders are Herb Adderley of Green Bay, interceptions; Gary Collins of Cleveland, punting; Rickie Harris of Washington, punt returns; and Tom Watkins of Detroit, kickoff returns.

Anti-Trust Suit Is Filed Against NBA

BOSTON (AP)—The National Basketball Assn. faced a U.S. District Court anti-trust suit today brought by veteran forward Woodrow (Woody) Sauldsberry.

Sauldsberry contended in his suit against NBA President J. Walter Kennedy and all NBA clubs except the Boston Celtics that the defending champion Celtics signed him to an $11,000 contract last Thursday but that Kennedy refused to accept the agreement.

The 31-year-old Sauldsberry, who was NBA Rookie-of-the-Year with Philadelphia in 1957, claimed that Kennedy and the other NBA clubs are part of a conspiracy to prevent him from earning a livelihood as a professional basketball player.

Sauldsberry sought a temporary injunction ordering the Celtics to honor his contract and barring any further conspiracy.

Sauldsberry has been out of the NBA for to years. He was released by the St. Louis Hawks in 1963. He claimed that the Los Angeles Lakers won the right to bid for his services but did not do so and he contended that Kennedy issued a notice a year ago allowing the Celtics to negotiate for his services.

Boston announced Sauldsberry's signing last Friday and planned to dress him for a game with Cincinnati that night. However, two hours before gametime the Celtics received a wire from Kennedy, notifying them the Sauldsberry contract was not acceptable.

Kennedy later said that he disapproved the contract "because of his record while he was a player in the Association."

He said that "since the matter is under continuing investigation, there is nothing more I can say at this time concerning the details of that record."

Arnold (Red) Auerbach, general manager of as well as coach of the Celtics, would make no comment because of the court action.

Pepperpot Jockey Will Be Honored

SAN FRANCISCO (AP) — Ralph Neves, one of eight American jockeys who have ridden more than 3,000 winners, will be among those honored at the annual awards dinner of the Thoroughbred Racing Associations here Dec. 2.

The TRA is meeting here Nov. 30-Dec. 2.

Neves, known as the Portuguese Pepperpot, rode 31 years and compiled a record of 3,771 winners, 3,546 seconds and 3,353 thirds while accepting 25,329 mounts. His mounts earned a total of $13,781,114. He retired last year.

U. Of Pitt Fires Its Grid Coach

PITTSBURGH, Pa. (AP) — John Michelosen was relieved today as head football coach of the University of Pittsburgh and offered the chance to stay on the faculty in another, unnamed, position.

The announcement, expected for more than a week, was made by acting Chancellor Dr. Stanton Crawford and Athletic Director Frank Carver following a meeting of the athletic committee of the Board of Trustees and the University Athletic Committee.

Carver said he reached the decision that there should be a coaching change after Pitt suffered two big defeats to Syracuse, 51-13, and Notre Dame, 69-13.

He said he discussed the matter with Michelosen and Crawford.

"I didn't think with the present set up, the present staff could bring the team back after the two defeats. It (the defeats) triggered me," said Carver.

Carver said that Michelosen was told he could stay on the faculty in an equivalent position but that the coach of the past 10 years had not given an answer.

Michelosen was unavailable for comment immediately.

Carver said he "had a few names in mind" about a successor and had been approached by at least one coach so far.

Reports of Michelosen's resignation or dismissal have been circulating for weeks following trouncings by West Virginia 63-48, Syracuse 51-13, Notre Dame 69-13 and Southern California 28-0.

Earlier this week Michelosen conferred with the university's top brass. Athletic Director Frank Carver's only comment after the meeting was that the entire football program was discussed.

The meeting Monday followed Pitt's 30-27 triumph over Penn State Saturday on a field goal in the final three seconds. The players carted Michelosen off the field on their shoulders to climax a 3-7 season, his worst at Pitt since 1961.

Before the Penn State game, the student newspaper, Pitt News, called for Michelosen's ouster. In an editorial, the newspaper said:

"If football is to continue giving the university prestige, money, and be its major sport, a coaching staff headed by John Michelosen cannot exist."

Michelosen's only comment as "the only thing I'm thinking about is getting ready for Penn State."

He took over the head coaching job at his alma mater after the 1954 season. In his first to years, he directed the Panthers to two bowls. His 10-year record is 56-49-7.

Upheaval over football at Pitt is nothing new. Three years ago, the then Chancellor Edward H. Litchfield called Michelosen on the carpet and said he would insist on daring, wide open football.

"I do say this about John," Litchfield said then, "if the time comes he wants to step down as head coach, or we deem it necessary to make a change in the future, he can wind up with a job as good if not better than the one he has now."

Litchfield did not elaborate. However, he did point out that Michelosen did not have a lifetime coaching job at Pitt.

Swimming To Judo At College's New Gym Buildings

Classes in badminton, judo, gymnastics, modern dance and lectures on health go on simultaneously at the College of Marin physical education complex of buildings.

In past years, students spent their "gym" period in one big gym with little chance for variety in activities.

Harry Pieper, chairman of the health and physical education division and director of college athletics, is enthusiastic about the variety in the new facilities on College Avenue.

The $1.5 million buildings were completed this fall. Funds came from a 35-cent over ride tax for college expansion. The old college gym burned down.

The huge new gym is used for varsity basketball games and can seat 1,500 persons in bleachers which fold away from the walls at the press of a button. An additional 300 persons may be seated on folding chairs.

But the gym also is used for classes during the day, when volleyball, badminton, basketball games may be played. College dances, concerts open to the public, rallies, ballet, folk singing concerts and the San Francisco Symphony have used the gym.

While one or more classes use the big gym, the "combative" room may hold a small judo class. The gymnastic room, with equipment dangling from the ceiling, may be filled with swinging and swaying forms.

The exercise room may hold a modern dance class or a class for elementary education teachers learning to teach games to youngsters from the Adeline E. Kent School next door to the college.

Two classrooms may be used for health instruction or for sociology, helping fill the need for classroom space.

The two swimming pools, outdoors but surrounded by high walls, are used in almost any weather—the 80 degree heat of the water makes swimming in the rain a pleasure.

The cost of the complex includes preparation of the muddy site on which it was built and construction of six tennis courts.

GIANT GYM — Inside the cavernous gym at the College of Marin, eight badminton courts are in action in this co-educational class. The gym also can hold four volleyball courts or two basketball courts, when bleachers are folded back. Bleachers can seat 1,500 students during varsity basketball games which take up the entire floor.

Families Gathering For Feast

By MOLLY MARIN

The traditional cocktail party for friends and neighbors preceding Thanksgiving dinner at their respective homes will be hosted by the Ben Drapers at their home in Mill Valley. Guests will be the Richard Paines and their three children, the Hubert Jameses and their two children and Mrs. Donna Sullivan and her two children.

SOMETHING different from the usual at-home family Thanksgiving feast will be a dinner at the Union Hotel in Occidental for which Dr. and Mrs. Robert C. Bowie of the Garden of Allah in Mill Valley will be hosts. Their guests will be Mrs. Bowie's niece, Mrs. John Barnard, and her husband, and Mrs. Bowie's nephew, Laurence Symmes, and his family, all of Mill Valley.

ELECTED PRESIDENT of the International Council of the Museum of Modern Art is Mrs. Donald Straus of New York, the former Beth Allen. She is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Harry B. Allen of Belvedere. One of her first duties at the museum in New York City was to greet Princess Margaret and the Earl of Snowdon when they viewed the exhibits during their New York tour.

Mr. and Mrs. Allen had visited Donald and Beth Straus at their summer residence on the Island of Naushon near Cape Cod in September when the couple celebrated their twenty-fifth wedding anniversary. The Allens went on to tour France and Austria, and have returned to Belvedere just in time for the holidays.

A GATHERING of family and old friends will be held on Thursday at the Allen home on Golden Gate Avenue. Mr. and Mrs. David Allen and their seven children, Mrs. Allen's sister, Miss Helen Bridge, Mr. Allen's sister, Mrs. Edith Hill, Miss Ruth Harrington and Miss Brownie Lee Jones will be in the party. The Howard Allens, who occupy the house next door to Howdy's parents in Belvedere, will have Ann's parents, Mr. and Mrs. John E. Norton of Santa Cruz and other family members with them for Thanksgiving.

COL. AND MRS. Mark E. Cory have returned home after an extended vacation to the Orient. The Corys departed on Sept. 20, flying direct to Tokyo. After a nostalgic 10-day visit to Gifu, Osaka, Beppu and Atami, they moved on to Taipei, Taiwan, for a few days, then on to Hong Kong. Here they made their headquarters for a month while taking a side trip via hydrofoil ferry to Macao and flying to Bangkok for a week. The Corys are spending Thanksgiving with Mrs. Cory's parents, Mr. and Mrs. A. C. Schnellbacher, in Eugene, Ore., and will visit friends in Seattle. They will return to their home in Novato on Wednesday.

MR. AND MRS. ALEX BOVEE of San Rafael will celebrate their 30th wedding anniversary this weekend with a trip to Reno and a gathering of old friends. This event was postponed a month since Mrs. Bovee's opening date appearance as a dancer in "Damn Yankees" at Hamilton Air Force Base coincided with their Oct. 29 anniversary date. The joint little theater production closed on Saturday. Alan Bovee of San Rafael is their son. The Bovees have lived in San Rafael for 20 years and are natives of San Francisco.

MR. AND MRS. WILLIAM DUMONT have returned to Belvedere after a three-month tour of Europe. Their extensive travels included Great Britain, the Scandinavian countries, the chateaux country of France, the Rhineland, and Italy. They spent some time in the famed cities of Paris, Berlin, Zurich, Munich, Venice and Rome. Their daughter and son-in-law, Mr. and Mrs. Robert Spencer, and two granddaughters of Lucas Valley will be sharing Thanksgiving dinner with them at the family home in Belvedere.

A DAUGHTER, Shelley Caroline, was born Nov. 19 to Mr. and Mrs. Edward J. Neumeier, 63 Rutherford Avenue, San Anselmo. They have a son, Edward Vann. Neumeier is administrative assistant to the superintendent of the Tamalpais Union High School District. Mrs. Neumeier is a counselor on leave from Redwood High.

THE HUGHES CALLS of Mill Valley and their son, Lewis, who is home from Humboldt State College with a friend, David Winslow, will be guests of the Gryffyd Partridges for Thanksgiving dinner at their home in Mill Valley. Also present will be the Partridges' daughter, Loren, who is a student at the San Francisco State Art Institute, and their son, Rym, a student at San Jose State College.

Thigh-High Skirt Meets With Sensational Response

NEW YORK (UPI)—Much is said about cold-water detergents. And washing directions for many synthetic fabrics say —use cool or warm water.

But will the laundry come clean?

Many of today's new developments confuse consumers as much as they enchant them. Consider there are more than 200 types of man-made fibers, countless cotton-synthetic combinations, a riot of vat-dyed colors.

TAKE WASH-AND-WEAR. Many laundering instructions conflict with recommended practice—low wash water temperatures, short cycles, and gentle agitation in the machine.

When unusual new conditions produce unsatisfactory laundry results, the homemaker has one convenient solution, says the Clorox Bureau of Bleaching Information.

The addition of liquid chlorine bleach helps to bring cleaning performance back to the acceptable levels expected when hot water was safe and cotton and white were all you found in a washload.

Home economists and textile experts report that more bleachable resin finishes are being used, especially in men's dress shirts, to create drip-dry fabrics. The news for those who like hues also is good.

The development of vat dyes, which withstand washing and bleaching, changed the old story of natural dyes that run and fade. Between 25 to 30 per cent of sheets, pillowcases, towels and washcloths, and men's shirts now are vat-dyed.

A REPORT AT the annual meeting of the American Home Laundry Manufacturers Assn. also indicated a sharp rise in the number of children's colored clothes carrying hangtag assurances that the garment is vat dyed and can be safely bleached.

With regard to both colored and synthetic fibers, bleach has been shown to prolong the usable life of items by maintaining a better appearance through more complete soil removal.

SEEING THE SOVIET

Nightlife 'Throbs' To U.S. Tunes With Modest Cadence

One of a series of articles on a just-completed trip through Russia and India.

By BARBARA HOSMER

The young couple, she in her long-sleeved wool dress made by someone in the family, and he in his better suit of perhaps two, may splurge on an evening of hotel dancing that is current comradely night life, whether in Moscow, Leningrad, Kiev or Yalta. For them it's a special occasion and fairly costly, though drab by Western standards, but the Soviet citizens with a contented look on their well-scrubbed faces are apparently enjoying their rather inhibited foxtrot to some fairly recent American tune . . . just young people having fun, somewhat shyly.

Occasionally, the open-collared bandsmen are moved to something bouncy, even an undisguised jazz number, official policy to the contrary, but the couples continue their modest pace, and it's only an occasional brave pair — often foreigners — who split for a self-conscious mambo or twist. But nobody really rocks the ever-present chandeliers, and the atmosphere is something less than heady. (It's as if the party needs an icebreaker, but to a Russian that's an Arctic ship . . .)

The liveliest place in Moscow for the traveler proved to be the foreign currency bar at the National Hotel, a block from Red Square, where taped American music — "Everything's Free in America," "This Land Is Your Land," etc. — draws the customers and bare-topped tables and plain chairs are often filled with Europeans and Americans eager for a little Western-style gaiety and a snappy step. But in a town of six million it was the only small oasis of Western night life—bare-walled and unpromising as it looked — and sometimes swung to the same repeated tunes until the early hours, long after the natives had left the dance floors across the hall and gone home, taking a curious peek at the roomful of foreign gaiety as they left.

A few blocks away at the 19th Century Metropole, seat of Lenin's government for two months after the revolution—night life is much the same as elsewhere in the Soviet hotels, although the main dining room where the band plays is centered with a fountain, and between sets young couples would promenade around it, causing one to wonder if America could have been like that before the coming of the jazz age . . .

But far to the south of the land of Big Government, in the Ukraine, a few lively lads could manage the semblance of a Charleston, and the ground seemed more fertile for at least forerunners of the Big Beat. Of course, the subdued foxtrot prevailed but a few moved their feet a little faster and the musicians on the Dnieper blew a little farther and higher with a jumpy "My Fair Lady" set and even, once, "Hello Dolly," though the show with Mary Martin had just been barred from opening in Moscow . . .

In the USSR any fair lady in the dining room is fair game as a dancing partner and the younger men who come together will stroll about the dining room until their courage allows them to ask permission of the men at a table to dance with the ladies. These encounters can be entertaining for people who discover a mutual language, and amusing for the American who wants to try out a Russian sentence or two on her well-mannered if somewhat bushy-haired partners. Often the dancers include holiday groups or delegations from nearby Communist countries such as Czechoslovakia, Poland or Rumania, who sometimes have a little English to try.

But from Leningrad to Yalta the musicians pack up at 11 or 11:30 p.m., sending Russians home through chilly streets and the visiting Poles, Czechs and Germans upstairs to their rooms. Night life is officially over.

Breakfast in the same dining room is flat, and the tempos of "My Fair Lady" tunes and "Yes Sir, That's My Baby" have vanished with last night's bread crumbs.

One remembers the remark of a Soviet student in America — "Jazz, that is on thing you do very well," but cannot help feeling that the ordinary Russian believes he is being a little naughty dancing publicly to anything approaching it in the heart of the Soviet Union.

A Time To Remember Who We Are

Let us be grateful for our heritage. For a little pride is the wellspring of courage. Let us endure unflinchingly whatever sacrifices we are called upon to make to defend our free institutions from the night of communism, which is bent on undermining our faith in ourselves. Let us rely not only on the gold in our vaults, but the iron in our blood. And let us cling like ivy to the faith of our fathers until, in God's good time, all men are free.

Home economists and textile experts report that more bleachable resin finishes are being used, especially in men's dress shirts, to create drip-dry fabrics. The news for those who like hues also is good.

The development of vat dyes, which withstand washing and bleaching, changed the old story of natural dyes that run and fade. Between 25 to 30 per cent of sheets, pillowcases, towels and washcloths, and men's shirts now are vat-dyed.

A REPORT AT the annual meeting of the American Home Laundry Manufacturers Assn. also indicated a sharp rise in the number of children's colored clothes carrying hangtag assurances that the garment is vat dyed and can be safely bleached.

With regard to both colored and synthetic fibers, bleach has been shown to prolong the usable life of items by maintaining a better appearance through more complete soil removal.

SEEING THE SOVIET

Nightlife 'Throbs' To U.S. Tunes With Modest Cadence

One of a series of articles on a just-completed trip through Russia and India.

By BARBARA HOSMER

The young couple, she in her long-sleeved wool dress made by someone in the family, and he in his better suit of perhaps two, may splurge on an evening of hotel dancing that is current comradely night life, whether in Moscow,

Leningrad, Kiev or Yalta. For them it's a special occasion and fairly costly, though drab by Western standards, but the Soviet citizens with a contented look on their well-scrubbed faces are apparently enjoying their rather inhibited foxtrot to some fairly recent American tune . . . just young people having fun, somewhat shyly.

Occasionally, the open-collared bandsmen are moved to something bouncy, even an undisguised jazz number, official policy to the contrary, but the couples continue their modest pace, and it's only an occasional brave pair — often foreigners — who split for a self-conscious mambo or twist. But nobody really rocks the ever-present chandeliers, and the atmosphere is something less than heady. (It's as if the party needs an icebreaker, but to a Russian that's an Arctic ship . . .)

The liveliest place in Moscow for the traveler proved to be the foreign currency bar at the National Hotel, a block from Red Square, where taped American music — "Everything's Free in America," "This Land Is Your Land," etc. — draws the customers and bare-topped tables and plain chairs are often filled with Europeans and Americans eager for a little Western-style gaiety and a snappy step. But in a town of six million it was the only small oasis of Western night life—bare-walled and unpromising as it looked — and sometimes swung to the same repeated tunes until the early hours, long after the natives had left the dance floors across the hall and gone home, taking a curious peek at the roomful of foreign gaiety as they left.

A few blocks away at the 19th Century Metropole, seat of Lenin's government for two months after the revolution—night life is much the same as elsewhere in the Soviet hotels, although the main dining room where the band plays is centered with a fountain, and between sets young couples would promenade around it, causing one to wonder if America could have been like that before the coming of the jazz age . . .

But far to the south of the land of Big Government, in the Ukraine, a few lively lads could manage the semblance of a Charleston, and the ground seemed more fertile for at least forerunners of the Big Beat. Of course, the subdued foxtrot prevailed but a few moved their feet a little faster and the musicians on the Dnieper blew a little farther and higher with a jumpy "My Fair Lady" set and even, once, "Hello Dolly," though the show with Mary Martin had just been barred from opening in Moscow . . .

In the USSR any fair lady in the dining room is fair game as a dancing partner and the younger men who come together will stroll about the dining room until their courage allows them to ask permission of the men at a table to dance with the ladies. These encounters can be entertaining for people who discover a mutual language, and amusing for the American who wants to try out a Russian sentence or two on her well-mannered if somewhat bushy-haired partners. Often the dancers include holiday groups or delegations from nearby Communist countries such as Czechoslovakia, Poland or Rumania, who sometimes have a little English to try.

But from Leningrad to Yalta the musicians pack up at 11 or 11:30 p.m., sending Russians home through chilly streets and the visiting Poles, Czechs and Germans upstairs to their rooms. Night life is officially over.

Breakfast in the same dining room is flat, and the tempos of "My Fair Lady" tunes and "Yes Sir, That's My Baby" have vanished with last night's bread crumbs.

One remembers the remark of a Soviet student in America — "Jazz, that is on thing you do very well," but cannot help feeling that the ordinary Russian believes he is being a little naughty dancing publicly to anything approaching it in the heart of the Soviet Union.

A Time To Remember Who We Are

Let us be grateful for our heritage. For a little pride is the wellspring of courage. Let us endure unflinchingly whatever sacrifices we are called upon to make to defend our free institutions from the night of communism, which is bent on undermining our faith in ourselves. Let us rely not only on the gold in our vaults, but the iron in our blood. And let us cling like ivy to the faith of our fathers until, in God's good time, all men are free.

100th Birthday To Be Marked Sunday

Members of the Church of Our Saviour in Mill Valley will honor the 100th birthday of Mrs. Allen Locke at a reception to be held Sunday at the rectory from 3 to 5 p.m. Born on Nov. 30 in New Zealand, Mrs. Locke came to San Francisco with her husband and lived in Mill Valley 50 years. She is now living at the Masonic home in Union City.

One son, Allen Locke, retired educator from the Vallejo school system, attended Tamalpais High School. He and his wife, who have two children, are touring Australia and New Zealand accompanied by Mrs. Locke's foster daughter, Mrs. Edith Trail of Healdsburg.

Locke Lane in Mill Valley was named for Mr. Locke, who was first a ship's engineer and then an engineer for the Northwestern Pacific Railroad at its powerhouse until his retirement. He was a 50-year Mason and received his pin in Mill Valley, though he became a mason in China. He served on the vestry of the first Little Redwood Church which stood where the present Church of Our Saviour stands today.

Mrs. Locke has been an active churchwoman all of her life and is remembered in Mill Valley for her tireless efforts in the influenza epidemic during World War I. At that time she nursed victims in disregard of doctor's recommendations to stay away from infected people. She was also active in all aspects of relief work during that war and spent nearly her whole life nursing and helping people.

The Rev. D. Murray Hammond, rector of the Church of Our Saviour, and his wife said that all longtime friends of Mrs. Locke are invited to the reception. Chairman is Mrs. Francis S. Strauss.

Long, Lean Look Prevails In California Collections

BEVERLY HILLS (AP) — Stand like a model, flat-bosomed chest caved in, narrow hips thrust forward.

Drape a bit of flaring fabric around the hips at night, narrow or flounce it for day.

That's California fashion's look for 1966.

The long, lean look pervaded the windup of spring and resort wear showings to the nation's fashion editors.

Michael Novarese seamed silk dresses and costumes for a semi-fitted look he called his signature for day, "high in the rib cage, elongated, slightly concave."

His colors were strong-garnet for a Jimmy Cagney suit, double-breasted in linen with shawl collar and attached print silk blouse.

Designers Stanley Nelson and Bill Travila both made much use of cotton in their spring suits.

"Cotton is being woven so imaginatively," said Travila, "that I'm thinking seriously of using it in my fall and winter line."

Knit designer Lee Herman tended to a tailored or little gal feeling in hip-length knit jackets topping little silk or double knit dresses, many in empire lines.

Hotel Plan 'Marry Now Pay Later'

NEW YORK (UPI)—The hotel calls it the "Marry now—pay later" plan. And says Ralph Hitz Jr., general manager of the Sheraton-Atlantic, it's an industry first.

The plan enables the bride's father to pay for the reception on the installment plan. Hitz computed the cost as low as 65 cents per person per month for 25 months for a reception which includes a champagne toast, a seven-course steak dinner, "live" music for dancing, a photographer to shoot for a 24-picture album, a private hide-away bridal suite — complete with a chilled bottle of champagne. To boot, the bride gets to keep the silver knife used to cut the cake.

Marin Guild Fame Goes To England

Mill Valley's Redwood Guild's chutney has reached half way around the world to make friends for Sunny Hills, according to Mrs. George Wellington of Mill Valley.

She returned to England to visit her friends at her former home there at Gidea Park and brought with her two jars of Redwood Guild chutney as a present to the Romford Evening Townswomen's Guild, to which she formerly belonged. She described for members the Grape Festival fund raising methods for Sunny Hills and told of the home to which proceeds are devoted.

All this led to a picture in the local press, "The Recorder," featuring Mrs. Wellington and Mrs. Barbara Essex, Romford chairman, tasting the Colonel Wellington's chutney.

Colonel Wellington's chutney has been made for the past five years by the local group under the direction of Mrs. Leslie Wellington, sister-in-law of Mrs. George Wellington.

Men Talk As Much As Women

NEW YORK (UPI) — On the average, a person talks only 10 to 11 minutes daily—with men ranking about equally with women, an anthropologist reported at the annual meeting of the American psychological Assn.

Dr. Ray L. Birdwhistell, of Temple University Medical Center, carefully measured total talk time before making his report. "The standard spoken sentence takes only 2½ seconds," he said. People, it was noted, do far more communicating with body movements—eyes and eyebrows, facial expressions, hands and shoulders. Silences also sometimes say a great deal, Dr. Birdwhistell explained.

ACTOR AS STAGE MANAGER

Supervisors Worried Over Marine Center

Marin County supervisors yesterday agreed to telegraph Secretary of Interior Stuart B. Udall urging that the marine technological center not be moved from the former navy net depot at Tiburon.

Supervisor Thomas T. Storer said he had heard from a confidential but unimpeachable source that plans were afoot to move the center to Minnesota.

He also said the center's offshore explorations have already discovered "large deposits of phosphorite and manganese."

Supervisor Peter H. Behr questioned this, saying there had been no announcement of such findings.

Besides wiring Udall, the board directed letters to Rep. Don H. Clausen, R-First District, and California's two U.S. senators.

The Marin County Board of Supervisors yesterday also:

1. Decided to wait for more information before endorsing a proposal for a private airport on the Burdell Ranch northeast of Novato.

2. Agreed to home Mund McLaurin Co. of San Francisco at $1,500 to do a survey of county insurance policies, and request at the same time a review of all policies by the Marin County Assn. of Insurance Agents.

3. Created the position of control schedule clerk in the data processing bureau at $9,204 a year, replacing two lower positions with combined salaries of $14,287 a year.

4. Agreed to continue the contract with attorneys Robert I. Conn and Richard H. Breiner at $20 an hour to represent indigents in misdemeanor cases, after the Marin County Bar Assn. wrote that it had no objection.

5. Set hearing on formation of a Corte Madera Creek flood control zone for Dec. 21.

6. Re-appointed Supervisor Storer to the board of directors of the North Coast County Supervisors Assn.

7. Agreed that the headquarters for the Point Reyes National Seashore was best located at the Bear Valley Ranch. This was in reply to the Fairfax city council's bid for locating the headquarters in Fairfax. The council's request, made several months ago, was late in reaching supervisors.

8. Authorized the county public works department to proceed with acquisition of the six-acre Elephant Rock Park near Dillon Beach. The Marin Conservation League, through an anonymus donor, will cover the full purchase price.

9. Approved the grading for the Marin Covenant Church at the end of Ellen Drive in Marinwood. Action was held up last week when Supervisor Byron W. Leydecker learned that excavation was already underway. This was since found to be authorized grading for an adjacent subdivision.

10. Continued until Dec. 7 the application for a use permit by Elmer Martinelli to operate a dump north of Point Reyes Station.

11. Asked the planning staff for a report on existing zoning around the Civic Center in time for a hearing next week on business and professional zoning on San Pablo Road south of the Civic Center.

12. Approved the tentative map of Reedlands Unit 2 north of Tiburon, which will have 64 single family homes. The tract at the end of Blackfield Drive includes one street with an 18 per cent slope and another with a 15 per cent slope. The subdivision ordinance limits slopes to 10 per cent, but David Van Pelt of the planning staff said the exceptions were warranted to avoid severe sidehill cutting.

13. Approved a use permit for Synanon Foundation allowing a trailer at the narcotics treatment center at Marshall for one year during construction of buildings.

14. Approved payment of $375.-014 in architect's fees to the Frank Lloyd Wright Foundation for plans on the hall of justice addition to the Civic Center.

15. Awarded a $1,674 contract to E. A. Forde Co. of Corte Madera for removal of a hump in Vineyard Road near Novato. County Public Works Director Donald R. Frost said the firm was the lowest of three in informal bidding on the job.

INVESTMENT SEEN FOR SAN RAFAEL

Supervisors Prepared To Invest In Future By Taking Less Than Top Courthouse Price

By ALAN P. CUNNINGHAM

Marin County supervisors are prepared to make a "substantial investment" in the future of downtown San Rafael by settling for less than the highest possible price on the courthouse square, they assured three members of the city council at a joint luncheon meeting in San Rafael yesterday.

The big question, they added, is just how much that investment will have to be.

Supervisors learned last week that, under a plan prepared for the city by Daniel P. Coleman and Associates, the county might realize only $800,000 from the site. They had hoped to sell it for $1.4 million to complete financing of the hall of justice at Marin Civic Center, expected to cost $11.4 million.

Coleman's plan calls for developing only 30 per cent of the land, leaving the rest as open space.

Yesterday, supervisors got together with the city council and members of a citizens advisory committee to seek answers to the dilemma.

Supervisor Byron W. Leydecker said he saw the county's eventual decision as hinging on two questions:

1. How much open space is needed to preserve a park-like atmosphere in the square, considered the key area in rejuvenation of the city's downtown area?

2. How much of the needed $1.4 million is the supervisors willing to raise through other means?

Leydecker said he favored the county making a "substantial investment," and Supervisor Ernest N. Kettenhofen agreed, saying the amount of this investment would amount to "the price of the public benefit involved."

Supervisor Thomas T. Storer termed the courthouse square the "heartbeat of San Rafael," and said he envisioned development of a system of malls, sidewalk cafes and shuttle buses in downtown San Rafael with the square as its hub.

Most disquieting note of the session was raised by City Councilman Louis H. Baar, who said the city attorney had suggested there might be a cloud on the title of the property.

Baar said preliminary research by City Atty. David Menary Jr. had shown that such a cloud might indeed exist, and a local title company had been asked to delve into it further.

County Counsel Douglas J. Maloney, however, said the title firm had raised no such question to him, and he had accepted this as sufficient since title companies are usually considered the "supreme court" on such questions.

Maloney said he would talk to Menary, but added, "I am assuming right now that it is clear."

Turning again to the Coleman plan, Mayor C. Paul Bettini said he was "not set on 30 per cent or 40 per cent or 50 per cent" usage of the land, but was looking for whatever use guaranteed the economic health of the city.

Without setting a date, the councilmen, committee members and supervisors agreed to meet again in two or three months. By that time, county financing studies will be well under way and the city will have completed hearings on Coleman's plan.

No deadline for any decision was mentioned, although County Auditor-Controller Michael Mitchell cautioned that "we do need to have the money in the county treasury by July 1, 1967, or at least have bonds or something that is practically the same as cash."

During its afternoon session, the board of supervisors implemented its promise by approving an agreement with Marshall and Stevens, Inc., of San Francisco for a market study of the courthouse block, to cost $5,600. Earlier, the board approved a $5,000 financial study by consultants Stone and Youngberg of San Francisco.

City Councilmen Harry A. Barbier and Fred E. Jensen were absent from the joint meeting.

Bridge Painters Given Flat Salary Increase

Painters of the Golden Gate Bridge will get a dollar an hour raise whether they work from the sidewalk or atop the 746-foot high spans.

Directors decided this yesterday when they hiked the pay from $4.72 to $5.72 an hour as a flat rate, regardless of the height the painters work.

At an earlier meeting, the directors had argued about different pay for different heights, but turned down the proposal. The new wage means a painter can earn $987 a month.

Beginning next month, Union News Co., operator of a chain of restaurants, will take over the Round House Restaurant on the bridge plaza.

The company was authorized to operate on a month-to-month basis on a minimum guaranteed rent of $400 a month or eight and a quarter per cent of gross receipts whichever is higher.

Marin director Thomas D. Hardcastle reported that a joint committee for bus improvement will meet for lunch Dec. 1 at the Commercial Club in San Francisco. The committee is composed of three members each from Marin County, San Francisco and the Golden Gate Bridge District.

San Anselmo Man Accused Of Taking Restaurant Cash

Phillip J. Danna, 38, of 60 Parkway Drive, San Anselmo, was placed under citizen's arrest at the San Francisco restaurant he manages yesterday.

His employer, James Bradley, vice president of the restaurant chain, charged that Danna took the receipts from Red Roof Restaurant No. 2 on California Street, wagered and lost them at a race track.

Bradley turned Danna over to San Francisco police, who booked him on suspicion of grand theft.

Bradley told police the funds were discovered to be missing Monday night. Danna admitted taking Friday's receipts—$2,600—and losing them through bets on the horse races, Bradley claimed.

Bradley said his company is making an audit of the restaurant's books over the last year—the period during which Danna has managed the establishment.

Murder Case Figure Given County Term

Harold Frank Percell, 24, whose statements helped break the murder case of San Rafael bartender Mario Ferrari at Mission Inn last Labor Day, was given a suspended state prison term yesterday on condition that he serve six months in Marin County jail.

The sentence by Judge Samuel W. Gardiner of Marin Superior Court came on Percell's guilty plea of robbing Rudy's Liquor Store, 1835 Fourth Street, San Rafael, on Aug. 30.

A co-defendant in the robbery case, Jack R. Gorman, 36, a San Quentin prisoner, also faces a charge of murdering Ferrari. Named in the joint slaying is Marc Charles Osuna, 30, at San Quentin Prison.

Bret Harte Sewer Hearing Slated

The San Rafael Sanitation District has tentatively set a hearing for 8 p.m. Dec. 2 for residents of Bret Harte Heights, for a new discussion of formation of a sewer assessment district for the area, now serviced by septic tanks.

But Norris M. Rawles, administrator for the district, in a letter to the property owners and residents, said the meeting date assumes a report from the Marin County Health Department will be ready in time.

The department was asked to make a report showing a need for sewers for the property at higher elevations, after owners agreed Oct. 28 that sewers would be needed farther down the slopes.

Americans Fear Blindness Second Only To Cancer

By CHARLES SCHAEFFER
Advance News Service

ARLINGTON, Va. — A new Gallup Poll shows that next to cancer Americans fear blindness most.

Yet, an expert charges, medical science is virtually ignoring research into blindness.

"For some unfathomable reason, we prefer to practice the foolish economy of laying out more than $1 billion each year to care for the blind rather than spend a small fraction of that sum to finance research leading to the prevention and cure of blinding diseases," says Dr. Jules C. Stein, board chairman of Research to Prevent Blindness.

He disclosed highlights of a Gallup public opinion survey showing that 62 per cent of persons polled said cancer was "the worst thing that can happen to you."

Blindness was the next most feared affliction, with 18 per cent of those polled naming it so. Heart disease was cited by 9 per cent, while five other disorders were each named by 3 per cent or less.

Dr. Stein told a seminar for science writers that serious visual disorders are the nation's leading cause of disability. But research into cause and prevention of sight-destroying diseases adds up to just about $10 million out of the billions spent for disease research, space exploration or other scientific endeavors.

About 90 million Americans suffer some eye trouble, and it is serious for at least 3.5 million, he said.

"With proper diagnosis and medical attention, it is possible to save many of these people from losing vision," he said. "When you consider that one-tenth of all patients seen at our hospitals are eye patients, the true scope of the problem becomes apparent."

Care, treatment and surgery for those threatened by blindness are merely substitutes for the scientific knowledge that will wipe out blindness at their source, he charged.

Too many people mistakenly believe that most blindness is caused by accidents or injuries, Dr. Stein, a former practicing ophthalmologist said.

"Actually, only 5 per cent of all blindness in the United States is so caused. The overwhelming causative factors are diseases about which science knows almost nothing, and which individual can do nothing to prevent."

The poll disclosed that only 16 per cent of Americans can identify an opthalmologist as a medical doctor, who is the specialist qualified to treat eye problems and give complete examinations including the interior physiology of the eye.

This was in contrast to 73 per cent who could identify a pediatrician and 43 per cent who know what a chiropractor is.

About three of every four families (76 per cent) in the U.S. have one of more members wearing eye glasses, the poll revealed. The proportion was slightly higher among college-educated, professional and business people.

About 75 million Americans now wear glasses and roughly 51 per cent have had some kind of eye examination in the past two years. At some point, about 90 per cent have eye exams.

"It is time we stopped being content to pat ourselves on the back for all the good things we do for people after they are blind and start moving vigorous into eye research," he said.

Chairman of Marin Chapter of National Foundation (March of Dimes) is Mrs. Walter F. Johnson.

Economical New Test For Venereal Disease

By CHARLER SCHAEFFER
Advance News Service

ARLINGTON, Va. — An economical new test to unmask dangerous syphilis germs lurking in the body has been developed by government scientists.

In just one hospital doctors have uncovered more than 200 cases in which presumably cured former patients actually still harbored syphilis organisms.

"If this test is widely adopted, it will save patients hundreds of dollars in diagnostic tests and save doctors countless hours," said Dr. J. Lawton Smith, of the University of Miami. Early penicillin therapy of latent disease might also head off syphilis-linked blindess, paralysis and insanity.

After the initial symptoms of a sore or rash, untreated or inadequately treated syphilis sometimes lapses into a latent stage. As long as 20 years after the onset, hiding germs can cause serious eye, bone, brain and heart damage.

Dr. Smith told a science writers seminar sponsored by Research to Prevent Blindness, Inc. The new test is 97 per cent accurate in revealing whether a person has or ever had syphilis.

An older test for the disease is wrong as often as 50 per cent of the time, he said. It falsely indicated that patients had syphilis, and it missed latent cases entirely. This is because the test can flash a syphilis warning, even though the patient really had another disease, such as hepatitis or mononucleosus.

The new test — Fluorescent Treponemal Antibody Absorbed (FTA-ABS) — is solely for syphilis. It takes out the guesswork.

This means that doctors who don't know their patients true disease history will have an almost unmistakably bit of proof.

In difficult cases where brain and eye abnormalities could mean half a dozen other serious ills, the test will quickly establish whether or not its syphilis.

The improved test was developed by Dr. W. E. Deacon, of the Federal Communicable Disease Center at Atlanta, Ga.

Dr. Smith stressed the importance of the refinement because in the face of a strong comeback being staged by venereal disease, there has been a seven-fold increase in five years.

Doctors perform the new test by drawing a sample of blood and mixing it with a special substance which is designed to betray the presence of syphilis antibodies. The antibodies, or microscopic disease fighters, will be present in anyone who has or had syphilis.

Earlier syphilis tests also located antibodies. But they weren't able to unscramble them from antibodies created by the reaction to other diseases or even to friendly germs. The result was many false readings for syphilis.

The syphilis germ is a corkscrew spirochete called Treponema Pallidum. But there is the harmless first cousin Treponema in the body that muddy up the tests.

Researchehs hit upon the idea of brewing a test substance from the first cousin germs and bombarding them with high frequency sound. The ultra sound breaks up the first cousins and frees "antigens," or chemicals able to hook up with antibodies.

These antigens are squirted into the patients blood samples in the test tubes. They quickly soak up or absorb the cousins, leaving the true syphilis antibody — if it is there — intact.

Next, the doctor adds a drop of fluorescent dye to the blood samples. If it lights up the remaining antibodies, there is a 97 per cent chance the patient has or had syphilis.

The test was run on 1,000 blood specimens from patients seen at Jackson Memorial Hospital, Miami, over the past two years. Latent syphilis was found in 200 whose tests with one of the earlier detection procedures were negative. Dr. Smith said he had no national figure but if the Florida sample is representative there are many thousands of undetected cases of latent syhpilis throughout the United States.

Nervous Tension, Old Injuries May Be Blame For Sore Neck

VAN DELLEN

Nervous tension can produce pain in the neck. Prolonged contraction of the muscles is responsible, and the individual may be so uncomfortable during periods of marked anxiety that he calls his physician for help. The condition is similar to tension headache but the distress is lower down.

Continual muscle contractions cause fatigue and in some instances the muscle fibers are damaged or matted together by adhesions. When this occurs, aching may be constant. This type of neck pain is relieved by heat, massage, and relaxation. The treatment also includes a daily routine of bending the head forward and back, to the left and right, and then turning the face to one side and then the other. Each movement is done four or five times — morning and night. Muscle relaxants may be of value.

OSTEOARTHRITIS of the vertebrae is another origin of neck pain. The condition stems from years of stress and strain associated with constant activity including sudden jolts and twists. This cause is suspected when oldsters complain of soreness in this area.

A similar type of arthritis may develop years after a neck injury that occurred while playing football or sitting in a car that was struck forcibly from the rear. Faulty posture is another factor. Slouching in middle-aged and older persons leads to the typical buffalo or dowager's hump in which the head rides forward to distort the weight-bearing bones of the neck.

The cushion or disk that separates the vertebrae may protrude against the spinal cord or nerves. This condition is not so common in the neck as in the lower spine and leads to discomfort in the neck and shoulders or pain down one or both arms. Numbness and prickling sensations may be present.

A NUMBER OF head halters are used to treat neck disorders. These vary from a thick piece of felt that encircles the collar to a chest device that holds up the chin.

CORTISONE AND DIABETES

D. E. writes: Is there any truth to the statement that taking cortisone leads to diabetes?

REPLY

Not in the strict sense. Cortisone has a temporary effect upon the glandular system, including the pancreas and pituitary gland. As a result, the level of sugar in the blood rises and the excess appears in the urine.

NEURITIS OF EAR NERVE

O. J. writes: What is neuritis of the eighth nerve?

REPLY

The eighth, or acoustic, is the nerve of hearing. The structure may be damaged through injury or infection, particularly when fever exists. Streptomycin and, to a lesser extent, quinine and atropine may have the same effect.

ACID AND ULCERS

L. A. writes: I know that ulcers can form in the stomach from excessive acid. Can this occur also with too little acid?

REPLY

Yes. Excessive acid is the rule when the ulcers are in the duodenum whereas there is no acid when they are located in the stomach.

AGE CLASSIFICATION

Mrs. A. writes: I'm curious. Are you an elderly doctor?

REPLY

No, but sometimes I feel like it.

RETINAL TEAR

H. L. writes: Will surgery on a detached retina restore vision?

REPLY

Yes, provided the tear, or detachment, can be closed.

U.S. Colleges World's Costliest To Attend

By ERWIN KNOLL
Advance News Service

WASHINGTON — The Higher Education Bill signed into law by President Lyndon B. Johnson last week will go far toward easing the college cost burden on low-income students and their families. But it will fall considerably short of solving the problem of high and still rising tuition fees.

For the first time the federal government will provide scholarships for able and exceptionally needy students — a total of $70 million a year to be allocated in individual grants ranging from $200 to $1,000.

For the first time, too, the federal government will insure loans, at reduced interest rates, for college students.

The law also expands existing federal student loan and work-study programs.

These provisions, however, will barely keep pace with projected increases in college costs. Tuition fees and other student charges have been rising steadily in recent years, and will continue to rise as institutions of higher learning try to expand their faculties and facilities to meet burgeoning enrollments.

American college students already pay more for their education than do their counterparts in most other countries. Many foreign universities charge no tuition fees at all, and others provide students with allowances to defray living expenses as well as tuition costs.

A recent survey by the National Assn. of State Universities and Land-Grant Colleges found that underdeveloped nations as well as highly advanced countries provide free or low-cost higher education for all students.

Afghanistan, which sends few students on to college, charges no tuition fees at its one university. Denmark, Norway and Sweden provide higher education at no cost. Only nominal fees are charged in France, Austria, Switzerland and much of Latin America.

College attendance is free in the Soviet Union and the communist nations of Eastern Europe, and some of these pay monthly stipends to their students.

"In sharp contrast to these free tuition and low tuition countries," the association commented, "Median tuition and required fee costs in the United States last year were $818 in private institutions. At state universities and land-grant colleges, tuition and required fees averaged $292 for residents and $639 for out-of-state students."

Canada, where liberal arts college tuitions average close to $500 a year, comes nearest to the United States in college costs. But unlike American institutions, Canadian colleges and universities are looking toward lower fees. Early this year, the government of Newfoundland announced free tuition for first-year university students now already supported by scholarships or other government grants.

"In making this step," said Newfoundland's finance minister, "we are fully aware of the inevitability, before many years, of free tuition for the second and third year students as well." Plans have been announced for eventual payment of "salaries" to students at Newfoundland's Memorial University.

Tuition fees at British universities — including prestigious Oxford and Cambridge — average less than $200 a year. Oxford advises prospective students to be prepared to spend $1,300 a year for all living expenses, books, and fees. Harvard University, by way of contrast, advised students last year to count on a budget of more than $3,350. More than half of that total went to tuition fees.

Elsewhere around the world, the association reported, tuition is free or ranges from $1.38 charged by one large Swiss university to about $200 a year in Israel. Scholarships and subsidies are provided for up to 90 per cent of the students in some countries.

Murder Case Figure Given County Term

Harold Frank Percell, 24, whose statements helped break the murder case of San Rafael bartender Mario Ferrari at Mission Inn last Labor Day, was given a suspended state prison term yesterday on condition that he serve six months in Marin County jail.

The sentence by Judge Samuel W. Gardiner of Marin Superior Court came on Percell's guilty plea of robbing Rudy's Liquor Store, 1835 Fourth Street, San Rafael, on Aug. 30.

A co-defendant in the robbery case, Jack R. Gorman, 36, a San Quentin prisoner, also faces a charge of murdering Ferrari. Named in the joint slaying is Marc Charles Osuna, 30, at San Quentin Prison.

Bret Harte Sewer Hearing Slated

The San Rafael Sanitation District has tentatively set a hearing for 8 p.m. Dec. 2 for residents of Bret Harte Heights, for a new discussion of formation of a sewer assessment district for the area, now serviced by septic tanks.

But Norris M. Rawles, administrator for the district, in a letter to the property owners and residents, said the meeting date assumes a report from the Marin County Health Department will be ready in time.

The department was asked to make a report showing a need for sewers for the property at higher elevations, after owners agreed Oct. 28 that sewers would be needed farther down the slopes.

At any rate, she suffered a broken leg when she got in the way of a moving auto. The two have been recuperating and clumping about together. (AP Wirephoto)

Americans Fear Blindness Second Only To Cancer

By CHARLES SCHAEFFER
Advance News Service

ARLINGTON, Va. — A new Gallup Poll shows that next to cancer Americans fear blindness most.

Yet, an expert charges, medical science is virtually ignoring research into blindness.

"For some unfathomable reason, we prefer to practice the foolish economy of laying out more than $1 billion each year to care for the blind rather than spend a small fraction of that sum to finance research leading to the prevention and cure of blinding diseases," says Dr. Jules C. Stein, board chairman of Research to Prevent Blindness.

He disclosed highlights of a Gallup public opinion survey showing that 62 per cent of persons polled said cancer was "the worst thing that can happen to you."

Blindness was the next most feared affliction, with 18 per cent of those polled naming it so. Heart disease was cited by 9 per cent, while five other disorders were each named by 3 per cent or less.

Dr. Stein told a seminar for science writers that serious visual disorders are the nation's leading cause of disability. But research into cause and prevention of sight-destroying diseases adds up to just about $10 million out of the billions spent for disease research, space exploration or other scientific endeavors.

About 90 million Americans suffer some eye trouble, and it is serious for at least 3.5 million, he said.

"With proper diagnosis and medical attention, it is possible to save many of these people from losing vision," he said. "When you consider that one-tenth of all patients seen at our hospitals are eye patients, the true scope of the problem becomes apparent."

Care, treatment and surgery for those threatened by blindness are merely substitutes for the scientific knowledge that will wipe out blindness at their source, he charged.

Too many people mistakenly believe that most blindness is caused by accidents or injuries, Dr. Stein, a former practicing ophthalmologist said.

"Actually, only 5 per cent of all blindness in the United States is so caused. The overwhelming causative factors are diseases about which science knows almost nothing, and which individual can do nothing to prevent."

The poll disclosed that only 16 per cent of Americans can identify an opthalmologist as a medical doctor, who is the specialist qualified to treat eye problems and give complete examinations including the interior physiology of the eye.

This was in contrast to 73 per cent who could identify a pediatrician and 43 per cent who know what a chiropractor is.

About three of every four families (76 per cent) in the U.S. have one of more members wearing eye glasses, the poll revealed. The proportion was slightly higher among college-educated, professional and business people.

About 75 million Americans now wear glasses and roughly 51 per cent have had some kind of eye examination in the past two years. At some point, about 90 per cent have eye exams.

"It is time we stopped being content to pat curselves on the back for all the good things we do for people after they are blind and start moving vigorous into eye research," he said.

Chairman of Marin Chapter of National Foundation (March of Dimes) is Mrs. Walter F. Johnson.

Economical New Test For Venereal Disease

By CHARLER SCHAEFFER
Advance News Service

ARLINGTON, Va. — An economical new test to unmask dangerous syphilis germs lurking in the body has been developed by government scientists.

In just one hospital doctors have uncovered more than 200 cases in which presumably cured former patients actually still harbored syphilis organisms.

"If this test is widely adopted, it will save patients hundreds of dollars in diagnostic tests and save doctors countless hours," said Dr. J. Lawton Smith, of the University of Miami. Early penicillin therapy of latent disease might also head off syphilis-linked blindess, paralysis and insanity.

After the initial symptoms of a sore or rash, untreated or inadequately treated syphilis sometimes lapses into a latent stage. As long as 20 years after the onset, hiding germs can cause serious eye, bone, brain and heart damage.

Dr. Smith told a science writers seminar sponsored by Research to Prevent Blindness, Inc. The new test is 97 per cent accurate in revealing whether a person has or ever had syphilis.

An older test for the disease is wrong as often as 50 per cent of the time, he said. It falsely indicated that patients had syphilis, and it missed latent cases entirely. This is because the test can flash a syphilis warning, even though the patient really had another disease, such as hepatitis or mononucleosus.

The new test — Fluorescent Treponemal Antibody Absorbed (FTA-ABS) — is solely for syphilis. It takes out the guesswork.

This means that doctors who don't know their patients true disease history will have an almost unmistakably bit of proof.

In difficult cases where brain and eye abnormalities could mean half a dozen other serious ills, the test will quickly establish whether or not its syphilis.

The improved test was developed by Dr. W. E. Deacon, of the Federal Communicable Disease Center at Atlanta, Ga.

Dr. Smith stressed the importance of the refinement because in the face of a strong comeback being staged by venereal disease, there has been a seven-fold increase in five years.

Doctors perform the new test by drawing a sample of blood and mixing it with a special substance which is designed to betray the presence of syphilis antibodies. The antibodies, or microscopic disease fighters, will be present in anyone who has or had syphilis.

Earlier syphilis tests also located antibodies. But they weren't able to unscramble them from antibodies created by the reaction to other diseases or even to friendly germs. The result was many false readings for syphilis.

The syphilis germ is a corkscrew spirochete called Treponema Pallidum. But there is the harmless first cousin Treponema in the body that muddy up the tests.

Researchehs hit upon the idea of brewing a test substance from the first cousin germs and bombarding them with high frequency sound. The ultra sound breaks up the first cousins and frees "antigens," or chemicals able to hook up with antibodies.

These antigens are squirted into the patients blood samples in the test tubes. They quickly soak up or absorb the cousins, leaving the true syphilis antibody — if it is there — intact.

Next, the doctor adds a drop of fluorescent dye to the blood samples. If it lights up the remaining antibodies, there is a 97 per cent chance the patient has or had syphilis.

The test was run on 1,000 blood specimens from patients seen at Jackson Memorial Hospital, Miami, over the past two years. Latent syphilis was found in 200 whose tests with one of the earlier detection procedures were negative. Dr. Smith said he had no national figure but if the Florida sample is representative there are many thousands of undetected cases of latent syhpilis throughout the United States.

CORTISONE AND DIABETES

D. E. writes: Is there any truth to the statement that taking cortisone leads to diabetes?

REPLY

Not in the strict sense. Cortisone has a temporary effect upon the glandular system, including the pancreas and pituitary gland. As a result, the level of sugar in the blood rises and the excess appears in the urine.

NEURITIS OF EAR NERVE

O. J. writes: What is neuritis of the eighth nerve?

REPLY

The eighth, or acoustic, is the nerve of hearing. The structure may be damaged through injury or infection, particularly when fever exists. Streptomycin and, to a lesser extent, quinine and atropine may have the same effect.

ACID AND ULCERS

L. A. writes: I know that ulcers can form in the stomach from excessive acid. Can this occur also with too little acid?

REPLY

Yes. Excessive acid is the rule when the ulcers are in the duodenum whereas there is no acid when they are located in the stomach.

AGE CLASSIFICATION

Mrs. A. writes: I'm curious. Are you an elderly doctor?

REPLY

No, but sometimes I feel like it.

RETINAL TEAR

H. L. writes: Will surgery on a detached retina restore vision?

REPLY

Yes, provided the tear, or detachment, can be closed.

U.S. Colleges World's Costliest To Attend

By ERWIN KNOLL
Advance News Service

WASHINGTON — The Higher Education Bill signed into law by President Lyndon B. Johnson last week will go far toward easing the college cost burden on low-income students and their families. But it will fall considerably short of solving the problem of high and still rising tuition fees.

For the first time the federal government will provide scholarships for able and exceptionally needy students — a total of $70 million a year to be allocated in individual grants ranging from $200 to $1,000.

For the first time, too, the federal government will insure loans, at reduced interest rates, for college students.

The law also expands existing federal student loan and work-study programs.

These provisions, however, will barely keep pace with projected increases in college costs. Tuition fees and other student charges have been rising steadily in recent years, and will continue to rise as institutions of higher learning try to expand their faculties and facilities to meet burgeoning enrollments.

American college students already pay more for their education than do their counterparts in most other countries. Many foreign universities charge no tuition fees at all, and others provide students with allowances to defray living expenses as well as tuition costs.

A recent survey by the National Assn. of State Universities and Land-Grant Colleges found that underdeveloped nations as well as highly advanced countries provide free or low-cost higher education for all students.

Afghanistan, which sends few students on to college, charges no tuition fees at its one university. Denmark, Norway and Sweden provide higher education at no cost. Only nominal fees are charged in France, Austria, Switzerland and much of Latin America. College attendance is free in the Soviet Union and the communist nations of Eastern Europe, and some of these pay monthly stipends to their students.

"In sharp contrast to these free tuition and low tuition countries," the association commented, "Median tuition and required fee costs in the United States last year were $818 in private institutions. At state universities and land-grant colleges, tuition and required fees averaged $292 for residents and $639 for out-of-state students."

Canada, where liberal arts college tuitions average close to $500 a year, comes nearest to the United States in college costs. But unlike American institutions, Canadian colleges and universities are looking toward lower fees. Early this year, the government of Newfoundland announced free tuition for first-year university students now already supported by scholarships or other government grants.

"In making this step," said Newfoundland's finance minister, "we are fully aware of the inevitability, before many years, of free tuition for the second and third year students as well." Plans have been announced for eventual payment of "salaries" to students at Newfoundland's Memorial University.

Tuition fees at British universities — including prestigious Oxford and Cambridge — average less than $200 a year. Oxford advises prospective students to be prepared to spend $1,300 a year for all living expenses, books, and fees. Harvard University, by way of contrast, advised students last year to count on a budget of more than $3,350. More than half of that total went to tuition fees.

Elsewhere around the world, the association reported, tuition is free or ranges from $1.38 charged by one large Swiss university to about $200 a year in Israel. Scholarships and subsidies are provided for up to 90 per cent of the students in some countries.

TELEVISION REVIEW

How Did You Score On Telly Last Night?

By RICK DU BROW

HOLLYWOOD (UPI)—CBS-TV last night presented a stimulating audience-involvement hour, "The National Citizenship Test," in which home viewers were asked 42 basic questions about their "rights, obligations and responsibilities."

The program was a followup to the same network's "National Drivers' Test" of May 24, which drew a very large rating for a public affairs broadcast, and revived in major form—and with a relatively new style—television's attempt to reach the viewer more directly. Both CBS-TV and NBC-TV will present other audience-involvement "tests" throughout the remaining video season, according to announced plans.

Viewers were able to take the test last night either with the aid of examination forms distributed in newspapers, or without them. Various production techniques—among them, newsreel clips and fictional vignettes filmed specifically for the program's use—illustrated the questions grouped under such headings as "You and the Law," "You and Your Government" and "You and Your Obligations." Most of the questions were of the true-or-false and yes-or-no variety. And, best of all, many were as timely as today's newspaper.

Home viewer participants could compare their answers, as the program went along, with the results of a national test sample. In addition, other groups who participated included congressmen and their wives in Washington; political party workers in Congress Hall, Philadelphia, and high school students in St. Louis' old Courthouse.

The questions touched on such matters as how many years a senator is elected for, whether the President is head of the legislative branch, the names of the two senators in one's own state (41 per cent of the national test sample couldn't name either), search warrants, double jeopardy, the right to bear arms, the Fifth Amendment, prayer in schoolrooms, citizens' arrests and the rights of dissenters to attack our Viet Nam policy, talk about the overthrow of the government and denounce organized religion.

There were also several "opinion" questions which did not count in one's test score. The first such query asked whether participants felt the Fifth Amendment whould be changed to compel testimony against oneself. Two-thirds of the national test sample said no—don't change things. Eight of 10 congressmen taking the test also said to leave things alone. Another opinion question concerned the method of nominating a president. Most of the national sample advocated state or national primaries, but the congressmen like the present setup.

The 40 remaining questions were tallied at five points each—or none if you got them wrong. The national sample answered 63 per cent of the questions correctly, not a very good score. The congressmen and their wives came in at 85 per cent. As for your slave, I finished higher than the congressmen—I would have been ashamed to do anything else. The only question I got wrong concerned census takers—I thought I could refuse to give them information if I wanted to, and the notion still appeals to me.

College Morals Worry Graham

HOUSTON, Tex. (AP)—Evangelist Billy Graham, says immorality is increasing on college campuses and the new campus code may be tomorrow's national standard of morality.

Speaking before a crowd of almost 40,000 in the domed stadium at Houston last night, he also said:

"A growing number of college students do not consider premarital sexual relations immoral. On the contrary, they view it, not only as a natural expression of affection, but as a valuable experience in personal growth."

Four Vandalism Cases Reported

Four cases of vandalism were reported yesterday in the vicinity of the 2200 block of Vineyard Road, Novato.

Ken Akers, 2261 Vineyard Road, told deputies a mail box was removed from its post and thrown among weeds, and plants in front of his home were uprooted.

Charles H. Tracy, 2281 Vineyard Road, reported a section of his front yard fence was pried off. An aerial from his vehicle also was broken, he said.

Vincent Caramagno, 2195 Vineyard Road, told officers three plants from in front of his house were uprooted.

Dorothy Ounbey, 2120 Mill Road, reported a front yard lamp post was bent and a section taken from the front fence.

School Office Aide Charged With Felony

An information charging Mrs. Frances May Borreson, 48, with fraudulent appropriation of funds from Fairfax School District for her own use was filed yesterday in Marin Superior Court.

Judge Samuel W. Gardiner scheduled Nov. 30 for plea entry. Mrs. Borreson, of 44-B Ash Avenue, San Anselmo, allegedly misappropriated about $7,500 since November, 1962, by falsifying her own overtime records as secretary of the school district.

Novato Collision Injures Drivers, Two Youngsters

Four persons were injured in a two-car accident at Grant Avenue and First Street in Novato about 11:35 a.m. Monday.

John Paul Hamman, 35, of 60 Hillswood Drive, Novato, was in fair condition today at Novato Hospital with a fractured pelvis.

Mrs. Doris Ethel Chadwick, 32, of Petaluma, was cut on the lip. Her son, Brent, 2, was bruised on the hip and her daughter, Kellyl Lee, 5, bruised on the chest. They were treated by their own doctor.

Novato police said Hamman was driving his 1956 Volkswagen panel truck east on Grant Avenue when he turned left onto First Street in front of a westbounud 1960 Ford driven by Mrs. Chadwick.

Hamman was thrown out of the truck, which overturned on him. Spectators righted the truck before police arrived.

Because of its speed, the squid has been nicknamed the "sea arrow."

County Seeks New Surplus Land Bids

Marin County supervisors yesterday accepted one of two bids received on surplus property in Tamalpais Valley not needed after completion of the Coyote Creek drainage ditch.

Six parcels were offered for sale, with only two of them being buildable lots.

Mr. and Mrs. Edward J. Jefferson of 241 Cardinal Road offered $501 for a thin sliver of land next to their home. This was the only bid accepted.

Real estate man Roland Carrier offered $7,100.04 for a 50-by-100 foot lot on Maple Street, zoned for multiple use. The Independent-Journal Monday incorrectly reported this lot too small for use, but the multiple zoning would allow it to be used.

Carrier also offered $3,160.02 on all remaining parcels. This was rejected because bids were to be on individual lots. The $7,100.04 bid was rejected because the appraisal set the minimum price at $10,000.

Deputy County Counsel Richard V. Godino said the property will probably be rebid with the hope of getting more interest in the property.

Tree Surgeon Sentenced On Robbery Role

Albert Leroy Beall, San Rafael tree surgeon who drove the get-away car from an armed robbery in Mill Valley May 16, was sentenced to 60 days in Marin County Jail and two years probation yesterday.

Beall, 30, operator of the Beall Tree Service at 914 Irwin Street, pleaded guilty in Marin Superior Court to a charge of armed robbery for helping his employee, San Quentin escapee Frank Flint Rogers, 36, in a $1,400 holdup of the Mill Valley Purity Store.

Rogers, an escapee from the prison conservation camp at Weott, Humboldt County, earlier was sentenced to five years to life, to run concurrently with four similar sentences he was serving before he escaped.

It was Beall who tipped off police where they might find Rogers.

S.P. Attitude On Passengers Hit

SAN FRANCISCO (AP) — A travel agent has charged that Southern Pacific Railway has "gone out of its way to discourage passenger service" on the San Francisco Peninsula.

Arthur L. Lloyd, assistant manager of Clift Travel Service in San Francisco, testified yesterday at the end of a three-day hearing on S.P.'s proposal to raise its peninsula commuter rates 31 to 97 per cent.

The Interstate Commerce Commission hearing will resume Jan. 10.

Lloyd said the request for higher fares is "just another nail in the coffin of commuter service and passenger service in general."

Thanksgiving Affects Recreation Schedules

Supervised recreation activities will be curtailed in most of Marin County during the four-day Thanksgiving school holiday. In a few areas, however, there will be extra activities Friday.

School playgrounds in San Rafael will be open during the long weekend, but there will be no supervision. There will be supervisors and play equipment at the city's Albert and Victor Jones parks from noon to 4 p.m. tomorrow and 10 a.m. to 5 p.m. Friday.

Novato's school playgrounds will be closed tomorrow but open at the Marion, Olive, Rancho, Lu Sutton and Lynwood schools from 1 to 4:30 p.m. Friday, according to the Novato Recreation Department. Flag football games will be played as scheduled Saturday.

In Fairfax, the Pavilion will be open for indoor supervised recreation 2 to 4 p.m. Friday and Saturday, after being closed for Thanksgiving.

San Anselmo recreation supervision will stop both tomorrow and Friday, but be back on regular schedule Saturday.

For the lower Ross Valley, Eastman Hall, operated by the Larkspur Recreation Department, will be open from 10 a.m. to noon and 1 to 4 p.m. Friday and Saturday, but closed tomorrow. Flag football has been canceled by wet fields.

Mill Valley's formal recreation activities will be shut down during daytime for the entire four day weekend.

Terra Linda and Marinwood recreation activities will be on the regular schedule Friday and Saturday, but closed tomorrow.

A Fifth Of East Bay Commuters Use Bus System

SAN FRANCISCO (UPI)—A newly released report on Bay Area public transportation shows that one out of five daily commuters from the East Bay to San Francisco ride buses instead of driving their cars to work.

A total of 23,600 commuters cross the bay to work in San Francisco each day, the report, financed by a federal grant, said.

B. R. Stokes, general manager of the Bay Area Rapid Transit District, said the report "augurs well for our future operation."

Purpose of the study, called the Northern California Transit Demonstration Project, is to make recommendations on coordination of all San Francisco-Alameda County-Contra Costa County public transportation systems, including BARTD.

Petaluma Police Get Fairfax Man

Robert Lee Edney, 22, of 21 Park Road, Fairfax, has been turned over to Petaluma police by Marin County sheriff's officers following his Friday arrest on a citizen's complaint.

He allegedly invaded the Petaluma home of Mrs. James Field, 20, threatened her and slightly injured one of her children. Edney pleaded guilty Nov. 12 in Marin Municipal court to battery on a Santa Clara motorist, George C. Jennings. Judgment on that count is set for Dec. 2.

TELEVISION REVIEW

How Did You Score On Telly Last Night?

By RICK DU BROW

HOLLYWOOD (UPI)—CBS-TV last night presented a stimulating audience-involvement hour, "The National Citizenship Test," in which home viewers were asked 42 basic questions about their "rights, obligations and responsibilities."

The program was a followup to the same network's "National Drivers' Test" of May 24, which drew a very large rating for a public affairs broadcast, and revived in major form—and with a relatively new style—television's attempt to reach the viewer more directly. Both CBS-TV and NBC-TV will present other audience-involvement "tests" throughout the remaining video season, according to announced plans.

Viewers were able to take the test last night either with the aid of examination forms distributed in newspapers, or without them. Various production techniques—among them, newsreel clips and fictional vignettes filmed specifically for the program's use—illustrated the questions grouped under such headings as "You and the Law," "You and Your Government" and "You and Your Obligations." Most of the questions were of the true-or-false and yes-or-no variety. And, best of all, many were as timely as today's newspaper.

Home viewer participants could compare their answers, as the program went along, with the results of a national test sample. In addition, other groups who participated included congressmen and their wives in Washington; political party workers in Congress Hall, Philadelphia, and high school students in St. Louis' old Courthouse.

The questions touched on such matters as how many years a senator is elected for, whether the President is head of the legislative branch, the names of the two senators in one's own state (41 per cent of the national test sample couldn't name either), search warrants, double jeopardy, the right to bear arms, the Fifth Amendment, prayer in schoolrooms, citizens' arrests and the rights of dissenters to attack our Viet Nam policy, talk about the overthrow of the government and denounce organized religion.

There were also several "opinion" questions which did not count in one's test score. The first such query asked whether participants felt the Fifth Amendment whould be changed to compel testimony against oneself. Two-thirds of the national test sample said no—don't change things. Eight of 10 congressmen taking the test also said to leave things alone. Another opinion question concerned the method of nominating a president. Most of the national sample advocated state or national primaries, but the congressmen like the present setup.

The 40 remaining questions were tallied at five points each—or none if you got them wrong. The national sample answered 63 per cent of the questions correctly, not a very good score. The congressmen and their wives came in at 85 per cent. As for your slave, I finished higher than the congressmen—I would have been ashamed to do anything else. The only question I got wrong concerned census takers—I thought I could refuse to give them information if I wanted to, and the notion still appeals to me.

College Morals Worry Graham

HOUSTON, Tex. (AP)—Evangelist Billy Graham, says immorality is increasing on college campuses and the new campus code may be tomorrow's national standard of morality.

Speaking before a crowd of almost 40,000 in the domed stadium at Houston last night, he also said:

"A growing number of college students do not consider premarital sexual relations immoral. On the contrary, they view it, not only as a natural expression of affection, but as a valuable experience in personal growth."

Four Vandalism Cases Reported

Four cases of vandalism were reported yesterday in the vicinity of the 2200 block of Vineyard Road, Novato.

Ken Akers, 2261 Vineyard Road, told deputies a mail box was removed from its post and thrown among weeds, and plants in front of his home were uprooted.

Charles H. Tracy, 2281 Vineyard Road, reported a section of his front yard fence was pried off. An aerial from his vehicle also was broken, he said.

Vincent Caramagno, 2195 Vineyard Road, told officers three plants from in front of his house were uprooted.

Dorothy Ounbey, 2120 Mill Road, reported a front yard lamp post was bent and a section taken from the front fence.

School Office Aide Charged With Felony

An information charging Mrs. Frances May Borreson, 48, with fraudulent appropriation of funds from Fairfax School District for her own use was filed yesterday in Marin Superior Court.

Judge Samuel W. Gardiner scheduled Nov. 30 for plea entry. Mrs. Borreson, of 44-B Ash Avenue, San Anselmo, allegedly misappropriated about $7,500 since November, 1962, by falsifying her own overtime records as secretary of the school district.

Novato Collision Injures Drivers, Two Youngsters

Four persons were injured in a two-car accident at Grant Avenue and First Street in Novato about 11:35 a.m. Monday.

John Paul Hamman, 35, of 60 Hillswood Drive, Novato, was in fair condition today at Novato Hospital with a fractured pelvis.

Mrs. Doris Ethel Chadwick, 32, of Petaluma, was cut on the lip. Her son, Brent, 2, was bruised on the hip and her daughter, Kellyl Lee, 5, bruised on the chest. They were treated by their own doctor.

Novato police said Hamman was driving his 1956 Volkswagen panel truck east on Grant Avenue when he turned left onto First Street in front of a westbounud 1960 Ford driven by Mrs. Chadwick.

Hamman was thrown out of the truck, which overturned on him. Spectators righted the truck before police arrived.

Because of its speed, the squid has been nicknamed the "sea arrow."

County Seeks New Surplus Land Bids

Marin County supervisors yesterday accepted one of two bids received on surplus property in Tamalpais Valley not needed after completion of the Coyote Creek drainage ditch.

Six parcels were offered for sale, with only two of them being buildable lots.

Mr. and Mrs. Edward J. Jefferson of 241 Cardinal Road offered $501 for a thin sliver of land next to their home. This was the only bid accepted.

Real estate man Roland Carrier offered $7,100.04 for a 50-by-100 foot lot on Maple Street, zoned for multiple use. The Independent-Journal Monday incorrectly reported this lot too small for use, but the multiple zoning would allow it to be used.

Carrier also offered $3,160.02 on all remaining parcels. This was rejected because bids were to be on individual lots. The $7,100.04 bid was rejected because the appraisal set the minimum price at $10,000.

Deputy County Counsel Richard V. Godino said the property will probably be rebid with the hope of getting more interest in the property.

Tree Surgeon Sentenced On Robbery Role

Albert Leroy Beall, San Rafael tree surgeon who drove the get-away car from an armed robbery in Mill Valley May 16, was sentenced to 60 days in Marin County Jail and two years probation yesterday.

Beall, 30, operator of the Beall Tree Service at 914 Irwin Street, pleaded guilty in Marin Superior Court to a charge of armed robbery for helping his employee, San Quentin escapee Frank Flint Rogers, 36, in a $1,400 holdup of the Mill Valley Purity Store.

Rogers, an escapee from the prison conservation camp at Weott, Humboldt County, earlier was sentenced to five years to life, to run concurrently with four similar sentences he was serving before he escaped.

It was Beall who tipped off police where they might find Rogers.

S.P. Attitude On Passengers Hit

SAN FRANCISCO (AP) — A travel agent has charged that Southern Pacific Railway has "gone out of its way to discourage passenger service" on the San Francisco Peninsula.

Arthur L. Lloyd, assistant manager of Clift Travel Service in San Francisco, testified yesterday at the end of a three-day hearing on S.P.'s proposal to raise its peninsula commuter rates 31 to 97 per cent.

The Interstate Commerce Commission hearing will resume Jan. 10.

Lloyd said the request for higher fares is "just another nail in the coffin of commuter service and passenger service in general."

Tree frogs or tree toads have sticky pads on the tips of their digits, enabling them to cling to smooth surfaces.

Thanksgiving Affects Recreation Schedules

Supervised recreation activities will be curtailed in most of Marin County during the four-day Thanksgiving school holiday. In a few areas, however, there will be extra activities Friday.

School playgrounds in San Rafael will be open during the long weekend, but there will be no supervision. There will be supervisors and play equipment at the city's Albert and Victor Jones parks from noon to 4 p.m. tomorrow and 10 a.m. to 5 p.m. Friday.

Novato's school playgrounds will be closed tomorrow but open at the Marion, Olive, Rancho, Lu Sutton and Lynwood schools from 1 to 4:30 p.m. Friday, according to the Novato Recreation Department. Flag football games will be played as scheduled Saturday.

In Fairfax, the Pavilion will be open for indoor supervised recreation 2 to 4 p.m. Friday and Saturday, after being closed for Thanksgiving.

San Anselmo recreation supervision will stop both tomorrow and Friday, but be back on regular schedule Saturday.

For the lower Ross Valley, Eastman Hall, operated by the Larkspur Recreation Department, will be open from 10 a.m. to noon and 1 to 4 p.m. Friday and Saturday, but closed tomorrow. Flag football has been canceled by wet fields.

Mill Valley's formal recreation activities will be shut down during daytime for the entire four day weekend.

Terra Linda and Marinwood recreation activities will be on the regular schedule Friday and Saturday, but closed tomorrow.

A Fifth Of East Bay Commuters Use Bus System

SAN FRANCISCO (UPI)—A newly released report on Bay Area public transportation shows that one out of five daily commuters from the East Bay to San Francisco ride buses instead of driving their cars to work.

A total of 23,600 commuters cross the bay to work in San Francisco each day, the report, financed by a federal grant, said.

B. R. Stokes, general manager of the Bay Area Rapid Transit District, said the report "augurs well for our future operation."

Purpose of the study, called the Northern California Transit Demonstration Project, is to make recommendations on coordination of all San Francisco-Alameda County-Contra Costa County public transportation systems, including BARTD.

Five students of San Rafael Military Academy have been selected for membership in the National Honor Society on the basis of their fall grades, dean of instruction Lawrence W. Robertson announced today.

Four of the five are from Marin County: Dennis Cooke of Kentfield, Richard P. Hackett and Rick Hillrigel of San Rafael, and Mark Proctor of Larkspur.

Petaluma Police Get Fairfax Man

Robert Lee Edney, 22, of 21 Park Road, Fairfax, has been turned over to Petaluma police by Marin County sheriff's officers following his Friday arrest on a citizen's complaint.

He allegedly invaded the Petaluma home of Mrs. James Field, 20, threatened her and slightly injured one of her children. Edney pleaded guilty Nov. 12 in Marin Municipal court to battery on a Santa Clara motorist, George C. Jennings. Judgment on that count is set for Dec. 2.

Corte Madera Fill Proposal Brings Outcry

Refuse Collectors Detail Need Of New Dumping Area

Greenbrae Boardwalk residents and conservationists raised outcry at a three-hour county board of supervisors' hearing last night against filling 97 acres of Corte Madera tidelands for a county dump.

Most of the protest came from residents of the boardwalk, east of which the dump is proposed: but the State Department of Fish and Game and the Marin Conservation League questioned the filling of tidelands.

The county would use the land for a dump for about 10 years. Then the property would become a park operated by the Town of Corte Madera. The town proposes an 18-hole golf course on the filled acreage.

THREE WEEKS

Supervisors agreed at the end of the hearing to continue the matter for three weeks, with hope of getting additional information. One thing the board wanted to know was whether the site could be moved south within an area already diked.

Another issue raised was that of charges for dumping at private dumps.

Attorney E. Warren McGuire, representing operators of the San Quentin dump, testified that the private dump charges the same rates as those posted on the county dump at Larkspur, now filled to capacity and closed.

RATES DOUBLE

Refuse collectors and tree trimmers, however, testified to the contrary, saying rates at the San Quentin dump doubled since the Larkspur dump was closed.

McGuire argued that a rate dispute did not justify the county's entry into the dump business. Supervisor Byron W. Levdecker agreed, saying he could not see government entering a competitive field and cutting prices.

Publicist Price Hall, representing 64 refuse collectors, tree trimmers and other frequent dump users, urged the dump at Corte Madera, saying it was a logical location. His clients would agree to a 25 per cent increase in rates.

There were five letters opposed to the dump, plus a petition signed by 26 persons. There were eight letters favoring the project, including letters from the Town of Corte Madera and the Corte Madera Chamber of Commerce.

Mrs. Emma Gilman of Larkspur urged that supervisors postpone action to allow the Ma-

Lightning, Hail Seen In Marin

You name it: thunder, lightning, rain, hail and sunshine. Marin County had it today all in a single package.

A freak five-minute hailstorm sent shoppers scurrying for shelter in Tiburon and Mill Valley about 9:30 a.m. Some hail bounced off San Rafael streets, too.

At Novato, there was lightning, thunder, rain and sunshine all at the same time. Overnight storm damage was reported from other parts.

"It just can't last," said forecaster L. B. Rasey of the U.S. Weather Bureau in San Francisco. "The weather will begin to improve tomorrow."

GRAY HOLIDAY

Gray skies are the outlook for Thanksgiving Day but an easing off of the rain is expected.

Skiers were warned to be prepared for blowing snow and bad visibility in the Siskiyous and Sierra.

Small craft warnings are expected to remain in operation along the coast as far south as Santa Barbara.

Heavy overnight rain and blustery winds gave Marin County a soggy, unkept look by dawn today.

A total of a little over .12 of an inch of rain fell on San Rafael in the 24 hours to noon today.

HEAVY IN LARKSPUR

The Chevy Chase area of Larkspur reported 1.25 inches. Other rainfall figures included: Ross 1.21; Manor Hill (Fairfax) 1.1; San Anselmo, one inch; Mill Valley .88; Tamalpais Valley .80; Novato .80; Sausalito .72; and Terra Linda .70.

Trees across power lines cut off electricity to about 180 county residents for a few hours during the night, and a rock slide blocked the westbound lane of the Point Reyes-Petaluma road at Nicasio Dam for a time.

Granton Park in Kentfield was flooded briefly this morning.

Ross J. Benson, Milly Valley public works director, reported an old poplar tree fell across Cascade Avenue near Monte Vista Avenue at 2 a.m. today, blocking the street until crews could clear it away. The tree broke two power lines and put 35 customers in the area out of electricity from 2 a.m. to 6:59 a.m., according to Leonard O. Robertson, Pacific Gas and Electric Co. electrical superintendent.

PASSAGE OPEN

Another tree fell in Mill Valley at King Street and Eldridge Avenue during the night but auto passage was open.

Robertson reported that a tree fell through a power line in the canyon near Palo Marin Ranch above the Radio Corp. of America site at Bolinas at 11:55 p.m. yesterday, knocking out about 150 customers until 1:31 a.m. today. These customers were in the area west of Woodacre including Forest Knolls, San Geronimo and Lagunitas.

HYDROFOIL

Marin Commuter To Have 'Ferry'

A new ferry will go into operation between Marin and San Francisco early next year—but it won't look much like those commuters used to ride in the years before the Golden Gate Bridge put them all in cars and buses. (See photo on page 4).

A San Francisco company headed by John Fell Stevenson, son of the late ambassador to the United Nations, today announced it will put a hydrofoil in ferry service between Marin and San Francisco soon after Jan. 1.

Details of the route were to be announced at an evening press conference in San Francisco.

Meanwhile, the drive to "bring back the ferries" picked up knots on both sides of the Golden Gate.

The Sausalito City Council last night told City Atty. Leland H. Jordan to draw up a resolution to be sent to a San Francisco Board of Supervisors Committee, urging re-establishment of Sausalito-San Francisco ferry service.

Councilman Mel Wax said the San Francisco committee would study high-speed ferries such as those which shuttle between Hong Kong and Kowloon and between Staten and Manhattan Islands. He said there might be a federal subsidy for such a service. And he suggested the Sausalito terminal be in Marinship.

The San Francisco Board of Supervisors ordered a committee study after Supervisor Peter Tamaras introduced a resolution urging study of ferries by the state, the Bay Area Transportation Study Commission, and the Golden Gate Bridge and Highway District.

Bridge district directors yesterday agreed to such a study, which was urged also by the Marin County Board of Supervisors.

A permit for hydrofoil service on the bay has been issued to Henry E. Carter of Management Capital Marketing Corp. When asking the permit, he said it is planned eventually to run hydrofoils to many points around the bay, from Vallejo to Palo Alto, on a regular basis.

Today's announcement was the first disclosure that the Marin-San Francisco service would be instituted first.

Cars Lost In Desert Gulches

LOS ANGELES (AP)— The third storm in 12 days swept into soggy Southern California today, bringing new flash floods to areas where at least 13 are feared dead.

Heavy rain hit mountain and foothill areas north of Los Angeles during the night, causing fresh gushes through canyons, then sloshed across the Los Angeles basin during the morning.

A third of an inch of rain fell in downtown Los Angeles in an hour, pushing the season total to 11 inches. Normal for the season since July 1 to date is 1.45 inches.

Rain was forecast to continue at least through Monday.

SIERRA SNOW

In northern California, a storm approaching blizzard proportions whipped into the Sierra. Wind and snow reduced visibility to 100 yards on 7,135-foot Donner Summit.

Snow fell in Reno and other parts of western Nevada.

Heavy precipitation for several weeks brought the level of Lake Tahoe to 6,228.30 feet, highest since a record 6,228.44 in 1907.

DESERT DEATHS

The desert resort of Palm Springs, a winter mecca for smog-tired Los Angeles residents, was virtually isolated and cut in half by a flood that rushed down from the San Jacinto Mountains.

Witnesses said three persons were carried away in their cars and a man wading out to help was swept away in the torrent. Only one body was found; the others presumably drowned, authorities said.

Floods hit other areas in San Bernardino County between Los Angeles and San Bernardino, 60 miles east.

At rocky Cucamonga Wash, a roaring flash flood caught a dozen cars and swept them half a block, tumbling over and over, some with their lights still burning.

South of the Mexican border five persons were killed—four of them children—by floods and mudslides. Authorities said about 150 families were evacu-

Three Of Eight Stabbed Guards Die In Illinois Prison Rioting

CHESTER, Ill. (AP) — Extra guards patrolled Menard State Penitentiary today as authorities investigated a brief but savage riot yesterday in which eight guards were stabbed, three of them fatally.

Officials said excuses given by inmates do not justify the outbreak, and that the conspirators apparently were more interested in publicity.

Five guards who were stabbed, and a sixth who was burned by a bottle of flaming fluid, were reported today in fair to satisfactory conditions.

"Things are back to normal," the prison's warden said. "We have extra guards only as a precaution. This thing was caused by four men with unstable minds and was completely unnecessary."

Illinois Public Safety Director Ross Randolph, a former Menard warden who went to the prison to talk convicts into releasing three guard hostages and surrendering, started an investigation into the cause of the riot.

He said four "madmen" convicts had instigated the uprising, making knives out of steel bars and throwing a fire bomb into a guard cage in the dining hall at dinner. They said they wanted better food, more radios and more recreation.

The four convicts were talked into submission by Randolph and Menard Warden Max Frye as 300 guards and state troopers surrounded the prison kitchen in which the rioters had barricaded themselves with three guard hostages.

The ringleaders permitted a doctor to give one guard, Tom Gross, 52, of Chester, Ill., a blood transfusion through prison bars. Then they released Gross when his condition became obviously serious. Gross had been stabbed.

Randolph said county authorities would decide what charges to file against the rioters.

The other two hostages, Guards Albert W. Rohlfing, 59, both of Sparta, Ill., were released unharmed when the four men surrendered. The convicts held a knife at Rohlfing's throat while they talked to Randolph through a barred door.

Guards fatally stabbed in the riot were Lt. Lewis M. Paul, 36, of Murphysboro, Ill.; Arthur L. Kisro, 45, of Chester; and George L. Wilson, 62, of West Frankfort.

Stabbed seriously were guards John Russell, 58, of Grand Tower, Ill., and Clinton Alsup, 59, of De Soto, Ill. Less seriously stabbed were Guards Paul W. Simpson, 50, of Chester, and Melvin K. Staton, 27, of Herrin. All were in a Chester hospital.

Guard Wilbur A. Mortiz, 56, of Jacob, Ill., was seriously burned when the fire bomb was thrown into the cage where he sat with a shotgun, watching convicts eat dinner. Then half a dozen convicts began scuffling, guards rushed to break it up, and the convicts brought out their homemade knives.

The four prisoners described

U.S. Has Costliest Week Of War In Dead, Wounded

COMBINED AP & UPI

SAIGON — Communist troops killed 240 American servicemen and wounded 470 others last week, a U.S. military spokesman announced today. This costliest week of the war brought U.S. losses since 1961 to 1,335 dead and 6,131 wounded. Another six Americans were missing.

The figures included all services — Army, Air Force and Navy—but most of the casualties were suffered by the 1st Cavalry Division which won an "unprecedented victory" in killing more than 2,260 North Vietnamese regulars in a week-long battle on the slopes of Chu Pong Mountain rising above the Ia Drang Valley.

The toll of dead was almost three times larger than any other week of the war. The Army announced last Wednesday that 86 Americans died the previous week—a record. That figure was increased today to 88 and observers believed last week's total also would rise.

Gen. William C. Westmoreland, commander of U.S. forces in South Viet Nam, warned the American people that, despite tactical successes in recent months, the conflict will be long and "we must be prepared to accept this."

Westmoreland said in an interview with the Mutual Broadcasting System that bombing has disrupted North Viet Nam's communications and had an im-

Ruler Of Kuwait Dies At Age 70

DAMASCUS, Syria (AP) — Kuwait's ruler, Sheikh Abdullah As-Salim As Sabah, 70, died today, Kuwait radio announced.

Death followed a heart attack suffered late last month, the announcement said.

Crown Prince Sheikh Sabah El Salem El-Sabah, a younger brother, was proclaimed ruler of the oil sheikhdom by the Council of Ministers, it said.

The crown prince has been premier of Kuwait, whose oil wealth makes it the richest country per capita in the world.

Coed Who Set Self Afire Dies Of Burns

WEST CHESTER, Pa. (AP)— Patricia Ann Conway, the 22-year-old West Chester State College coed who set herself afire on the campus yesterday after pouring gasoline over her clothing, died today.

Miss Conway, a junior majoring in elementary education, had suffered second and third degree burns on the upper part of her body. (See also story, page 2)

TOMORROW IS HOLIDAY FOR MARIN

Virtually all governmental and commerical activities in Marin County will pause for Thanksgiving Day tomorrow. Only essential services, such as police, firemen and nurses, will be on duty.

Banks, stores, and city and county government agencies will be back in business on Friday, although schools will remain closed. The county schools office will operate with a skeleton crew, since county employees there worked Columbus Day, when other county workers had a day off.

Parking meters will not be enforced in San Rafael and Mill Valley tomorrow, but will be in Sausalito, where they are used every day of the year.

The Independent-Journal will publish as usual, with a special Christmas gift section.

Mrs. Johnson Capital On TV

WASHINGTON (UPI) —Mrs. Lyndon B. Johnson, following in the footsteps of her predecessor, Mrs. John F. Kennedy, makes her debut as a television star tomorrow on a special hour-long color program.

Mrs. Kennedy's program was a guided tour of the redecorated White House; Mrs. Johnson's will be a tour of the nation's capital "on behalf of a more beautiful America."

The First Lady's Thanksgiving Day program, filmed this summer, will be shown by the American Broadcasting Co. tomorrow night

Controversial Class Topics Rule Argued

The San Rafael Board of Education found itself involved in 45 minutes of heated debate over academic freedom last night after board member Anita C. Strom proposed that "certain guidelines" be added to the school's policy on teaching controversial subjects.

Present were about 70 teachers, many of whom hotly objected to any policy which might tend to limit their freedom in dealing with such topics.

The matter was on the agenda "for review," and board members were given copies of the present policy as well as sections of the state Education Code on which it is based.

Board policy now is briefly stated. Under the heading "Teaching Controversial Subjects," it reads:

"Teachers of the district shall feel free to teach controversial topics related to their subjects of instruction. They shall establish a classroom atmosphere whereby students may search for ideas and judge their implications."

Related sections of the policy and administrative regulations spell out how outside materials or members of the community may be brought into the classroom to aid in teaching about controversial issues.

Looking over the basic policy, Mrs. Strom commented: "I feel the need here for certain guidelines. We have guidelines spelled out here in the section on resource personnel, and I think it would be helpful to have them in the other policy too."

Other board members express-

San Anselmo Tops 13,000

San Anselmo has passed the 13,000 population mark.

City Administrator Douglas J. Flautt told city councilmen last night that a special census estimate by the State Department of Finance shows a population of 13,150, an increase of 850 since the last such estimate two years ago.

Flautt told the council the increase will net the city about $10,000 more per year in state subventions and in-lieu taxes.

Told that the city paid $250 to have the census taken, Councilman Arthur W. Smith commented, "that's a pretty good profit!"

WIRE NEWS BRIEFS From Everywhere

Belgian Dowager Queen Dies

BRUSSELS (UPI) — The Dowager Queen Elisabeth, Belgium's "grand old lady," died in Stuyvenberg Palace yesterday of her second heart attack in three weeks. She was 89 years old.

The dowager queen, an eccentric who loved classical music and the arts and sometimes upset her countrymen by flirting with the Communists, was the grandmother of Belgium's reigning King Baudouin, his brother Prince Albert, and his sister, the Grand Duchess Josephine Charlotte of Luxembourg.

Elisabeth

Funeral services will be held next Tuesday in the gothic Collegial Church of Saint Michel in the center of Brussels. The queen will be buried beside her husband in the royal crypt near Laeken Palace in the suburbs.

The dowager Queen was the German-born widow of Belgium's beloved King Albert I, who was killed in a climbing accident in the Ardennes in 1934. Her oldest son, former King Leopold III, reigned from 1934 to July 1951, when he abdicated in favor of his son Baudouin.

Mystery In Girl's Burning

WEST CHESTER, Pa. (AP)—An attractive West Chester State College coed battled for her life today after setting herself afire on the campus by dousing her clothing with gasoline.

Patricia Ann Conway, 22, a junior major in elementary education, was reported in grave condition today at Memorial Hospital. She suffered second-and third-degree burns over the upper part of her body.

Patricia

"I did it because I love my God," doctors and school officials quoted her as saying. "I did it because of a personal thing."

Her father, Joseph, told newsmen he knew of nothing that would lead her to such an act.

Fellow students said they knew of no reason why she would want to harm herself. They described her as quiet and reserved and a good student.

Carrier Midway Returns

ALAMEDA (AP) — San Francisco opened its Golden Gate as the attack carrier Midway came home after nearly nine months of Viet Nam combat.

Fireboats shot up showers of water in the traditional greeting as the Midway passed under the Golden Gate Bridge yesterday.

As it eased to its dock at Alameda Naval Air Station a crowd of 3,000 wives, mothers, sweethearts, fathers and friends set up cheers, despite a driving rain.

San Francisco Mayor John Shelley gave the 3,800 officers and men a "well done" on behalf of all Bay Area communities.

University of California pom-pom girls led welcoming cheers to the homecoming sailors and Marines.

"I've seen the Viet Nam protest marches at Cal," said Colleen Conway, 20, a pompom girl. "We thought this would be a good civic gesture to show how a lot of U.C. students feel."

Sanitary District Expansion Studied

Homestead Valley Sanitary District directors Monday night took under advisement official notification from the City of Mill Valley that the city's sewer trunkline capacity will have to be increased if the Homestead district is expanded by annexation.

This relates, said chairman Warren I. Jacobs, to the possibility of the district annexing portions of the Dias ranch development bordering Homestead Valley.

Washington Eyes Two Chinas In U. N.

By MAX HARRELSON

UNITED NATIONS, N.Y. (AP) — U.S. officials are reliably reported to be taking a careful look at the possibility of switching to a "two-Chinas' policy because of the growing movement to seat Red China in the United Nations.

One authoritative U. S. source has suggested that an alternative will have to be found by next fall to the 16-year-old policy of trying to keep the door shut to Peking. This source added that the seating of both Red China and the Nationalists might be the only practical course for the United States.

It is generally conceded at the United Nations that the Chinese Communists have been barred for the last time. The General Assembly voted 47-47 on the question last week and the pro-Peking trend is expected to continue. It is also doubtful if the United States will be able to win enough support next year to require that Red China's supporters muster a two-thirds majority to get Peking admitted.

The question now is no longer how to keep the Peking government out, diplomats say, but what to do about the Nationalist government which rules 12 million people on Formosa. Some delegates have been trying to launch a two-Chinas movement for several years but without success.

The idea is that the Peking government, representing the huge mainland population, would be given the seat now held by the Nationalists and that Formosa would be admitted as a new member.

The main obstacles so far have been the substantial opposition to seating Peking and the rejection of the two-Chinas concept by both Peking and Taipei.

Since Red China says it won't join the United Nations unless the Nationalists are expelled, the United States and other backers of Chiang Kai-shek's regime may be faced next year with the problem of preventing the expulsion of the Taipei government. This apparently is causing a number of countries to re-examine their policies.

U. S. Ambassador Arthur J. Goldberg recently pointed out that Formosa has a larger population than 85 of the world organization's 117 members. He said it would be a violation of the idea of universality to expel such a government.

Many diplomats believe that the United States could persuade Chiang to apply for Formosa's admission as a new member, but no one has found a formula to avert a Communist veto. The admission of new members must first be recommended by the Security Council, where the big-power veto applies.

The successful implementation to a two-Chinas policy probably would have to be part of a deal agreed to in advance so that Peking would get in and the Nationalists would get a new seat without facing a veto.

One question being asked is whether it is not too late for such a deal now that Peking virtually has a foot in the door.

Rusk Praises Latin Meeting

RIO DE JANEIRO (AP) — Secretary of State Dean Rusk said today he has found among hemisphere foreign ministers "a broad consensus on the desire to strengthen, rather than weaken, the inter-American system."

"There were some differences about details of procedure but a broad consensus has emerged," Rusk told a reporter as he prepared to leave the special Inter-American Conference here.

Rusk scheduled a two-hour stop at Asuncion to call on Paraguay's President Alfredo Stroessner before flying back to Washington tonight.

Here in Rio, Rusk and 18 Latin-American foreign ministers have been discussing ways to update the hemisphere system to meet changing political and economic needs. The two-week conference is to end Nov. 30.

Rusk said he expects the conference to conclude "with important results" even though proposals requiring amendment of the charter of the Organization of American States cannot be enacted until a follow-up conference empowered to make charter changes.

GROCERY BOY THERE

Margaret, Snowdon Have Farewell Fete

NEW YORK (UPI) —Princess Margaret and Lord Snowdon danced away last night on a transparent floor over a bubbling pool at a lavish farewell party attended by socialites, celebrities and Tommy Cole.

Although the royal British couple were the guests of honor, a good deal of attention was diverted to Tommy who was cheered as he arrived in his borrowed tux and slightly crooked bow tie.

Tommy, a shy grocery boy, looked somewhat bewildered by it all as many of the guests called him by name. His invitation was a reward for his honesty in returning a stray invitation to actress Elaine Stritch.

Miss Stritch inadvertently used the back of her invitation to prepare a grocery list last week. When Tommy returned it, she mentioned the incident to party hostess Sharman Douglas, who in turn invited the youth.

Tommy arrived with Miss Stritch and her escort, spent about 40 minutes inside at the bar and left. He apparently was not introduced to the royal couple.

The princess wore a floor length turquoise evening gown at the "informal" party in the chic Four Seasons restaurant. She declined the frug and the jerk for "sedate fox trots" and a "graceful Charleston" and danced frequently "with anyone who asked her," a spokesman said.

The princess and her husband, Lord Snowdon, arrived at 11:12 p.m. in a racing green Rolls Royce. More than 300 persons, many of them British, braved the night chill to cheer and ooh and aah as the royal couple entered.

Nearly 200 of the doorwatchers remained until 3:19 a.m., when the royal couple grinning broadly, left for the Long Island estate of John Hay Whitney, former U.S. ambassador to Britain.

A spokesman said the princess "felt at ease because she was with threatrical people." Averaging three partners per number she danced with numerous show business luminaries, including Sammy Davis Jr., Leonard Bernstein and Harry Belafonte.

New York Mayor-Elect John V. Lindsay had a "serious" 15-minute talk with the princess, spokesman said. Both he and Lindsay declined to disclose what was said.

Mott has been held by Soviet authorities since Sept. 4 when he crossed the border without visa.

Grand Jury Agrees On Con Man Label

So-Called Friend Of Chiang Linked To Big Swindle

NEW YORK (AP) — A "great con man—at least $85,000 worth"—was indicted by a federal grand jury yesterday on charges of swindling a California philanthropist and a New York syndicate out of that much money, the U. S. attorney said.

The con man label was pinned by U. S. Atty. Robert Morgenthau on a man who the prosecutor said represented himself as a Chinese Nationalist Army general and a confidant of Generalissimo Chiang Kai-shek.

TWO APARTMENTS

Indicted on six counts of interstate and international wire fraud was Thomas Kee Ming Hsu, also known as Tommy Zee, 47, who sported two apartments in Riverdale, the Bronx—one for himself, the other for his wife and four children. He was released in $4,000 bail.

The indictment gave this account:

Hsu convinced Max Ruderian, a Santa Monica, Calif. philanthropist and realtor (of 613 Wilshire Boulevard, that the Generalissimo had entrusted to him more than $100 million in a Taiwan bank vault. Hsu was to take this fortune in securities and jewelry to this country and "invest, sell and otherwise administer" it.

But, Hsu told Ruderian, the chief of the Taiwan secret police was blocking Hsu's efforts to remove the fortune and demanding a huge payoff. Would Ruderian help?

MORE MONEY

Ruderian did—$25,000 worth. But later he received cables from Hsu telling of more payoff money needed in Hong Kong, Taipei and Tokyo. Ruderian sent along another $45,000 between December 1963 and May 1964.

Hsu lived it up in the Far East on Ruderian's $70,000, Morgenthau said. Hsu also told the same story of the Taiwan bank vault fortune to the New York syndicate consisting of a lawyer, two businessmen and a brokerage firm representative and got them to pledge $30,000.

After advancing Hsu $15,000 one of the syndicate members mentioned the matter to a former assistant to Morgenthau. The syndicate man repeated the story to Morgenthau and no more cash was advanced.

As to how Hsu was able to convince Ruderian and the syndicate of his "sincerity," it turned out he had photographs showing himself and the Generalissimo sitting together on a settee and reviewing troops together.

The prosecutor's office said the photos had been doctored.

Rhodesian Strike Try Collapses

BULAWAYO, Rhodesia (UPI) —Attempts to promote a general strike by black African workers in this nationalist stronghold collapsed today when employers issued "work or be fired" edicts.

African nationalist underground leaders has experienced limited success in strike calls Monday and yesterday, when as much as 40 per cent of the work force was absent in protest against the government of rebel Premier Ian Smith.

Chamber of Commerce leaders distributed notices that absentees would be "sacked" today and workers streamed to their jobs in almost normal numbers.

Police riot squads last night fired tear gas to break up a demonstration by thousands of Africans in Mpopoma Township on the outskirts of Bulawayo, second largest city in Rhodesia. The protest rally was noticeably less tense and disorderly than the previous night, however.

An African demonstrator was shot and killed by police yesterday while stoning a bus. It was the first fatality connected with anti-government rallies since Smith declared Rhodesia independent of Britain Nov. 11.

It appeared the death of the demonstrator and the work-or-else warning gave the workers cause for reflection about further protests.

Ex-Star Released Pending Sentence

INDIO (AP) — Ex-actor Tom Neal—convicted last week of involuntary manslaughter in the fatal shooting of his wife, Gail —has been released on $27,500 bond.

The bond figures was set yesterday by Superior Court Judge Hilton McCabe on a motion by Neal's attorney, pending probation hearing and sentencing Dec. 7.

Neal, 51, was accused of murder in the death of his 29-year-old wife, but contended in his trial that she was shot in the head accidentally when they struggled for a pistol last April 1 in their Palm Springs home.

Ike Is Allowed To Sit Up, Plans Holiday With Family

WASHINGTON (UPI) —Former President Dwight D. Eisenhower is being allowed to sit up in a chair periodically and plans to have Thanksgiving dinner with his family at Walter Reed Army Medical Center, his doctors reported today.

A hospital spokesman said the 75-year-old general was in good spirits this morning as he continued his recovery from a heart attack.

Eisenhower was reported cheered by the prospect of spending Christmas at his Gettysburg, Pa., home and by visit this morning from Mrs. Eisenhower.

A medical statement from the hospital emphasized again that the former chief executive showed no ill effects from his trip to Walter Reed from Ft. Gordon, Ga., Tuesday by train and helicopter.

It said that Eisenhower was now on a regular diet, and added: "A progressive increase in his activities, now limited to sitting up in a chair periodically, is planned over the next week."

Committee Plans Anti-Draft Drive

BERKELEY (AP)—The Viet Nam Day Committee (VDC) says it will carry an anti-draft campaign to San Francisco East Bay high schools and military induction centers.

In a news conference yesterday, VDC leaders also said the organization still plans to stage an anti Viet Nam war demonstration at the Oakland Army Terminal, probably after Jan. 1.

Some 10,000 VDC demonstrators marched last Saturday from the University of California in Berkeley to DeFremery Park in Oakland, about a mile from the terminal.

300 Teens Use Marijuana In Unincorporated Areas

About 300 teen-agers smoke marijuana in Marin County's unincorporated areas, Inspector Harvey Teague of the sheriff's office said in Kentfield last night.

Among the most popular areas are those of Terra Linda and Tamalpais High schools, he said.

Teague was among a group of law officers on a panel discussing narcotic education at the College of Marin, sponsored by Marin County Educators Committee, Marin County Citizens Committee, and county superintendent of schools.

Other speakers were Sausalito Police Chief Kenneth Huck, Frederick T. Dick, district supervisor for the Federal Bureau of Narcotics, and Mathew M. O'Connor, supervising agent for the state Bureau of Narcotics.

"For the past year and a half," said Teague, "information has been coming in on young people using marijuana. We have been watching particular areas and particular people.

"In one case, information I received from one girl indicated an area where 70 youths were using marijuana."

He emphasized the 300 figure was an assumption based on information he had in his possession.

Pressed to clarify the number of cases known and being processed, Teague said he could not give that information.

"The state people are working with us right now," he said, and added, "Our informant is in a queer position because of the information given."

Asked what is to be done about young people taking marijuana, Teague said, "A lot has to be left to the parent, for the parent knows what is going on."

Sheriff's Inspector Bowen A. Bridges, commenting from the audience, said he was investigating the use of marijuana by adults. "We have had some worries, particularly regarding the importing of it by certain persons in San Francisco," he said.

A major problem, said Bridges, was the size and type of the area under the jurisdiction of the sheriff's office, which could only sparsely cover it at times.

He said the help of residents was being sought in taking automobile license numbers and reporting suspicious activity.

He said he was not in a position to say how many cases were being handled at present but "let's just say it's worse than it should be."

O'Connor commented briefly on the situation in Sausalito earlier this year when police carried out raids against known marijuana users.

"In Marin County, we had the situation where the drug users were friendly and associating with the youth who considered them colorful and quaint," he said.

"The adult citizens were able to treat the beatniks with a certain aloofness, but the youth did not discriminate so well."

Marijuana use, like that of any other drug, is like a contageous disease, said O'Connor. It spreads quickly from husband to wife, sister to brother, friend to friend.

Dick said that in his experience as undercover agent and administrator, he knew of few known users of marijuana who continued to play a useful part in society.

He said he could not imagine any group seriously advocating marijuana as an alternative to alcohol. Although it is like alcohol in several ways, he said, the effect of marijuana is far less predictable and far more likely to lead to degeneration.

Meter Gadget Voted Down In Sausalito

"Anti-meter-cheater" attachments will not be purchased for Sausalito's "golden goose," the parking meter, city councilmen agreed last night.

Traffic Controls Inc. of Oakland had proposed to stall attachments on five meters whereby, when a car ran over a pad in the street, the time on the meter would be automatically erased. The company said this would guarantee a 35 per cent increase in meter revenues.

Sausalito Chamber of Commerce officials, by letter, said the attachments would be an expense to the city, a burden to maintain, that the City of San Rafael had turned them down, and that they would cause ill will among inhabitants and tourists. The council agreed.

Harold J. Lavick, speaking for Traffic Controls, denied there would be expense to the city and said the reason San Rafael took no action following an experiment with similar meters was that their meters were 18 years old and they were planning to buy new ones.

City Mgr. Charles A. Brown said that, since the changeover of the Vina del Mar parking lot to attendant parking, revenues have increased from $588 in April to $2,509 in October. The changeover, said Mayor Jan Paul Dyk, has created more parking, well-deserved employment for older citizens, and increased revenue.

In a financial status report of the city on Oct. 31, Brown said revenue has increased in parking lots by $9,000 and in parking fines by $4,000 over last year at the same time.

The Sausalito City Council also:

1. Agreed to meet with the Sausalito Library Board Tuesday at 8 p.m. in city hall to discuss a new library site and talk to library consultant Helen Ridgway.
2. Took no action to create red zones on Cloud View Road and Glen Drive, pending a field trip to the sites, mentioned other sites in the city to be zoned by painting, and asked Brown to get the county traffic plan for the Bridgeway-Harbor Drive intersection near Big G market so the council can try to get action from the County Board of Supervisors to improve the hazardous area.
3. Adopted an amendment to the zoning ordinance providing for planned unit development, Mayor Dyk and Councilman Earl F. Dunphy voting "no."

Marincello Zone Change To Be Asked

Sausalito City Council will ask the Marin County Board of Supervisors to reconsider its Nov. 12 vote which zoned Marincello for planned community development.

The resolution, yet to be drawn up, will stress that new information has been obtained, including the supervisors having asked the county planning commission to create an ordinance to set density in developments to be in accord with master plans for the surrounding area.

Councilman Melvin S. Wax said the supervisor's proposal for linking density of the Dias Ranch development to the Tennessee Valley master plan should apply to Marincello. "The city of Marincello is not in accord with Sausalito density nor with that of Tennessee Valley," he said.

"If the county comes up with such an ordinance and it becomes county policy, it is certainly not too late to apply it to Marincello," the councilman declared.

Mayor Jan Paul Dyk, who introduced the proposed resolution, said "the smoke has settled on Marincello but obviously the majority of the people in Marin are most disturbed about the board of supervisors' vote."

Dyk said Frouge Corp., developers of Marincello, has no vested interest yet and that supervisors can still rescind their zoning action. He urged a southern Marin plan such as the west Marin master plan.

"I'm perturbed by opinions of the board saying master plans are only for guidance. Some of the light is beginning to shine. Now that the Dias ranch is before the supervisors I hear cheerful noises such as 'we must consider the neighboring zoning.' That was never mentioned for Marincello," said Dyk.

"The cows are still there," commented Councilman Alexander R. Imlay.

Peacock School Site Is Revived

San Rafael Schools Supt. Bert C. Corona last night made an effort to revive the San Rafael Board of Education's interest in an elementary school site at Peacock Gap which the board turned down a year ago.

There are three new members on the board since the previous decision.

In a memorandum to the board, Corona said efforts to buy a site agreed on last year have proved futile because the Draper Companies have balked at various aspects of the proposed sale agreement.

As a result, he said, things have reached the point where the county counsel's office has urged the board to start condemnation proceedings.

Before doing that, however, Corona urged that the board take a new look at the site turned down before: five acres at Riviera and Biscayne drives. The site previously selected by the board includes the old McNear barn on the west side of the valley, now being used by the Draper Companies for offices.

State Landscape Plan Doesn't Please Mayor

Plans for the first stage of landscaping of Highway 37 interchange were presented last night to the Novato City Council.

The state will plant 590 shrubs and 290 trees at a cost of $10,000, according to James Gordon, district landscape architect with the division of highways.

Mayor Robert D. Carrow did not think either the plan or the money was adequate.

"We here in Marin County are very conscious of our roadside planning," he said.

The plan calls for planting eucalyptus and oak trees and various kinds of shrubs, Gordon said. Ground cover and irrigation systems will come later.

The highway commission had not allocated any money for landscaping of Highway 37 interchange this fiscal year, but Carrow has repeatedly asked for it, getting this $10,000 allotment.

Women Injured In Collisions

Two persons suffered minor injuries in two automobile accidents on the San Rafael viaduct of Highway 101 shortly after 11 a.m. yesterday, the California Highway Patrol reported.

Carol C. Johnson, 17, of 2713 Heartherstone Drive, Marinwood, was driving north at 11:15 a.m. when her car skidded and crashed into the cement curb. She was treated at San Rafael General Hospital for a cut forehead and right ear.

Five minutes later, as traffic slowed for the first accident, Maria W. Bala, 42, of 2000 Centro West, Tiburon, skidded as she braked her car and crashed into the center divider barrier. She complained of rib and knee injuries and was to see her own doctor.

Probation Added On Theft Charge

John Clifford King, 40, was sentenced to 60 days in Marin County Jail yesterday in Marin Superior Court for grand theft and violation of probation.

He also was placed on three additional years of probation.

King, a transient, had pleaded guilty to taking credit cards and other items from his Corte Madera roommate, Joe Hasking of 12 Buena Vista Avenue, on Sept. 29.

Wrench Set Stolen

Matthew James Graham, 43, of 1655 Novato Boulevard, Novato, reported to Novato police Monday that someone took a socket wrench set in a metal box, valued at $18 from his garage sometime the past weekend.

Belgian Dowager Queen Dies

BRUSSELS (UPI) — The Dowager Queen Elisabeth, Belgium's "grand old lady," died in Stuyvenberg Palace yesterday of her second heart attack in three weeks. She was 89 years old.

The dowager queen, an eccentric who loved classical music and the arts and sometimes upset her countrymen by flirting with the Communists, was the grandmother of Belgium's reigning King Baudouin, his brother Prince Albert, and his sister, the Grand Duchess Josephine Charlotte of Luxembourg.

Elisabeth

Funeral services will be held next Tuesday in the gothic Collegial Church of Saint Michel in the center of Brussels. The queen will be buried beside her husband in the royal crypt near Laeken Palace in the suburbs.

The dowager Queen was the German-born widow of Belgium's beloved King Albert I, who was killed in a climbing accident in the Ardennes in 1934. Her oldest son, former King Leopold III, reigned from 1934 to July 1951, when he abdicated in favor of his son Baudouin.

Mystery In Girl's Burning

WEST CHESTER, Pa. (AP)—An attractive West Chester State College coed battled for her life today after setting herself afire on the campus by dousing her clothing with gasoline.

Patricia Ann Conway, 22, a junior major in elementary education, was reported in grave condition today at Memorial Hospital. She suffered second-and third-degree burns over the upper part of her body.

Patricia

Her father, Joseph, told newsmen he knew of nothing that would lead her to such an act.

Fellow students said they knew of no reason why she would want to harm herself. They described her as quiet and reserved and a good student.

San Francisco Mayor John Shelley gave the 3,800 officers and men a "well done" on behalf of all Bay Area communities.

University of California pom-pom girls led welcoming cheers to the homecoming sailors and Marines.

"I've seen the Viet Nam protest marches at Cal," said Colleen Conway, 20, a pompom girl. "We thought this would be a good civic gesture to show how a lot of U.C. students feel."

Sanitary District Expansion Studied

Homestead Valley Sanitary District directors Monday night took under advisement official notification from the City of Mill Valley that the city's sewer trunkline capacity will have to be increased if the Homestead district is expanded by annexation.

This relates, said chairman Warren I. Jacobs, to the possibility of the district annexing portions of the Dias ranch development bordering Homestead Valley.

Washington Eyes Two Chinas In U. N.

By MAX HARRELSON

UNITED NATIONS, N.Y. (AP) — U.S. officials are reliably reported to be taking a careful look at the possibility of switching to a "two-Chinas' policy because of the growing movement to seat Red China in the United Nations.

One authoritative U. S. source has suggested that an alternative will have to be found by next fall to the 16-year-old policy of trying to keep the door shut to Peking. This source added that the seating of both Red China and the Nationalists might be the only practical course for the United States.

It is generally conceded at the United Nations that the Chinese Communists have been barred for the last time. The General Assembly voted 47-47 on the question last week and the pro-Peking trend is expected to continue. It is also doubtful if the United States will be able to win enough support next year to require that Red China's supporters muster a two-thirds majority to get Peking admitted.

The question now is no longer how to keep the Peking government out, diplomats say, but what to do about the Nationalist government which rules 12 million people on Formosa. Some delegates have been trying to launch a two-Chinas movement for several years but without success.

The idea is that the Peking government, representing the huge mainland population, would be given the seat now held by the Nationalists and that Formosa would be admitted as a new member.

The main obstacles so far have been the substantial opposition to seating Peking and the rejection of the two-Chinas concept by both Peking and Taipei.

Since Red China says it won't join the United Nations unless the Nationalists are expelled, the United States and other backers of Chiang Kai-shek's regime may be faced next year with the problem of preventing the expulsion of the Taipei government. This apparently is causing a number of countries to re-examine their policies.

U. S. Ambassador Arthur J. Goldberg recently pointed out that Formosa has a larger population than 85 of the world organization's 117 members. He said it would be a violation of the idea of universality to expel such a government.

Many diplomats believe that the United States could persuade Chiang to apply for Formosa's admission as a new member, but no one has found a formula to avert a Communist veto. The admission of new members must first be recommended by the Security Council, where the big-power veto applies.

The successful implementation to a two-Chinas policy probably would have to be part of a deal agreed to in advance so that Peking would get in and the Nationalists would get a new seat without facing a veto.

One question being asked is whether it is not too late for such a deal now that Peking virtually has a foot in the door.

Rusk Praises Latin Meeting

RIO DE JANEIRO (AP) — Secretary of State Dean Rusk said today he has found among hemisphere foreign ministers "a broad consensus on the desire to strengthen, rather than weaken, the inter-American system."

"There were some differences about details of procedure but a broad consensus has emerged," Rusk told a reporter as he prepared to leave the special Inter-American Conference here.

Rusk scheduled a two-hour stop at Asuncion to call on Paraguay's President Alfredo Stroessner before flying back to Washington tonight.

Here in Rio, Rusk and 18 Latin-American foreign ministers have been discussing ways to update the hemisphere system to meet changing political and economic needs. The two-week conference is to end Nov. 30.

Rusk said he expects the conference to conclude "with important results" even though proposals requiring amendment of the charter of the Organization of American States cannot be enacted until a follow-up conference empowered to make charter changes.

GROCERY BOY THERE

Margaret, Snowdon Have Farewell Fete

NEW YORK (UPI) —Princess Margaret and Lord Snowdon danced away last night on a transparent floor over a bubbling pool at a lavish farewell party attended by socialites, celebrities and Tommy Cole.

Although the royal British couple were the guests of honor, a good deal of attention was diverted to Tommy who was cheered as he arrived in his borrowed tux and slightly crooked bow tie.

Tommy, a shy grocery boy, looked somewhat bewildered by it all as many of the guests called him by name. His invitation was a reward for his honesty in returning a stray invitation to actress Elaine Stritch.

Miss Stritch inadvertently used the back of her invitation to prepare a grocery list last week. When Tommy returned it, she mentioned the incident to party hostess Sharman Douglas, who in turn invited the youth.

Tommy arrived with Miss Stritch and her escort, spent about 40 minutes inside at the bar and left. He apparently was not introduced to the royal couple.

The princess wore a floor length turquoise evening gown at the "informal" party in the chic Four Seasons restaurant. She declined the frug and the jerk for "sedate fox trots" and a "graceful Charleston" and danced frequently "with anyone who asked her," a spokesman said.

The princess and her husband, Lord Snowdon, arrived at 11:12 p.m. in a racing green Rolls Royce. More than 300 persons, many of them British, braved the night chill to cheer and ooh and aah as the royal couple entered.

Nearly 200 of the doorwatchers remained until 3:19 a.m., when the royal couple grinning broadly, left for the Long Island estate of John Hay Whitney, former U.S. ambassador to Britain.

A spokesman said the princess "felt at ease because she was with threatrical people." Averaging three partners per number she danced with numerous show business luminaries, including Sammy Davis Jr., Leonard Bernstein and Harry Belafonte.

New York Mayor-Elect John V. Lindsay had a "serious" 15-minute talk with the princess, spokesman said. Both he and Lindsay declined to disclose what was said.

Russ Imprison Citizen Of U.S.

MURMANSK, USSR (UPI) — Textbook salesman Newcomb Mott, 27, of Sheffield, Mass., today was sentenced to a year and a half in a Russian labor camp for illegally crossing the Norwegian-Soviet border.

The sentence was handed down by a judge and two assessors, who under Russian law act as advisers in court cases.

Mott has been held by Soviet authorities since Sept. 4 when he crossed the border without visa.

Grand Jury Agrees On Con Man Label

So-Called Friend Of Chiang Linked To Big Swindle

NEW YORK (AP) — A "great con man—at least $85,000 worth"—was indicted by a federal grand jury yesterday on charges of swindling a California philanthropist and a New York syndicate out of that much money, the U. S. attorney said.

The con man label was pinned by U. S. Atty. Robert Morgenthau on a man who the prosecutor said represented himself as a Chinese Nationalist Army general and a confidant of Generalissimo Chiang Kai-shek.

TWO APARTMENTS

Indicted on six counts of interstate and international wire fraud was Thomas Kee Ming Hsu, also known as Tommy Zee, 47, who sported two apartments in Riverdale, the Bronx—one for himself, the other for his wife and four children. He was released in $4,000 bail.

The indictment gave this account:

Hsu convinced Max Ruderian, a Santa Monica, Calif. philanthropist and realtor (of 613 Wilshire Boulevard, that the Generalissimo had entrusted to him more than $100 million in a Taiwan bank vault. Hsu was to take this fortune in securities and jewelry to this country and "invest, sell and otherwise administer" it.

But, Hsu told Ruderian, the chief of the Taiwan secret police was blocking Hsu's efforts to remove the fortune and demanding a huge payoff. Would Ruderian help?

MORE MONEY

Ruderian did—$25,000 worth. But later he received cables from Hsu telling of more payoff money needed in Hong Kong, Taipei and Tokyo. Ruderian sent along another $45,000 between December 1963 and May 1964.

Hsu lived it up in the Far East on Ruderian's $70,000, Morgenthau said. Hsu also told the same story of the Taiwan bank vault fortune to the New York syndicate consisting of a lawyer, two businessmen and a brokerage firm representative and got them to pledge $30,000.

After advancing Hsu $15,000 one of the syndicate members mentioned the matter to a former assistant to Morgenthau. The syndicate man repeated the story to Morgenthau and no more cash was advanced.

As to how Hsu was able to convince Ruderian and the syndicate of his "sincerity," it turned out he had photographs showing himself and the Generalissimo sitting together on a settee and reviewing troops together.

The prosecutor's office said the photos had been doctored.

Jail Breaker Caught In Student Center

BERKELEY (UPI)—The last of four escapees who fled from Contra Costa County Jail Sunday was captured at gunpoint yesterday as he lounged in the Student Union at the University of California chatting with two co-eds.

The suspect was Marcellus Warren, 28, a convicted burglar. His three companions in the Martinez escape were arrested earlier this week.

FLOODS IN THE DESERT

Traffic is detoured from the Tahquitz Bridge in Palm Springs yesterday after part of span washed away in runoff from downpours that have plagued southern California for the last week. Eight persons were reported missing in the Palm Springs area as roads washed out. (See story on page 1.)

Rhodesian Strike Try Collapses

BULAWAYO, Rhodesia (UPI) —Attempts to promote a general strike by black African workers in this nationalist stronghold collapsed today when employers issued "work or be fired" edicts.

African nationalist underground leaders has experienced limited success in strike calls Monday and yesterday, when as much as 40 per cent of the work force was absent in protest against the government of rebel Premier Ian Smith.

Chamber of Commerce leaders distributed notices that absentees would be "sacked" today and workers streamed to their jobs in almost normal numbers.

Police riot squads last night fired tear gas to break up a demonstration by thousands of Africans in Mpopoma Township on the outskirts of Bulawayo, second largest city in Rhodesia. The protest rally was noticeably less tense and disorderly than the previous night, however.

An African demonstrator was shot and killed by police yesterday while stoning a bus. It was the first fatality connected with anti-government rallies since Smith declared Rhodesia independent of Britain Nov. 11.

It appeared the death of the demonstrator and the work-or-else warning gave the workers cause for reflection about further protests.

Ex-Star Released Pending Sentence

INDIO (AP) — Ex-actor Tom Neal—convicted last week of involuntary manslaughter in the fatal shooting of his wife, Gail —has been released on $27,500 bond.

The bond figures was set yesterday by Superior Court Judge Hilton McCabe on a motion by Neal's attorney, pending probation hearing and sentencing Dec. 7.

Neal, 51, was accused of murder in the death of his 29-year-old wife, but contended in his trial that she was shot in the head accidentally when they struggled for a pistol last April 1 in their Palm Springs home.

Ike Is Allowed To Sit Up, Plans Holiday With Family

WASHINGTON (UPI) —Former President Dwight D. Eisenhower is being allowed to sit up in a chair periodically and plans to have Thanksgiving dinner with his family at Walter Reed Army Medical Center, his doctors reported today.

A hospital spokesman said the 75-year-old general was in good spirits this morning as he continued his recovery from a heart attack.

Eisenhower was reported cheered by the prospect of spending Christmas at his Gettysburg, Pa., home and by visit this morning from Mrs. Eisenhower.

A medical statement from the hospital emphasized again that the former chief executive showed no ill effects from his trip to Walter Reed from Ft. Gordon, Ga., Tuesday by train and helicopter.

It said that Eisenhower was now on a regular diet, and added: "A progressive increase in his activities, now limited to sitting up in a chair periodically, is planned over the next week."

Committee Plans Anti-Draft Drive

BERKELEY (AP)—The Viet Nam Day Committee (VDC) says it will carry an anti-draft campaign to San Francisco East Bay high schools and military induction centers.

In a news conference yesterday, VDC leaders also said the organization still plans to stage an anti Viet Nam war demonstration at the Oakland Army Terminal, probably after Jan. 1.

Some 10,000 VDC demonstrators marched last Saturday from the University of California in Berkeley to DeFremery Park in Oakland, about a mile from the terminal.

300 Teens Use Marijuana In Unincorporated Areas

About 300 teen-agers smoke marijuana in Marin County's unincorporated areas, Inspector Harvey Teague of the sheriff's office said in Kentfield last night.

Among the most popular areas are those of Terra Linda and Tamalpais High schools, he said.

Teague was among a group of law officers on a panel discussing narcotic education at the College of Marin, sponsored by Marin County Educators Committee, Marin County Citizens Committee, and county superintendent of schools.

Other speakers were Sausalito Police Chief Kenneth Huck, Frederick T. Dick, district supervisor for the Federal Bureau of Narcotics, and Mathew M. O'Connor, supervising agent for the state Bureau of Narcotics.

"For the past year and a half," said Teague, "information has been coming in on young people using marijuana. We have been watching particular areas and particular people.

"In one case, information I received from one girl indicated an area where 70 youths were using marijuana."

He emphasized the 300 figure was an assumption based on information he had in his possession.

Pressed to clarify the number of cases known and being processed, Teague said he could not give that information.

"The state people are working with us right now," he said, and added, "Our informant is in a queer position because of the information given."

Asked what is to be done about young people taking marijuana, Teague said, "A lot has to be left to the parent, for the parent knows what is going on."

Sheriff's Inspector Bowen A. Bridges, commenting from the audience, said he was investibating the use of marijuana by adults. "We have had some worries, particularly regarding the importing of it by certain persons in San Francisco," he said.

A major problem, said Bridges, was the size and type of the area under the jurisdiction of the sheriff's office, which could only sparsely cover it at times.

He said the help of residents was being sought in taking automobile license numbers and reporting suspicious activity.

He said he was not in a position to say how many cases were being handled at present but "let's just say it's worse than it should be."

O'Connor commented briefly on the situation in Sausalito earlier this year when police carried out raids against known marijuana users.

"In Marin County, we had the situation where the drug users were friendly and associating with the youth who considered them colorful and quaint," he said.

"The adult citizens were able to treat the beatniks with a certain aloofness, but the youth did not discriminate so well."

Marijuana use, like that of any other drug, is like a contageous disease, said O'Connor. It spreads quickly from husband to wife, sister to brother, friend to friend.

Dick said that in his experience as undercover agent and administrator, he knew of few known users of marijuana who continued to play a useful part in society.

He said he could not imagine any group seriously advocating marijuana as an alternative to alcohol. Although it is like alcohol in several ways, he said, the effect of marijuana is far less predictable and far more likely to lead to degeneration.

Meter Gadget Voted Down In Sausalito

"Anti-meter-cheater" attachments will not be purchased for Sausalito's "golden goose," the parking meter, city councilmen agreed last night.

Traffic Controls Inc. of Oakland had proposed to stall attachments on five meters whereby, when a car ran over a pad in the street, the time on the meter would be automatically erased. The company said this would guarantee a 35 per cent increase in meter revenues.

Sausalito Chamber of Commerce officials, by letter, said the attachments would be an expense to the city, a burden to maintain, that the City of San Rafael had turned them down, and that they would cause ill will among inhabitants and tourists. The council agreed.

Harold J. Lavick, speaking for Traffic Controls, denied there would be expense to the city and said the reason San Rafael took no action following an experiment with similar meters was that their meters were 18 years old and they were planning to buy new ones.

City Mgr. Charles A. Brown said that, since the changeover of the Vina del Mar parking lot to attendant parking, revenues have increased from $588 in April to $2,509 in October. The changeover, said Mayor Jan Paul Dyk, has created more parking, well-deserved employment for older citizens, and increased revenue.

In a financial status report of the city on Oct. 31, Brown said revenue has increased in parking lots by $9,000 and in parking fines by $4,000 over last year at the same time.

The Sausalito City Council also:

1. Agreed to meet with the Sausalito Library Board Tuesday at 8 p.m. in city hall to discuss a new library site and talk to library consultant Helen Ridgway.

2. Took no action to create red zones on Cloud View Road and Glen Drive, pending a field trip to the sites, mentioned other sites in the city to be zoned by painting, and asked Brown to get the county traffic plan for the Bridgeway-Harbor Drive intersection near Big G market so the council can try to get action from the County Board of Supervisors to improve the hazardous area.

3. Adopted an amendment to the zoning ordinance providing for planned unit development, Mayor Dyk and Councilman Earl F. Dunphy voting "no."

Marincello Zone Change To Be Asked

Sausalito City Council will ask the Marin County Board of Supervisors to reconsider its Nov. 12 vote which zoned Marincello for planned community development.

The resolution, yet to be drawn up, will stress that new information has been obtained, including the supervisors having asked the county planning commission to create an ordinance to set density in developments to be in accord with master plans for the surrounding area.

Councilman Melvin S. Wax said the supervisor's proposal for linking density of the Dias Ranch development to the Tennessee Valley master plan should apply to Marincello. "The city of Marincello is not in accord with Sausalito density nor with that of Tennessee Valley," he said.

"If the county comes up with such an ordinance and it becomes county policy, it is certainly not too late to apply it to Marincello," the councilman declared.

Mayor Jan Paul Dyk, who introduced the proposed resolution, said "the smoke has settled on Marincello but obviously the majority of the people in Marin are most disturbed about the board of supervisors' vote."

Dyk said Frouge Corp., developers of Marincello, has no vested interest yet and that supervisors can still rescind their zoning action. He urged a southern Marin plan such as the west Marin master plan.

"I'm perturbed by opinions of the board saying master plans are only for guidance. Some of the light is beginning to shine. Now that the Dias ranch is before the supervisors I hear cheerful noises such as 'we must consider the neighboring zoning.' That was never mentioned for Marincello," said Dyk.

"The cows are still there," commented Councilman Alexander R. Imlay.

Peacock School Site Is Revived

San Rafael Schools Supt. Bert C. Corona last night made an effort to revive the San Rafael Board of Education's interest in an elementary school site at Peacock Gap which the board turned down a year ago.

There are three new members on the board since the previous decision.

In a memorandum to the board, Corona said efforts to buy a site agreed on last year have proved futile because the Draper Companies have balked at various aspects of the proposed sale agreement.

As a result, he said, things have reached the point where the county counsel's office has urged the board to start condemnation proceedings.

Before doing that, however, Corona urged that the board take a new look at the site turned down before: five acres at Riviera and Biscayne drives. The site previously selected by the board includes the old McNear barn on the west side of the valley, now being used by the Draper Companies for offices.

State Landscape Plan Doesn't Please Mayor

Plans for the first stage of landscaping of Highway 37 interchange were presented last night to the Novato City Council.

The state will plant 590 shrubs and 290 trees at a cost of $10,000, according to James Gordon, district landscape architect with the division of highways.

Mayor Robert D. Carrow did not think either the plan or the money was adequate.

"We here in Marin County are very conscious of our roadside planning," he said.

The plan calls for planting eucalyptus and oak trees and various kinds of shrubs, Gordon said. Ground cover and irrigation systems will come later.

The highway commission had not allocated any money for landscaping of Highway 37 interchange this fiscal year, but Carrow has repeatedly asked for it, getting this $10,000 allotment.

Women Injured In Collisions

Two persons suffered minor injuries in two automobile accidents on the San Rafael viaduct of Highway 101 shortly after 11 a.m. yesterday, the California Highway Patrol reported.

Carol C. Johnson, 17, of 2713 Heartherstone Drive, Marinwood, was driving north at 11:15 a.m. when her car skidded and crashed into the cement curb. She was treated at San Rafael General Hospital for a cut forehead and right ear.

Five minutes later, as traffic slowed for the first accident, Maria W. Bala, 42, of 2000 Centro West, Tiburon, skidded as she braked her car and crashed into the center divider barrier. She complained of rib and knee injuries and was to see her own doctor.

Probation Added On Theft Charge

John Clifford King, 40, was sentenced to 60 days in Marin County Jail yesterday in Marin Superior Court for grand theft and violation of probation.

He also was placed on three additional years of probation.

King, a transient, had pleaded guilty to taking credit cards and other items from his Corte Madera roommate, Joe Hasking of 12 Buena Vista Avenue, on Sept. 29.

Wrench Set Stolen

Matthew James Graham, 43, of 1655 Novato Boulevard, Novato, reported to Novato police Monday that someone took a socket wrench set in a metal box, valued at $18 from his garage sometime the past weekend.

LATEST IN FERRIES FOR MARIN

This hydrofoil, plying between Staten and Manhattan Islands, is the same type a company headed by John Fell Stevenson plans to put in operation to carry passengers between San Francisco and Marin County early next year. Details of the plan were to be announced at a San Francisco press conference this evening. (See story on Page 1.)

Teachers Granted Retroactive Raises

San Rafael teachers last night were granted a retroactive pay hike which restored the gap in the 5 per cent raise they sought but did not get at the start of fiscal 1966.

In contrast to the lengthy salary discussions in past meetings, the San Rafael Board of Education disposed of the matter in two minutes. There was no discussion and the vote was unanimous.

Board members last spring talked about a 5 per cent hike, but pared it down to 3.2 per cent when their resources proved to be slim at budget time. Last night's action restored the other 1.8 per cent, retroactive to July 1.

Supt. Bert C. Corona has estimated the increase will cost the elementary and high school districts $27,000 apiece.

Board members also heard Corona make a plea for the district to sell $1 million worth of bonds in a single issue next year, which would be the largest issue by far than San Rafael schools have ever sold at one time.

Corona broached the subject after County Treasurer Stanley J. Fontez explained why he felt the districts would be better off to sell bonds in larger amounts than they have in the past.

Sales have usually been held to about $250,000, schools business mgr. Charles L. Condrotte explained. Fontez, however, said the best size for bond sales in today's market is from $750,000 to $1.25 million.

Corona agreed to bring in more information on the proposed bond sales before pressing for a decision.

The San Rafael Board Of Education Also:

1. Hired Mrs. Dorothy Greenberg to teach art part-time at San Rafael High School at $1,708.74 annually, and Arthur D. Piaggio to teach science at Davidson School at $4,752.54 annually.
2. Received, but took no action on, a detailed set of recommendations from insurance consultant James Wieder, calling for increases in liability, burglary and boiler coverage. Wieder also urged a $1,000 deductible clause in fire coverage, which would reduce the total premium.
3. Approved final plans for the gymnasium and library, substituting tile for plywood on the gymnasium walls, and sent them to the state Division of Architecture for final approval.
4. Postponed the date for opening bids on renovating the main building at San Rafael High School from Dec. 9 to Dec. 22.
5. Accepted the resignation of E. T. Armstrong as building inspector for the San Rafael High School project and hired Floyd Newgen to take his place.
6. Called for bids to be opened at 3 p.m. Jan. 6 on a gymnasium addition to Davidson School.
7. Accepted kifts of a tape recorder and three pedestrian crosswalk signs from the Hartzell School Parent-Teacher Assn. The recorder will be used in the Prime-O-Tec reading program.
8. Endorsed a suggestion by board member Walter R. Castro Jr. that they tour the schools before next budget time to get a first-hand look at each school's needs.

Novato Starts Annexation Toward Black Point Area

The Novato City Council last night gave the go-ahead to annexation of 1,280 acres east of Highway 101 and north of Highway 37, extending almost to Black Point.

If successful, this would be the third largest annexation to the city of Novato since it was incorporated. Only San Marin with 2,200 acres and Bahia with 1,500 acres were larger.

The uninhabited area to be annexed lies north of Novato Creek and Simmonds Slough on the south side of Highway 37, then on the north of that highway. It extends east of Highway 101, south of the present city limits east to Olive and Atherton avenues.

This proposed annexation will go before the Marin County Local Agency Commission in December, Robert Lagle, city planner, told the council.

Traffic Law Changes Due For Novato

Several minor traffic regulation changes were adopted by the Novato City Council last night on recommendation of its traffic safety committee.

These were to install a left turn lane of traffic on San Marin Drive at Novato Boulevard; place a 25-mile per hour speed limit on Fairway Drive and County Club Drive; ban parking on the west side of Jade Court except the cul de sac circle and on the south side of Novato Boulevard for 48 feet west of Raposa Vista.

The council denied requests for crosswalks across Birdie Drive and Capilano Drive in mid-blocks at the golf course, and at South Novato Boulevard and Midway Drive, and denied stop signs on Novato Boulevard at Raposa Vista and on Sunset Parkway at all intersections.

District Adds To Proposed Annexation

Directors of North Marin Water District, mapping its expansion into Northwest Marin, last night added 1,633 acres to a proposed 37-square mile annexation.

Added to the area into which the district proposes to expand were the Ralph F. McMurray property of 667 acres to the east of the previous annexation boundary, and the Degottardi, Borello and Furlong properties of 966 acres on the south.

Residents of Northwest Marin are seeking annexation to assure a water supply, largely because development in the area is increasing water needs while eliminating some water sources.

The North Marin District directors discussed a county proposal for a county park at the west end of Stafford Lake, the district's reservoir, but took no action on it.

They approved a proposal by the Novato Civic Foundation for fencing an area below Stafford Dam where the foundation wants to grow trees for replanting in city parks and along streets.

Also approved was a revision of the policy on extension of water mains to make it identical with that of Marin Municipal Water District.

ated from their homes in Tijuana.

The search for more victims continued. Chief Deputy Sheriff John McCoy at Indio said about 50 cars were washed off roads bewteen Garnet and Indio.

"There may be cars completely buried which we don't know about yet," he said.

The Weather Bureau said a blizzard warning to travelers would likely be in effect through the Thanksgiving holiday, for the Sierra.

The California Highway Patrol at Truckee described visibility as poor on Interstate 80. A dispatcher said the storm at Truckee had not reached blizzard proportions because of gusty winds.

Further south in the Sierra, the Nevada Highway Patrol closed most of Nevada 27 over Mt. Rose southwest of Reno. Except for a short stretch to ski areas, the highway was closed at 5 a.m. when visibility reached zero.

Chains were required on Interstate 80 and U.S. 50 in the Sierra

rin Conservation League to study the importance of the ecology of the area.

William Thompson of the State Department of Fish and Game read a letter from department regional director Willard Greenwalk saying the marshland was the habitant of many shore birds, including the rare clapper rail.

Thompson said the department was making a study for the Bay Conservation and Development Commission on shoreline ecology. This will be finished in about four months, he said. He asked supervisors to delay action until the report is in.

Boardwalk residents speaking against the proposal included Howard Gold, Mrs. Mable Keck, Mrs. Dorothy Jane Flynn, Ray Smith and Ann McCorry.

Objections included odor from the dump, trash along streets, unsightliness, possible rat infestation, danger of settlement of land, and destruction of wildlife.

Miss McCorry urged that the county purchase the land and preserve it in its natural state.

Asst. County Administrator John F. Barrows estimated the property would cost about $400,000, of which half might be covered by a federal open space grant. The other half could be borrowed from the county retirement fund, to be repaid from dump revenue, he said.

The board agreed that the matter will come up again in three weeks if the information requested is available.

pact on its economy, but failed to stop the daily infiltration of North Vietnamese troops.

The American death toll surpassed the weekly average of 209 Americans killed during the Korean war. Most of the losses were suffered by the 1st Air Cavalry Division, the unit involved in the Ia Drang fighting.

In another combat zone, Communist forces today withdrew their siege from the district capital of Tuy An on the coast of the South China Sea and moved into the hills to the north.

"The Viet Cong really missed a big opportunity for a propaganda victory," said Maj. James R. Henry of Pittsburgh, Pa., an American adviser with the Vietnamese troops at Tuy An. "They haven't taken a district town in a long time."

Henry said the Viet Cong could have overrun Tuy An "anytime they wanted."

GUIDE

ed doubts about whether such guidelines could be added on without the danger of limiting the freedom of classroom discussion.

They agreed, however, to ask the San Rafael Teachers Assn.'s professional relations committee to study Mrs. Strom's proposal.

Meanwhile, teachers and parents in the audience protested that guidelines could do more harm than good.

"These have been controversial times for 40 years," said Mrs. Leon Morgenstern of 599 Loganberry Drive, Marinwood. "If you try to establish guidelines for reading with controversy, you are going to do nothing but create an atmosphere of fear.

"You can set up guidelines that will work for this year, maybe, but after that you will find yourselves reviewing this policy every single month."

Whsn Mrs. Morgenstern insisted the board must trust that teachers will use good judgment in the classroom, Mrs. Strom replied, "Unfortunately, this has not always been the case."

Several teachers later demanded to know specific examples where teachers had failed to use good judgment. Mrs. Strom cited none.

Board member Lawrence I. Kramer Jr. received applause when he urged that the policy be changed to "reflect confidence that teachers will handle these matters responsibly," and said he hoped they would have the courage to discuss unpopular causes.

Later in the session, Mrs. Strom aroused the ire of Terra Linda High School Principal George A. Yertson when she complained about handling of a mother's complaint that a novel about a psychopathic killer should not be in the school library.

The complaint came to light when board members read Mrs. Nora Nelson's letter to Carl Pharis, president of the school's Parent-Teacher Assn.

"I find this book offensive," Mrs. Nelson wrote of the book "Killer," by Richard Parker. "Someone should supervise the purchase of books . . . "Where is our money going?"

Yertson said he had written Mrs. Nelson explaining why the book was there, urging her to come in and talk it over, and enclosing a standard complaint form to fill out.

Mrs. Strom said she had made a similar complaint in the past and knew from experience that sending forms put parents on the defensive.

"The district should puts its arms around a parent and welcome her, not send forms," she declared.

Helicopters Turn Cement Carriers

SAN FRANCISCO (AP) — Coast Guardsmen used helicopters for hod carriers today in rebuilding seagirt Mile Rock lighthouse at the Golden Gate entrance.

The lighthouse, which rises straight up from a very small and rocky island, is being turned into a Coast Guard heliport. It will have a revolving light and fog signal in the platform base.

Because hauling concrete by boat would be so difficult, helicopters were used. Each carried 800 pounds of concrete in rebuilt oil drums slung underneath from 12-foot cables.

San Rafael Rushes Plans For Dropouts

With little hope of postponing the state deadline on setting up a "continuation school" program, the San Rafael Board of Education last night authorized classes for high school dropouts and suspended students.

One hurdle still faces the program, however: no one has been hired to teach it.

Board members reacted with shock two weeks ago when they were told that the state legislature had decreed such programs must be established by Oct. 31.

At their direction, Supt. Bert C. Corona asked the help of the Marin County superintendent's office in trying to delay the deadline. Last night Corona said the county office had offered little encouragement.

Corona produced a letter from Asst. County Supt. Robert Stannard in which he said, "It is very apparent that these regulations are to be effective this school year, 1965-66." He said the attorney general's office had declined to declare this a "transitional year," saying "it was obviously the intent of the legislature to make immediate application of these regulations."

Convinced that they could do little else, board members approved a job description for the teacher and a broad outline of the program. It calls for one class at each of the district's two high schools, with an off-campus site as a future possibility.

Disease List Short

The only cases of communicable diseases reported in Marin County for the week ending Saturday were 12 cases of streptococcus infections. There were four each in San Rafael and Novato and one in Corte Madera, Sausalito, San Anselmo and unincorporated area.

Contractor Gets City Approval For Digging

As soon as the rain stops, Paul Phillips, Novato excavating contractor, can remove dirt legally from a hill east of Terra Linda interchange.

Phillips's excavation project was stopped by the city last week because no use permit had been issued.

Last night the San Rafael Planning Commission granted the developers of the site, Eugene P. Aureguy and Harold G. MacKenzie, a use permit to remove 13,000 cubic yards of dirt.

Phillips said he has a contract with Marin County to provide 30,000 cubic yards of dirt at the site of the Veterans Memorial Building at the Civic Center.

He estimated that he has removed 17,000 cubic yards before he was shut down. The commission agreed to permit excavation until he reached the 30,000-cubic yard mark.

Mackenzie said the proposed development at the excavation site, including an indoor movie theater, a furniture store and other shops, would require total excavation of 260,000 cubic yards. He said that the development plan would be submitted to the planning staff within the next few weeks.

MacKenzie said that he was unaware that a use permit was needed for the excavating. Phillips was issued an excavation permit by the city public works department, but it was revoked after City Atty. David Menary Jr. informed Public Works Director Norris M. Rawles that a use permit from the planning commission is also required.

The permit was granted by 5-0 vote, with commissioners Thomas R. O'Toole and Pat Hetherton absent. Hetherton had attended the meeting up until this item, last on the agenda, but left before the vote was taken.

Waldo Assessment Work Is Progressing

Susalito-Marin City Sanitary District directors Monday night passed a resolution to proceed with the proposed Waldo Point assessment district between the north border of Sausalito and Richardson Bay Bridge.

Engineering work is under way and, when completed, public hearings will be held, reported director Frank I. Lawson. The district has been approved by the county board of supervisors.

Storm Victims Find Hospitality

PALM SPRINGS (UPI) — Charles Mills of Indio and Frank McGarry of San Bernardino were driving through a blinding rainstorm last Monday night near the Thunderbird Country Club here when their car overturned in a washout.

The pair was swept into a storm drain. Wet, cold and miserable, they made their way to the back door of a nearby home and knocked.

Mills and McGarry were put up for the night by actress Lucille Ball and her husband, Gary Morton.

Tulare School Bonds Defeated

TULARE (UPI)—Voters in the Tulare Union High School District yesterday rejected a proposed $2.84 million bond issue.

The measure failed by 235 votes to attain the necessary two-thirds majority when the voters gave it 1,748 "yes" votes to 991 "no" votes.

If approved, the funds would have been used for building additional classrooms and modernizing facilities at the school district's two campuses, Union and Western.

San Quentin Prepares For Escapee

San Quentin Prison officers last night made ready to welcome self-styled escape artist and three-time-loser Donald Dacey back into the fold after his latest escapade in the East Bay.

Dacey, 28, was one of the four men who broke out of the Martinez jail Sunday. He was surrounded and captured on a pig farm a few hours later.

They know all about Dacey at San Quentin. He walked away from one of the prison's camps last year and shot at an Oakland policeman during his flight.

After his capture, he was returned to the Contra Costa County Jail, only to escape in August by squirming through a window.

So they're taking no chances at San Quentin. "We shall see to it he has no chances to escape again," said Associate Warden James W. L. Park.

Dacey was originally sentenced to a term at San Quentin for a shooting at a rodeo and was in jail in Martinez waiting to face charges arising from his escape.

To San Quentin also goes Robert Burnett, 30, another of the Martinez escapees, who will serve out a term for parole violation in a place where escape is not easy.

Fort Baker Sergeant Receives Commission

S/Sgt. William D. Cote, former administration supervisor of the safety division for the headquarters, Sixth Region, Army Air Defense Command, Fort Baker, has been promoted to second lieutenant.

He will leave soon to attend the Adjutant General Corps basic training course at Fort Benjamin Harrison, Ind.

Increase In Lot Size Loses Before San Rafael Planners

San Rafael Planning Commission voted against increasing the minimum site area requirements in apartment zones last night, after protesting property owners said the change would result in economic hardship.

Acting Planner Charles J. Linthicum recommended the increase be abandoned, saying the commission could achieve its objectives more effectively through other measures.

The proposal to increase the minimum requirement from 1,000 to 1,250 square feet of land per dwelling unit was rejected by 5-1 vote. Commissioner V. Judson Klein, who dissented, said he favored postponing a decision pending study of the entire zoning ordinance. Commissioner Thomas R. O'Toole was absent.

Chairman Fred C. Robbins Jr. said the commission initiated the proposal "not to cut down the value of land, but to try to correct the tendency to overbuild on a piece of property."

Architect Robert W. F. Severin said the change would not improve the environment, but would result in cheaper buildings on more land.

The effect would be the opposite of cluster housing and the developer "would need one and a quarter parcels to handle the same number of people now on one parcel," Severin said.

Sol A. Abrams of Ross said that he, as an investor, would incur a loss if the mimimum were raised. "A large segment of taxpayers would get hurt and hurt badly," he said.

The proposed change would have affected 1,038 parcels in the multiple residential zones, transient residential zones and special multiple zones.

Several other speakers said the change would be unfair, would slow down building and thereby cause unemployment and a loss of taxes. The commission also received seven letters of protest.

Commissioners unanimously approved, however, an amendment to the zoning ordinance on density in apartment areas, spelling out the lot coverage to be permitted.

Linthicum said the amendment will provide flexibility in multiple dwelling density.

San Rafael Planning Commission Also:

1. Recommended rezoning of Kerner-Bellam properties, 20 lots, on the east side of Kerner Boulevard, from planned commercial and light industrial to multiple residential and special residential. This was by 5-1 vote with Commissioner Jorgen V. Lunding dissenting. There was no protest at a public hearing.

2. Recommended rezoning four parcels in Northgate Shopping Center unit one, on the north side of Las Gallinas Avenue, from general commercial to planned community, and granted D. M. Christensen a use permit for administrative-professional buildings on the site.

3. Recommended general commercial zoning for two lots, now unclassified, between Los Ranchitos Road and Highway 101, opposite the Emporium's east parking lot. This was requested by Draper Companies. There was no protest at a public hearing.

4. Granted Marin Ventures a variance to permit a seven-unit apartment on Ross Street, between D and Marin streets, on a lot 50-feet wide where a width of 60 feet is required. The vote was 5-1 with Lunding dissenting. Commissioners then granted architectural approval for the proposed apartment building.

5. Granted Neil Shooter a permit to construct a 50-foot radio transmitting tower on the roof of a commercial building at 77 Larkspur Street, which will be used in a two-way mobile radio communication with construction trucks.

6. Denied an application by United Ambulance service to operate its service at 18 and 20 G Street in an existing residential structure. Linthicum said the company had asked to withdraw the application.

The patrol said she was northbound just south of the Forbes overhead when her car crashed into the east bank of the highway. She was in fair condition at San Rafael General Hospital today.

GRANNY DRESSES IN THE RAIN

Judging by the weather, it was a good day for the girls at Redwood High School to don the new—or old—Granny dresses, with skirts which protect their legs from the rain. Shown here are (left to right) freshman Linda Christian; sophomore Chris Hart and junior Gayle Christian, all of Tiburon. One boy showed up in one of the long dresses, but was promptly sent home by a teacher. (Independent-Journal photo)

MARIN EMPLOYEES TO HIRE MANAGER

Association Votes 89-9 To Increase Dues, Select Full-Time Aide; Session Is Stormy

The Marin County Employees Assn. last night, in a stormy session, voted 89-9 in favor of increasing membership dues six-fold and hiring a full time manager to represent the employees' case before the Board of Supervisors.

The 98-member turn-out represented about a fifth of the total membership.

Joseph Heneberry, senior legal clerk in the county clerks office, argued long and loud for polling the membership by mail on the proposal. Association President Mrs. La Verne Robinson repeatedly called Heneberry out of order.

The debate in the planning commission chamber at the Civic Center grew so loud at one point that it disrupted a board of supervisors hearing next door on the proposed Corte Madera dump. Asst. County Administrator John F. Barrows had to ask employees to quiet down.

Among those backing the manager proposal were Treasurer-Tax Collector Stanley J. Fontez and Auditor-Controller Michael Mitchell, both elected officials.

The manager will start at a salary of $9,948. With part time secretary and office equipment and rental, the total budget will come to $18,500. This will require an increase in dues from $6 to $36 a year.

Mrs. Robinson said recruitment will begin at once with the hope of hiring a man in January.

County Sanitarian William Desmond was elected president for 1966. Other officers named were Paul Breauseau of the sealer of weights and measures department, vice president; Frances Bahl of the coroner's office, secretary, and Paul G. Eliopoulos of the auditor-controller's office, treasurer.

Board Drafts Zone Change In Larkspur

The Larkspur Planning Commission last night reworked a draft of an amendment to the city zoning ordinance which would add a planned unit development zone.

The commissioners asked that a draft of the amendment be sent to the city attorney for his opinion, City Clerk Isabelle Moore said today.

The commissioners approved plans for a garage at Wilson and Polhemus ways. The lot is in steep terrain, so the city required owner Lawrence Olin to get planning commission approval.

Commissioners also approved a tentative map of Unit Three of the Meadow, a 33-lot subdivision near Heather Gardens, off William Avenue.

Slope Policy Waiver Again Is Rejected In San Anselmo

San Anselmo city councilmen last night refused to reconsider their denial last month of a city slope policy waiver for the proposed 10-lot Ronald Court subdivision off The Alameda near Caletta Avenue.

The council voted 3-to-1 on Oct. 26 to overrule the city planning commission and deny the waiver. Applicant Harry Johnson complained he was not warned that the council would be considering the matter and asked for a rehearing.

After an hour of debate last night, Councilman Cedric E. Clute, saying, "I am not in favor of a slope policy at all," moved to rescind the waiver denial. His motion failed for lack of a second.

Johnson warned the council that if it did not grant his subdivision, "sure as God made green apples, you're going to destroy the side of that hill up there."

Johnson and his engineer, Arthur J. Lang, argued that pads for the 10 lots were graded 15 years ago and that regrading into fewer and larger lots would be a hardship and would destroy some of the natural vegetation.

"If the subdivision is not approved," Johnson said, "it will lay there for a while and then change hands. Someone will bring in a bulldozer and regrade and destroy all the oak trees there in the process."

The subdivision was approved two years ago, but Johnson did not begin work on it, the time limit ran out and it had to be resubmitted. In the meantime, the city had adopted a slope policy requiring larger lots on steep terrain.

Councilman John M. Reichmuth said: "We established the policy to deal with this sort of thing, therefore I think we should enforce it. Not to do so would be defeating whatever purpose we had."

The San Anselmo City Council also:

1. Awarded a contract for a fire engine which pumps 1,250 gallons per minute to P. E. Van Pelt Co. of Oakdale. The only other bid was over $35,000.
2. Accepted a report from William R. Zion of Berkeley on the feasibility of annexing the Short Ranch area and authorized payment of $350 for the report. Councilmen said they wished to study the 15-page report before discussing it.
3. Authorized stop signs at the southeast and northwest corners of the intersection of Broadmoor and Berkeley avenues. The other two corners already have stop signs.
4. Granted residents of Florence Avenue permission to erect banners reading "Merry Xmas" and "Happy New Year" across the entrance to that street.
5. Approved Robert B. Hubbard's final map for a three-lot subdivision between Hampton and Alderney Avenues.

Councilman William Franchini was absent.

Atascadero Hospital Ruled For Westmore

Hardy Westmore, 46, was committed to Atascadero State Hospital late yesterday following a Marin Superior Court ruling that he is mentally incapable of standing trial for the murder of College of Marin student Mike Lazar.

Judge Samuel W. Gardiner yesterday morning ordered Westmore committed to a state mental hospital, but asked Dist. Atty. Bruce B. Bales and defense attorney Richard Werthimer of San Francisco to agree on whether it should be Napa or Atascadero State Hospital. They agreed on the latter.

Westmore was taken from the county jail about 5:30 p.m. and carried by ambulance to Atascadero.

Westmore, a custodian at the college, allegedly murdered Lazar, 22, of Kentfield, last Nov. 5 at Westmore's Kentfield apartment. Wounded was Lazar's girl companion, Janine Lieberman of Sleepy Hollow.

No motive for the shootings has been established. Westmore may be returned to stand trial if officials at the state hospital later consider him able to do so.

Acreage Is Rezoned For Commercial Use

The Novato City Council, by 3-to-2 vote with Mayor Robert D. Carrow and Lucile Cannon opposing, last night rezoned from single family to planned commercial 11 acres east of Highway 101 and north of Novato Creek.

Alfred Bellucci and John Novak had requested the zoning change, which was approved Monday night by the Novato Planning Commission for the second time.

Residents of the Clausing Avenue and Clausing Court area objected to the use of Clausing Avenue as a street to the commercial area, which was planned for warehousing.

Thomas J. Mitchell of 50 Clausing Court asked for a buffer zone between the single family units and the warehouse development, making a cul-de-sac at the end of Clausing Avenue, and asked a ban on cutting the hill at the east end of the property.

Edward H. Hood of 95 Clausing Court, had a map showing a proposed buffer zone with additional single family units at the end of Clausing Avenue. This would have taken approximately half the area.

He was told by the council that a buffer zone along single family units would be considered by the council when it approves the plans for the planned commercial areas.

The Novato City Council Also:

1. Approved the master plan for Novato Square (the former Grant School property) for D. M. Christensen Construction Co. It requires that Christensen construct a section of the realigned portion of De Long Avenue.
2. Approved plans for the realignment of the De Long-Diablo Avenue intersection with Highway 101. This will move that traffic light 220 feet to the south, widen both Diablo and De Long avenues, and take out a jog in the Diablo Avenue approach to the highway.
3. Postponed until Dec. 14 hearing on abandonment of the portion of De Long Avenue between Novato Square and the planned realignment.
4. Introduced an ordinance rezoning from limited agricultural to single family dwelling the area between Shady Lane, Simmons Lane, Novato Creek and Feliz Road.
5. Postponed until Dec. 14 a request by residents of Pleasant Valley for crosswalks on Center Road.
6. Authorized spending $650 for a wooden footbridge over Novato Creek at Grant Avenue, similar to that recently constructed by the city over Warner Creek at South Novato Boulevard.
7. Postponed until Dec. 14, consideration of abandonment of an undeveloped alley between Cain and Blodget lanes.
8. Approved the final maps of San Marin units 8 and 9.
9. Received a letter from the division of highways relinquishing rights of way on frontage roads to the freeway from the Hamilton overpass north to the Highway 37 interchange.
10. Set Dec. 7 as student government day, in which Novato High School students take over honorary city positions.
11. Held a closed session to consider the possibility of a suit over the city's liability for bonds of the Scottsdale assessment district.

Parents Hit Combination Dixie Classes

Parents of pupils at Dixie School last night protested combination classes in an appearance before trustees of the Dixie School District.

There are 30 classes in the district combining two grade levels. Ten of them are at Dixie School, Supt. Dennie B. Willis said.

Mr. and Mrs. Jack Berman of 40 Mount Foraker Drive, Lucas Valley, who led the protest last night, argued that opportunities for pupils were limited in combination classes.

Berman said he was not making a plea for action this year but was requesting a policy that would reduce the combinations hereafter.

Trustees and Willis emphasized that the combinations were made because of budget limitations. Trustees reaffirmed the policy for an average of 30 pupils per class, with maximums of 30 for the first three grades and of 35 for fourth through sixth grades. When class loads exceed these maximums, combination classes will be established to handle the overload.

The Dixie School District board last night also:

1. Asked Willis to confer with the county schools office on its request for two classrooms for trainable mentally retarded at the proposed Oakview School in San Rafael Park.
2. Agreed to claim $8,100 from Maggiora, Ghilotti and Madsen of Corte Madera for delay in completion of grading at the Dixie School site. The contract on the $43,990 job called for completion in January, but the job was not finished until July.
3. Accepted the resignation of Mrs. Helen Parr, accounts clerk in the district office.
4. Approved appearance of 24 recorder students and 38 choral students from Vallecito School on television KGO's "The Young Sound of Christmas." The program is to be recorded Dec. 8.

County Expected To Write New Adult Center Contract

Peter H. Behr, chairman of the Marin County Board of Supervisors, was requested by fellow board members yesterday to work up some agreement on an activity center for older adults on Civic Center land.

The request came at the end of a long discussion of the Marin Senior Coordinating Council's request that the deadline in a lease held by the council be extended.

The lease, approved by supervisors July 17, 1961, contains a provision for cancellation if no building is started by July 17, 1966.

Vera L. Schultz, council president, said construction has been delayed, not through unwillingness of the council, but through lack of direction from the county as to what should be built.

County Administrator Alan Bruce told supervisors that county counsel Douglas J. Maloney has recently questioned the legality of the lease, saying the county must declare land surplus before it can lease it.

Mrs. Schultz, however, said the lease was deemed sound by then-counsel Leland H. Jordan, and Bruce himself wrote at the time that the lease was valid under a provision of the government code.

Supervisor Byron W. Leydecker said the argument about how the activity center is to be assured was only a side issue, and that the real crux of the matter is how it would be financed.

Mrs. Schultz and Richard Phenix, coordinator of the Citizens Advisory Committee for Older Adults, said legislation for federal financing up to one-half the cost is pending.

Mrs. Schultz suggested the balance might be raised through contributions. Supervisors thought some state fair funds may be available.

Leydecker said another issue was what group would handle the project.

Court Martial Set On Protest

EL PASO, Tex. (AP) — A general court-martial has been ordered for an Army lieutenant arrested after an anti-Viet Nam war demonstration in El Paso Nov. 6.

Lt. Henry Howe Jr., stationed at Ft. Bliss here, was charged with violating three sections of the Uniform Code of Military Justice. The court-martial has been tentatively scheduled for Dec. 13.

Howe, from Boulder, Colo., allegedly was one of a group of demonstrators protesting U. S. involvement in Viet Nam.

Many Thanksgiving Services Planned

Many churches in Marin will hold special services of thanksgiving tomorrow.

Perhaps the churches with the longest tradition of a joint Thanksgiving service are St. John's Episcopal Church in Ross and the First Presbyterian Church of San Anselmo, which will join for a service at the Ross church at 10 a.m. tomorrow.

It is the 50th annual such ecumenical service to be held by St. John's on Thanksgiving Day.

The first joint service was in 1915, held with Montgomery Presbyterian Church of San Anselmo; the following year the service was held at the San Anselmo church.

Rev. Henry Kuizenga, minister of the Presbyterian church, will preach tomorrow's sermon. The service will be conducted by Rev. Harold E. Hallett, rector of the Episcopal church.

Many congregations in southern Marin will take part in two joint services scheduled tonight.

At 8 p.m. at the Methodist Church of Mill Valley, the Tiburon Baptist Church, Tamalpais Methodist Church of Tamalpais Valley, First Southern Baptist Church of Mill Valley, First Baptist Church of Mill Valley and the Methodist congregation will have joint services.

At 8 p.m. today at the community lounge in Marin City, congregations of Christ Episcopal Church of Sausalito, Sausalito Presbyterian Church and St. Andrew United Presbyterian Church of Marin City will hold services.

A joint thanksgiving service will be held at 8 p.m. today at Aldersgate Methodist Church, Terra Linda, with the Methodist congregation and those from Christ Presbyterian, Faith Lutheran, and Lucas Valley Baptist Community churches, the Episcopal Church of the Nativity, and Congregational United Church of Christ. A combined choir will sing the Thanksgiving anthem.

Rev. James Upshaw of Christ Presbyterian Church will lead the meditation. Rev. Paul Schurman of Aldersgate Church, and a layman, Curtis Rygg of Faith Lutheran, will conduct the service.

Shepherd of the Hills Lutheran Church, Tiburon, will have a service at 7:30 p.m. today with the sermon title being "God Thanks You."

Kentfield Youth Denies Charges

George Garvin May, 22, pleaded innocent in Marin Superior Court yesterday to charges of felony assault with intent to rape, lewd and lascivious behavior, and burglary.

Jury trial was scheduled for Feb. 14.

May, of 1117 Sir Francis Drake Boulevard, Kentfield, allegedly committed the acts Oct. 10 in Larkspur, involving a 32-year-old Atherton woman.

Complete Training

Marine Pfc. Kellan M. Kyllo, son of Mr. and Mrs. Hiram Kyllo of 55 Ranch Road, San Rafael, has completed individual combat training with the Second Infantry Training Regiment at the Marine Corps Base at Camp Pendleton.

Aesthetics Of Engineers Is Challenged

The Marin County Board of Supervisors threw down the gauntlet to the Army Corps of Engineers yesterday on a matter of aesthetics.

Supervisors decided to make a test case of a Corps of Engineers' flood control project in Mill Valley.

And in hope of recruiting powerful allies, the supervisors directed that Mrs. Lyndon B. Johnson, Defense Secy. Robert McNamara and congressmen involved in flood control allocations be informed of the issue.

COUNTY AIM

If the county wins, the way might be cleared for a second phase of the Corte Madera Creek flood control project through Ross Valley, to which cities there have objected on the basis they do not want a wide concrete ditch running through what is now a wooded dell.

Several weeks ago, the supervisors approved an agreement with the Corps of Engineers for straightening and widening of Arroyo Corte Madera del Presidio Creek through Mill Valley. But they added a provision that the project be constructed to be "compatible with the natural environment" and insure preservation of the "aesthetic qualities of the area."

DISLIKES WORDING

Yesterday, back came a letter from Lt. Col. Robert H. Allan, district engineer for the corps, saying this wording is not acceptable. Nobody knows what the cost of preserving natural beauty would be, he contended; therefore, the cost of the project could not be tied down and it could not be recommended to Congress. He asked the supervisors to approve the agreement without the addition.

This the supervisors refused unanimously to do.

"We are trying to change an attitude imbedded in the federal government," Supervisor Byron W. Leydecker declared.

It was Supervisor Thomas T. Storer who suggested that the board seek support from the first lady.

"She's talking about beauty and we're talking about beauty. I think it's appropriate," said Storer.

Heroin Raiders Arrest Three

SAN JOSE (UPI)— Nartocics agents have arrested three persons and seized heroin valued at $85,000 in the largest haul of narcotics in the San Jose area.

Arrested Tuesday were Charles V. Rocha, 44, Frank Ram, 29, and Lavina Medina, 30, San Jose.

Arresting officers described Rocha, a Santa Clara service station manager, as the most important source of heroin in the area. He was picked up at his service station where authorities found 10 ounces of heroin.

Ram, a San Jose auto painter, and Mrs. Medina, a mother of five, have been under surveillance for several months.

Human Rights Forum Slated For Next Month

A countywide symposium to discuss and evaluate basic human rights will be sponsored by the Marin County Human Rights Commission on Dec. 11.

Walter Bremond, director of the Human Rights Commission and general director of the symposium, said the all-day conference, beginning at 8:30 a.m., will be held at the Marin City Community Building.

Guest speakers will include Oakland attorney Donald Worden, head of the Afro-American Society; Will Ussery, first vice chairman of the National Congress Of Racial Equality and Frank Quinn, director of the San Francisco Human Rights Commission.

Mrs. William Garoutte of Mill Valley, who is in charge of planning the symposium, named the following committee chairmen:

Joseph Stewart of Mill Valley and Mrs. Leonard Sperry of Tiburon, fund-raising; Rev. John O'Connor of San Rafael and Brian Beard of Marin City, participation; Mrs. Harry Bailey of Mill Valley, luncheon; Arthur Brown of Marin City, site arrangement; Dr. Alfred Azevedo of Tiburon, consultant, and Mrs. Joseph Forest of Novato, publicity.

Redwood Park Prices Branded Unrealistic

EUREKA (AP)—The National Park Service proposals for a redwood national park in Northern California grossly underestimate the land acquisition costs, the Redwood Region Conservation Council declared today.

The service was "speaking from the heart rather than the mind" when it said 93,000 acres could be purchased for $120 million to create a park in Humboldt and Del Norte counties, said Eldon V. Shafer, the council's executive vice president.

The council represents lumber producers — the region's major industry — as well as farming, ranching and business interests.

The park service advanced three alternative proposals Monday at a Washington conference with Interior Secretary Stewart L. Udall.

Shafer said the timber lands in the proposed park area were worth at least $200 million before the other cost factors were considered.

Among these Shafer cited lumber plant facilities as well as in lieu taxes, litigation costs, and normal inflation factors.

"The cost of developing such a vast acreage once acquired is staggering," Shafer argued.

"Instead of $120 million, the actual cost will range between $250 million and $500 million."

In addition to its 93,000 - acre plan A, the park service proposed plan B taking 76,131 acres and plan C taking 50,000 acres.

Shafer said park service officials had to admit that both plan A and plan B would result in putting three lumber companies out of business. He said these were the Arcata Redwood Company, the Miller Redwood Company, and the Rellim Redwood Company.

Sausalito To Buy Boat Fire Pump

The Sausalito City Council last night authorized purchase of a $700 portable fire pump to be used especially for boat fires in the city's three yacht harbors.

City Mgr. Charles A. Brown stressed urgent need for the gasoline-operated pump, citing two boat fires last weekend.

The pump has a draft suction hose, can be carried by one man, dropped into the bay for water. Councilmen asked Brown to meet with harbor owners to see about contributions to buying this pump or other pumps for the harbors.

Finnish Workers Cut 'Hot Line'

HELSINKI (UPI) — Finnish officials said the "hot line" between Moscow and Washington probably was disrupted for a short time this morning because of construction work west of Helsinki.

Most cable connections between Finland and the Soviet Union were cut by the work, but were reported back in service in a half-hour.

A Finnish spokesman said the hot line, designed to provide instant communications between Moscow and Washington, was switched to a reserve cable but that it was believed a short break occurred.

Open House Set At Marin Monastery

A monastery for cloistered Carmelite nuns whose main purpose will be to pray for Russia and for increased understanding and love between the eastern and western rites of the Catholic Church was founded today in Marinwood.

The nine nuns who will inhabit the newly constructed monastery at 530 Blackstone Drive came from the mother cloister at Carmel-by-the-Sea. The Marinwood monastery has been named "Carmel of the Mother of God."

The monastery will have an "open house" from 10 a.m. to noon and 2-5 p.m. tomorrow, Friday and Saturday when the cloistered section and other sections of the monastery will be open to the public.

The entranceway to the monastery has a Byzantine style cupola above it, emphasizing the nuns' interest in the Eastern rites, church officials explained.

The monastery's temporary chapel has icons painted by the nuns. The simple monastic furnishings were constructed by them.

The monastery was formally founded today because it is the feast day of St. John of the Cross, a Carmelite, and the birthday anniversary of Junipero Serra.

Collides With Pole

Robert D. Cole, 44, of 70 Woodside Lane, Mill Valley, was treated at Marin General Hospital Monday for cuts on his forehead, suffered when his eastbound auto struck a light pole at 855 San Anselmo Avenue, San Anselmo, at 1 p.m. yesterday. Police Chief Raymond R. Buchignani said Cole was not able to tell officers how the accident happened.

Park Meeting Off

The San Anselmo Parks and Recreation Commission, scheduled to meet Monday night in the Ross Valley Savings and Loan Building meeting room, failed to meet as the room was reserved for another meeting, reported parks and recreation director A. J. Snyder Jr. The meeting was postponed to the commission's regular meeting date, Dec. 20, Snyder said.

TURKEY'S KING

Restaurants Slate Traditional Fare

By HARRY CRAFT

Tomorrow's restaurant menus will share something in common —whether their usual listings are French, German, Italian, Spanish or Cantonese.

Thanksgiving is the one day of the year when the spotlight shifts away from coq au vin, wiener chnitzel, scallopini, tamales and chow mein to give first billing to that grand old American entree—roast turkey.

And no matter where you go out for dinner, the odds are about 15 to one against your cluttering up the rest of your fare with anything like escargots, red cabbage, polenta, refried beans or fortune cookies. The fact is, if you're a turkey eater at all, you'll take your meat white or dark, straight off the breast or drumstick—but almost certainly with the traditional dressing, mashed potatoes and gravy, cranberry sauce and pumpkin pie.

Today's cultivated turkey may be larger and in some ways a different bird from the one the Pilgrims flushed from cover, but it still has the same built-in gobble, holiday flavor and wishbone—and Americans eat about seven pounds of it apiece every year.

Marin restauranteurs will either remain open tomorrow and adjust their menus accordingly —or close the doors and give their employees a holiday. In the latter event, the odds are still good their own dinners at home or elsewhere will contain the regular Thanksgiving ingredients.

This year the number of restaurants open and closed remains about equally divided. And this means that with more than 50 establishments open around the county you should have no trouble locating one near home to host you.

Should you care to make it a full family affair with Uncle Ned, Aunt Margaret and the twins, you will even find some dineries perfectly willing to seat your group in front of its individual turkey, and either turn you loose with the carving knife or save you the trouble and perform the slicing with a professional flair.

But in spite of the featured entree, nonconformists will still be able either to order from the regular menu, or have such alternate choices as baked ham, chicken, prime rib, steaks and lobster — or perhaps duck or goose.

Complete dinners will be priced in whatever bracket each restaurant is accustomed to charge for its usual fare. At some places this may mean under $3, and at others as high as $7.50. The median range is $3.25 to about $4.50.

The hour for dinner service to begin will also vary from noon to 3, 4, 5 and in some cases 6 p.m. Phone your favorite restaurant to check whether it's open or closed and make a reservation for a time to suit your own convenience.

Highway Safety Depends On Roads, Drivers, Cars

The California Highway Patrol will double its manpower in the next three and one-half years, and the bulk of this increase will be channeled toward saving motorists from death and injury.

Traffic accidents will be attacked on two fronts:

First, more patrol officers will prowl the highways to serve as accident deterrent. Second, roadside inspections will increase the mechanical reliability of cars on the road.

The inspection program will involve spot checks of brakes, lights, tires, horns, wipers and other safety devices.

This is a commendable program as far as California is concerned.

But the nation as a whole may still be missing the boat by failing to get at what some safety engineers consider one of the basic causes of injury and death—the "second collision" between occupants of a car and the car's interior.

California is taking steps to cut down on the "first collision"—between car and car or car and tree. Better illumination of highways, more freeways with center barriers, and now the increase in patrol personnel all help to reduce accidents.

Some safety engineers are convinced that if similar efforts are made to "soften" the impact of the "second collision," many lives could be saved, and injuries reduced in number and gravity.

Car manufacturers, instead of concentrating on more horsepower, fancier upholstery, and more electronic gadgets, should be induced to pay greater attention to safety features.

Some of the safety suggestions include collapsible steering columns, recessed knobs and door handles, break-off rear view mirrors, additional interior padding, and head supports to prevent whiplash.

The most effective way to tackle this problem of "second collision" is on the national level, in cooperation with Detroit manufacturers.

Each state can pass laws controlling safety features in automobiles, but this would only add to confusion in Detroit. The possibility of a different set of standards in 50 different states would pose a frightening problem for auto manufacturers.

Drunken drivers, inadequate patroling, defective design of the highways, and driver neglect have traditionally shared the blame for the increasing highway toll.

To these should be added the responsibility of manufacturers to see that the ultimate in safety features are installed in vehicles when they roll off the assembly lines in Detroit.

Rain And The Woodsy Smell

Trees are Marin's greatest asset. Along with trees goes that delightful aroma of leaves, the faintly ammonia smell of decaying vegetation, and the fertile perfume of the loamy topsoil.

This woodsy smell is here all year round, but it seems particularly apparent after a good rain. Rain seems to release the latent fragrance of the bay, the eucalyptus, all the leaves, as well as the good earth itself.

Turn on the rain; bring on the perfume.

AFFAIRS OF STATE

State Employee Contributions To Campaigns All Part Of Game

By HENRY C. MacARTHUR

SACRAMENTO — Politics continues to be an amusing game to watch, for the observer with a sense of humor, but at times it's difficult to know the names of the players or the ground rules without a program.

Take the recent major new policy which State Controller Alan Cranston said he had "formulated over the past year." This is that he will accept no "direct or indirect financial contributions" to his political campaigns from the 151 state inheritance tax appraisers whom he appoints.

"If any contribution from an appraiser comes into my hands or the hands of any of my campaign groups or staff, it will be returned to the individual who sent it," Cranston said in a stern memo to all state ITA's.

THIS NEW POSITION of Cranston, an elected Democratic official, puts him about 180 degrees from another elected Democratic official, Gov. Edmund G. Brown. Recently, it was learned that appointees of the governor were tapped for contributions to his 1966 campaign (if he chooses to run).

To make it easier for the appointees to know how much was expected of them, the governor's bagmen had a schedule all prepared—from $1,250 to $1,500 for those in the top brackets and earning $25,000 or more a year, down to $100 to $250 for those in the lower brackets and earning $12,000 a year, or less.

Gov. Brown said he had no knowledge of the collection activity until it was brought to light in the press but thought it was just fine that his appointees should contribute. Brown said he knew of no other place where he could accept campaign contributions where there would be less attempt to put the pressure on him.

APPARENTLY, Cranston held similar ideas in the spring of 1964, when he was seeking the Democratic nomination for U.S. senator. At the time, his opponent, short-time Sen. Pierre Salinger, charged that Cranston required substantial political contributions from all appraisers.

Whether or not the charges were true, some feel this was the major issue in the primary campaign which Salinger won. Salinger went down to defeat in the general election, at the hands of Sen. George Murphy, the Republican. Many felt Salinger's carpetbagger image cost him the election, but, in the primary, the image of collecting contributions from appointees apparently outweighed carpetbagging.

THE INHERITANCE tax appraisers have been considered by most politicians as one of the most politically potent forces in California, under mostly Republican controllers. Nowadays, appraisers collect fees of up to $50,000 a year for their part-time work.

In Cranston's behalf, it must be said he has made some reforms. He now requires the appraisers to report the amount of their take each year, as well as a breakdown on expenses and net income (the latter figures only for the past year or so).

But the system has been under attack by both Democrats and Republicans. One of the leaders has been Assemblyman William T. Bagley, R-San Rafael, who has been unsuccessful in several tries to put the ITA's under civil service, with the state treasury receiving the fat commissions, rather than the ITA's.

Bagley is not too impressed with Cranston's recent white paper on ITA political contributions. Bagley claims "a much deeper and much more devious defect" in the system involves "employee expense" of his appraisers. Bagley said this sometimes doubles during election years.

The assemblyman's inference is that, while the politically appointed appraisers may not contribute directly to the campaign, they can use part of their generous fees to hire campaign workers.

Meters Should Be Observed By All

Editor, Independent-Journal:

In answer to Cliff Lund.

I have looked around long and hard. I have spent 20 years of my life in business in San Rafael. Who is kidding whom—just what was this grace period for? On each parking meter is printed "one hour parking limit." In case you don't know what that means, it means everybody, including you.

As you know by now, it created a multitude of sins when it (was) left . . . up to our meter maids . . . who should get tickets. That is no way to get justice for all, even for one, in your frame of mind.

Now as for (joining) the Chamber of Commerce, I have news for you. The Chamber of Commerce cannot get any more done as a group (than) I have done as a single citizen in this town. . . . Any pressure can spend other people's money to get things done, but I, as an individual have accomplished the same thing without a pressure group and spending other people's money.

Next time, think before you jump into the fire. Find out what it is all about. It is the right of every free citizen to speak out, even you.

Clergy, Civil Rights Coverage Noted

Editor, Independent-Journal:

In the Nov. 16 paper appeared a letter from Mr. Mac Hull, president, Catholic Interracial Council of Marin, thanking you for your generous coverage of the first of a series of community awareness panel programs sponsored by the Council.

I would like to further comment that the reporter covering that assignment, Mr. Jeff Greer, seems to possess a keen perception and understanding of the points trying to be put across. In the past I have submitted releases to Mr. Greer in connection with the Friendship House program, person-to-person contact via interracial home visits, and again, Mr. Greer very ably captured the essense of what it was all about.

No doubt you will agree that this is not always the case in newspaper writing and, therefore, Mr. Greer is to be congratulated.

Rhodesia Reality Refutes Vargas Idea

Editor, Independent-Journal:

Chester G. Vargas lauds the white Rhodesian government for its moral virtue (Nov. 15) and says they "have provided a rational means for their colored neighbors to aspire to and achieve democracy." The African need only acquire a high school education and $1,000 worth of property.

Facts about Rhodesia dispel illusions:

1. Public funds expended per year for education per white child: 100 pounds; per African child: 8 pounds, less than one-tenth as much.

2. Schools for 90 per cent of African children are provided not by public funds, but by various churches. These are mostly five to eight grades. Last year only 93 Africans reached junior college level.

3. Churches are now being pressed to dismiss the very few Africans who have been admitted to their (white) prep schools.

4. For the same job there are three pay scales: The highest, for whites; mid-range, for "colored" (mixed race); lowest, for Africans. Average African wage is 9 per cent of average European wage.

5. Africans were systematically resettled on the "reserves" — mainly marginal lands where the average income per family is the equivalent of $200 per year. Areas open to "Native Purchase" are meager and generally poor.

If education and property are to be prerequisites to voting rights, to adopt a settled policy of denying the opportunity to acquire either is plainly immoral.

U. S. Troops Have Reason For Killing

Editor, Independent-Journal:

I have read the article in the Nov. 17 copy submitted by John Cherry, who seems to have different views on the Viet Nam war than I, which is his right, and I ask a favor of him. The favor is, never place my name among those of Steve Cherkoss or Mario Savio again!

Also, I'd like to say that I do believe that most of the Viet Nam war protesters are Communist, and the rest are cowards.

One more thing I'd like to say is—in Cherry's letter he says, "I myself have a brother who is 1-A, and who at any time may be forced by the government to move thousands of miles from home, to kill in cold blood innocent men against whom he has nothing whatsoever." Well, let me give something for his brother to have against the "innocent" men he'd be fighting.

If he goes to Viet Nam, while he's shooting some of the Viet Cong in "cold blood," let him think of all the other young, brave men who have been murdered by the V.C., and that alone should be enough to make him able to keep on killing until this war is over.

Citizens Damage Schools By Vote

Editor, Independent-Journal:

The recent defeat of the Tam school bonds raises a question. Should citizens, by local option, be allowed to irreparably damage the educations of their children? Perhaps the current successes of Soviet Russia are tied to their profound understanding of the value of education.

TRY AND STOP ME

BENNETT CERF

GEORGE JESSEL, who has a keen appreciation of feminine pulchritude, swore to Shirley Eder on a Detroit TV program, that he had once been engaged to Rita Hayworth for two months. On their way to Las Vegas to have the knot tied, declared Jessel, Rita put her head on his shoulder and took a nap. When she woke up, she looked soulfully into his eyes and said, "Phil, I never loved anyone as much as I love you." 'That did it," concluded Jessel. "I instructed the driver, 'Turn around and head for home.' "

DURING THE quail season in Georgia, an Atlanta journalist spotted a farmer out hunting with his very old pointer. While he watched, the dog pointed twice, and twice the farmer peered into the brush, wheeled and fired into the empty air. The journalist, intrigued, ran over for an explanation. "Shucks," said the farmer, "I know there ain't no birds in that grass—but my poor old dog's nose ain't what it used to be. But we two has had some mighty wonderful times together, and he's still doing the best he can. It would be mighty mean of me to call him a liar."

Automation Can Help Business, Labor Or Cause Social Disaster

By ROSCOE DRUMMOND and SAM ZAGORIA

(Zagoria is a member of the National Labor Relations Board and former assistant to Sen. Clifford Case of New Jersey.)
(Last of a series)

WASHINGTON — Computer-automation can help labor and management reach their fondest objectives — or it can produce social disaster.

If it is to be allowed to work its wonders, management must accept human responsibilities, labor must free itself from any blind resistance, and government must help cushion its application.

You can't featherbed a computer, but no humane society can permit workers to be made jobless on a large scale through no fault of their own.

Nothing that is now being done is equal to the size of the problem.

Much labor opposition is hobbling computer-automation from accomplishing its vast potential.

Industry willingness to assure that the computer will not cost any present employee his job does not remove labor's understandable fear that massive automation will mean massive unemployment unless far-reaching advance preparations are made.

INDIVIDUAL COMPANIES and individual unions have made some beginnings. Kaiser Steel and the United Steel Workers of America have agreed that displaced workers would be guaranteed salaries for up to three years and placed in an employment reserve. The Armour meat packing firm and its unions have set up a fund to study the effects of automation on employees and to retrain affected workers.

But the vision of the good the computers can do and the dangers to be averted in order to enable it to be humanely applied needs to be lifted higher.

Take, for example, the book publishing field, which sparkles with enlightened businessmen.

A COMPUTER can arrange a book on a line-for-line basis, making all corrections and alterations in copy and format before the final output tape is produced for activating an electronic typesetting device. The computer can process a 300-page book, 50 lines per page, in approximately three hours — a job which would tie up a single printer working manually for nearly a month, 12 hours a day, six days a week. The potential for upheaval in the composing room is readily visible.

What is management's responsibility to the worker being displaced?

Suppose the book publishing industry launched a study of the skills involved in their composing room operations, worked with unions and government to determine how such skills could best be utilized in a worker-short industry (the office machine repair field, for example) and what type of training was necessary to make the transition. This is the suggestion of Herbert Striner, director of program development at the W. E. Upjohn Institute for Employment Research. Such an initiative might lead to a joint labor-management - government retraining program.

ANOTHER SUGGESTION: develop a plan whereby workers can carry accumulated benefits such as pension rights, welfare and health benefits, sick leave, and vacation credits from job to job. It is grim enough for a worker to find an electronic widget has taken his job, requiring him to find another, perhaps move to a far distant community to do so, without also having to give up the work benefits he had accumulated in his years of service.

None of these suggestions are offered as solutions. They simply point where more creative thinking is urgently and crucially needed. What must come next is energetic action at the highest level of management, labor, and government.

Ambassador Bohlen Is Leaving France

By ROBERT S. ALLEN and PAUL SCOTT

WASHINGTON — President Lyndon B. Johnson is going to have to get a new ambassador to France.

Ambassador Charles (Chip) Bohlen has reached the end of the road there.

The veteran career diplomat has incurred the imperious displeasure of President de Gaulle. Bohlen's firmly realistic views and plain talk about de Gaulle's anti-U.S. machinations and policies have outraged the French president.

De Gaulle has also let it be known he thinks Bohlen has "campaigned" against his re-election.

While Bohlen is not formally pronounced persona non grata, it has been made clearly evident to him and Washington that his usefulness is ended and he is no longer wanted in Paris. Graphically illustrative is the following:

On several occasions when Bohlen, on State Department instructions, asked to see De Gaulle personally, he was told he was "busy" — an obvious brush-off and rebuke. For the president of France to refuse to meet the personal envoy of the president of the United States with that kind of spurious excuse was a deliberate snub — to Bohlen and the government he represents.

In each instance, Bohlen made a full report to Secretary of State Dean Rusk.

SHORTLY BEFORE De Gaulle finally let his compatriots know he was willing to accept a second term, provided he is re-elected by a "massive" majority, Bohlen quietly went to Nice and took a slow boat to the U.S. Inquirers at the State Department are now told he is on "home leave."

The inside word is that Bohlen "probably" will return to Paris to advise secretaries Rusk and Robert McNamara when they attend the annual NATO foreign and defense ministers conference in mid December.

The state and defense department heads rate him highly as an astute and long-experienced authority on both France and the Soviet bloc. He speaks French and Russian fluently, and has had extensive service in both countries. Bohlen was President Dwight D. Eisenhower's ambassador to Moscow from 1953 to 1957.

WITH 36 YEARS in the foreign service, Bohlen, 61, has been eligible to retire since 1959. He was seriously considering doing that in 1962, following several years as ambassador to the Philippines.

But when Gen. James Gavin decided he had had enough of De Gaulle's haughty contretemps and quit as ambassador, President John F. Kennedy persuaded Bohlen to postpone retiring and undertake the thorny job of trying to get along with "le grande Charlie."

Bohlen gamely stuck it out for more than three years, but he has had enough, and apparently so has De Gaulle. The next move is up to President Johnson.

BOHLEN, spending "home leave" sunning himself in the Caribbean, can be grateful for one thing: In being away from overcast and dreary Paris, he is missing a horde of congressional junketeers.

CINDY WHO?

How Did Cindy Adams Write Sukarno Book?

By DICK WEST

WASHINGTON (UPI) — An American book publisher has just brought forth a volume titled "Sukarno: An Autobiography As Told To Cindy Adams." Cindy Adams?

Sukarno, as everyone knows, is the president of Indonesia and one of the most controversial figuers on the world scene. Some of his comments in the book already have been well publicized.

But what interested me was how he happened to pour out his life story to someone named Cindy Adams. I was even more intrigued when I learned that she is the wife of comedian Joey Adams.

MY CURIOSITY as to how the Sukarno-Adams literary team was born prompted me to drop in on a party given by the Indonesian ambassador to celebrate publication of the book.

I picked up a copy and found the answer right in the first chapter. Sukarno likes pretty girls and Cindy Adams is a pretty girl.

That seemed to call for a fuller explanation. So I sought out Joey and Cindy, who were attending the party, and urged them to elucidate.

They first met Sukarno in 1961 when Joey was touring Southeast Asia under the Cultural Exchange Program. Cindy went along on the trip to write some pieces for a U.S. newspaper syndicate.

When they arrived in Indonesia, she arranged to interview Sukarno, who immedately took a shine to her. After they got back home, he asked her to return and help him with his autobiography.

"SUKARNO asured me he would look after Cindy very carefully," Joey said. "He said, 'Don't worry about a thing. I'll treat her like one of my own.'

'So I wrote back and said, 'That's what I'm afraid of.' "

When Cindy returned to Indonesia, Joey went with her. He said he and Sukarno became good friends. It turned out that Sukarno admired his jokes as well as his wife.

Joey said that Sukarno, despite recent appearances to the contrary, is fond of America and American things.

"What is he fond of besides American women?" I asked.

"Stretch sox," Joey replied.

Emissaries Need Drip-Dry Suits For Latin American Travels

WASHINGTON — It had to come sooner or later. First there was the sit-in, then the lie-in, and then the teach-in. Now word reaches us from Latin America that the students down there are engaged in spit-ins.

The two latest victims of the spit-ins were Sen. Robert Kennedy and Sec. of State Dean Rusk. Both men were on "goodwill" misisons to Latin America and, although they are not in agreement with each other on our policy in South America, each one was spat upon by left wing students.

The spit-ins have caused grave concern at the State Department, as there doesn't seem to be any diplomatic response to it. It is known that the CIA had warned both Rusk and Kennedy that Communist students were salivating in anticipation of their visits, but neither man decided to take any precautions. The CIA had urged Rusk and Kennedy to wear astronaut helmets with specially built-in windshield wipers when addressing the South American students. But they pooh-poohed the idea.

SECURITY OFFICERS then urged them to keep a distance of 15 feet from the students, which was considered safe and allowed for windage as well. But Kennedy and Rusk would have none of it.

Kennedy argued, "You will never understand the Latin American position if you keep your distance from the students."

Rusk said, "There are some students who are the spitting image of Castro, but there are many other students who are on our side."

Before leaving for South America, Kennedy was briefed by former vice president Richard Nixon who had been the first one exposed to this form of heckling.

Nixon told Kennedy, "The ones to watch out for are the students who chew gum."

He told Kennedy to wear a raincoat, rubbers, and to always carry a clean handkerchief.

HE ALSO ADVISED Kennedy, "Weave and bob a lot, so you won't be a stationary target."

Either Kennedy ignored Nixon's advice or the students had been practicing for just such a defense.

Kennedy admitted later: "I should have bobbed when I weaved."

It hadn't been on the OAS agenda, but the United States did bring up the subject of spit-ins at the Rio de Janeiro conference.

The U.S. hoped to add an amendment to the OAS charter that anyone who spat on an American diplomat or senator would be subject to a $50 fine or the overthrow of his government or both. But the Latin American diplomats rejected it.

One opponent of the amendment said, "It's hard enough to keep our people from spitting on the busses and on the sidewalk. To ask them to stop spitting on politicians and diplomats is out of the question."

"Then," Rusk asked, "what do you suggest we do?"

"What politicians in Latin America have been doing for years. We spit back."

Youths Face Charge After Citizen Chase

Two Santa Venetia 18-year-olds were chased down Monday night by an irate resident of Bel Marin Keys, and lodged in Marin County Jail for investigation of breaking about 15 windows of unoccupied homes in that subdivision.

The two are Gerald Philip Boyce, 405 Adrain Way, and Alfred Robert Cordeiro, 83 Smith Ranch Road.

A sheriff's deputy got in on the end of the chase. About 10 p.m., he saw one car pursuing another along Bel Marin Keys Boulevard.

The lead car ran off the road and got stuck in the mud. Its two occupants took flight on foot.

The pursuing car was that of Robert H. Harris of 120 Caribe Isle, Bel Marin Keys. He told officers he pursued the boys as they sped away after the windows were broken by throwing rocks.

Boyce returned to the scene shortly afterward and surrendered. Cordeiro was arrested later at his home.

SAN FRANCISCO (UPI) — Postmaster John F. Fixa, 67, of San Francisco announced today that he will retire Dec. 30 after 17 years of service.

Tomales Evening Classes Expense Told Committee

It would cost the Tomales High School District approximately two cents in additional taxes to start an adult evening school for 50 students, Supt. Anthony Matulich Monday reported to a citizen committee studying the possibility of an adult education program.

State reimbursement would be $125 per student, but cost would probably be $350 to $400 per student, he said. This would mean a cost of $3,375 for the district for 50 students, representing two cents on the tax rate.

The Marin Junior College District and Santa Rosa Junior College, and the Petaluma, Santa Rosa, Novato and Tamalpais high school districts all have good adult programs which are available to the residents of the Tomales district, Matulich said.

Matulich was authorized by the committee to report these findings to the district board of trustees at its Dec. 9 meeting.

Marijuana Charge Jury Trial Slated

Jury trial of Dean Howard Engle, 20, of Monterey on a charge of possessing marijuana was scheduled for Jan. 24 in Marin Superior Court yesterday following his plea of innocent.

He and Gary John Gilbert, 23, of San Francisco, allegedly had about $200 worth of marijuana in their car on Beach Road near Tiburon on Sept. 20. Gilbert pleaded guilty to possession of a device to smoke a narcotic, and is to be sentenced Dec. 7.

Marin City Teen-Ager Denies Stealing Auto

Fred Richard Jones, 18, of 251 Drake Avenue, Marin City, pleaded innocent in Marin Superior Court yesterday to car theft. Jury trial was scheduled for Jan. 31.

Jones allegedly took a vehicle owned by John Friend from Corte Madera on Sept. 1.

J. Edgar Hoover is 69.

Motorist Injured

Thomas F. Stommel, 16, of 48 San Marino Drive, San Rafael, was treated at Marin General Hospital Monday for cuts on mouth and chest and a bruised right arm after his eastbound car went off South San Pedro Road, 300 feet east of Manderly Road, San Rafael, and struck a tree, the California Highway Patrol reported.

Telephone Attack Leads To Charge

John Allen Acree, 18, was jailed today under $1,100 bail on a complaint charging felony assault.

Jack J. Green, 16, of 449 Marin Drive, Tamalpais Valley, said Acree entered his bedroom on Nov. 15 and beat him about the head with a telephone receiver.

Green, who was hospitalized, told sheriff's officers Acree berated him for allegedly telephoning a 17-year-old girl Acree had been dating.

Acree was arrested late Monday. He resides at 109 Cardinal Road, Tamalpais Valley.

Dr. Grace G. Cox is president of Marin School Psychologists.

Finland Uses Unusual Bidding In European Championships

WEDnesday BRIDGE— — — — K218-2—Finland Uses — — —

Finland finished in sixth place in the recent European championships, giving most of the other countries a great deal of trouble.

One reason was the unusual bidding method used by the Finns, as shown in today's hand.

Opening lead — ♡ 10

North's opening bid of one no-trump on 8 high-card points is recommended only to Finns and millionaires.

In this case the final contract was a bit ambitious but not really unreasonable.

HOW IT WENT

West opened the ten of hearts, and South saw that the problem was to limit the loss in diamonds to one trick.

If he had held A-10-9 of diamonds he would have tried two finesses. If he had held A-3-2 of diamonds he would have played for K-x or Q-x in an opponent's hand.

South went astray because he had the nine of diamonds but not the ten.

South took both top hearts, ruffed a heart, led a trump to the ace and ruffed another heart.

Then he led a trump to the jack and returned a club.

ACCURATE RETURN

Jack Kelly, of the Irish team, won wth the queen of clubs and made the very accurate return of the ten of diamonds.

South could have made the contract by playing low from the dummy and leading his other club.

East would have to take the next diamond with the king and then any return would allow dummy to ruff while South discarded a diamond.

HOPES RAN OUT

The nine of diamonds made South hope that Kelly had led his top diamond and that East had both the king and queen. He therefore played the jack of diamonds from dummy. East covered with the king, and South won.

East won the next club and returned a diamond. This gave West two tricks with the queen and eight of diamonds, defeating the contract.

South would have made the contract if Kelly had led any diamond but the ten. For example, if West led a low diamond, South would play low from the dummy and capture the king with the ace. He could then lead a diamond toward dummy to get a trick with the jack of diamonds.

DAILY QUESTION

Partner opens with one spade after two passes, and the next player passes.

You hold:

♠ A J 4 2
♥ K 6 5 3
♦ J 7 4
♣ 9 8

What do you say?

ANSWER: Bid two spades.

This is a maximum holding for this raise, but don't worry about missing a game. If partner cannot bid again, you are most unlikely to have a game.

OTHER PEOPLE'S BUSINESS

By HARRY CRAFT

Two San Anselmo Firms Growing Into New Locations Elsewhere

Two San Anselmo businesses, crowded almost to the walls, are planning to expand to other locations.

After 20 years at 120 Tunstead Avenue, Maurice Bertauche will move his manufacturing plant, La Ville Food Products, to Northgate Industrial Park.

Bertauche, now marketing his gourmet foods all over the world, will have an 8,000-square-foot, one-story plant and warehouse on Carlos Drive designed by John Marshall and David Gibbs, and built by Ronald Antonioli, who has been doing much of the construction in the park. The new building will give Bertauche about three times his present space.

At this point "the crystal ball is not clear," says Bertauche, but he looks for a removal to the industrial park about the middle of February.

CAIN'S TIRE at 20 Greenfield Avenue has insufficient room there to take care of its wholesale business and now has under construction a 9,000-square-foot building on Industrial Way, Greenbrae. This is on the east side of 101 Highway and behind the Flying A station. There is also 3,000 square feet of outside area.

The location will be turned over to wholesale and tire capping operations, enabling Pat McAlonan and Robert Lyons to put out about 200 tires a day. It should be ready by the middle of this month.

The San Anselmo location will not be abandoned. After the tire capping equipment is out, it will be completely remodeled for drive-in retail service.

The Greenbrae plant will be Cain's fourth location. There is also one in Salinas, and of course Cain's Goodyear Service in San Rafael.

NEW NAME for Edward Hageman and Associates, San Rafael, is now Hageman-Thomas-Eklund, Inc. It's a case of two young Novato men who started their careers as building designers working for Hageman becoming members of the firm —C. Jay Thomas, who has been with the company since 1952, and Robert E. Eklund Jr., there since 1955.

Hageman first opened his own building design firm in San Anselmo in 1951. For about three years prior to that he was associated with Ray Nolan. Incidentally, he and San Anselmo designer Ray S. Hall have been appointed co-chairmen for the annual convention of the American Institute of Building Design to be held at the Jack Tar Hotel, San Francisco, in July, 1966.

NEW STRAWBERRY STORE of Stan's for Sports started off better than the San Rafael store, says owner Stan Goldsmith, who now has his hopes set on opening still another outlet in Novato next year.

Meanwhile George Tsegeletos of San Anselmo has been promoted to general manager of both stores, and Aubrey Lackey of Novato is store manager in San Rafael.

GLENN A. WILFERT of Novato has been promoted from operations officer to assistant cashier at the Novato branch office of Central Valley Bank. He joined the firm in 1961.

ACCORDING to Fred Temps, district manager of Farmers Insurance Group, San Rafael, Farmers New World Life Insurance Co. policy owners can now draw up to 50 per cent of their death benefits (but not over $10,000 in any one year) to finance artificial kidney machine treatments. It is believed to be the first time life insurance benefits have been made available to sustain productive life.

Water Bonds Go To Banker Group

SACRAMENTO (UPI) — A syndicate headed by the Bank of America today was the owner of a $100 million block of California water bonds.

State Treasurer Bert A. Betts said the syndicate yesterday submitted the lower of two bids at a net interest cost of 3.717 per cent. The other bid of 3.7397 per cent came from a syndicate headed by Bankers Trust Co., New York.

Betts said the interest rate (cost to the state) was "significantly" higher than the 3.4987 per cent rate on the last sale of water bonds, Feb. 16. He said that because of the need to finance many state programs with bonds, he has less flexibility to schedule sales advantageously.

The interest cost totaled $130,023,450 over the life of the bonds, which mature from 1975 to 2015.

Dividends Voted In Stocks, Cash

Directors of Western Business Funds voted a 25 per cent stock dividend plus a 16 cent cash dividend on its common stock to stockholders of record on November 16, together with its regular quarterly dividend of 15 cents per share on preferred stock. An extra dividend of 20 cents per share was voted payable at the end of December to common stockholders of record at that date.

Harold L. Moose Jr. of Kentfield, executive vice president, said these dividends mark the fourth consecutive year there has been a significant distribution from accumulated surplus.

PIE Truck Line Absorbs Firm

OAKLAND (AP) — Pacific Intermountain Express Co. and All States Freight, Inc., are merging their truck lines. PIE will be the survivor. PIE has headquarters in Oakland and All States at Akron, Ohio.

Each of All States 382,294 shares will be converted into one PIE share.

The merged firm will have a direct transcontinental line.

Stockholders approved the merger yesterday.

PIE had a net of $2.6 million and All States a net of $650,000 in 1964.

Higher Earnings

CHICAGO — Montgomery Ward has reported higher third quarter earnings amounting to $2,833,648 or 20 cents per common share. This compares with 1964 third quarter earnings of $2,597,975 or 18 cents per common share.

Warrior Rodgers Newest Gun In West

By HAL BOCK

NEW YORK (AP) — The newest gun in the West — that's Guy Rodgers, whose blazing shooting has the San Francisco Warriors riding high in the National Basketball Association's Western Division.

Rodgers, an eight-year veteran who has spent most of his career like any respectable 6-footer in the NBA would — feeding bigger men for baskets — continued his sudden splurge against New York last night, scoring 46 points as the Warriors overcame the Knickerbockers 134-125.

Coach Alex Hannum, who missed the last 11 minutes of the game after drawing his second technical foul — third of the night against San Francisco — was overwhelmed with his little backcourt general.

"He's been fantastic. I never thought," the 6-foot-8 coach mused, "that a 6-foot player could do the things that he's doing in the NBA today."

Rodgers was the key to the Warriors' attack that rallied from a 10-point deficit with a 17-4 spurt after Hannum was ejected. He hit on 19 of 30 from the field, eight for 10 from the foul line and added 13 assists.

Al Attles, another veteran guard, ran the Warriors after Hannum was ejected and was so happy when San Francisco pulled it out, that he lifted Rodgers in his arms.

"You're the greatest assistant coach in the world," Rodgers teased. But Attles shot back. "We're just lucky I left you in there. I was going to sit you down when you missed one shot."

Rodgers didn't miss many though.

Hannum admitted that Rodgers' style of play had been hampered in San Francisco's scheme of things until this season.

"In this league," the Warrior coach said, "to be a star, you must have the right style, in the right place, at the right time. After eight years, that's finally happened to Guy."

Rodgers nodded agreement. "The change in our style has certainly helped."

Style isn't all that's changed for the Warriors. The club, which managed just 17 victories all last season, already has 11 this year and is in second place in the West, just 1½ games back of Los Angeles. And don't think the division-leading Lakers aren't aware of what's going on behind their backs.

"The Warriors will be the surprise of the league," says Laker Coach Fred Schaus. "Rodgers is the key."

Rodgers' show overshadowed the 29-point performance of teammate Tom Meschery and 41 by New York's Dick Barnett. Between them, Meschery and Rodgers hit on 29 of 51 from the floor as the Warriors shot a sizzling 54.9.

In the first game of the Madison Square Garden doubleheader, only action in the NBA Tuesday night, Detroit stood off a Cincinnati rally and snapped a nine-game losing streak by hanging on for a 118-115 victory over the Royals.

Jackie Miles and Player-Coach Dave DeBusschere had 25 points apiece for the Pistons and Oscar Robertson netted 38 and Jerry Lucas 35 for the Royals.

GIANTS OPEN AT HOME APRIL 12 VS. CHICAGO

The San Francisco Giants will open their 1966 National League baseball season at home April 12 against the Chicago Cubs, the Giants announced today.

The Giants, runnerup to World Champion Los Angeles, will waste little time in renewing the conflict. The rivals first play at Candlestick May 3, 4 and 5 and again June 10, 11 and 12.

The Giants finish the season at Pittsburgh Oct. 2. They complete their Candlestick Park schedule against Pittsburgh on Sept. 21.

The 1966 home schedule, similar to last season's will include 13 Sunday dates, 13 Saturdays and 22 night games, one more than last campaign.

One starting time change is listed. Candlestick night games will be moved up 15 minutes to 8 o'clock.

Marin Has 3 Gridders Worthy Of Shrine Game Consideration

Marin County football fans have a dilemma: Whom do we push for the North-South Shrine Game in Los Angeles next summer?

Ordinarily we're lucky to have one player worthy of candidacy for the North squad in the midsummer night's dream game matching the cream of California's prep grid crop.

But this year we have at least three boys most fans and the so-called experts believe are of Shrine game caliber.

I'm referring to Dick Otis, the powerful Novato tailback; Dean Lazzarini, the fleet Drake High fullback, and John Balzan, the oh-so-rugged San Rafael defensive end and offensive tackle.

ALL THREE have imposing credentials and I'm afraid they might distract from each other in the eyes of the Shrine Game selection committee. As I said, usually we're lucky to have one candidate, let alone three.

If the committee selects one, the fans of the other two will howl. And rightly so. The odds are about 20-1 against the committee picking two of our boys and about 100-1 against all three getting the nod.

SOME ONE is going to get hurt feelings.

Otis has statistics to back him up with the Marin League rushing championship two straight years and a total of more than 2,000 yards in those seasons.

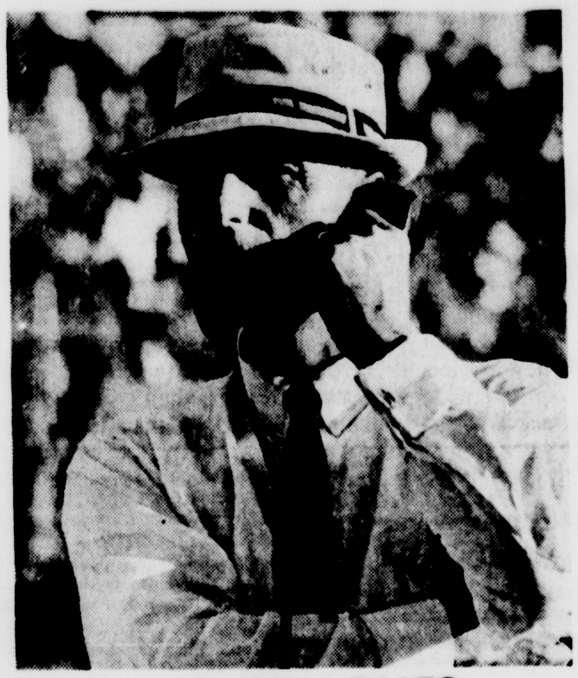
Lazz is the most explosive runner we've seen in these parts since Vallejo sent Dick Bass into our territory on a few occasions a decade or so ago. Dean has the blinding speed (9.6) which the North Shrine team has sorely lacked in the past and isn't too far behind Otis in statistics.

AND BALZAN has brute strength, size, mobility and aggressiveness that coaches look for. The North certainly could use talents against the Southern bruisers.

It's a dilly of a dilemma, Emma.

IF WE get one boy on the squad we should feel lucky, because in 13 years of Shrine history Marin has sent only nine players to the dream game. They were guard Dick Rush of Tamalpais in 1952, guard Willie Hector (now Tam coach) of Tam and end Mike Watters of San Rafael in 1957, guard Dick DeBisschop of Drake in 1958, quarterback Jack Sparrow of Novato and end Ron Snidow of San Rafael in 1959, tackle Kent Francisco of San Rafael and guard Bob Hector of Tam in 1960, quarterback Jim Troppmann of Redwood in 1963.

INTERESTING IS the fact that we sent two "family affairs" to the game: The Hector brothers, and when Jim Troppmann played in 1963, his father, Bob, was coach of the North.



MARIN'S NORTH-SOUTH GAME COACHES

Willie Hector (left) of Tamalpais and Harry Moore of Novato have been named head coaches for the second annual Marin County North-South All-Star Football Game next Aug. 25, game manager Bob Troppmann announced this week. Hector, a first year coach whose Tam Indians surprised everyone by posting a 7-2 record, will head the South team and Moore, whose Hornets won the Marin Athletic League championship with an overall 7-1-1 record, will head the North. Chuck Vaughn of Marin Catholic will assist Hector and Bob Muster of San Rafael will assist Moore. The outstanding senior players from this season will make up the teams for the game sponsored by the Ross Valley Kiwanis Club. The North will draw from Novato, Terra Linda, San Rafael, Tomales and San Rafael Military Academy and the South from Tam, Redwood, Drake and Marin Catholic. (Independent-Journal photos)

Terrell Listed As Next Victim

LAS VEGAS, Nev. (UPI)—Heavyweight Champion Cassius Clay's future plans were laid out like a roadmap today as he hardly had time to relax from his victory over Floyd Patterson before thinking of his next challenger.

But Patterson is faced with decision whether to continue fighting or to retire to a life of ease and financial security. And the two-time heavyweight champion left Las Vegas with the urgings of his conqueror to keep on boxing.

Clay devoted a part of his final day in this resort town to praising Patterson for his gameness in lasting 12 rounds Monday night. Patterson, in turn lauded the fighting ability of the champion and doubted if he would have won even if he had not suffered a back injury that kept him from putting up an effective challenge.

The champion's plans called for him to go to Chicago where he maintains his business headquarters. After a few days there, he will go to Miami Beach, Fla., which he now calls his home and relax while his advisers and manager Angelo Dundee start planning his next title defense.

From all indications, the next victim will be Ernie Terrell, listed by the World Boxing Association as Heavyweight Champion. Clay signed a $50,000 bond the day before the Patterson fight that he would meet Terrell but stipulated the champion and his retinue must be satisfied Terrell has no underworld ties.

Patterson leaves today for his Marlboro, N.Y., home where his daughter goes through her first communion rites Thursday. The challenger said he stayed over an extra day just to prove he was not "running out" early as he had been accused of doing after his bouts with Sonny Liston.

Both Fighters Richly Rewarded

Both Clay and Patterson leave Las Vegas richly rewarded for their Convention Center bout. A spokesman for Sportsvision, Inc., which owned the ancillary rights to the fight, estimated the gross receipts from all sources including the live gate would reach $3,870,000 and the net receipts would approximate $1,750,000.

Clay was guaranteed 40 per cent of all net receipts and will receive an estimated $700,000 while Patterson's 20 per cent share comes to $350,000.

The breakdown on the gross was: $2,760,000 from closed circuit telecasts; $300,111 from the live gate; and $810,000 from movies, foreign rights and other such sources.

Patterson's back was the chief topic at a post-fight press conference yesterday which the champion and challenger both attended and appeared on friendly terms as they sat side-by-side and answered questions.

Dr. Donald Romeo, chief medical examiner of the Nevada State Athletic Commission, was subjected to questioning on whether he was aware that Patterson had suffered a recurrence of his longtime back trouble last Wednesday during his final workout.

No Sign Of Floyd's Back Trouble

"The first I knew of Patterson's back trouble was in the dressing room after the fight when I gave him an injection to treat the muscle spasm he suffered in the ring," Dr. Romeo said.

The physician said Patterson showed no signs of a sacroiliac condition when he was given his pre-fight medical examination. Asked if he felt the ex-champion should continue boxing with that back condition, Dr. Romeo replied he thought Patterson should rest and then undergo checks by orthopedic specialists. But he said such back spasms frequently disappear and do not return for years.

Patterson explained he had been afflicted with the back problem for some 10 years but outside of a slight pain during his fight with Eddie Machen last year, it had never bothered him in a fight.

"I was beaten by a great fighter," Patterson said simply. "I am not going to say if my back had not bothered me that Clay would have lost. But I will say that while the results might have been the same, the fight would have been more interesting."

Patterson pointed out he had said frequently before that Clay was an excellent fighter and as he gained experience he would be a great fighter.

Clay Says 'I Could Beat Joe Louis'

"I'm the greatest fighter that ever lived," Clay responded. "I could whup any of the great fighters, even Joe Louis. I'm just too fast for any man."

But Clay continued the praise of Patterson that he started immediately after Monday night's fight and declared Patterson doesn't have to retire and would continue in the ring for another five years if he desired.

"He has no reason to hide," Clay said. "He should hold his head high. He should be given medals and honors. You owe him credit for the fight he put up. I don't think the man should be put on the spot like this. Let him rest; he's a humble man."

Clay said that if Patterson had fought Sonny Liston like he did here Monday night he would have beaten Liston. And he declared there wasn't a heavyweight on the scene, including Liston, who could beat Patterson if he fought that same, game fight.

And on that note of cordiality, the former bitterness between Patterson and Clay evaporated in an aura of mutual admiration.

Pros, Colleges Serve TV Football Menu Tomorrow

Colts Meet Lions In NFL Tilt

DETROIT (AP) — League-leading Baltimore, riding on the crest of an eight-game winning streak, can take a giant step toward another Western Conference title against the injury-riddled Detroit Lions tomorrow.

It marks the first Thanksgiving Day battle ever for the Colts, who can mathematically eliminate all teams but Green Bay and Chicago with a win or a tie against the Lions.

The game is the 26th holiday tussel for the Lions, who hold a slim 13-11-1 edge.

The game, which will be televised nationally, is scheduled to start at 9:15 a.m., PST.

The previous games have attracted 982,938 fans and the Lions will honor the one millionth fan to attend the Turkey Day classic.

Lions' Coach Harry Gilmer said Sunday his team and the Colts were on even terms regarding readiness for the game.

"We're in the same boat," Gilmer said. "We both have but two days to get ready."

Halfbacks Joe Don Looney and Tommy Watkins and defensive back Wayne Rasmussen are doubtful starters for Detroit.

Looney hasn't fully recovered from a concussion suffered two weeks ago and Watkins sustained a knee injury against the Bears last Sunday in addition to aggravating a foot injury.

Rasmussen, one of the league leaders in pass interceptions, has been sidelined by an ankle injury.

The Colts clobbered the Lions 31-7 more than six weeks ago for one of the most one-sided losses suffered by the Lions in a 5-5 season.

Milt Plum is expected to start at quarterback for the Lions. He won the job back after reserve George Izo failed to get the team moving.

SEALS BATTLE CANUCKS AT COW PALACE

The San Francisco Seals will share their ice with the Vancouver Canucks tonight, 8:15, in their first of three games this week.

The Seals took three days off after downing the Portland Buckaroos, 7-3, in a Western Hockey League game last Saturday. The San Francisco victory helped to narrow Portland's slim league lead.

The Seals will have Thanksgiving Day off before meeting the Victoria Maple Leafs on Friday. San Francisco will play Springfield, Mass., of the American League Saturday.

Before their win over Portland, the Seals had lost three straight games. Their current record is five wins, six losses and two ties.

Changes Made To Speed Up Golf Events

NEW YORK (AP) — Those playing in and watching U. S. Golf Association events after next Jan. 1 will see some changes — made with the idea of speeding up play.

The changes adopted by the USGA after being tested in the National Amateur at Tulsa, Okla., last September:

A player on the green must play until he holes out, unless he would be forced to stand in a fellow competitor's putting line. This eliminates time-consuming measurement to determine who is away.

Once on the green a player may lift and clean his ball only once.

Another new rule states there no longer will be a penalty for striking the flagstick from off the putting green.

Mighty Nebraska (9-0) Takes On Oklahomans

LINCOLN, Neb. (AP) — As many as three potential All-Americas, the nation's top rushing team and some pint-sized ball carriers will show their wares to a national television audience tomorrow when upset-minded Oklahoma challenges undefeated and third-ranked Nebraska.

Game time will be 10:45 a.m., PST, for the Thanksgiving Day feature, with full network color coverage by NBC.

Nebraska, 9-0 and already tabbed to meet Alabama in the Orange Bowl, will be seeking to wrap up its first undefeated season in 50 years and an undisputed third straight Big Eight crown.

Oklahoma, out of Big Eight contention on a 3-2 record, 3-5 over-all, needs the lift which a top spoiler performance could provide.

The number of All-America contenders on Memorial Stadium turf hinges on the availability of Oklahoma's senior linebacker, Carl McAdams. A standout, McAdams suffered a sprained ankle against Iowa State some to weeks ago and missed the ensuing Missouri game. It was the first game in seven prep and college years he had missed.

Playing without McAdams, says Sooner Coach Gomer Jones, "is like a hockey team playing without its goalie."

On a Nebraska team so deep any week can produce a new set of stars, defensive tackle Walt Barnes and offensive split end Freeman White have stood out consistently as bidders for national honors.

Barnes, a 6-3, 240-pound senior, "just never has a bad game," says Coach Bob Devaney.

White, a 6-5, 221-pound split end, leads the Big Eight receivers with 28 catches for 458 yards and six touchdowns.

Not all the Cornhuskers come giant sized.

Fullback Frank Solich probably the smallest major college fullback around, stands 5-8 and weighs only 158. But he tops all rushers on the nation's top rushing team with 598 yards in 103 carries.

Safety Larry Wachholtz, same height and just a shade heavier at 163, leads the nation's punt returners with 442 yards.

A Big Boost For Stanford Sports Arena

STANFORD (AP) — A Stanford University trustee and basketball letterman has pledged a $500,000 matching gift for an 8,000-seat sports arena and special events pavilion.

Mr. and Mrs. David Packard made the gift to spur donation of another $500,000 needed for the Roscoe W. Maples pavilion. Total estimated cost is $3.3 million.

Maples donated $1.2 million for the pavilion, which will replace the 44-year-old basketball court where Packard played in the 1930s. He is co-founder and board chairman of Hewlett-Packard Co., electronics manufacturer.

Chuck Taylor, Stanford athletic director, said he hopes construction could start by the fall of 1966. The pavilion would require about 20 months to build.

Other gifts amounting to $700,000 have been pledged in addition to Packard's and Maples' donations. Stanford's trustees have pledged $400,000 when the pavilion fund reaches the $2.9 million mark.

1965 HEISMAN TROPHY WINNER

Richly Deserved Award For Garrett

By FRANK O'REILLY

LOS ANGELES (AP) — When it was announced that Southern California halfback Mike Garrett had won the Heisman Award, USC Athletic Director Jess Hill said:

"He is one of the finest gentlemen ever to play at USC."

Garrett, named yesterday as the season's best college football player, has been a team leader since his high school days at Roosevelt in Los Angeles and has won the respect of teammates and opponents alike.

USC Coach John McKay said: "I've said a lot about this boy, but I can't say too much. He's the best I've ever seen and the best boy I've ever been associated with. This award is richly deserved."

Garrett is a 21-year-old sociology major who has already begun to help youngsters. Last summer he ran a football clinic for the Recreation Department of Culver City, Calif.

Stocky at 5-foot-9, 190 pounds, Garrett has speed and balance, but Pitt safetyman Mickey Depp explained the USC star's success, saying:

"His determination and courage get him an awful lot of yardage."

This season Garrett's yardage —1,328 on 243 carries—is good enough to lead major college rushers, and he has one game remaining, a home contest Saturday against Wyoming.

In his career he has set five school records and three in the Pacific Athletic Conference. And 58 yards in his final game will give Garrett the all-time career record, surpassing the 3,166 gained by Ollie Matson in 1949-51 at San Francisco.

At a news conference yesterday, Garrett said:

"I can thank about 6,000 people for this award. I want to thank my teammates, the coaches and everybody."

He then expressed his disappointment that the Trojans did not make the Rose Bowl this year.

"My goal was always to play in the Rose Bowl. When I was 11 years old, I saw Hopalong Cassidy play for Ohio State in the Rose Bowl, and ever since then I've wanted to follow and play as well as he did that day."

Garrett, asked about the possibility of professional football, replied:

"I was concentrating so much on this season I haven't really thought about pro ball. I think I could make it, but I really don't know what my plans are."

An outfielder on the Trojan baseball team, Garrett was drafted 11th by the Pittsburgh Pirates. USC Coach Rod Dedeaux says the .300 hitter has major league potential.

Garrett, his parents, Coach McKay and USC President Norman Topping will go to New York next Wednesday for presentation of the award Thursday at the Downtown Athletic Club.

49er Aces Among Leaders

NEW YORK (AP) — Cleveland fullback Jim Brown with the National Football League rushing championship clinched, is driving toward a second individual crown—scoring.

Brown, who has rushed for 1,163 yards on 217 carries in 10 games, scored one touchdown Sunday against Dallas and leads the scoring race with 90 points, NFL statistics revealed yesterday.

Kicker Tommy Davis of San Francisco is second with 81 points, while Philadelphia's Timmy Brown is runnerup in rushing with 630 yards in 121 attempts.

Johnny Unitas of Baltimore ranks first in passing followed by Chicago's Rudy Bukich. Leading the receivers is Dave Parks of San Francisco. Tommy McDonald of Los Angeles is second.

Other leaders are Herb Adderley of Green Bay, interceptions; Gary Collins of Cleveland, punting; Rickie Harris of Washington, punt returns; and Tom Watkins of Detroit, kickoff returns.

U. Of Pitt Fires Its Grid Coach

PITTSBURGH, Pa. (AP) — John Michelosen was relieved today as head football coach of the University of Pittsburgh and offered the chance to stay on the faculty in another, unnamed, position.

The announcement, expected for more than a week, was made by acting Chancellor Dr. Stanton Crawford and Athletic Director Frank Carver following a meeting of the athletic committee of the Board of Trustees and the University Athletic Committee.

Carver said he reached the decision that there should be a coaching change after Pitt suffered two big defeats to Syracuse, 51-13, and Notre Dame, 69-13.

He said he discussed the matter with Michelosen and Crawford.

"I didn't think with the present set up, the present staff could bring the team back after the two defeats. It (the defeats) triggered me," said Carver.

Carver said that Michelosen was told he could stay on the faculty in an equivalent position but that the coach of the past 10 years had not given an answer.

Michelosen was unavailable for comment immediately.

Carver said he "had a few names in mind" about a successor and had been approached by at least one coach so far.

Reports of Michelosen's resignation or dismissal have been circulating for weeks following trouncings by West Virginia 63-48, Syracuse 51-13, Notre Dame 69-13 and Southern California 28-0.

Earlier this week Michelosen conferred with the university's top brass. Athletic Director Frank Carver's only comment after the meeting was that the entire football program was discussed.

The meeting Monday followed Pitt's 30-27 triumph over Penn State Saturday on a field goal in the final three seconds. The players carted Michelosen off the field on their shoulders to climax a 3-7 season, his worst at Pitt since 1961.

Before the Penn State game, the student newspaper, Pitt News, called for Michelosen's ouster. In an editorial, the newspaper said:

"If football is to continue giving the university prestige, money, and be its major sport, a coaching staff headed by John Michelosen cannot exist."

Michelosen's only comment as "the only thing I'm thinking about is getting ready for Penn State."

He took over the head coaching job at his alma mater after the 1954 season. In his first to years, he directed the Panthers to two bowls. His 10-year record is 56-49-7.

Upheaval over football at Pitt is nothing new. Three years ago, the then Chancellor Edward H. Litchfield called Michelosen on the carpet and said he would insist on daring, wide open football.

"I do say this about John," Litchfield said then, "if the time comes he wants to step down as head coach, or we deem it necessary to make a change in the future, he can wind up with a job as good if not better than the one he has now."

Litchfield did not elaborate. However, he did point out that Michelosen did not have a lifetime coaching job at Pitt.

Colts' Moore Cited; Brodie Is Praised

By JACK HAND

LAS VEGAS, Nev. (AP) — When Lenny Moore was given the game ball after Baltimore's eighth straight victory Sunday, a newsman grabbed Lenny's hand.

"It's like old times," he said to the Colts' halfback.

"Yeah," grinned Moore. "And it's about time, isn't it?"

Moore had been something less than sensational for the Colts this season after leading the National Football League in scoring with 20 touchdowns last season.

It was Moore's best day of the season when he scored twice against Philadelphia Sunday, caught seven passes for 163 yards and carried 10 times for 54 — an offensive total of 217 yards. As a result The Associated Press named Moore the Offensive Player of the Week in the NFL.

Unitas, taking over from young Gary Cuozzo, shared the headlines with Moore for picking up 305 yards with his passing. It was a Unitas 52-yard TD pass to Moore that produced the Colts' first score.

When the persistent Eagles took a 24-20 lead into thefinal period it was a Moore touchdown on a one-yard plunge that put Baltimore in front to stay. The dramatic pass from Unitas to Jimmy Orr, who had just returned from the hospital, sewed it up.

John Brodie of San Francisco also was a top candidate for the weekly honors. The 49ers' fine quarterback picked up his team when it trailed 27-13 early in the final period.

Brodie threw touchdown passes to Ken Willard and Dave Parks and then brought the 49ers down the field along the ground to set up the winning 22-yard field goal by Tommy Davis, his third of the game, with only six seconds to go.

Time was running out on the 49ers while Brodie was sending his backs slamming into the Rams' line. A 15-yard penalty for face mask grabbing cost the Rams dearly but the fans at Kezar Stadium were screaming for a time out as the clock ran into the final seconds.

The officials mistakenly stopped the clock, thinking Brodie, the captain, had called for a time out. It was started again and Brodie let it go to nine seconds before he stopped it. Then Davis came in to kick the winner after booting earlier field goals of 50 and 39 yards.

Jim Brown just missed the 100-yard rushing mark with 99 for Cleveland at Dallas but his three-yard touchdown run shouldering off would-be tacklers was a beaut.

Bart Starr, subject of criticism during Green Bay's touchdown drought, came up with three TD passes in the Packers' come-from-behind 38-13 victory over Minnesota.

Andy Livingston crashed 90 yards on 11 carries and Gale Sayers sped 20 yards on a touchdown run in another victory for the young Chicago Bears over Detroit.

Rickie Harris, Washington's fine rookie runback artist from Arizona, brought back six kicks for 146 yards, including a 57-yard TD tomp on a Frank Lambert punt.

Earl Morrall threw three TD passes, two to Joe Morrison, in the New York Giants' 28-15 upset victory over St. Louis.

Near Record College Grid Attendance

NEW YORK (AP) — Traditional college football rivalries last weekend attracted the 10 largest crowds in the country and the 10-game total was the second largest in 18 years.

The 10 top-attended games drew 647,363 fans, a total exceeded only once — on Nov. 21, 1959 — since official crowd figures have been compiled by the NCAA.

Seven of the traditional games, including the Southern California-UCLA, Stanford-California and Michigan-Ohio State battles, also were on the schedule when the all-time high of 667,492 was established.

Official figures, released today by the NCAA, show the biggest turnout was at the Los Angeles Coliseum, where 94,085 watched UCLA defeat Southern Cal.

The top 10 college football crowds last weekend:

Southern California-UCLA	94,085
Michigan-Ohio State	77,733
Stanford-California	72,394
Miami, Fla.-Florida	67,762
Louisiana State-Tulane	65,667
Notre Dame-Michigan State	59,135
Washington-Wash. State	56,805

Anti-Trust Suit Is Filed Against NBA

BOSTON (AP)—The National Basketball Assn. faced a U.S. District Court anti-trust suit today brought by veteran forward Woodrow (Woody) Sauldsberry.

Sauldsberry contended in his suit against NBA President J. Walter Kennedy and all NBA clubs except the Boston Celtics that the defending champion Celtics signed him to an $11,000 contract last Thursday but that Kennedy refused to accept the agreement.

The 31-year-old Sauldsberry, who was NBA Rookie-of-the-Year with Philadelphia in 1957, claimed that Kennedy and the other NBA clubs are part of a conspiracy to prevent him from earning a livelihood as a professional basketball player.

Sauldsberry sought a temporary injunction ordering the Celtics to honor his contract and barring any further conspiracy.

Sauldsberry has been out of the NBA for to years. He was released by the St. Louis Hawks in 1963. He claimed that the Los Angeles Lakers won the right to bid for his services but did not do so and he contended that Kennedy issued a notice a year ago allowing the Celtics to negotiate for his services.

Boston announced Sauldsberry's signing last Friday and planned to dress him for a game with Cincinnati that night. However, two hours before gametime the Celtics received a wire from Kennedy, notifying them the Sauldsberry contract was not acceptable.

Kennedy later said that he disapproved the contract "because of his record while he was a player in the Association."

He said that "since the matter is under continuing investigation, there is nothing more I can say at this time concerning the details of that record."

Arnold (Red) Auerbach, general manager of as well as coach of the Celtics, would make no comment because of the court action.

Tom Tuttle Tops Tenpin Tournament

DETROIT (AP) — Tommy Tuttle of Rural Hall, N.C., runner-up until yesterday in the $65,000 Professional Bowlers Association Tournament, took over the lead today.

Tuttle moved into the top spot after the second day of the tourney, racking up a total of 5,287 pins after four hands, or 24 games.

Dave Soutar of Detroit, top man when the action started Tuesday morning, slid to 21st place with a total of 4,974.

Jerry McCoy of Fort Worth, Tex., was runner-up with 5,242, followed by Jim Godman of Hayward, Calif., with 5,182 and Bob Collatos of Santa Monica, Calif., with 5,161.

Godman rolled the high series of the tourney Tuesday with 1,443. Sam Baca, also of Hayward, rolled a 300 series. Baca is in 17th place.

The top 96 in the 192-man field bowl 12 more games today with the top 24 then going into match play Thursday. After an additional 25 games, the top two will battle it out in a three-game series Saturday for the $10,000 top prize.

Branch Rickey Still Critical

COLUMBIA, Mo. (UPI)—Branch Rickey, former general manager of the St. Louis Cardinals and the Brooklyn Dodgers, remained in critical condition today in Boone County Hospital.

Attendants said his condition was unchanged. He has been in a coma and receiving oxygen since he was stricken with a heart attack Nov. 13 while accepting induction into the Missouri Sports Hall of Fame.

The 83-year-old Rickey's wife and two daughters have been at the hospital since his attack.

KANSAS CITY, Mo. (AP) — Veteran major league player, manager and coach Mickey Vernon was named manager today of the Kansas City Athletics' Triple A farm club at Vancouver, B.C. Vernon, 47, replaces Bobby Hoffman, who recently was named to the A's coaching staff.

Vernon's last full season as a player was 1959. In 1960 he was a coach and pinch hitter with the Pittsburgh Pirates. He was named manager of the Washington Senators in 1961, remaining until May 22, 1963, when he was replaced by Gil Hodges.

In 1964, he returned to Pittsburgh as a coach. This past season he served in the same capacity with the St. Louis Cardinals.

Swimming To Judo At College's New Gym Buildings

Classes in badminton, judo, gymnastics, modern dance and lectures on health go on simultaneously at the College of Marin physical education complex of buildings.

In past years, students spent their "gym" period in one big gym with little chance for variety in activities.

Harry Pieper, chairman of the health and physical education division and director of college athletics, is enthusiastic about the variety in the new facilities on College Avenue.

The $1.5 million buildings were completed this fall. Funds came from a 35-cent over ride tax for college expansion. The old college gym burned down.

The huge new gym is used for varsity basketball games and can seat 1,500 persons in bleachers which fold away from the walls at the press of a button. An additional 300 persons may be seated on folding chairs.

But the gym also is used for classes during the day, when volleyball, badminton, basketball games may be played. College dances, concerts open to the public, rallies, ballet, folk singing concerts and the San Francisco Symphony have used the gym.

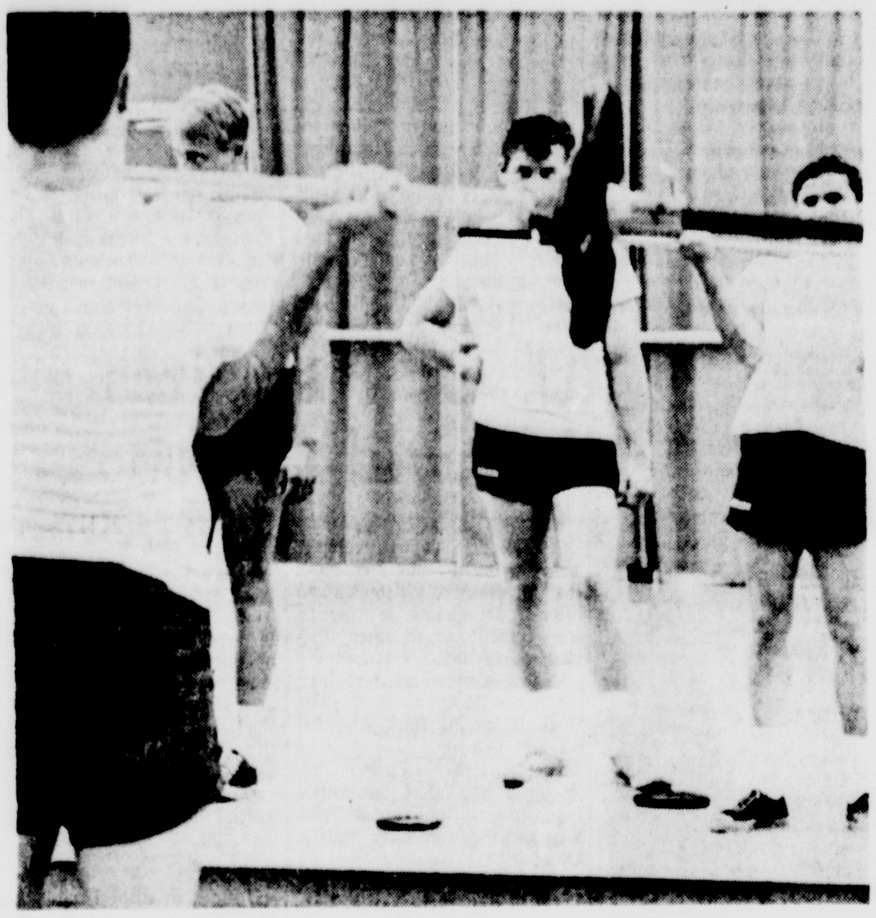
While one or more classes use the big gym, the "combative" room may hold a small judo class. The gymnastic room, with equipment dangling from the ceiling, may be filled with swinging and swaying forms.

The exercise room may hold a modern dance class or a class for elementary education teachers learning to teach games to youngsters from the Adeline E. Kent School next door to the college.

Two classrooms may be used for health instruction or for sociology, helping fill the need for classroom space.

The two swimming pools, outdoors but surrounded by high walls, are used in almost any weather—the 80 degree heat of the water makes swimming in the rain a pleasure.

The cost of the complex includes preparation of the muddy site on which it was built and construction of six tennis courts.



VIEW OF MUSCLES — Students at the College of Marin use mirrors to check their muscle building technique in one of the smaller physical education class rooms.

GIANT GYM — Inside the cavernous gym at the College of Marin, eight badminton courts are in action in this co-educational class. The gym also can hold four volleyball courts or two basketball courts, when bleachers are folded back. Bleachers can seat 1,500 students during varsity basketball games which take up the entire floor.

THE SUBURBAN SCENE

Families Gathering For Feast

By MOLLY MARIN

The traditional cocktail party for friends and neighbors preceding Thanksgiving dinner at their respective homes will be hosted by the Ben Drapers at their home in Mill Valley. Guests will be the Richard Paines and their three children, the Hubert Jameses and their two children and Mrs. Donna Sullivan and her two children.

SOMETHING different from the usual at-home family Thanksgiving feast will be a dinner at the Union Hotel in Occidental for which Dr. and Mrs. Robert C. Bowie of the Garden of Allah in Mill Valley will be hosts. Their guests will be Mrs. Bowie's niece, Mrs. John Barnard, and her husband, and Mrs. Bowie's nephew, Laurence Symmes, and his family, all of Mill Valley.

ELECTED PRESIDENT of the International Council of the Museum of Modern Art is Mrs. Donald Straus of New York, the former Beth Allen. She is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Harry B. Allen of Belvedere. One of her first duties at the museum in New York City was to greet Princess Margaret and the Earl of Snowdon when they viewed the exhibits during their New York tour.

Mr. and Mrs. Allen had visited Donald and Beth Straus at their summer residence on the Island of Naushon near Cape Cod in September when the couple celebrated their twenty-fifth wedding anniversary. The Allens went on to tour France and Austria, and have returned to Belvedere just in time for the holidays.

A GATHERING of family and old friends will be held on Thursday at the Allen home

on Golden Gate Avenue. Mr. and Mrs. David Allen and their seven children, Mrs. Allen's sister, Miss Helen Bridge, Mr. Allen's sister, Mrs. Edith Hill, Miss Ruth Harrington and Miss Brownie Lee Jones will be in the party. The Howard Allens, who occupy the house next door to Howdy's parents in Belvedere, will have Ann's parents, Mr. and Mrs. John E. Norton of Santa Cruz and other family members with them for Thanksgiving.

COL. AND MRS. Mark E. Cory have returned home after an extended vacation to the Orient. The Corys departed on Sept. 20, flying direct to Tokyo. After a nostalgic 10-day visit to Gifu, Osaka, Beppu and Atami, they moved on to Taipei, Taiwan, for a few days, then on to Hong Kong. Here they made their headquarters for a month while taking a side trip via hydrofoil ferry to Macao and flying to Bangkok for a week. The Corys are spending Thanksgiving with Mrs. Cory's parents, Mr. and Mrs. A. C. Schnellbacher, in Eugene, Ore., and will visit friends in Seattle. They will return to their home in Novato on Wednesday.

MR. AND MRS. ALEX BOVEE of San Rafael will celebrate their 30th wedding anniversary this weekend with a trip to Reno and a gathering of old friends. This event was postponed a month since Mrs. Bovee's opening date appearance as a dancer in "Damn Yankees" at Hamilton Air Force Base coincided with their Oct. 29 anniversary date. The joint little theater production closed on Saturday. Alan Bovee of San Rafael is their son. The Bovees have lived in San Rafael for 20 years and are natives of San Francisco.

MR. AND MRS. WILLIAM DUMONT have returned to Belvedere after a three-month tour of Europe. Their extensive travels included Great Britain, the Scandinavian countries, the chateaux country of France, the Rhineland, and Italy. They spent some time in the famed cities of Paris, Berlin, Zurich, Munich, Venice and Rome. Their daughter and son-in-law, Mr. and Mrs. Robert Spencer, and two granddaughters of Lucas Valley will be sharing Thanksgiving dinner with them at the family home in Belvedere.

A DAUGHTER, Shelley Caroline, was born Nov. 19 to Mr. and Mrs. Edward J. Neumeier, 63 Rutherford Avenue, San Anselmo. They have a son, Edward Vann. Neumeier is administrative assistant to the superintendent of the Tamalpais Union High School District. Mrs. Neumeier is a counselor on leave from Redwood High.

THE HUGHES CALLS of Mill Valley and their son, Lewis, who is home from Humboldt State College with a friend, David Winslow, will be guests of the Gryffyd Partridges for Thanksgiving dinner at their home in Mill Valley. Also present will be the Partridges' daughter, Loren, who is a student at the San Francisco State Art Institute, and their son, Rym, a student at San Jose State College.

SEEING THE SOVIET

Nightlife 'Throbs' To U.S. Tunes With Modest Cadence

One of a series of articles on a just-completed trip through Russia and India.

By BARBARA HOSMER

The young couple, she in her long-sleeved wool dress made by someone in the family, and he in his better suit of perhaps two, may splurge on an evening of hotel dancing that is current comradely night life, whether in Moscow, Leningrad, Kiev or Yalta. For them it's a special occasion and fairly costly, though drab by Western standards, but the Soviet citizens with a contented look on their well-scrubbed faces are apparently enjoying their rather inhibited foxtrot to some fairly recent American tune . . . just young people having fun, somewhat shyly.

Occasionally, the open-collared bandsmen are moved to something bouncy, even an undisguised jazz number, official policy to the contrary, but the couples continue their modest pace, and it's only an occasional brave pair — often foreigners — who split for a self-conscious mambo or twist. But nobody really rocks the ever-present chandeliers, and the atmosphere is something less than heady. (It's as if the party needs an icebreaker, but to a Russian that's an Arctic ship . . .)

The liveliest place in Moscow for the traveler proved to be the foreign currency bar at the National Hotel, a block from Red Square, where taped American music — "Everything's Free in America," "This Land Is Your Land," etc. — draws the customers and bare-topped tables and plain chairs are often filled with Europeans and Americans eager for a little Western-style gaiety and a snappy step. But in a town of six million it was the only small oasis of Western night life—bare-walled and unpromising as it looked — and sometimes swung to the same repeated tunes until the early hours, long after the natives had left the dance floors across the hall and gone home, taking a curious peek at the roomful of foreign gaiety as they left.

A few blocks away at the 19th Century Metropole, seat of Lenin's government for two months after the revolution—night life is much the same as elsewhere in the Soviet hotels, although the main dining room where the band plays is centered with a fountain, and between sets young couples would promenade around it, causing one to wonder if America could have been like that before the coming of the jazz age . . .

But far to the south of the land of Big Government, in the Ukraine, a few lively lads could manage the semblance of a Charleston, and the ground seemed more fertile for at least forerunners of the Big Beat. Of course, the subdued foxtrot prevailed but a few moved their feet a little faster and the musicians on the Dnieper blew a little farther and higher with a jumpy "My Fair Lady" set and even, once, "Hello Dolly," though the show with Mary Martin had just been barred from opening in Moscow . . .

In the USSR any fair lady in the dining room is fair game as a dancing partner and the younger men who come together will stroll about the dining room until their courage allows them to ask permission of the men at a table to dance with the ladies. These encounters can be entertaining for people who discover a mutual language, and amusing for the American who wants to try out a Russian sentence or two on her well-mannered if somewhat bushy-haired partners. Often the dancers include holiday groups or delegations from nearby Communist countries such as Czechoslovakia, Poland or Rumania, who sometimes have a little English to try.

But from Leningrad to Yalta the musicians pack up at 11 or 11:30 p.m., sending Russians home through chilly streets and the visiting Poles, Czechs and Germans upstairs to their rooms. Night life is officially over.

Breakfast in the same dining room is flat, and the tempos of "My Fair Lady" tunes and "Yes Sir, That's My Baby" have vanished with last night's bread crumbs.

One remembers the remark of a Soviet student in America — "Jazz, that is on thing you do very well," but cannot help feeling that the ordinary Russian believes he is being a little naughty dancing publicly to anything approaching it in the heart of the Soviet Union.

Thigh-High Skirt Meets With Sensational Response

NEW YORK (UPI)—Much is said about cold-water detergents. And washing directions for many synthetic fabrics say —use cool or warm water.

But will the laundry come clean?

Many of today's new developments confuse consumers as much as they enchant them. Consider there are more than 200 types of man-made fibers, countless cotton-synthetic combinations, a riot of vat-dyed colors.

TAKE WASH-AND-WEAR. Many laundering instructions conflict with recommended practice—low wash water temperatures, short cycles, and gentle agitation in the machine.

When unusual new conditions produce unsatisfactory laundry results, the homemaker has one convenient solution, says the Clorox Bureau of Bleaching Information.

The addition of liquid chlorine bleach helps to bring cleaning performance back to the acceptable levels expected when hot water was safe and cotton and white were all you found in a washload.

Home economists and textile experts report that more bleachable resin finishes are being used, especially in men's dress shirts, to create drip-dry fabrics. The news for those who like hues also is good.

The development of vat dyes, which withstand washing and bleaching, changed the old story of natural dyes that run and fade. Between 25 to 30 per cent of sheets, pillowcases, towels and washcloths, and men's shirts now are vat-dyed.

A REPORT AT the annual meeting of the American Home Laundry Manufacturers Assn. also indicated a sharp rise in the number of children's colored clothes carrying hangtag assurances that the garment is vat dyed and can be safely bleached.

With regard to both colored and synthetic fibers, bleach has been shown to prolong the usable life of items by maintaining a better appearance through more complete soil removal.

A Time To Remember Who We Are

Let us be grateful for our heritage. For a little pride is the wellspring of courage. Let us endure unflinchingly whatever sacrifices we are called upon to make to defend our free institutions from the night of communism, which is bent on undermining our faith in ourselves. Let us rely not only on the gold in our vaults, but the iron in our blood. And let us cling like ivy to the faith of our fathers until, in God's good time, all men are free.

Long, Lean Look Prevails In California Collections

BEVERLY HILLS (AP) — Stand like a model, flat-bosomed chest caved in, narrow hips thrust forward.

Drape a bit of flaring fabric around the hips at night, narrow or flounce it for day.

That's California fashion's look for 1966.

The long, lean look pervaded the windup of spring and resort wear showings to the nation's fashion editors.

Michael Novarese seamed silk dresses and costumes for a semi-fitted look he called his signature for day, "high in the rib cage, elongated, slightly concave."

His colors were strong-garnet for a Jimmy Cagney suit, double-breasted in linen with shawl collar and attached print silk blouse.

Designers Stanley Nelson and Bill Travila both made much use of cotton in their spring suits.

"Cotton is being woven so imaginatively," said Travila, "that I'm thinking seriously of using it in my fall and winter line."

Knit designer Lee Herman tended to a tailored or little gal feeling in hip-length knit jackets topping little silk or double knit dresses, many in empire lines.

100th Birthday To Be Marked Sunday

Members of the Church of Our Saviour in Mill Valley will honor the 100th birthday of Mrs. Allen Locke at a reception to be held Sunday at the rectory from 3 to 5 p.m. Born on Nov. 30 in New Zealand, Mrs. Locke came to San Francisco with her husband and lived in Mill Valley 50 years. She is now living at the Masonic home in Union City.

One son, Allen Locke, retired educator from the Vallejo school system, attended Tamalpais High School. He and his wife, who have two children, are touring Australia and New Zealand accompanied by Mrs. Locke's foster daughter, Mrs. Edith Trail of Healdsburg.

Locke Lane in Mill Valley was named for Mr. Locke, who was first a ship's engineer and then an engineer for the Northwestern Pacific Railroad at its powerhouse until his retirement. He was a 50-year Mason and received his pin in Mill Valley, though he became a mason in China. He served on the vestry of the first Little Redwood Church which stood where the present Church of Our Saviour stands today.

Mrs. Locke has been an active churchwoman all of her life and is remembered in Mill Valley for her tireless efforts in the influenza epidemic during World War I. At that time she nursed victims in disregard of doctor's recommendations to stay away from infected people. She was also active in all aspects of relief work during that war and spent nearly her whole life nursing and helping people.

The Rev. D. Murray Hammond, rector of the Church of Our Saviour, and his wife said that all longtime friends of Mrs. Locke are invited to the reception. Chairman is Mrs. Francis S. Strauss.

PLANNING THEIR WEDDING in early summer are Marilyn Kay Vlahos and Charles Roger Hendrickson, both of San Rafael. (Faulkner photo)

Marilyn Vlahos To Marry Charles Roger Hendrickson

Mr. and Mrs. Henry P. Vlahos of San Rafael have announced the engagement of their daughter, Marilyn Kay, to Charles Roger Hendrickson of San Rafael. They will give a dinner party honoring the couple on Sunday evening with the Rev. and Mrs. John Geranios of San Francisco attending.

Marilyn is the sister of Perry Vlahos, a junior at San Rafael High School. Both Marilyn and Charles were graduated from San Rafael High School and attended College of Marin.

The future bridegroom, the son of Mr. and Mrs. Charles J. Hendrickson of San Rafael, also attended Cogswell of Polytechnical College in San Francisco. He is the brother of Mrs. Edward De Maestri of Fairfax.

An early summer wedding is planned at the Greek Orthodox Church in Oakland.

Marin Guild Fame Goes To England

Mill Valley's Redwood Guild's chutney has reached half way around the world to make friends for Sunny Hills, according to Mrs. George Wellington of Mill Valley.

She returned to England to visit her friends at her former home there at Gidea Park and brought with her two jars of Redwood Guild chutney as a present to the Romford Evening Townswomen's Guild, to which she formerly belonged. She described for members the Grape Festival fund raising methods for Sunny Hills and told of the home to which proceeds are devoted.

All this led to a picture in the local press, "The Recorder," featuring Mrs. Wellington and Mrs. Barbara Essex, Romford chairman, tasting the Colonel Wellington's chutney.

Colonel Wellington's chutney has been made for the past five years by the local group under the direction of Mrs. Leslie Wellington, sister-in-law of Mrs. George Wellington.

Plastic Packages Planned For Meat

Starting in January, look for new, clear plastic packages that take the guesswork out of what meats look like on the bottom layer. The new plastic meat trays let the food shopper know how the meat looks on all sides. They'll save her time and trouble. The trays can be popped right into the freezer.

Custard With Egg

A new egg custard mix that needs no baking comes in 4 and 6-serving packages. The mix contains egg yolk solids, and can be prepared in six minutes.

Educator Will Be Speaker For AAUW Branch Program

"Tomorrow's School Today" will be discussed by Dr. Edward Pino at the Nov. 30 general meeting of the Mill Valley Branch of the American Assn. of University Women.

It will be held at Edna Maguire School, Mill Valley, at 8 p.m.

Dr. Pino, superintendent of schools for Reed Union School District, will have a short film to illustrate his discussion on how the community of Belvedere, Tiburon and Corte Madera works with its schools. He will deal with such subjects as nongrading, individualized instruction and team teaching as they have been incorporated in the Granada and Del Mar Schools.

Named in "Who's Who in American Education," Dr. Pino is author of numerous articles and a forthcoming book on educational change. He received his doctorate in education from Stanford in 1964 and since then has been a teacher and administrator in schools in three states, as well as in American overseas dependents schools in Japan and France.

Mrs. Lincoln B. Shea, education study group chairman, who will introduce the speaker, headed a group of AAUW members who recently toured the Granada and Del Mar Schools to see ungraded classes in action. Accompanying here were Mesdames Herbert Witt, Edward Symons, Keieg Vezie, Harold Rogers and Wilson Fraker.

The meeting was planned by program chairman Mrs. Elgar Hill.

Men Talk As Much As Women

NEW YORK (UPI) — On the average, a person talks only 10 to 11 minutes daily—with men ranking about equally with women, an anthropologist reported at the annual meeting of the American psychological Assn.

Dr. Ray L. Birdwhistell, of Temple University Medical Center, carefully measured total talk time before making his report. "The standard spoken sentence takes only 2½ seconds," he said. People, it was noted, do far more communicating with body movements—eyes and eyebrows, facial expressions, hands and shoulders. Silences also sometimes say a great deal, Dr. Birdwhistell explained.

Hotel Plan 'Marry Now Pay Later'

NEW YORK (UPI)—The hotel calls it the "Marry now—pay later" plan. And says Ralph Hitz Jr., general manager of the Sheraton-Atlantic, it's an industry first.

The plan enables the bride's father to pay for the reception on the installment plan. Hitz computed the cost as low as 65 cents per person per month for 25 months for a reception which includes a champagne toast, a seven-course steak dinner, "live" music for dancing, a photographer to shoot for a 24-picture album, a private hide-away bridal suite — complete with a chilled bottle of champagne. To boot, the bride gets to keep the silver knife used to cut the cake.

Bridge Painters Given Flat Salary Increase

Painters of the Golden Gate Bridge will get a dollar an hour raise whether they work from the sidewalk or atop the 746-foot high spans.

Directors decided this yesterday when they hiked the pay from $4.72 to $5.72 an hour as a flat rate, regardless of the height the painters work.

At an earlier meeting, the directors had argued about different pay for different heights, but turned down the proposal. The new wage means a painter can earn $987 a month.

Beginning next month, Union News Co., operator of a chain of restaurants, will take over the Round House Restaurant on the bridge plaza.

The company was authorized to operate on a month-to-month basis on a minimum guaranteed rent of $400 a month or eight and a quarter per cent of gross receipts whichever is higher.

Marin director Thomas D. Hardcastle reported that a joint committee for bus improvement will meet for lunch Dec. 1 at the Commercial Club in San Francisco. The committee is composed of three members each from Marin County, San Francisco and the Golden Gate Bridge District.

San Anselmo Man Accused Of Taking Restaurant Cash

Phillip J. Danna, 38, of 60 Parkway Drive, San Anselmo, was placed under citizen's arrest at the San Francisco restaurant he manages yesterday.

His employer, James Bradley, vice president of the restaurant chain, charged that Danna took the receipts from Red Roof Restaurant No. 2 on California Street, wagered and lost them at a race track.

Bradley turned Danna over to San Francisco police, who booked him on suspicion of grand theft.

Bradley told police the funds were discovered to be missing Monday night. Danna admitted taking Friday's receipts—$2,600—and losing them through bets on the horse races, Bradley claimed.

Bradley said his company is making an audit of the restaurant's books over the last year—the period during which Danna has managed the establishment.

Mill Valley Piano Virtuoso On TV

On Dec. 12 and 13 he will play Bartok's Third Concerto with the University of California orchestra, directed by Michael Senturia, at 8:30 p.m. in Hertz Hall, Berkeley.

The Marin Jewish Community Center in San Rafael will sponsor a performance by the Berkeley Puppeteers Friday during a children's playday at the center.

Supervisors Worried Over Marine Center

Marin County supervisors yesterday agreed to telegraph Secretary of Interior Stuart B. Udall urging that the marine technological center not be moved from the former navy net depot at Tiburon.

Supervisor Thomas T. Storer said he had heard from a confidential but unimpeachable source that plans were afoot to move the center to Minnesota.

He also said the center's offshore explorations have already discovered "large deposits of phosphorite and manganese."

Supervisor Peter H. Behr questioned this, saying there had been no announcement of such findings.

Besides wiring Udall, the board directed letters to Rep. Don H. Clausen, R-First District, and California's two U.S. senators.

The Marin County Board of Supervisors yesterday also:

1. Decided to wait for more information before endorsing a proposal for a private airport on the Burdell Ranch northeast of Novato.

2. Agreed to home Mund McLaurin Co. of San Francisco at $1,500 to do a survey of county insurance policies, and request at the same time a review of all policies by the Marin County Assn. of Insurance Agents.

3. Created the position of control schedule clerk in the data processing bureau at $9,204 a year, replacing two lower positions with combined salaries of $14,287 a year.

4. Agreed to continue the contract with attorneys Robert I. Conn and Richard H. Breiner at $20 an hour to represent indigents in misdemeanor cases, after the Marin County Bar Assn. wrote that it had no objection.

5. Set hearing on formation of a Corte Madera Creek flood control zone for Dec. 21.

6. Re-appointed Supervisor Storer to the board of directors of the North Coast County Supervisors Assn.

7. Agreed that the headquarters for the Point Reyes National Seashore was best located at the Bear Valley Ranch. This was in reply to the Fairfax city council's bid for locating the headquarters in Fairfax. The council's request, made several months ago, was late in reaching supervisors.

8. Authorized the county public works department to proceed with acquisition of the six-acre Elephant Rock Park near Dillon Beach. The Marin Conservation League, through an anonymus donor, will cover the full purchase price.

9. Approved the grading for the Marin Covenant Church at the end of Ellen Drive in Marinwood. Action was held up last week when Supervisor Byron W. Leydecker learned that excavation was already underway. This was since found to be authorized grading for an adjacent subdivision.

10. Continued until Dec. 7 the application for a use permit by Elmer Martinelli to operate a dump north of Point Reyes Station.

11. Asked the planning staff for a report on existing zoning around the Civic Center in time for a hearing next week on business and professional zoning on San Pablo Road south of the Civic Center.

12. Approved the tentative map of Reedlands Unit 2 north of Tiburon, which will have 64 single family homes. The tract at the end of Blackfield Drive includes one street with an 18 per cent slope and another with a 15 per cent slope. The subdivision ordinance limits slopes to 10 per cent, but David Van Pelt of the planning staff said the exceptions were warranted to avoid severe sidehill cutting.

13. Approved a use permit for Synanon Foundation allowing a trailer at the narcotics treatment center at Marshall for one year during construction of buildings.

14. Approved payment of $375,014 in architect's fees to the Frank Lloyd Wright Foundation for plans on the hall of justice addition to the Civic Center.

15. Awarded a $1,674 contract to E. A. Forde Co. of Corte Madera for removal of a hump in Vineyard Road near Novato. County Public Works Director Donald R. Frost said the firm was the lowest of three in informal bidding on the job.

Violinist Kassell In Recital Sunday

The Violin Institute of California at 1732 Lincoln Avenue, San Rafael, will present a recital Sunday by the 1965 winner of the violin master class scholarship, Eric Kassell.

Included in the program to begin at 3 p.m., are sonatas by Beethoven, the "Porpora Concerto in A Minor" by Bach, and "Baal Shem" by Bloch. Kassell will be accompanied on the piano by Michael Johnson.

Tryouts Slated

Tryouts will be held at 7:30 p.m. Sunday at the Sausalito Little Theater, 745½ Bridgeway, for several roles in the production of "The Showoff" by George Kelly. Production staff workers are also being sought. The show, directed by Bruce Chesse, is due to open in mid-January.

INVESTMENT SEEN FOR SAN RAFAEL

Supervisors Prepared To Invest In Future By Taking Less Than Top Courthouse Price

By ALAN P. CUNNINGHAM

Marin County supervisors are prepared to make a "substantial investment" in the future of downtown San Rafael by settling for less than the highest possible price on the courthouse square, they assured three members of the city council at a joint luncheon meeting in San Rafael yesterday.

The big question, they added, is just how much that investment will have to be.

Supervisors learned last week that, under a plan prepared for the city by Daniel P. Coleman and Associates, the county might realize only $800,000 from the site. They had hoped to sell it for $1.4 million to complete financing of the hall of justice at Marin Civic Center, expected to cost $11.4 million.

Coleman's plan calls for developing only 30 per cent of the land, leaving the rest as open space.

Yesterday, supervisors got together with the city council and members of a citizens advisory committee to seek answers to the dilemma.

Supervisor Byron W. Leydecker said he saw the county's eventual decision as hinging on two questions:

1. How much open space is needed to preserve a park-like atmosphere in the square, considered the key area in rejuvenation of the city's downtown area?

2. How much of the needed $1.4 million is the supervisors willing to raise through other means?

Leydecker said he favored the county making a "substantial investment," and Supervisor Ernest N. Kettenhofen agreed, saying the amount of this investment would amount to "the price of the public benefit involved."

Supervisor Thomas T. Storer termed the courthouse square the "heartbeat of San Rafael," and said he envisioned development of a system of malls, sidewalk cafes and shuttle buses in downtown San Rafael with the square as its hub.

Most disquieting note of the session was raised by City Councilman Louis H. Baar, who said the city attorney had suggested there might be a cloud on the title of the property.

Baar said preliminary research by City Atty. David Menary Jr. had shown that such a cloud might indeed exist, and a local title company had been asked to delve into it further.

County Counsel Douglas J. Maloney, however, said the title firm had raised no such question to him, and he had accepted this as sufficient since title companies are usually considered the "supreme court" on such questions.

Maloney said he would talk to Menary, but added, "I am assuming right now that it is clear."

Turning again to the Coleman plan, Mayor C. Paul Bettini said he was "not set on 30 per cent or 40 per cent or 50 per cent" usage of the land, but was looking for whatever use guaranteed the economic health of the city.

Without setting a date, the councilmen, committee members and supervisors agreed to meet again in two or three months. By that time, county financing studies will be well under way and the city will have completed hearings on Coleman's plan.

No deadline for any decision was mentioned, although County Auditor-Controller Michael Mitchell cautioned that "we do need to have the money in the county treasury by July 1, 1967, or at least have bonds or something that is practically the same as cash."

During its afternoon session, the board of supervisors implemented its promise by approving an agreement with Marshall and Stevens, Inc., of San Francisco for a market study of the courthouse block, to cost $5,600. Earlier, the board approved a $5,000 financial study by consultants Stone and Youngberg of San Francisco.

City Councilmen Harry A. Barbier and Fred E. Jensen were absent from the joint meeting.

College Officials Due At San Rafael High

Rex Butler, admissions officer of San Francisco State College, will discuss entrance requirements and answer questions relating to all state college campuses at a meeting for parents and students at 8 p.m. Tuesday in the San Rafael High School cafeteria.

On Dec. 7, Norman Better, associate director of school relations for University of California, will present similar information on all U.C. campuses at an 8 p.m. meeting in the same place.

Mill Valley Artists Display Travel Works

Two Mill Valley artists, Mrs. Elsie Pomeroy and Mrs. Bertha Clark, are showing a group of 25 paintings at the Safeway store at Miller Avenue and Camino Alto, Mill Valley, until after Christmas.

The pictures are paintings of journeys taken by the artists during the last few years at Death Valley, La Jolla, Dillon Beach, Mendocino coast, Marin and Sonoma counties and Puget Sound. Mrs. Pomeroy has her studio at 33 Elm Avenue and Mrs. Clark at 12 Alvarado Avenue.

Tool Box Taken

A box of tools worth about $75 was taken from the back porch of the home of Fred S. Pfeifer, 216 Bayview Street, San Rafael, he told San Rafael police Monday.

Strawberry Art Panel Announced

Judges for the Strawberry Town and County Village art show to be held Nov. 26-28 at the center were announced today by show coordinator Florence Packard.

They are: Mrs. John Fell Stevenson of San Francisco; John K. Robinson, president of the Marin United Nations Assn. of Mill Valley; Leola Dixon of Strawberry, a member of Marin Society of Artists; Robert McKendrick of Strawberry Art Gallery, and Robert Rogers, president of the Sausalito Chamber of Commerce.

Art works will be judged on the basis of those most closely depicting the spirit of the United Nations children's fund ideals.

The art show will be held in arcades at Strawberry Village from 10 a.m. to 6 p.m. daily.

The Pentagon has six cafeterias, eight snack bars and two restaurants in which to feed 27,000 workers.

NOTICE IS HEREBY GIVEN that a petition has been filed in the above entitled court, which proceeding is designated as State of California, plaintiff, vs. Bert A. Betts, Treasurer of the State of California; Alan Cranston, Controller of the State of California; Doe One through Doe One Hundred, defendants, and numbered 162313 in the records thereof, to escheat certain sums of money and items of personal property. Murder Case Figure Given County Term

Harold Frank Percell, 24, whose statements helped break the murder case of San Rafael bartender Mario Ferrari at Mission Inn last Labor Day, was given a suspended state prison term yesterday on condition that he serve six months in Marin County jail.

The sentence by Judge Samuel W. Gardiner of Marin Superior Court came on Percell's guilty plea of robbing Rudy's Liquor Store, 1835 Fourth Street, San Rafael, on Aug. 30.

A co-defendant in the robbery case, Jack R. Gorman, 36, a San Quentin prisoner, also faces a charge of murdering Ferrari. Named in the joint slaying is Marc Charles Osuna, 30, at San Quentin Prison.

Bret Harte Sewer Hearing Slated

The San Rafael Sanitation District has tentatively set a hearing for 8 p.m. Dec. 2 for residents of Bret Harte Heights, for a new discussion of formation of a sewer assessment district for the area, now serviced by septic tanks.

But Norris M. Rawles, administrator for the district, in a letter to the property owners and residents, said the meeting date assumes a report from the Marin County Health Department will be ready in time.

The department was asked to make a report showing a need for sewers for the property at higher elevations, after owners agreed Oct. 28 that sewers would be needed farther down the slopes.

TOGETHERNESS, TOO MUCH

When Carl Robinson of Wichita, Kans., suffered a broken leg in a recent industrial accident, his dachshund, Tina, apparently thought she had to have a cast on her leg, too. At any rate, she suffered a broken leg when she got in the way of a moving auto. The two have been recuperating and clumping about together. (AP Wirephoto)

Americans Fear Blindness Second Only To Cancer

By CHARLES SCHAEFFER
Advance News Service

ARLINGTON, Va. — A new Gallup Poll shows that next to cancer Americans fear blindness most.

Yet, an expert charges, medical science is virtually ignoring research into blindness.

"For some unfathomable reasen, we prefer to practice the foolish economy of laying out more than $1 billion each year to care for the blind rather than spend a small fraction of that sum to finance research leading to the prevention and cure of blinding diseases," says Dr. Jules C. Stein, board chairman of Research to Prevent Blindness.

He disclosed highlights of a Gallup public opinion survey showing that 62 per cent of persons polled said cancer was "the worst thing that can happen to you."

Blindness was the next most feared affliction, with 18 per cent of those polled naming it so. Heart disease was cited by 9 per cent, while five other disorders were each named by 3 per cent or less.

Dr. Stein told a seminar for science writers that serious visual disorders are the nation's leading cause of disability. But research into cause and prevention of sight-destroying diseases adds up to just about $10 million out of the billions spent for disease research, space exploration or other scientific endeavors.

About 90 million Americans suffer some eye trouble, and it is serious for at least 3.5 million, he said.

"With proper diagnosis and medical attention, it is possible to save many of these people from losing vision," he said. "When you consider that one-tenth of all patients seen at our hospitals are eye patients, the true scope of the problem becomes apparent."

Care, treatment and surgery for those threatened by blindness are merely substitutes for the scientific knowledge that will wipe out blindness at their source, he charged.

Too many people mistakenly believe that most blindness is caused by accidents or injuries, Dr. Stein, a former practicing ophthalmologist said.

"Actually, only 5 per cent of all blindness in the United States is so caused. The overwhelming causative factors are diseases about which science knows almost nothing, and which individual can do nothing to prevent."

The poll disclosed that only 16 per cent of Americans can identify an opthalmologist as a medical doctor, who is the specialist qualified to treat eye problems and give complete examinations including the interior physiology of the eye.

This was in contrast to 73 per cent who could identify a pediatrician and 43 per cent who know what a chiropractor is.

About three of every four families (76 per cent) in the U.S. have one of more members wearing eye glasses, the poll revealed. The proportion was slightly higher among college-educated, professional and business people.

About 75 million Americans now wear glasses and roughly 51 per cent have had some kind of eye examination in the past two years. At some point, about 90 per cent have eye exams.

"It is time we stopped being content to pat ourselves on the back for all the good things we do for people after they are blind and start moving vigorous into eye research," he said.

Chairman of Marin Chapter of National Foundation (March of Dimes) is Mrs. Walter F. Johnson.

Economical New Test For Venereal Disease

By CHARLER SCHAEFFER
Advance News Service

ARLINGTON, Va. — An economical new test to unmask dangerous syphilis germs lurking in the body has been developed by government scientists.

In just one hospital doctors have uncovered more than 200 cases in which presumably cured former patients actually still harbored syphilis organisms.

"If this test is widely adopted, it will save patients hundreds of dollars in diagnostic tests and save doctors countless hours," said Dr. J. Lawton Smith, of the University of Miami. Early penicillin therapy of latent disease might also head off syphilis-linked blindess, paralysis and insanity.

After the initial symptoms of a sore or rash, untreated or inadequately treated syphilis sometimes lapses into a latent stage. As long as 20 years after the onset, hiding germs can cause serious eye, bone, brain and heart damage.

Dr. Smith told a science writers seminar sponsored by Research to Prevent Blindness, Inc. The new test is 97 per cent accurate in revealing whether a person has or ever had syphilis.

An older test for the disease is wrong as often as 50 per cent of the time, he said. It falsely indicated that patients had syphilis, and it missed latent cases entirely. This is because the test can flash a syphilis warning, even though the patient really had another disease, such as hepatitis or mononucleosus.

The new test — Fluorescent Treponemal Antibody Absorbed (FTA-ABS) — is solely for syphilis. It takes out the guesswork.

This means that doctors who don't know their patients true disease history will have an almost unmistakably bit of proof.

In difficult cases where brain and eye abnormalities could mean half a dozen other serious ills, the test will quickly establish whether or not its syphilis.

The improved test was developed by Dr. W. E. Deacon, of the Federal Communicable Disease Center at Atlanta, Ga.

Dr. Smith stressed the importance of the refinement because in the face of a strong comeback being staged by venereal disease, there has been a seven-fold increase in five years.

Doctors perform the new test by drawing a sample of blood and mixing it with a special substance which is designed to betray the presence of syphilis antibodies. The antibodies, or microscopic disease fighters, will be present in anyone who has or had syphilis.

Earlier syphilis tests also located antibodies. But they weren't able to unscramble them from antibodies created by the reaction to other diseases or even to friendly germs. The result was many false readings for syphilis.

The syphilis germ is a corkscrew spirochete called Treponema Pallidum. But there is the harmless first cousin Treponema in the body that muddy up the tests.

Researchehs hit upon the idea of brewing a test substance from the first cousin germs and bombarding them with high frequency sound. The ultra sound breaks up the first cousins and frees "antigens," or chemicals able to hook up with antibodies.

These antigens are squirted into the patients blood samples in the test tubes. They quickly soak up or absorb the cousins, leaving the true syphilis antibody — if it is there — intact.

Next, the doctor adds a drop of fluorescent dye to the blood samples. If it lights up the remaining antibodies, there is a 97 per cent chance the patient has or had syphilis.

The test was run on 1,000 blood specimens from patients seen at Jackson Memorial Hospital, Miami, over the past two years. Latent syphilis was found in 200 whose tests with one of the earlier detection procedures were negative. Dr. Smith said he had no national figure but if the Florida sample is representative there are many thousands of undetected cases of latent syphilis throughout the United States.

HOW TO KEEP WELL

By DR. THEODORE R. VAN DELLEN

Nervous Tension, Old Injuries May Be Blame For Sore Neck

VAN DELLEN

Nervous tension can produce pain in the neck. Prolonged contraction of the muscles is responsible, and the individual may be so uncomfortable during periods of marked anxiety that he calls his physician for help. The condition is similar to tension headache but the distress is lower down.

Continual muscle contractions cause fatigue and in some instances the muscle fibers are damaged or matted together by adhesions. When this occurs, aching may be constant. This type of neck pain is relieved by heat, massage, and relaxation. The treatment also includes a daily routine of bending the head forward and back, to the left and right, and then turning the face to one side and then the other. Each movement is done four or five times — morning and night. Muscle relaxants may be of value.

OSTEOARTHRITIS of the vertebrae is another origin of neck pain. The condition stems from years of stress and strain associated with constant activity including sudden jolts and twists. This cause is suspected when oldsters complain of soreness in this area.

A similar type of arthritis may develop years after a neck injury that occurred while playing football or sitting in a car that was struck forcibly from the rear. Faulty posture is another factor. Slouching in middle-aged and older persons leads to the typical buffalo or dowager's hump in which the head rides forward to distort the weight-bearing bones of the neck.

The cushion or disk that separates the vertebrae may protrude against the spinal cord or nerves. This condition is not so common in the neck as in the lower spine and leads to discomfort in the neck and shoulders or pain down one or both arms. Numbness and prickling sensations may be present.

A NUMBER OF head halters are used to treat neck disorders. These vary from a thick piece of felt that encircles the collar to a chest device that holds up the chin.

(Dr. Van Dellen will answer questions on medical topics if stamped, self-addressed envelope accompanies request.)

CORTISONE AND DIABETES

D. E. writes: Is there any truth to the statement that taking cortisone leads to diabetes?

REPLY

Not in the strict sense. Cortisone has a temporary effect upon the glandular system, including the pancreas and pituitary gland. As a result, the level of sugar in the blood rises and the excess appears in the urine.

NEURITIS OF EAR NERVE

O. J. writes: What is neuritis of the eighth nerve?

REPLY

The eighth, or acoustic, is the nerve of hearing. The structure may be damaged through injury or infection, particularly when fever exists. Streptomycin and, to a lesser extent, quinine and atropine may have the same effect.

ACID AND ULCERS

L. A. writes: I know that ulcers can form in the stomach from excessive acid. Can this occur also with too little acid?

REPLY

Yes. Excessive acid is the rule when the ulcers are in the duodenum whereas there is no acid when they are located in the stomach.

AGE CLASSIFICATION

Mrs. A. writes: I'm curious. Are you an elderly doctor?

REPLY

No, but sometimes I feel like it.

RETINAL TEAR

H. L. writes: Will surgery on a detached retina restore vision?

REPLY

Yes, provided the tear, or detachment, can be closed.

U.S. Colleges World's Costliest To Attend

By ERWIN KNOLL
Advance News Service

WASHINGTON — The Higher Education Bill signed into law by President Lyndon B. Johnson last week will go far toward easing the college cost burden on low-income students and their families. But it will fall considerably short of solving the problem of high and still rising tuition fees.

For the first time the federal government will provide scholarships for able and exceptionally needy students — a total of $70 million a year to be allocated in individual grants ranging from $200 to $1,000.

For the first time, too, the federal government will insure loans, at reduced interest rates, for college students.

The law also expands existing federal student loan and work-study programs.

These provisions, however, will barely keep pace with projected increases in college costs. Tuition fees and other student charges have been rising steadily in recent years, and will continue to rise as institutions of higher learning try to expand their faculties and facilities to meet burgeoning enrollments.

American college students already pay more for their education than do their counterparts in most other countries. Many foreign universities charge no tuition fees at all, and others provide students with allowances to defray living expenses as well as tuition costs.

A recent survey by the National Assn. of State Universities and Land-Grant Colleges found that underdeveloped nations as well as highly advanced countries provide free or low-cost higher education for all students.

Afghanistan, which sends few students on to college, charges no tuition fees at its one university. Denmark, Norway and Sweden provide higher education at no cost. Only nominal fees are charged in France, Austria, Switzerland and much of Latin America. College attendance is free in the Soviet Union and the communist nations of Eastern Europe, and some of these pay monthly stipends to their students.

"In sharp contrast to these free tuition and low tuition countries," the association commented, "Median tuition and required fee costs in the United States last year were $818 in private institutions. At state universities and land-grant colleges, tuition and required fees averaged $292 for residents and $639 for out-of-state students."

Canada, where liberal arts college tuitions average close to $500 a year, comes nearest to the United States in college costs. But unlike American institutions, Canadian colleges and universities are looking toward lower fees. Early this year, the government of Newfoundland announced free tuition for first-year university students now already supported by scholarships or other government grants.

"In making this step," said Newfoundland's finance minister, "we are fully aware of the inevitability, before many years, of free tuition for the second and third year students as well." Plans have been announced for eventual payment of "salaries" to students at Newfoundland's Memorial University.

Tuition fees at British universities — including prestigious Oxford and Cambridge — average less than $200 a year. Oxford advises prospective students to be prepared to spend $1,300 a year for all living expenses, books, and fees. Harvard University, by way of contrast, advised students last year to count on a budget of more than $3,350. More than half of that total went to tuition fees.

Elsewhere around the world, the association reported, tuition is free or ranges from $1.38 charged by one large Swiss university to about $200 a year in Israel. Scholarships and subsidies are provided for up to 90 per cent of the students in some countries.

TELEVISION REVIEW

How Did You Score On Telly Last Night?

By RICK DU BROW

HOLLYWOOD (UPI)—CBS-TV last night presented a stimulating audience-involvement hour, "The National Citizenship Test," in which home viewers were asked 42 basic questions about their "rights, obligations and responsibilities."

The program was a followup to the same network's "National Drivers' Test" of May 24, which drew a very large rating for a public affairs broadcast, and revived in major form—and with a relatively new style—television's attempt to reach the viewer more directly. Both CBS-TV and NBC-TV will present other audience-involvement "tests" throughout the remaining video season, according to announced plans.

Viewers were able to take the test last night either with the aid of examination forms distributed in newspapers, or without them. Various production techniques—among them, newsreel clips and fictional vignettes filmed specifically for the program's use—illustrated the questions grouped under such headings as "You and the Law," "You and Your Government" and "You and Your Obligations." Most of the questions were of the true-or-false and yes-or-no variety. And, best of all, many were as timely as today's newspaper.

Home viewer participants could compare their answers, as the program went along, with the results of a national test sample. In addition, other groups who participated included congressmen and their wives in Washington; political party workers in Congress Hall, Philadelphia, and high school students in St. Louis' old Courthouse.

The questions touched on such matters as how many years a senator is elected for, whether the President is head of the legislative branch, the names of the two senators in one's own state (41 per cent of the national test sample couldn't name either), search warrants, double jeopardy, the right to bear arms, the Fifth Amendment, prayer in schoolrooms, citizens' arrests and the rights of dissenters to attack our Viet Nam policy, talk about the overthrow of the government and denounce organized religion.

There were also several "opinion" questions which did not count in one's test score. The first such query asked whether participants felt the Fifth Amendment whould be changed to compel testimony against oneself. Two-thirds of the national test sample said no—don't change things. Eight of 10 congressmen taking the test also said to leave things alone. Another opinion question concerned the method of nominating a president. Most of the national sample advocated state or national primaries, but the congressmen like the present setup.

The 40 remaining questions were tallied at five points each—or none if you got them wrong. The national sample answered 63 per cent of the questions correctly, not a very good score. The congressmen and their wives came in at 85 per cent. As for your slave, I finished higher than the congressmen—I would have been ashamed to do anything else. The only question I got wrong concerned census takers—I thought I could refuse to give them information if I wanted to, and the notion still appeals to me.

College Morals Worry Graham

HOUSTON, Tex. (AP)—Evangelist Billy Graham, says immorality is increasing on college campuses and the new campus code may be tomorrow's national standard of morality.

Speaking before a crowd of almost 40,000 in the domed stadium at Houston last night, he also said:

"A growing number of college students do not consider premarital sexual relations immoral. On the contrary, they view it, not only as a natural expression of affection, but as a valuable experience in personal growth."

Four Vandalism Cases Reported

Four cases of vandalism were reported yesterday in the vicinity of the 2200 block of Vineyard Road, Novato.

Ken Akers, 2261 Vineyard Road, told deputies a mail box was removed from its post and thrown among weeds, and plants in front of his home were uprooted.

Charles H. Tracy, 2281 Vineyard Road, reported a section of his front yard fence was pried off. An aerial from his vehicle also was broken, he said.

Vincent Caramagno, 2195 Vineyard Road, told officers three plants from in front of his house were uprooted.

Dorothy Ounbey, 2120 Mill Road, reported a front yard lamp post was bent and a section taken from the front fence.

School Office Aide Charged With Felony

An information charging Mrs. Frances May Borreson, 48, with fraudulent appropriation of funds from Fairfax School District for her own use was filed yesterday in Marin Superior Court.

Judge Samuel W. Gardiner scheduled Nov. 30 for plea entry. Mrs. Borreson, of 44-B Ash Avenue, San Anselmo, allegedly misappropriated about $7,500 since November, 1962, by falsifying her own overtime records as secretary of the school district.

Novato Collision Injures Drivers, Two Youngsters

Four persons were injured in a two-car accident at Grant Avenue and First Street in Novato about 11:35 a.m. Monday.

John Paul Hamman, 35, of 60 Hillswood Drive, Novato, was in fair condition today at Novato Hospital with a fractured pelvis.

Mrs. Doris Ethel Chadwick, 32, of Petaluma, was cut on the lip. Her son, Brent, 2, was bruised on the hip and her daughter, Kellyl Lee, 5, bruised on the chest. They were treated by their own doctor.

Novato police said Hamman was driving his 1956 Volkswagen panel truck east on Grant Avenue when he turned left onto First Street in front of a westbounud 1960 Ford driven by Mrs. Chadwick.

Hamman was thrown out of the truck, which overturned on him. Spectators righted the truck before police arrived.

Because of its speed, the squid has been nicknamed the "sea arrow."

County Seeks New Surplus Land Bids

Marin County supervisors yesterday accepted one of two bids received on surplus property in Tamalpais Valley not needed after completion of the Coyote Creek drainage ditch.

Six parcels were offered for sale, with only two of them being buildable lots.

Mr. and Mrs. Edward J. Jefferson of 241 Cardinal Road offered $501 for a thin sliver of land next to their home. This was the only bid accepted.

Real estate man Roland Carrier offered $7,100.04 for a 50-by-100 foot lot on Maple Street, zoned for multiple use. The Independent-Journal Monday incorrectly reported this lot too small for use, but the multiple zoning would allow it to be used.

Carrier also offered $3,160.02 on all remaining parcels. This was rejected because bids were to be on individual lots. The $7,100.04 bid was rejected because the appraisal set the minimum price at $10,000.

Deputy County Counsel Richard V. Godino said the property will probably be rebid with the hope of getting more interest in the property.

Tree Surgeon Sentenced On Robbery Role

Albert Leroy Beall, San Rafael tree surgeon who drove the get-away car from an armed robbery in Mill Valley May 16, was sentenced to 60 days in Marin County Jail and two years probation yesterday.

Beall, 30, operator of the Beall Tree Service at 914 Irwin Street, pleaded guilty in Marin Superior Court to a charge of armed robbery for helping his employee, San Quentin escapee Frank Flint Rogers, 36, in a $1,400 holdup of the Mill Valley Purity Store.

Rogers, an escapee from the prison conservation camp at Weott, Humboldt County, earlier was sentenced to five years to life, to run concurrently with four similar sentences he was serving before he escaped.

It was Beall who tipped off police where they might find Rogers.

S.P. Attitude On Passengers Hit

SAN FRANCISCO (AP) — A travel agent has charged that Southern Pacific Railway has "gone out of its way to discourage passenger service" on the San Francisco Peninsula.

Arthur L. Lloyd, assistant manager of Clift Travel Service in San Francisco, testified yesterday at the end of a three-day hearing on S.P.'s proposal to raise its peninsula commuter rates 31 to 97 per cent.

The Interstate Commerce Commission hearing will resume Jan. 10.

Lloyd said the request for higher fares is "just another nail in the coffin of commuter service and passenger service in general."

Thanksgiving Affects Recreation Schedules

Supervised recreation activities will be curtailed in most of Marin County during the four-day Thanksgiving school holiday. In a few areas, however, there will be extra activities Friday.

School playgrounds in San Rafael will be open during the long weekend, but there will be no supervision. There will be supervisors and play equipment at the city's Albert and Victor Jones parks from noon to 4 p.m. tomorrow and 10 a.m. to 5 p.m. Friday.

Novato's school playgrounds will be closed tomorrow but open at the Marion, Olive, Rancho, Lu Sutton and Lynwood schools from 1 to 4:30 p.m. Friday, according to the Novato Recreation Department. Flag football games will be played as scheduled Saturday.

In Fairfax, the Pavilion will be open for indoor supervised recreation 2 to 4 p.m. Friday and Saturday, after being closed for Thanksgiving.

San Anselmo recreation supervision will stop both tomorrow and Friday, but be back on regular schedule Saturday.

For the lower Ross Valley, Eastman Hall, operated by the Larkspur Recreation Department, will be open from 10 a.m. to noon and 1 to 4 p.m. Friday and Saturday, but closed tomorrow. Flag football has been canceled by wet fields.

Mill Valley's formal recreation activities will be shut down during daytime for the entire four day weekend.

Terra Linda and Marinwood recreation activities will be on the regular schedule Friday and Saturday, but closed tomorrow.

A Fifth Of East Bay Commuters Use Bus System

SAN FRANCISCO (UPI)—A newly released report on Bay Area public transportation shows that one out of five daily commuters from the East Bay to San Francisco ride buses instead of driving their cars to work.

A total of 23,600 commuters cross the bay to work in San Francisco each day, the report, financed by a federal grant, said.

B. R. Stokes, general manager of the Bay Area Rapid Transit District, said the report "augurs well for our future operation."

Purpose of the study, called the Northern California Transit Demonstration Project, is to make recommendations on coordination of all San Francisco-Alameda County-Contra Costa County public transportation systems, including BARTD.

Academy Scholars On National Honor Roll

Five students of San Rafael Military Academy have been selected for membership in the National Honor Society on the basis of their fall grades, dean of instruction Lawrence W. Robertson announced today.

Four of the five are from Marin County: Dennis Cooke of Kentfield, Richard P. Hackett and Rick Hillrigel of San Rafael, and Mark Proctor of Larkspur.

Petaluma Police Get Fairfax Man

Robert Lee Edney, 22, of 21 Park Road, Fairfax, has been turned over to Petaluma police by Marin County sheriff's officers following his Friday arrest on a citizen's complaint.

He allegedly invaded the Petaluma home of Mrs. James Field, 20, threatened her and slightly injured one of her children. Edney pleaded guilty Nov. 12 in Marin Municipal court to battery on a Santa Clara motorist, George C. Jennings. Judgment on that count is set for Dec. 2.
